BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED FOR THE PRESENT.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I move the Senate do now resume the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1386 (House Bill No. 1440), on third reading postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act to provide for the use of voting machines at any or all elections and primary elections within this State creating a State Board of Voting Machine Examiners and defining its powers and duties providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections and primary elections held with voting machines and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1386 (House No. 1440), entitled:

An Act to provide for the use of voting machines at any or all elections and primary elections within this State creating a State Board of Voting Machine Examiners and defining its powers and duties providing rules and regulations for the conduct of elections and primary elections held with voting machines and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, this bill is merely optional with the County Commissioners whether they will purchase and employ voting machines or not. It is not obligatory, but merely optional. In the county adjoining the one in which I live, the adjoining county being in New York, they have the voting machines and they are very popular and have proved very successful and this merely allows the County Commissioners, if they wish, to employ voting machines. It is not obligatory, merely optional.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, this is a very important bill; it is exceedingly so, and I would like to have the Senator from Warren, Mr. Knapp, consent to have this bill go over in its order or have some later consideration. Speaking for myself, I have not even read it, and I doubt whether the Senate ought to pass upon bills as important as this without giving it more consideration. Personally I am not in favor of voting machines. I have never seen a voting machine yet that I thought was one that would do justice to the voter. They get out of shape and they are machanical contrivances that seem to have been popular in some parts, but I do not believe that Pennsylvania wants to adopt them yet. If the Senator insists upon it I feel like impressing as hard as I can upon the members present that it is not a good thing. I cannot convince myself that it is the proper thing at this time. We have spent a great deal of time in working out some scheme of election matters here, some bills that we want to put into effect, and just how they will work in connection with this bill I do not know.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I withdraw my motion to resume the third reading and consideration of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Clearfield, Mr. Alexander, who seconded the motion agree that the motion be withdrawn?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I will.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Monday, June 9th, 1913.

The House met at 8.00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, (Rev. J. E. Wright), offered the following prayer:

O, God, as we consider the claims of these beneficent institutions of our Commonwealth, the schools, the colleges, the universities, may we have a realizing sense of their importance and their value. May we try to understand that they contribute directly to the life of the people not merely gathering the youth of the State and training them for their future, but distributing their influence on every side of them, enriching the homes of the people, adding to their social joys, giving to them effectiveness and power in the doing of their work. We thank Thee for the wisdom and foresight of our fathers in laying the foundations of these institutions at the very beginning of our history, contributing out of their scanty resources to these needs of the future. May we regard it as our highest duty and privilege to carry forward the work which they commenced, not merely by strengthening the foundations of these institutions. but to build ever enlarging superstructures upon them. We thank Thee for the wealth at our disposal, wealth of which our fathers could have no conception; may we use that wealth wisely, judiciously and generously, trying to make the future better than the present and better than the past. Wilt Thou graciously bless the great host of young men and young women going forth in this season of the year from these schools to take their places among the ranks of the workers. May they be faithful, efficient and earnest citizens. We ask all this for the Saviour's sake. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Thursday, June 5th, 1913.

The Clerk then read the title of the bill as follows:

An Act relating to and regulating vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles controlling their speed upon the public streets and highways in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for their registration and licensing of certain operators by the State Highway Department prohibiting the operation of any motor vehicle by any person when intoxicated or without the consent of the owner forbidding the passage of any law laying a tax upon or requiring the registration of motor vehicles or licensing of any operator or regulating the speed of motor vehicles by any county borough city incorporated town or township establishing the rights of motor vehicles upon the public highways with relation to other vehicles providing for their equipment and for the width of tires to be used upon motor vehicles and vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising therefrom providing for arrest and for service of process and proceedings for violation of this act prescribing the penalties therefor and providing for the disposition of fees collected and fines imposed there-

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the motion, to reconsider.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question occurs,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that this bill now before the House was defeated on final passage last Tuesday as I believe solely because the Gentlemen of the House did not understand the provisions of the bill or had been wrongly informed as to its provisions, I shall endeavor to detail as briefly as possible the provisions of this bill. Mr. Speaker. Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Shuck and myself composed the sub-committee on Roads and as such we naturally had this bill under consideration and I may say that no measure before this House for consideration has had fairer treatment accorded those interested than your Committee has given to all concerned in this measure. For days and days we sat through hearing after hearing of the different interests affected and this measure now up for your consideration is the result of all this deliberation. After the defeat of the measure last week by and through the influence of the Automobile Association of Manufacturers—it was found that many members of this house were unaware that the parts objected to by certain interests had been changed by being amended upon second reading, to meet their objections. Hence Mr. Speaker they have expressed a desire to have this measure reconsidered so that they might vote for the same.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, it is known to all of us that the present law regulating motor vehicles is entirely inadequate, to govern the greatly increasing traffic along these lines, and especially in this made doubly so since the 4th and 5th sections of the present auto laws has been declared unconstitutional. Hence the failure to pass this present measure would leave us with out any regulation worth mentioning.

Mr. Speaker, since the failure of the bill to pass this House last Tuesday the sponsor of this measure, Senator Buckman, has received the following dispatch from the Manufacturers' Association of Automobiles:

Philadelphia, Pa., June 4, 1913.

Mr. Clarence J. Buckman,
Senate Chamber, Harrisburg, Pa.

Motor Federation withdraws objections hope you will if possible have fees lowered in, conference but we want the bill passed

ROBERT P. HOOPER,
President Penna. Motor Federation.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 4, 1913.

Hon. C. J. Buckman,
Senate, Harrisburg, Pa.

Motor Federation withdraws objections; hope you will try reduce fees in conference.

S. BOYER, DAVIS.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 5, 1913.

Dr. Geo. E. Nickel,
157 Belle Vernon, Pa.

Buckman bill killed third reading Tuesday. Prestige Federation at stake. Please personally urged all your members wire representatives Harrisburg quickly demanding reconsideration bill. Your prompt support vital and essential.

ROBERT P. HOOPER,
President Penna. Motor Federation.

Thus you can readily see, Mr. Speaker, that they recognize the necessity of a new law to better control this branch of travel and admit that our present statute is inadequate and unsatisfactory to all concerned.

Mr. Speaker, in the sixth section of this bill you will find the division of automobiles as regards horse power, also the license fees attached to each division as made by the bill

The divisions as to the horse power and fees are made thus:

Division 1, all machines under 20 horse-power ...	$ 5.00
Division 2, all machines over 20 and under 35 horse-power	$10.00
Division 3, all machines over 35 and under 50 horse-power	$15.00
Division 4, all machines over 50 horse-power	$20.00

Now, Mr. Speaker, there were several reasons that entered into and were brought forward to confirm us in our decision as to the justice of this classification.

Under the present law we have no authorized standard by which to measure the horse-power of any machine, the department has fixed their standard and have done their work accordingly. But, Mr. Speaker, under this measure we name the method. The bill calls for the A. L. and M. standard, thus we will end all dispute as to the manner of determining the horse-power of any car.

This fact largely determined us upon the classification for we found upon applying this method we could make the division between the $10 and and $15 license at the 4½ cylinder car.

No car, Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, of the 4½ cylinder class goes over 35 horse-power and thus makes an ideal division for this class.

We also took into consideration the width of tire carried by the different cars and the damage that was done by the difference in suction to the highways and this again led us to stop the second division at the 4½ cylinder cars.

I speak of this division, Mr. Speaker, because it is the one that was under dispute when this measure was last before the House and the one that caused the Auto Manufacturers' Association to fight this bill. They have now, however, withdrawn their objections as noted in the dispatches I read to you a few minutes ago.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, this division as above stated will work no hardship upon any one and will in my judgment be a just and equal tax when we take all things into consideration.

I will give you a list of the cars most used in this State as shown by the licenses granted so far this year by the Highway Department, also the list of firms that do not make a car this year that comes under the 3rd or $15 division. Mr. Speaker, there are now registered and licensed the following number of cars as divided under the present classification:

728 at $15. Now under new rating would be $20.

54,431 at $10. These would under this bill come under the $15 and $10 rating or from 20 to 35 and 35 to 50 horse-power.

10,119 at $5. These are under the 20 horse-power and would remain the same under this bill.

Thus, Mr. Speaker, the 728 cars above mentioned would be licensed at an advance of $5 per car. No one disputes the justice of this classification nor our right to charge them $20 for a license. Hence the only ones that are really affected are the 54,431 cars that constitute the old $10 class. We have gone over the classification very carefully and we find that the division comes naturally on the 4½ cylinder cars.

This, Mr. Speaker, shows that only about 10,000 cars out of the 54,431 are subjected to the $5 increase or in the division from 35 to 50 horse-power, thus making an increase of $50,000 in revenue.

And furthermore, Mr. Speaker, it is only fair to state that the damage done to the road by this class of cars is out of all proportion to the extra $5 that is asked of them.

This is a just division in that it is a division between the man of moderate means and the man who is amply able to pay the extra license, for this division is a dividing line between a necessity and a luxury. For the benefit of those who are conversant with the popular cars in use to-day I will state that the following cars as made to-day are all under 35 horse-power, subject to the A. L. and M. rating.

Cadillac, Buick, Hudson the Chambers, all but one type, Overland, Studebaker, E. M. and F. and etc, the other popular cars are so far under 35 horse-power that they need not be mentioned at this time.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, this bill also increases the license fees upon motor cycles from $2 to $3. This increase is objected to by some upon the ground that they are used by working men to go to and from their labor. Your committee took this matter under consideration and they came to the conclusion that the vast majority of these men did not own real estate and consequently this tax was all the road tax paid by them for their constant use of the highways.

Gentlemen of the House, this bill also brings under the control of the State all motor trucks. The license fees upon this kind of machines are as follows: For cars of four thousand pounds and under, $5.00, maximum weight of load and vehicles. Ten dollars ($10.00), for each motor truck of four thousand pounds and less than three thousand. Fifteen dollars ($15.00), for each motor vehicle of five thousand and not more than 10,000 pounds for maximum load and vehicle.

Twenty dollars for any vehicle weight and load of ten thousand and less than fifteen thousand pounds.

Twenty-five ($25.00) for each motor vehicle of fifteen thousand and not more than twenty-two thousand pounds.

This rate was agreed to by all concerned, both the owners and manufacturers and our sub-committee.

Mr. Speaker, there are those who say that we ought to restrict the weight of any carrying vehicle upon our roads, but that we should build our roads sufficiently strong to carry any traffic, I agree with these gentlemen, but, Mr. Speaker, until such time as we can so construct our road bed we must limit the loads to be carried upon the same. Only a few years ago the railroads of our State used engines of 100 tons weight to-day they have them double that weight, but they built their roads to carry this enormous burden before they let such engines go over the rails and that is what we must do in regard to our roads. Keep off these great weights until we get our roads built for such traffic.

Mr. Speaker, this bill also regulates the speed of all motor-driven vehicles within and without the cities. It also makes an age limit for licensing paid drivers, in fact it provides for every known condition that may arise in regard to this traffic.

It also states plainly that the old law as now upon the statue books shall remain in full force and operation until the first day of January, 1914. This will give ample time for the department and all concerned to become thorough conversant with the provisions of this bill.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I have no interest in the passage of this measure except the interests I feel in the subject of good roads and I am vitally interested in that subject and I believe that this measure if passed will go a long way toward the promotion of the great question of road building —in that it will show the great mass of our people that the men who use the roads for motoring are willing to contribute substantially toward their upkeep.

Therefore, Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to vote for this measure and especially do I ask you gentlemen, who like myself, represent rural communities to stand as a unit for this bill, so that when you say to the people of the State I am for good roads they will know that you mean it.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman, Mr. Herman, has given you a detailed account of the work upon this bill, and in brief I want to say to you it is a codification of all the motor vehicle laws of Pennsylvania. Four years ago the township act was passed after considerable discussion and has worked generally satisfactorily for four years, but they have discovered a number of defects. The courts of Philadelphia, for example, have found it insufficient to control drunken drivers, to control joy riders. This insufficiency experience and time has discovered, and this act, 485 of the Senate, the Motor Federation of Pennsylvania and all those interested in this vehicle traffic by motors have combined all of the experience and all the adverse decisions and codified those laws of Pennsylvania on motor vehicles. He has given you the details of the bill. I will say to you that it is very important that we consider this bill favorably to-night, for the reason that it has anticipated so many of the conditions that will arise in the next ten years that I dare say this law will remain in force as it has been codified for ten years to come with very little change. It has the absolute endorsement now of the Motor Federation of Pennsylvania. There was some reserve on this which gave you a misapprehension and there were a few points of difference which will be adjusted in conference, as the Motor Federation has agreed, and there is now no objection to voting for this bill, as their interest has been considered and has been conciliated and has been adjusted. Even the manufacturers of motor trucks, the manufacturers of traction engines, the manufacturers of steam cars, the manufacturers of all forms and classes of cars have been considered. There are very few objection, all of which will be met in conference. We ask your favorable vote on this because I know that the clubs in your various communities have been asked to ask you to support the bill on reconsideration, because the bill is so much better than it was, and all objections will be met in conference. We ask your support.

On the question recuring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. CARSON. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by Mr. Carson, seconded by Mr. Brownlee, that Senate Bill No. 421, file folio 733, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act entitled "An Act to provide for the erection of a house for the employment and support of the poor in the County of Washington" approved the sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty and to repeal the first four sections of the act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide for the erection of a house for the employment and support of the poor in the County of Washington' passed the sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty and also 'An act to incorporate the Monongahela Manual Labour Academy'" approved the twenty-ninth day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-six and to repeal the act entitled "A supplement to the laws for the relief and support of the poor in the counties of Washington Greene and Fayette approved April sixth one thousand eight hundred and thirty" approved the thirtieth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five so far as it relates to Washington county be placed upon the calendar nothwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I only want to call the House's attention to the fact that this bill came over from the Senate and was on the calendar and was proceeding in its regular course when the question was raised on the merit of the bill and attention was called to the fact that the bill was a ripper; and further, the attention of the House was called to that fact that there would be certain properties which are held and owned by this Board which, if the Board were ripped out of office, would have no resting place; and thereupon, in order to save the bill at that time, a motion was made that the bill be recommitted for the purpose of amendment. Evidently. from the motoin, the bill has been given attention by the committee and such attention as it deserves and was reported negatively. Now this motion attempts to place the bill upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation. I think perhaps the majority of the members who are here to-night will recall the incident when this bill was under consideration and I hope that the motion will not prevail.

Mr. BROWNLEE. Mr. Speaker, I want to say that after this bill was recommitted a thorough investigation was made on the question of law raised by the gentleman from Allegheny and there is not a reason in the world why this bill should not be passed. While it is true that the real estate owned by the Poor Board is vested in the Poor Board, yet they are merely naked trustees and when the Poor Board is abolished the property will still be owned and controlled by the County. There are numerous decisions of the Supreme Court sustaining that fact. This is a local law which affects no county but Washington. The people of Washington county want it repealed. They want to get under the general law under which thirty-two counties of this Commonwealth are now acting. No persons are interested in this bill except the people of Washington County, and they, irrespective of party, want this repealed and I insist that the House ought to give them what they want.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Sixty-three gentlemen, or more than the number required by the rule, having voted in the affirmative, the motion was agreed to and the bill ordered placed upon the calendar.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this House refused to concur in the amendments made by the Senate to House Resolution No. 2, file folio 3147, entitled:

Concurrent resolution No. 32 providing for the appointment of a joint committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate to investigate the workings of the civil service laws in the cities of the first class be reconsidered.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, this resolution provides for the appointment of a Committee to Investigate the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia and in making this motion I want it understood that I do not think that the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia needs any investigation. I favored this resolution when it originally passed the House and provided for an immediate investigation and I opposed it when it came back from the Senate providing for an investigation and a report at the next session of the Legislature. I do not believe it is good policy for this House to adjourn and leave an Investigating Commission that may be called to work at will to advance political purposes. I believe that the resurrection of this resolution was done purely for a political motive, in order that the committee should be in existence and could be called to the assistance of certain political parties when they needed it prior to election. But notwithstanding that the resurrection of this resolution is purely political. I feel that the Civil Service Commission of Philadelphia not only can bear investigation now but will be able to bear investigation at any time within the next two years.

I therefore ask the gentlemen of the House to support this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

They were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that concurrence in the Senate amendments must be made by roll call.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that this is a Concurrent Resolution, and a roll call is not required in that case.

BILL REFERRED.

Mr. EHRHARDT asked and received unanimous consent to return to the House a bill inadvertantly referred to the Appropriations Committee.

The SPEAKER. This bill, Senate Bill No. 1438, is now referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the first reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2083 (Senate No. 1431), entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, on Tuesday last there came up in regular order of business before this session a bill for which I stood sponsor, House Bill No. 1518. a bill which had been prepared and handed to me with the assurance that the bill stood to correct a lapse which the law failed to cover. When the bill was under consideration by this House having taken the assurance which I confess, Mr. Speaker, I should not have done without satisfying myself. I made a statement to this House that there was no law satisfying myself, I made a statement to this House that there was no law covering the conditions which this bill purposed to cover. The bill was defeated in the House and my attention was afterwards called to the fact that the Legislature in the session of 1911 had passed a bill which covered the purposes of the bill for which I stood sponsor, that Act being approved on the thirteenth day of June, 1911, as appears on page 892 of the Pamphlet Laws. I simply make this correction at this time, Mr. Speaker, for the reason that during the times I have had the honor to sit as a member of this House I have never intentionally mislead the members by a statement as a fact when I knew that it was not a fact, and I did make a statement in sponsoring this bill and urging its passage which was not a fact as I found out later, and in order to set myself right with the members I make this statement at this time. When the bill was under consideration, I went further in the matter and challenged any member of the House to show me where there was a law that covered the provisions which this bill stood to cover and it was only after the final vote was taken that my attention was called to the matter. I make the correction at this time, and would have made it on Thursday last, but owing to the fact that the House was thin at that time, I felt I had better wait until I could apologize to those to whom I owed the apology, which I now make.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 791, as follows:

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follows, viz:

Pennsylvania Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth,
Harrisburg, June 9, 1913.

To the Honorable the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—

In response to the Resolution of the House of Representatives, requesting information as to the appropriations asked for by this Department, I have the honor to submit the following:

For the payment of salaries:

Secretary of the Commonwleath, two years, (Per act of February 15, 1906, P. L. 30.)	$16,000
Deputy Secretary of the Commonwleath, two years, (Per act of April 9, 1903, P. L. 162.)	6,000
Clerk hire, including messanger and night watchman, two years, (Per acts of April 9, 1903, P. L. 162, and May 4, 1905, P. L. 384.)	78,500
For payment of postage, express charges and contingent expenses, two years,	9,000

This latter item is a consolidation of the two items appropriated in the General Appropriation act of 1911, which was divided as follows:

Contingent expenses, two years,	$7,500
Incidental expenses, two years,	3,000
Total,		$10,500

Of this amount the Department expended for postage, express and telegraph charges, and for janitor's services, during the two years ending June 1, 1913, the sum of $8,422.71, leaving an unexpended balance of $2,077.29, which has been paid into the State Treasury.

The amount asked for in the General Appropriation act of 1913, for the payment of postage, express charges and contingent expenses for two years, is $1,500 less than the amounts appropriated for the same purposes in the General Appropriation act of 1911.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT McAFEE,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

REPORT FROM THE STATE LIBRARIAN.

Pennsylvania State Library,
Harrisburg, June 6, 1913.

Honorable George E. Alter, Speaker of the House of Representatives, State of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg.

My dear Sir:

I have received through the Honorable Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the resolution presented in the House of Representatives on June 5, 1913, by Mr. Rockwell, with relation to any increase asked for in the General Appropriation Bill for the work of the Pennsylvania Free Library Commission.

The increase I have requested is for $10,000 for the two years 1913-15.

The Pennsylvania Free Library Commission has done a very important work for some fourteen years past in furnishing books to communities which have no library facilities, and in extending aid to Study Clubs and schools throughout the Commonwealth.

It has received the same appropriation since 1907, and the appropriation for that year was only $2,000 more than in 1905. In the meantime the work has increased. Practically every Library organized in the State has of recent years sought the aid of the Commission with most satisfactory results. Struggling institutions have been revivified, and the operations of others made more effective, by the advice of its officers. The members of the Commission receive no salary and the work is conducted by a force of ten people who are paid less than those doing similar work in other States.

Since its inception the Commission has served 1,184 communities, and it is safe to say that all of these would have found difficulty in getting good literature from any other source. The $10,000 asked for is to provide new books in sufficient numbers to meet the demand. Not a cent of it will be spent upon increases of salaries. A great many of the books purchased ten years ago have been worn out by the constant wear and tear of handling and traveling.

Nothing but the very best literature is provided by the Commission, and its officers would welcome a close investigation not only as to the books sent out but also in the method employed.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS L. MONTGOMERY,
State Librarian.

REPORT FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS.

To the Members of House of Representatives, Harisburg, Penna.

Honorable Sirs:—

In compliance with request of Honorable Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, and in pursuance to resolution offered by Honorable Frank H. Rockwell, I beg to advise you that the increase in appropriation asked for over the appropriation of 1911, for the two years ending June 1st, 1913, is for the following reasons:

The deficiency appropriation of $59,000.00 is to provide for the increase of salaries and employees authorized by Act No. 124, approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth, Honorable John K. Tener, on the 8th day of May, A. D. 1913.

The increase between $251,160.00 and $243,480.00, appropriation of 1911 or $7,680.00, covers the salary of the Superintendent of Demolition of Buildings and Structures in the Capitol Park Extension area at a salary of $3,000.00 for the two years, one Nightwatchman for Capitol Park Extension area at a salary of $1,800.00 for two years and two laborers for closing sewers and grading lots in the Capitol Park Extension area, $2,800.00 for the two years for both. These positions were not provided for in Act No. 124, and we have requested this amount deducted from the appropriation for employees under the Chief Engineer of the Capitol Power Plant, etc., and added to the appropriation of $20,000.00 for emergency supplies and temporary help (Superintendent's Contingent Fund) making a total appropriation of $27,680.00.

The increase of $10,000.00 for the payment of premiums of insurance upon the State Capitol Building, Library Museum, etc., is on account of the insurance on the Capitol Building and contents expiring early in January, 1915, before an appropriation could be made by the Legislature of 1915 to provide for the payments of these premiums.

The increase of $25,000.00 to the Board's General Fund is to provide for the additional expenses owing to the increase in number and expansion of the various Departments, Boards and Commissions authorized by the Legislature.

The increase of $30,000.00 for the cost of General Supplies is also on account of the increase in number and expansion of the various Departments, Boards and Commissions authorized by the Legislature.

The increase of $225,000.00 for the cost of Erection of Highway Bridges is on account of disastrous floods, wind storms, etc., causing destruction of a number of Bridges which will have to be erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The increase of $12,000.00 for rent of offices and rooms outside of the Capitol Building for the various Departments of the State Government is on account of payment of rental of offices and rooms already covered by leases, and also rental of additional offices and rooms which will be required by the Highway Department, Chestnut-tree Blight Commission, and various other Departments, Boards and commissions of the State Government.

We have also asked for a deficiency appropriation of $1,030.10 to cover payment of the deficiency in the 1911 appropriation for rental of offices and rooms outside of Capitol Buildings now covered by leases.

Very truly yours,

JAMES C. PATTERSON,
Deputy Superintendent.

REPORT FROM THE STATE LIVESTOCK SANITARY BOARD.

June 9, 1913.

Hon. George E. Alter, Speaker, and the Members of the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.:

Sirs:—

In compliance with a request from your honorable body, dated June 5th 1913, "Resolved, That the heads of the several departments of this Commonwealth asking for appropriations in the General Appropriation Bill for this session furnish the House not later than next Monday the reasons for any change or increase of the amount asked for or any particular item in said bill wherein a bulk amount is asked for," would submit the following:

For the enforcement of the acts of May twenty-first one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and March thirtieth, one thousand nine hundred and five, and for the payment of indemnity for animals afflicted with dangerous, contagious or infectious diseases, and for the expense of detecting, quarantining and disposing of such animals, as provided by law, two years, the sum of two hundred and sixty thousand dollars ($260,000) was granted by the Legislature of 1911. This year the sum of four hundred thousand dollars ($400,000) is asked for the same and additional purposes. This is an apparent increase of one hundred and forty thousand dollars ($140,000), yet in reality is but ninety-nine thousand dollars ($99,000), for the reason that three other items provided for by the last Legislature are included this year, and legally belong in the general expense fund. The three items are as follows:

For the payment of clerical and office expenses, two years, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

For investigations concerning the diseases of animals, two years, the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000).

For the payment of equipment for the laboratory of the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, two years, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000).

Total, forty-one thousand dollars ($41,000).

The average expenses for six months during the last year out of the general expense fund amount to practically fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) per month. This for twenty-four months would amount to three hundred and sixty thousand dollars ($360,000), and added to the $41,000 referred to above would total four hundred and one thousand dollars ($401,000), or one thousand dollars more than what has been requested this year.

In 1911 the Board was granted the sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000) for the payment of the expenses of carrying out the provisions of the act approved April twenty-five, nineteen hundred and seven, to encourage the breeding of horses, and requiring the enrollment and inspection of stallions, two years. The Board is asking for ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for the next two years. The Director of this work has been paid six hundred dollars ($600) per year from the Horse Breeding fund, and nine hundred dollars ($900) additional from another fund; the assistant director, fourteen hundred dollars ($1,400), while the clerk hire was paid from the Clerical Fund. The balance has been used for distributing bulletins, postage, traveling expenses, etc.

The director, assistant director, clerk hire and all necessary expenses under this act should be paid exclusively from the Horse Breeding Fund. They should be provided also with more money for postage so that more bulletins can be distributed and more field work should be done. If this plan is followed it will require four thousand dollars ($4,000) additional to what was provided for in 1911. Between two and three thousand dollars are received annually from the license fees and is turned over to the State Treasurer for the use of the Commonwealth.

In 1911 the Board was given twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for paying for diseased animals found in slaughter houses, as provided by the act approved March twenty-fifth one thousand nine hundred and three, and for the expense of detecting and disposing of such animals, as provided by law, two years. Provided, however, That if the amounts here appropriated shall not be sufficient for the purpose of paying for animals required by law to be condemned, certificates of appraisal shall be issued by the State Veterinarian and the amount of such certificates shall be reported to the next Legislature.

This law was repealed on May first, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, but certificates have been issued to the extent of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000), which is an increase of sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000) over the amount requested from and granted by the previous Legislature.

Respectfully submitted,

C. J. MARSHALL,
Secretary State Livestock Sanitary Board.

REPORT FROM THE STATE QUARANTINE PHYSICIAN.

Statement of Facts Concerning Asked-for Appropriation of $75,000.00 for Maintenance of the State Quarantine.

Owing to the national quarantine at Reedy Island being abandoned the State quarantine station at Marcus Hook, Pa., is the only quarantine in the Delaware river. This makes it necessary to take off the vessels and quarantine all persons heretofore taken off at Reedy Island which may mean one hundred or five thousand, also to protect the State of Pennsylvania from the invasion of all foreign contagious diseases, it becomes necessary to remove all diseases of that character. It is absolutely impossible to itemize accurately the expenses of quarantine work as sometimes more and sometimes less is needed in a department, therefore it is highly necessary that our appropriation should be given us in a lump sum for maintenance of quarantine.

Owing to the classification of the appropriation for the last two years we were left short in several departments and had to ask for a deficiency fund of $4,000. Our original appropriation of $59,600 plus the deficiency of $4,000 we were barely able to pull through on. We now ask for $75,000, the additional amount of $11,400 being absolutely necessary to meet the added expenses mentioned above.

Attached is an itemized account as near as can possibly be figured, the expenses of the different departments of the quarantine for the next two years.

The increased amounts of each department over the last appropriation is Office Account, to pay for services of Maritime Exchange in reporting the incoming and out-going vessels and additional sundries mentioned in account.

Boat salaries, on which we were short salaries for four months and additional help which will be required.

Shore salaries, on which we were short salaries for three months and the employment of nurses which has heretofore been unnecessary.

We are asking for only $900 for insurance where we were previously given $2,100.

Additional money is required for the maintenance of the increased force of employes, drugs for additional sick to be cared for and feeding of same.

An additional building must be put up to care for patients, furnishing and equipping same, additional money for shore coal in order to heat three more buildings than were previously heated, also as our boat grows older, more repairs are required as it is highly necessary next year to have a new boiler and new steel plates and the damage caused by ice to cause repairs can never be determined.

H. D. KELLER,
Quarantine Physician.

REPORT FROM THE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

June 9, 1913.

To the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:

In compliance with the resolution introduced by Mr. Rockwell and adopted by your honorable body on June 5th, 1913, relative to appropriations for the various departments of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the State Railroad Commission begs to report that the sum of one hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars ($175,000) will be required for the maintenance of the Commission during the next two (2) years. This amount, which is similar to that appropriated by the Legislature of 1911, is made up of the following items:

For the payment of the salaries of the three commissioners, two years, the sum of forty-eight thousand dollars ($48,000).

For the payment of the salary of the secretary, two years, the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000).

For the payment of the salary of the attorney two years, the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000).

For the payment of the salary of the marshal, two years, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

For the payment of the wages or salaries of experts, accountants, inspectors, or engineers employed by the commission, the salaries of clerks, stenographers, messengers, janitor or other office employes, the traveling expenses of the commissioners, their employes, marshal and experts; the fees and expenss of witnesses; for the purchase of books, stationery, printing, office supplies, furniture and such other materials, for which no requisition may be made by the commission under the provisions of section five of the act of May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and seven; for the compilation and printing of maps showing the lines of steam and electric railroads or railways within the State; and for the necessary disbursements and contingent expenses of the commissioners, their officers, clerks and experts, for two years, the sum of one hundred and six thousand dollars ($106,000); Provided, That any expenditures made for the printing of maps, showing the line of steam and electric railroads or railways within the State shall be made by contract, said contract to be subject to the approval of the Auditor General of Pennsylvania before becoming effective.

In the event, however, of the enactment of the bill creating a Public Service Commission there will be no necessity for an appropriation for the support of the State Railroad Commission beyond the sum required for its maintenance during the month of June, 1913.

Respectfully,

State Railroad Commission,
A. B. MILLAR, Secretary.

REPORT FROM THE AUDITOR GENERAL.

June 9, 1913.

Hon. Geo. E. Alter, Speaker, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.:

Sir:—

In compliance with the provisions of a resolution of the House of Representatives adopted June 5, 1913, which reads as follows:

"Resolved, That the heads of the several departments of this Commonwealth asking for appropriations in the General Appropriation Bill for this session, furnished the House not later than next Monday the reasons for any change or increase of the amount asked for, or any particular item in said bill wherein a bulk amount is asked for."

I have the honor to transmit for the information of the House of Representatives the following statement of increased appropriations asked for by this Department together with the reasons for such increases or any changes in the amounts asked.

1. The Legislature has been asked to make provision in the General Appropriation Bill for the sum of two hundred sixty-five thousand two hundred dollars ($265,200) for the payment of salaries of clerks and employes; this amount being an increase of seventy-two thousand two hundred dollars ($72,200) over the amount carried in the last General Appropriation bill for the same purpose. This increase is made necessary by the adoption and approval of the Act of April 9, 1913, reorganizing the Department of the Auditor General, increasing the number of clerks and employes and fixing their salaries at the aggregate amount for which an appropriation has been asked.

2. This Department has asked an appropriation "for the payment of postage, express charges, cost of filing liens and contingent expenses," in the sum of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000), an increase of two thousand dollars ($2,000) over the amount carried in the last general appropriation bill for the contingent expenses of the department; this increase being necessary on account of the growing business of the Department.

3. The item of one thousand dollars ($1,000) "For the payment of all costs that may be incurred in entering liens for State taxes" carried in the last general appropriation bill has been eliminated from the general appropriation bill now before the Legislature for the reason that the small expense likely to be incurred on this account has been provided for in the appropriation asked for the contingent expenses of the department.

4. The Department has also asked for an appropriation in the sum of fourteen thousand dollars ($14,000) "For the payment of expenses of deputies and traveling auditors actually and necessarily incurred by them in the performance of the duties assigned to them," an increase of five thousand dollars ($5,000) over the item carried in the last general appropriation bill "for the payment of the necessary expenses of said expert accountants incurred in the discharge of their duties."

This increase is due to the fact that the expenses of the deputies of the Department are included in said item and the further fact that the number of traveling auditors or expert accountants has been increased from five to seven under the provisions of the act of April 9, 1913, above cited.

All of which is most respectfully submitted,

A. W. POWELL,
Auditor General.
By C. R. Rodgers, Deputy Auditor General.

REPORT FROM THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL.

In requesting appropriation for conducting the Department of the State Fire Marshal for the ensuing two years, case was exercised to keep the amounts in the several items at the very lowest figures to enable carrying on the work outlined in an effective manner and in no instance was a greater amount asked for than should be appropriated to carry out the provisions of the act as intended.

The Act creating the office of State Fire Marshal was approved on the third day of June, A. D. 1911, and $70,000 was appropriated for use of the Department. It was not until June 1, 1912, or a year later, that the Department was started by the appointment of the Marshal and the actual work did not start until September 21, 1912. The expenditures since the appointment of the Marshal have been used principally towards organization. It is found that the enormity of the work that is to be done in fire prevention and the elimination of the incendiary, which is to the interest of all the people in the State, should receive full support and sufficient appropriation.

Item 1—For the payment of the salary of the State Fire Marshal, two years, the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00)

There is no increase in this item.

Item 2—For the payment of the salary of the Chief Deputy Fire Marshal, two years, the sum of eight thousand dollars ($8,000.00)

There is no increase in this item.

Item 3—For the payment of the salary of the first, second, third and fourth special deputy state fire marshal's, two years, the sum of twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000.00)

There is no increase in the salary of the deputies but two more deputies are urgently required and necessary, the object being to divide the State into four (4) sections placing a special deputy in charge of each section for the purpose of making special investigations in cases of presecution for arson and in instructing assistant marshals in their duties and in the education of the people in fire prevention.

Item 4a—For the payment of the salary of a statistician, two years, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00)

This is a new position and an essential one, the duties being, not only the making up of statistics from the records as returned by assistants but to obtain statistics and data from other sources compiling the same in pamphlet form for distribution throughout the State for the education of the assistants and the public at large in fire prevention and fire protection.

Item 5—For the payment of the salary of chief clerk, two years, the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00)

This is a new position and should have been created at the establishment of the Department but owing to no specific appropriation being made the Department has had no one upon whom the responsibility of caring for reports and records devolved. It is an important position having over twenty-five hundred assistants making reports daily and requiring replies there should be some one particularly charged with directing the other clerks and stenographers in their duties.

Item 6—For the payment of the salary of messenger and clerk, two years, the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00)

The present acting messenger of the Department has been acting as clerk in conjunction with his other duties and has familiarized himself with the operation of a multigraph and also an addressograph machine. His services are well deserving the amount requested for this position.

Item 7—For the payment of salaries of clerks and stenographers, two years, the sum of thirty thousand dollars ($30,000.00)

At the present time there are five clerks and three stenographers. This force is inadequate to carry on the work at the present time and the work is increasing constantly.

Item 8—For the payment of the salaries of forty (40) assistant deputy state fire marshals, two years, the sum of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars ($120,000.00)

Up to the present time the Department has had but seven men to cover the entire State. It is impossible with such a small force to properly conduct investigations, instruct district assistants and educate the people in fire prevention. It is the desire and intention of the Department to station deputies throughout the State placing under their charge from one to three counties each, under the supervision of the special deputies and keeping them constantly at work investigating fires that may occur; inspecting property and cleaning up their districts for the purpose of reducing the fire waste and the possibilities of fire and to bring about, as far as possible, better conditions by the destruction of all accumulation of trash or fire causing materials.

Item 9—For Contingent Expenses for two years, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00)

(a) Covers traveling expenses and has been based on $60 per month each for forty (40) deputies which would amount only to $2 per day per man

(b) Reporting fires at 25 cents each for cities of the first class; 40 cents each in cities of the second class and 50 cents each in all other cities, boroughs and townships, and mileage incidental thereto. This amount is paid to assistants (as per the Act) of whom there are now twenty-five hundred and five and covers the entire State of 45,000 square miles and is based on the records of fire reports received in the past eight months, and from the fact that under the Amended Act reports will be increased over 100 per cent. by reason of receiving reports from over fifty cities of the third class from which no reports are now obtained. We believe that the sum of $500 per month is a conservative estimate covering this portion of the item.

(c) For inspection of property by local assistants with a view to reducing the fire risks $200 per month has been estimated to cover this portion of the item. This would amount to only eight cents per month per assistant, of whom there now are twenty-five hundred and five.

The inspection of property in cities and town throughout the State is essential and will result in the reduction of fire risks and insurance rates as has fully been demonstrated in other States where such work is being carried on.

(d) For special investigation of property reported in a delapidated condition with a view to demolition $100 per month has been estimated. This would amount to only four cents per month per assistant throughout the State.

(e) The Act of June 3, 1911, imposes on the State Fire Marshal the duty of ordering the repair or demolition of delapidated buildings but made no provision for carrying out the work. The Amendment to the bills calls for the Department doing the work in the event of the failure to do so on the part of the owner and imposes a penalty of twenty-five per cent. and placing a lien on the property where the work is done by this Department and when the amount due is collected the same to be paid into the State Treasury. The sum of $4,000 per year has been estimated as necessary to carry out this work and this is based upon complaints of delapidated buildings that should be demolished reported by assistants throughout the State.

(f) In making investigation into suspected incendiary fires it is necessary to take the testimony of witnesses, requiring the services of stenographers, also the payment of fees to witnesses and fees for the serving of subpoenas and mileage, based upon the experience of the last eight months it has been estimated that it will require at least $1,000 per year to cover this expense.

(g) Attorneys and Detectives and Interpreters. During the past eight months in the prosecuting of suspects charged with the crime of arson District Attorneys in whose hands the cases were placed have requested assistance in the prosecution and in several instances through the courtesy of the Attorney General's Department this request has been complied with and attorneys have been appointed. Dating from the first day of June, 1913, we will be unable to obtain this assistance from the Attorney General and have estimated $250 a month to pay for the services of attorneys, detectives and interpreters to assist in the obtaining of evidence and the prosecution of cases. Amongst the foreign population throughout the State it is practically impossible to obtain information at the present time without the aid of detectives and interpreters. Of 109 cases investigated in the past eight months in which the Department was unable to obtain sufficient evidence we firmly believe that had the Department had the means of employing detectives and interpreters, in at least 50 per cent. of these cases sufficient evidence could have been obtained to warrant prosecution.

(h) Mail. Mail will be sent on an average of twice a month to each assistant. This would cost from $100 to $150 a month, depending on the weight of the matter sent, such as fire report blanks, inspection blanks, pamphlets for distribution, vouchers for report of expenses, checks for payment of services and also for general correspondence. $1,800 per year has been estimated and we believe it is a conservative estimate to cover this expense.

(i) Telephone and telegraph messages received and sent from the office covering reporting of incendiary fires and instructing deputies and assistants in relation to investigations of the same. We believe that $300 is a conservative estimate to cover this expense.

(j) Miscellaneous expenses, covering office incidentals and emergency expenditures for subcribtion to newspapers and periodicals through out the State; for photographing delapidated and other buildings for probable use in court in case of trial on appeal from order of the State Fire Marshal to demolish buildings or in the trial of arson prosecution, we believe the sum of $1,500 per year should be granted.

REPORT FROM THE STATE TREASURER.

June 9, 1913.

Honorable Thomas H. Garvin,
Chief Clerk House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir:—In conformity with the terms of a Resolution passed by the House of Representatives under date of June 5, 1913, introduced by Hon. Frank H. Rockwell, requiring the several departments of the State government asking increases in appropriations relative to their department to furnish information explanatory of said request for increase, I submit the following:

Legislation enacted by the Legislature of 1911 made the State Treasurer custodian of securities received by the Insurance Department and the Banking Department of the State government in compliance with law which securities now aggregate five millions of dollars, a large percentage of which are negotiable in character and would pass by delivery. This aggregate is constantly increasing and, as a result, the Treasurer deems it advisable to employ another watchman; to arm the watchmen, to install a registering clock to insure their vigilance, and to take all measures which, to him, may seem advisable for the safe keeping of the securities in question. As a result, he has asked for only two items of increased appropriation relative to the Treasury Department, both of which items spring from the same cause and which are as follows: For one additional watchman over the appropriation provided for by the Legislature of 1911—nine hundred dollars ($900.00). For an increase in the amount appropriated in 1911 for the procuring of bonds required to be given by employees of the Treasury Department to the State Treasurer for the faithful performance of their duties—five hundred dollars ($500.00).

Respectfully submitted,
R. K. YOUNG,
State Treasurer.

REPORT FROM THE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER.

In pursuance of your Resolution of June 5th, 1913, known as the "Rockwell' Resolution, I submit herewith a report setting forth the reasons for change or increase of appropriation over previous years made to the State Highway Department:

First.—The item of $150,000 for traveling expenses, an increase of $62,000 over the appropriation of 1911, is required by having to pay the traveling expenses of fifty superintendents for two years instead of forty-six superintendents for eight months; and the traveling expenses of the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioners, Chief Engineer, Bridge Engineer and Assistant Engineers for twenty-four months instead of twenty months under the former appropriation.

Second.—The item of $140,000 for the Automobile Division, an increase of $40,000 over the appropriation of 1911, is required because of the increased business of the Department and the fact that there was a deficiency of $32,463.92 for the previous two years.

Third.—The item of $80,000 for experiments and tests, an increase of $30,000 over the appropriation of 1911, is required because of the necessity of establishing a laboratory in connection with the Department and to provide for the paying of a chemist and an assistant; also for the paying of an inspector of asphalt and assistants.

Fourth.—A new item of $250,000 being a specific sum to meet and properly care for the contingencies such as the Austin flood in Potter County and the disasters in the Mercer-Sharon district caused by storm, cloud-burst and flood.

Fifth.—The item of $1,000,000 for "State-aid Highway" reconstruction work is an amount similar to the amount appropriated in 1911.

Sixth.—The item of $4,000,000 for "State Highways," an increase of $1,000,000 over the 1911 appropriation, is required to carry on the work of the Department in rebuilding and constructing such roads that have not already been improved, and for paying the State's share of the maintenance of "State-aid Highways" not on State Highway Routes.

Seventh.—A new item of $2,000,000 being a specific amount asked for to be used exclusively in the maintenance of unimproved "State Highways" which must be so maintained until reconstructed or improved.

Eighth.—A new item of $520,000 to meet the requirements of Section 9 of the Act of May 31, 1911 (Pamphlet Laws 468) as amended by the Act of April 11th, 1913, that requires the State Highway Commissioner, in proceeding to take over Turnpike Roads that form a part of State Highway Routes, to file a declaration containing a certificate that sufficient funds to pay all possible damages have been appropriated by the Legislature and are available for this specific purpose...... ... ...

Respectfully,

JOSEPH W. HUNTER,
First Deputy State Highway Commissioner.

REPORT FROM THE COMMISSIONER OF HEALTH.

To the Honorable Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—In response to a Resolution adopted by your Honorable Body on Thursday, June 5, 1913, requesting the heads of Departments to furnish the House the reasons for any change or increase of the amount asked for in the General Appropriation Bill, or any particular item in said bill wherein a bulk amount is asked for, permit me in behalf of the Department of Health to submit the following statement.

The Department of Health has asked for an appropriation for the succeeding two years amounting to		$4,601,029
The Legislature of 1911 appropriated to the Department of Health for the two years beginning June 1, 1913, the sum of		3,707,480
The increase asked for over the amount of the former appropriation therefor being		$893,543
This increase is divided in the Department's Budget as follows:
Increase on salary list	$75,860
Increase in general fund	244,248
Increase on tuberculosis fund	323,441
Amount requested for medical inspection of schools for which no appropriation has heretofore been made	250,000
		893,549
The salary list in the 1913 Budget amounts to	$412,380
The amount appropriated in the salary list 1911 was	336,520
		75,860
The increase on the salary list is made up as follows:
Increase in salaries of present employees	$38,360
These increases are divided amongst 89 experienced employees in sums ranging from $60 to $1,000 per year and are set forth in detail in a report heretofore rendered to your Honorable Body. In my opinion the work of these employees fully justifies the proposed increases in their salaries.
New salaries	46,080
Salaries for 17 new employes whose services are needed owing to the work of the medical inspection of schools provided by the School Code and the constantly increasing work of the several divisions of the Department, as are more fully set forth in the report heretofore rendered. In this sum is also included the salary of one present employee who has previously been paid out of the General Fund	$84,440
Less seven former clerks stricken off the present salary list	8,580	75,860
	$75,860
The amount asked for in the General Fund in the 1913 budget is	990,400
The amount appropriated to the General Fund in 1911 was	746,152
The increase asked for in the General Fund is		244,248
The General Fund is used for the payment of the cost of diphtheria antitoxin, tetanus antitoxin and other biological products for free distribution to the poor, and the payment of stream and sanitary inspection, county medical inspectors and health officers, for the maintenance of laboratories, and experimental stations and supervising epidemics of disease and for the necessary traveling expenses of the Commissioner of health, his assistants and employees.

The General Fund appropriated in 1911 was exhausted about the first of May, 1913, leaving a deficiency in this appropriation of approximately $60,000. Presuming conditions for the next two years to be the same as for the last two years, there should be added to the appropriation the sum of $60,000

This shortage was partly met by a balance of an emergency fund remaining in the Treasury of $24,000, from an appropriation made in 1905 which however will still leave a deficiency of $36,000 which must be paid out of the new appropriation, to which therefore should be added 36,000

The demands for diphtheria antitoxin, tetanus antitoxin, water extract of tubercle bacilli (our own product) and other biological products are constantly increasing. Upon the same ratio of increase that we have had for the last two years, the additional cost of these products for the next two years will be at least 13,848

The health officers, 670 in number, cover all of the second class townships in the State and serve a population of 2,555,000 people. They are paid in fees for the time actually spent at their work. On January 1, 1913, the fees of the health officers were increased from 40 cents per hour, formerly paid, to 50 cents per hour, a well deserved increase as their work is arduous, necessitating their going out in all kinds of weather and road conditions, leaving other occupations on short notice and constantly coming in contact with communicable diseases. Prices of labor of all kinds, with the cost of living, have increased, and it is essential that the very best men obtainable be secured for this work. This increases will amount to approximately 36,000

New water and sewage plants in increasing numbers are being constructed and old ones enlarged or extended. Each year the work of the Engineering Division in accordance with the provisions of the Purity of Waters Act of 1905, which work has already decreased typhoid in the State 67 per cent, is growing larger. In order to meet the demand, two new Assistant Engineers are asked for on the salary list and it will be necessary from time to time to increase the force of stream inspectors whose salaries and expenses are paid out of the General Fund. Estimating an average increase of ten stream inspectors to our present force and the traveling expenses of the two new engineers this additional expense will be approximately 38,400

The field work of the Medical Division performed by the health officers and county medical inspectors is constantly increasing. When the Department was first organized quarantine restrictions had to be forced upon the people and in many instances these restrictions were evaded and the case of communicable disease concealed from the health officer. This sentiment has changed in most localities and the people now ask for the good services of the health officers. From our experience in former years as to the growth of this work there should be added to this fund for anticipated increases the sum of 60,000

The exact amount of money which may be needed for this fund can not be computed, the work of quarantining communicable diseases is increasing and will increase until the education of the public to its necessity permits a perfected system and by this increasing work the death rate is being lowered. I feel that in asking for the amount specified in the bill, I have been as conservative as my official duty to the people of the State will permit.

The increase in the amount asked for tuberculosis is $323,441

We have estimated for the next two years for tuberculosis work as follows:

For construction and equipment	$620,609
For maintenance of dispensaries	691,000
For maintenance of sanatoria	1,636,640
	$2,948,249

The amount appropriated for 1911 was estimated as follows:

For construction and equipment	947,248
For dispensaries	691,000
For maintenance of sanatoria	986,560
	$2,624,808

In the maintenance of the dispensaries there is no increase. In the estimates for construction and equipment there is a decrease under the estimate of 1911 of $326,639. In the estimate of maintenance of sanatoria there is an increase of $649,080. This increase for maintenance is occasioned by the opening of the new sanatorium at Cresson which was opened on January 1st of this year and the anticipated opening of the new sanatorium at Hamburg about the first of February, 1914, the maintenance of Mont Alto with its 1,050 patients remaining as heretofore.

The estimated cost for Cresson for 340 patients for two years at $9.00 per week and for an additional 160 patients for ten months (after the new wing to the sanatorium is completed) is $375,840. Deducting from this amount the cost of maintenance of Cresson during the last five months of $31,760 leaves an increase cost for maintenance at Cresson of 344,080

The estimated cost of maintenance at Hamburg for 500 patients at $9.00 per week for 16 months is 306,000

Total excess of maintenance $650,000

Deducting from this amount the decrease for construction and equipment under the 1911 appropriation of 326,639

gives the increased amount asked for $323,441 323,441

Medical inspection of schools 250,000

The School Code of 1911 provides that the Commissioner of Health should make the medical inspection of schools in all districts of the fourth class unless advised to the contrary by the school boards. There are 2,200 fourth-class school districts in the Commonwealth, the first year 1911-1912 one-third of these districts accepted medical inspection, the second year 1,500 of the 2,200 districts accepted medical inspection. The school code provides that notice not to have medical inspection must reach this Department not later than July first. Up to the present time only 46 of the 2,200 districts have notified us that they do not want inspection and indications are that the inspection during the next two years will be desired by practically all these districts.

The last year owing to no money having been appropriated for this purpose, it was impossible for us to meet the demands of the schools for one complete inspection during the year. To put this work on a truly efficient basis at least four inspections a year should be made.

The rates paid the medical inspectors are $5.00 for a single room school and $4.00 per room in multiple room buildings. There will be approximately 15,000 schools to be inspected and the field cost of one inspection at $4.75 per school will be about $70,000 and the clerical expense in checking up the work, tabulating and sending advisory letters to parents and teachers is about $15,000 making the total cost of one complete inspection $85,000 or four inspections $340,000.

The Department paid during the last two years about $80,000 for medical inspection out of its General Fund. With the appropriation requested and provided no extraordinary demands are made upon our General Fund, we hope to be able to make two complete inspections each year. This hereafter should be doubled if the State can afford it. Amount asked for $250,000

The General Fund appropriated to the Department of Health for the several purposes specified in the bill has heretofore always been appropriated in a lump sum. It is necessary and expedient that the appropriation should be so made.

The health of the public is as uncertain and variable as the health of the individual. What conditions the Department may be called upon to meet in the next two years can not be foreseen. At present and all during the past winter the State has been menaced with threatened outbreaks of smallpox which is the most expensive diseases to control because it requires absolute quarantine and usually the placing of guards. There are now cases of smallpox in eight different counties in the State.

The expenses for the medical division and the engineering division or the division of biological products and the proportion in which it may be necessary to expend this fund among the several divisions depends entirely upon the emergencies which the Department may be called upon to meet during the next two years. Disasters such as occurred at Austin in the fall of 1911 may or may not occur.

None of these conditions can be foreseen and all of them must be met in the best possible way. With a flexible fund which, while it may be used for the special expenses mentioned in the bill, is nevertheless for one distinct purpose, siz.: protection of the public health, that the work of the Department can be done with the most economy and to the greatest benefit of the people of the State.

The Tuberculosis fund is for the construction and equipment of sanatoria, the maintenance of sanatoria and tuberculosis dispensaries, and for educational purposes relating to the prevention of tuberculosis. The several items of this appropriation which also are all for one definite purpose, the prevention of tuberculosis, should not be rigidly divided in the appropriation.

Our estimates for construction and equipment may vary considerably from the estimates of the contractors who undertake the work, which estimates can only be received after the appropriation is made. The estimates for maintenance, while based upon the experience of former years, are subject to variation in the cost of food supplies, fuel and the ever increasing difficulty in securing the necessary servants.

The attendance at the dispensaries is constantly increasing although we have made our calculations upon the cost of the former years.

With this fund given as a whole these differences can be adjusted to the great advantage of the tuberculous poor. If, for instance, the sum for maintenance was rigidly fixed and by reason of increased cost of food supplies or help, should become exhausted the institution having no other resources, would be compelled to close and send the poor patients to their homes. With a flexible fund some contemplated improvement though necessary for the most economical administration of the institution could be delayed and the care of the patients continued.

This fund is at all times kept separate from all other funds appropriated to the Department and its expenditures characterized on vouchers of a different color from those used for our general work. All expenditures made by the Department of Health on account of either the General Fund of the Tuberculosis Fund must be approved by the Governor.

Broad as these appropriations are, they are too narrow to meet all of the needs of the tuberculous poor and we are compelled to rely upon private philanthropy and local charities for necessary expenses which we would not feel authorized to pay out of State appropriations, such as furnishing of blankets to the poor dispensary patients in order that during the winter they may be able to sleep with their windows open or in the open air; necessary clothing for the patients at the Sanatoria and the expenses of transportation of the patients to Mont Alto, Creason or Hemburg.

The Department's Budget has been carefully and economically considered and prepared. Nothing is asked for except that which, after an experience of eight years devoted to the work of protecting the lives and health of our people, I believe to be absolutely necessary to the proper functions of the Department of Health in order that the Commissioner of Health may exercise the powers and perform the duties imposed upon him by laws which have already materially reduced our death rates and have saved the lives of thousands of the people of the States.

I recommend that this Budget be passed in its entirety in the form in which it has been presented and with this recommendation I respectfully submit the same for the consideration of your Honorable assembly.

Faithfully yours,

SAMUEL G. DIXON.
Commissioner of Health.

REPORT FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

June 9, 1913.

To the House of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Gentlemen:—I am in receipt of a Resolution of the House of Representatives, reading as follows:

"Resolved, That the heads of the several departments of this Commonwealth asking for appropriations in the General Appropriation Bill for this session furnish the House not later than next Monday the reasons for any change or increase of the amount asked for, or any particular item in said bill wherein a bulk amount is asked for."

The only item in which there has been any increase asked for by this Department are as follows:

Salary of two Deputies Attorney General, two years, the sum of fourteen thousand dollars ($14,000.00). This has been increased to $15,500.00.

"For the payment of clerk hire, two years, the sum of nineteen thousand four hundred dollars, ($19,400.00)."

This has been increased to twenty-three thousand dollars, ($23,000.00).

These increases are to provide for the exact amount of the salaries fixed by the Legislature by the Act approved April 29, 1913, entitled "An Act reorganizing the Attorney General's Department, designing the officers and employes thereof, and fixing their salaries."

The item "For the payment of the contingent expenses, official fees, witness fees, serving process, and for such other costs as the Commonwealth may be liable to pay in cases in which the Commonwealth is or may be a party, and for the payment of postage, express charges, the purchase of law books for the law library of the Attorney General's Department, and other incidental expenses, for the two fiscal years commencing June first, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00)" was increased to fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00). The essential reason for such increase is that an Act of Assembly is pending which provides that all Attorneys and other legal counsel employed to represent or advise the Commonwealth and the several departments of the State government, bureaus, or branches thereof, shall be employed by the Attorney General, and it was thought that this Act, requiring as it will more sheriffs' fees, prothonotary's costs, costs of witnesses, expert and otherwise, printing of paper books and other incidental costs and expenses, together with the natural increase in the work of the Department, as indicated by the two fiscal years ending May 31, 1913, over the two fiscal years ended May 31, 1911, would require the appropriation asked for. If the sum is not used, it will, of course, lapse and be returned to the general fund.

The item providing for counsel fees etc. in the Act of 1911 is as follows, viz:

"For the payment of the services and expenses of attorneys, employed by the Attorney General to assist in the prosecution and trial of cases and the prosecution of claims in which the Commonwealth is interested, and for the payment of the services, costs and expenses of special district attorneys, appointed by the Attorney General, for the two fiscal years commencing June first, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and for the payment of the services, costs, and expenses of such attorneys, or special district attorneys, rendered, incurred, and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00)."

This item has been similarly raised to twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) for the reason that the likely employment of additional counsel will probably require the expenditure of the additional sum fixed in this pending appropriation bill.

Faithfully yours,

JNO. C. BELL,
Attorney General.

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY.

June 9, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representaties, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Gentlemen:—In response to a resolution of the House dated June 5th, 1913, introduced at the instance of Mr. Rockwell and requesting certain information respecting the reasons for any change or increase of the amounts asked for or any particular item in said general appropriation bill now having passed second reading in the House of Representatives, which estimates are intended to show the financial needs of the Department of Forestry in order that it may carry on its work for two years beginning June 1st, 1913, the information contained in the following pages is respectfully submitted.

Heretofore the appropriations made by the Legislature for the annual fixed charge for school purposes, for the annual fixed charge for road purposes, for the purchase of lands, for the extinguishment of forest fires, and for the expenses of the Forest Academy, have been carried by separate appropriation bills; but the estimates for these purposes were this year included in the budget of the Department of Forestry on the advice of the Attorney General, in order that the appropriations for the use of the Department might be included therein as are the appropriations made for the other departments of the State Government:

AS TO EXPENSES OF THE MEMBERS OF THE STATE FORESTRY RESERVATION COMMISSION.

The members of the Commission other than the Commissioner of Forestry, are expected to give and do give at least one-fourth of their time to the work of the Department. This they do without compensation, the State permitting them to have simply their traveling and other necessary expenses. It is necessary for the members of the Commission to travel extensively not only within the Commonwealth, but sometimes without, in order that they may be able to render the State the best service possible in accordance with their appointment. As the reserves increase in size, as the administrative problems become more complex, and as the work of development is multiplied from year to year, the expense of travel upon the members of the Commission shows a steady increase. The appropriation of 1911 of $3,500 was not sufficient to meet the expense of travel and it will be necessary to ask for a small deficiency appropriation to defray the remaining expenses. The item of $5,000 requested in the present bill is not in excess of the needs of the Commission.

AS TO SALARIES OF FORESTERS.

In order to care for the large area of the State forests now located in twenty-six counties, trained men from the State Forest Academy are employed. These young men are specally trained for the work and each year's class is assigned to definite areas and each man placed in charge of a definite tract for development and administration. The appropriation in 1911 for this purpose was $110,000. The increase in the number of foresters and the increase in their salaries which must be paid in accordance with the schedule adopted by the Department, account for the increase asked in the present appropriation. No one forester should be asked to care for and develop more than 10,000 acres of land, or approximately sixteen square miles. The need for foresters to care for the areas purchased is, therefore, a continuing one, and will remain a need until such time as all the State forests are under direct administration and in process of development. Today there are fifty foresters employed, but the million acres of land owned by the State require on the above basis, 100 foresters.

AS TO SALARIES OF FOREST RANGERS.

The forest rangers are largely the protective force used by the foresters in their work of administration and development. These are competent men usually from the locality where the lands lie, who are paid modest salaries to do what is sometimes difficult and dangerous work. Being sworn officers of the law, they are subject to duty call at any time. Each forester on his given area must have at least two rangers for protective purposes, and on some of the reserves a greater number is necessary because of the configuration of the land. The increase in the number of foresters means an increase in the number of rangers and the general high cost of living which means somewhat increased salaries for most of these men are largely responsible for the increase in appropriation asked for at this session The amount requested is not in excess of the needs of the Department, and the service which the State receives in return is entirely adequate for the outlay made.

Today the Department has 115 rangers. On a basis of 5,000 acres to each ranger, the present need of the State with its million acres, is 200 rangers.

AS TO THE SALARIES OF DRAFTSMEN, BOOKERS, ETC.

A force of draftsmen and bookkeepers is employed to take care of the increasing work in this direction, and as the work of the Department increases this force necessarily must be increased. The amount of $12,000 in 1911 was sufficient to meet the needs during the period just closed, but will not be sufficient for the coming two years, and for that reason the increase of $3,000 is requested. The business of the Department lags and cannot be kept up to date unless there be sufficient inside employes to keep it level with the demands made upon the Department.

AS TO SURVEYS.

Surveys and maps of the State forest reserves are necessary in order to determine the exact location and boundary of lands belonging to the State. Such boundary must be carefully delimited and marked so as to determine the rights both of the State and of adjoining private owners. Appropriations have never been sufficient to enable such work to be satisfactorily done. The work of surveying and marking boundaries is far behind what it should now be. In the past it has not been possible to keep the surveys up with the land purchases. All the basic work of the Department is founded upon the survey and the resulting forest map. The apprporiation for this work in 1907 was $10,000; in 1909, $30,000; in 1911, $10,000, although $20,000 were asked for and granted by the legislature, which was deereased by $10,000 because of insufficiency of revenue. The present estimate of the needs of the Department for the next two years, to-wit, $20,000, is insufficient to enable it to dothe work which ought to be done at this time under this item. The exterior boundaries alone of the present State forests aggregate many thousands of miles.

AS TO LABOR.

The work of the Department of Forestry is growing at a rapid rate. The purchase of additional lands requires the employment of more men. The lands already purchased must be developed and protected. The people of Pennsylvania expect the State forest resrves to be brought up to a productive state in the shortest possible time, in order that they may yield to the Commonwealth the revenue which such lands are capable of yielding; but before such yield can be reached or sustained, development and protection must both be brought forward to a point greatly in advance of where they now are. The appropriation for labor in 1907 was $30,000; in 1909, the amount asked for was $80,000, of which amount $10,000 was deducted because of insufficiency of revenue, leaving $70,000 appropriated; in 1911 the sum of $100,000 was asked for and appropriated. The estimate for the current two years, to-wit, $250,000, was requested for a number of reasons. Among these reasons are the increase in the cost of labor. Labor today costs at least 20 per sent more than it cost 2 years ago. The regular increase in the number of forests means greater protective effort, and consequently greater expense for labor. The regular and steady development of the forest reserves calls for additional labor. Every acre owned by the State for forestry purposes is entitled to its just share of protection. Unless protection can be afforded it it is useless to try to bring it to a productive state. Protection requires labor and costs money. As the work increases so ought the appropriations increase. The estimate for the present year is not in excess of the needs of the Department and of what ought to be expended in the developmant and protection of the State land.

AS TO EXAMINATION OF TITLES.

Every acre of land purchased for the use of the Commonwealth as a State forest reserve is not only carefully examined physically as to its fitness for the purpose, but is purchased finally only after a rigid and searching title examination. All titles purchased by the Department of Forestry are examined back to the granting of the original warrant by the Commonwealth for the land in question. The small sums of money expended in careful and accurate title examinations have undoubtedly saved the Commonwealth a very much larger amount, which otherwise would have been expended in defending law suits. In all the experience of the Department in purchasing lands since the year 1898, only two real questions have ever arisen as to the validity of the State's title, and in both of these cases the courts finally determined in favor of the Department.

In 1907 the amount appropriated for this purpose was $25,000; in 1909, the same amount, $25,000, was asked for, but a reduction of $10,000 was made because of insufficiency of revenue; in 1911 the amount appropriated for this purpose was $5,000, although the sum of $15,000 was necessary and was asked for; but inasmuch as it was necessary to make a reduction because of insufficiency of revenue, it was agreed with the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that the amount of this estimate be reduced from $15,000 to $5,000, because it was determined by the Chairman of said committee in the Senate that the bill appropriating money for the purchase of additional lands should be held in committee. Such being the case, it was believed that the $5,000 appropriated would be sufficient to clear up the titles to incomplete contracts to purchase. However, the Governor refused to consent to the elimination of the item for the purchase of forest lands, and approved it in the sum of $50,000, which sum was used in making additional purchases. The examination of the titles to the land acquired under prior contracts and to those acquired under the new appropriation required a greater amount for title examination, thereby causing a deficiency in that item, which deficiency is asked to be covered in the present bill; and the present estimate of $15,000 for this purpose is believead to be what the Department will need to do this work in the next two years.

The purchase of additional land in different and widely separated parts of the State should go forward without delay because such purchase will mean the proper regulation and augmentation of stream flow, which has now become a serious question to the Commonwealth. The purchase of such land should not be delayed for want of sufficient funds to examine titles.

AS TO OTHER EXPENSES NECESSARY AND INCIDENTAL TO THE CONDUCT OF THE BUSINESS OF THE DEPARTMENT.

In addition to the work technically classed as labor on the State forest reserves, other expenditures must be made in the protection, development, and maintenance of these lands, and such items of expenditure are classed hereunder. If this development is to be continued large appropriations for the purpose must also be continued. As the area of the reserves is increased, as greater development work is undertaken, so also is there a greater demand for expenditures not technically classed as labor. Frequently it is necessary to erect houses in which employes of the Department must live in order to be near their work and afford the needed protection to the State land. The purchase of tools and equipment for doing the work on the reserve is necessary if any work is to be done. This item also includes the purchase of horses, wagons, implements, feed, seedling trees, tree seeds, insurance on buildings and equipment, repairs to buildings, and material for the same, and other structural material wherever demanded. The Commonwealth now owns nearly a million acres of land as State Forests, located in twenty-six different counties, and a large and capable force must be in the employ of the Department to handle it successfully. The building of roads is a prime necessity for the development of any forest tract, for without them it is not possible to enter the woods, develop the land, or remove the product after development. The proper exploitation and development of State forests will mean an increasing expenditure of money. With the stand of merchantable timber in the State now not equal to the demand for timber within her border, and with such supply likely to be exhausted within a few years, a timber famine is sure to result which will disastrously affect the prosperity of the Commonwealth. Only active and heroic exertions and the expenditure of money can avert the coming of such a day, and the work cannot and ought not to be delayed longer. Instead of planting from 3 millions to 4 millions of young trees each year, the number planted should be 20 millions. Little Switzerland plants 22 millions each year and is only one-third the size of Pennsylvania.

The work of the Department has been seriously crippled in the past, especially during the immediately preceding years, because of lack of ample appropriation for the proper administration of the State forests.

AS TO THE ANNUAL FIXED CHARGES FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

By act of Assembly approved the 5th day of April, 1905, and later modified by the act of May 13th, 1909, a charge of two cents per acre is now laid upon every acre of State land held for State forest purposes for the benefit of the schools of the districts wherein the lands lie. The appropriation for this purpose in 1909 was $40,000, covering a period of two years, or $20,000 per year. The same amount was appropriated in 1911, and in each instance nearly the whole amount was needed to pay the charge. The increase of $2,000 is requested for the current two years because of the increase in the holdings of the State, upon which an additional charge will have to be paid. We believe that the amount of increase asked for is not in excess of the needs of the Department.

AS TO THE ANNUAL FIXED CHARGES FOR ROAD PURPOSES.

The explanation given with respect to the fixed charge for school purposes applies directly to the charge for road purposes, the fixed charge being the same in both cases, to-wit, two cents per acre. This amount is paid to the supervisors of the road districts where the State forests lie and as the State's compensation to said districts as it is to the school districts for the loss of taxes occasioned by the purchase of State forests, which lands are not taxable in the hands of the local taxing authorities. The same reason for the increase in this item exists as for that in the increase of the school charges.

AS TO THE PURCHASE OF LANDS TO BE SET ASIDE AND HELD AS STATE FOREST RESERVES.

By act of Assembly approved the 15th day of April, 1903, the expenditures of the Department for the purchase of lands for any two-year period were limited to $600,000, or $300,000 per year. There exists, therefor, Legislative authority for the expenditure of money for the purchase of additional lands up to this amount annually. The amount appropriated for this purpose in 1909 was $100,000; the amount appropriated in 1911 was $50,000. The increase asked for in the present estimate, is because of the necessity to continue the purchases of land suitable to be set aside as State forests, and this necessity is ruled by the fact that only the State can manage and control large areas of land sufficient in size to regulate stream flow, to prevent serious erosion and the silting up of the beds of streams, and hold them for long periods of time wherein they may be developed to a productive capacity.

The purchase of many valuable tracts recently had to be declined because of the insufficiency of appropriation with which to make payment, and the purchase of other tracts already under contract has had to be suspended because of lack of means to make settlement. Many tracts which have been offered at exceedingly low rates and which would have been advantageous for the State to own, had to be declined for the same reason. When next they are offered it is more than probable that the offer will be made at an increased price only.

Because of the insufficiency of appropriation it has heretofore been practically impossible to purchase any State forests on the Ohio watershed, where of all parts of the State said reserves may be made most useful and are probably today most needed. The high cost of land in this region of the Commonwealth and the meagreness of appropriations has made all such purchases practically prohibitory.

It is not possible to give the location of future purchases, as these purchases are made only after the owners make formal tenders to the Department. Neither is it possible to state the probable amount of land which will thus be purchased. It is the experience of the Department, however, that the larger the tract purchased the more advantageous it is to the Commonwealth. The probable price of the lands can be gauged only by the past experience in purchasing. With nearly a milion acres now held as State forests, the average purchase price has been about $2.25 per acre, although if purchases are to be made on the Ohio watershed necessarily the price will be much higher than in the central portion of the State, and the average price will necessarily rise. As shown by the report of the Department to January 1, 1912, pages 92 to 96 inclusive, by charging all appropriations which have been made from the beginning of forestry work in this State, running back for a period of twenty years against the lands purchased, it shows the average cost of the present State forests to be but $3.50 per acre. In other words, the State has expended upon each acre bought, for all purposes, over a period of twenty years, and for the first six years of which prior no lands were purchased, but $1.25 per acre; and the average value of the land now held is at least $6.00 per acre. As a pure and simple business proposition, therefore, aside from all the collateral and incidental benefits which arise from the vigorous and comprehensive forest administration, the work of the Department of Forestry has been most profitable to the Commonwealth. At the present time and for some years past, revenues have been returned from these lands, and these revenues are now constantly increasing from year to year. All such revenues are turned directly into the State Treasury as gain, and are not used by the Department in the furtherance of its work.

As the work of administering and developing the lands goes forward, these revenues will necessarily be swelled to large amounts, and the Commonwealth will be receiving in return something on her investment, which from the character of the lands purchased, generally cut-over, burned, and denuded lands, it is scarcely possible to expect a return except at the end of a much longer period. As an evidence of the value to be derived from the proper administration of these holdings, it may be instanced that one outstanding mineral lease, which has run for ten years and has ten years yet to run, has at this time totally paid for the purchase price of the 1,100 acres involved and all interest and expenses attendant thereon, and has yielded in excess of all charges to date nearly $2,500, showing to this time a return on the investment amounting to 162.7 per cent.

AS TO THE PREVENTION AND EXTINCTION OF FOREST FIRES.

The need to prevent and extinguish forest fires is not a debatable question. Appropriations heretofore made for this purpose have been lamentably and absurdly too small. Unless forest fires can be suppressed there is no need to attempt forest restoration in this State. Under the act of 1909 creating a new system of fire wardens and providing for extinguishment of forest fires, the sum of $50,000 was appropriated. This did not warrant placing men upon daily patrol during the spring and fall fire seasons. It is always cheaper to prevent a fire than to extidguish it after it is once started, and besides we save the timber which is otherwise burned. The $50,000 appropriation had to be held to pay the expenses of extinguishing fires, and the 18th section of the act permitting the employment of men for daily patrol thus became inoperative. The appropriation this year was carried by the act creating the system of fire wardens. In 1911 the appropriation was the same amount, $50,000, although $60,000 were requested. The same reason exists, therfore, for not being able to put men upon daily patrol, and the funds had to be saved for the purpose of paying expenses incurred in extinguishing fires until within the last six weeks it was found feasible to put a few men on daily patrol in accordance with the provisions of Section 18. For the present or current period the same amount of appropriations is asked, with the thought in mind that it would not be possible to obtain a greater sum, although the needs of the service actually require more funds. Heretofore the correspondence necessarily incident to administering the forest fire law was conducted by the Department, and this correspondence forms a very considerable portion of its business, inasmuch as there are at least 3,000 district fire wardens and assistant fire wardens in the Commonwealth with whom it is necessary to conduct correspondence. At the suggestion of the Auditor General the item "postage" was inserted in the present estimate so that out of the fund appropriated for forest fires it would be possible to set aside a small sum to cover the cost of postage needed in carrying on the above correspondence. This, of course, is a trifling sum compared with the amount required for the actual payment of labor in extinguishing fires.

AS TO THE STATE FOREST ACADEMY.

The State Forest Academy was established to train young men to become foresters and to take care of, manage, develop, and control the State forest reserves. This school since its creation has been run in economical manner and the funds heretofore allowed it have been scarcely sufficient to meet its needs. The State cannot afford to cripple its own school which is engaged in the production of capable young men to take care of its own property. The additional money asked for in the present appropriation is necessary for the proper maintenance of the Academy and is demanded by the increased cost of living, cost of labor, and other items of expense necessary to be met owing to the general increase of prices throughout the country relating to almost all subjects for which money must be spent in behalf of this institution. The Commonwealth today owns nearly a million acres of land which it must develop, protect, and bring to a productive state as soon as possible. To do this it needs trained men, and such men are being furnished by the Forest Academy. No forester can well administer more than 10,000 acres of land, or an area approximating 16 square miles. With 50 foresters in the field today the administrative force is far below what it should be and the need for continuing and supporting the Academy is most apparent for this reason only.

AS TO SHADE TREE WORK.

From all over the State requests come to the Department for assistance and advice with respect to the selection, planting, care, treatment, and development of shade trees and systems of shade trees. Heretofore this work has been done by the Department as it best was able, using such of its appropriated funds as were available for work of this character. The demand for shade trees and for greater knowledge about shade trees is showing a healty and steady increase, and the people of the State expect the Forestry Department to be in a position to render them the necessary help and give them the necessary advice which they have a right to expect to receive from the State. The appropriation of $5,000 asked for this purpose is not large, but it will suffice to put the shade tree work upon a practical basis and enable the Department to serve the people of the State in a way better than they have heretofore been able to do. The beautifying of our roads, streets, and private grounds ought not to be neglected but form a very proper part of the effort which the Commonwealth should make to keep the land as attractive as possible.

AS TO FARM FORESTRY AND FARM WOODLOTS.

It goes without saying that the Commonwealth cannot own and administer all the forested land in the State. The individual and the private owner must help, each doing his little part. The farm woodlot is the medium through which enormous areas of land now suitable for little else than growing trees, and connected with farms, may be brought to a productive state, yielding to the owner for general farm purposes the necessary wood material required to be used upon the farm, and which if not produced thereon must be brought in the market at constantly increased rates. The effort of the Department is to organize a system of examinations, advice, and treatment for farm woodlots and assisting the owners thereof in selecting trees, planting, developing, and maintaining present and future woodlots. To this end also it is necessary to furnish the owners with such literature and other instruction as will enable them to do much of the work themselves. The development of farm forestry and farm woodlot work is scarcely begun in this State, but that it is a prime necessity is evidenced by the activity of the Forestry Department of the State of New York, where thousands of lectures, examinations, letters of advice, and other forms of assistance have been rendered to farmers of that State, and for which they are accordingly apprecative and grateful.

To maintain a Department of Forestry simply for the maintenance and control of State forests and doing nothing for the private owner, is to neglect one of the opportunities which the State should eagerly grasp to assist in developing private forestry. The Department should have sufficient funds to issue bulletins at regular intervals bearing upon all the forestry problems of the Commonwealth, and these should be widely distributed for the information of the people.

AS TO THE DEFICIENCY IN THE APPROPRIATION FOR THE EXAMINATION OF TITLES TO LANDS.

The appropriation of 1911, to-wit, $5,000 for the examination to titles to land, arose because of the fact that the new purchases made under the appropriation of 1911, and which has hereinbefore been explained, were not contemplated at the time the amount of the appropriation was fixed. In order that the lands might be purchased and paid for and added to the forest reserve, the title examiner courteously agreed to conduct the work without pay and trust to the fairness of the succeeding Legislature to compensate him for the charge thus incurred. The amount of deficiency apppropriation asked for is approximately the amount necessary to pay the charges now due and owing by the Commonwealth to the title examiner. Had the title examinations not proceeded, many valuable tracts which the State was able to acquire at most satisfactory prices, could not have been purchased. Because of the need of covering such expense, there can be no reason alleged why such deficiency should not be met.

AS TO A DEFICIENCY IN THE 1911 APPROPRIATION FOR THE PREVENTION AND EXTINGUISHMENT OF FOREST FIRES.

This deficiency arose simply because of the fact that at the end of the fiscal period June 1, 1909, to June 1, 1911, a very large number of destructive fires occurred and of which the Department had and could have had no knowledge when the item for forest fire appropriation was decided upon. The bills for which the deficiency is now requested came in subsequent to a time when it was possible to have provided for them. The bills are on hand, the men have rendered the work, they have waited over two years for their money, the charges were regularly and legally incurred, and there is no reason why the Commonwealth should not pay its just debts.

AS TO THE PURCHASE AND PLANTING OF GINSENG SEEDS.

This item of appropriation was not placed into the bill at the instance of the Department of Forestry, but was put there by others who have an interest in the planting and growing of ginseng and who believe and rightly so that the State forests are entirely suitable places upon which this valuable plant may be cultivated for the benefit of those engaged in its marketing. Large profit is attached to the cultivation of the ginseng plant; the forest is its natural home, it grows nowhere else except under extremely artificial conditions, and to plant it widely throughout the State forests is to make areas more profitable to the people of the Commonwealth.

In conclusion, it is the desire of the department to convey to the House the thought that the State forests ought to be increased in size because of the great general good they do to the Commonwealth as a whole that the lands so purchased are a valuable asset to the Commonwealth, and in the future if they are developed and protected, will become increasingly more valuable. An asset of this character needs to be fostered and carefully administered. While the expense at the beginning of the work may seem to be a large outlay without compensative return, it is nevertheless true that the returns in the near future as a result of this outlay will become comprisingly large and will constitute one of the sources of substantial revenue to which the State may regularly look from year to year.

The Department believes that its estimates for appropriations are conservative and not in excess of the demands of the work. The work will progress rapidly or slowly, just as the Legislature sees fit to permit it to progress. The activities of the Department are singularly dependent upon the money given through biennial appropriations, as it is not permitted to use any of the returns, these being deposited directly with the State Treasurer.

The Department further feels that its administration of the trust which is imposed upon it has been economical and business-like, and that in all directions of its activity the Commonwealth is receiving and will continue to receive an adequate return not only from the money derived as revenue, but from the other numerous beneficial results which are not capable of being measured in money.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT S. CONKLIN,
Commissioner of Forestry.

REPORT FROM THE DAIRY AND FOOD COMMISSIONER.

To the Honorable, George E. Alter, Speaker, and Members of the House of Representatives.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 9th, 1913.

Sirs:—In pursuance of your resolution of June 4th, 1913, I submit the required information as to the expenditure of the sum appropriated in 1911, to the use of the Dairy and Food Division of the Department of Agriculture, including an itemized statement of said expenditures, and also information as to the necessity of increasing the sum appropriated for the biennial period beginning June 1st, 1913, to $190,000.

The sub-joined itemized statement groups the expenditures of the 1911 appropriation in a manner analogous to the sub-division of the appropriations of 1907 and 1909.

SPECIAL AGENTS' SALARIES AND EXPENSES.

These expenses include traveling expenses (such as railway fare, carrage hire, where required for the efficiency of the service, and hotel billls), cost of purchased samples, of containers purchased by agents for the same, express on samples shipped, postage, telegrams, telephone service, and similar expenses incident to the performance of their duties as sampling agents and representatives of the Commissioner in the prosecution of violators of the food laws.

CHEMISTS' AND LABORATORY EXPENSES.

This includes the necessary expenses and per diem of the chemists, when appearing as witnesses for the Commonwealth in cases prosecuted by the Commissioner, and such other time, traveling expenses, and telegraph and telephone expense as the service of the Dairy and Food Division may from time to time require.

Under laboratory expenses are included fees for analyses of official samples submitted by the Commissioner or his special agents. These fees are governed by the following schedule, save in cases involving an unusual amount of work or the expenditure of unusually costly reagents, when the fee is fixed as nearly as may be in accordance with these elements of coct:

Milks and creams,	$1.00
Ice creams,	2.00
Foods, qualitative,	3.00
Foods, qualitative,	5.00
Non-alcoholic drinks,	3.00
Eggs,	3.00
Fruit syrups,	3.00
Lard,	3.00
Sausage,	3.00
Butter,	3.00
Oleomargarine.	3.00
Vinegar,	5.00

Under this system the chemists are paid for the time devoted to the analysis of official samples, the maintenance of their laboratories, and the clerical costs entailed by the preparation of their formal analytical reports, solely through the analytical fees above stated.

ATTORNEYS.

This group includes expeditures for the services of attorneys, four of whom are paid, as heretofore, by salary, the remainder by fees, and for the expenses incident to the performance of their duties. These duties include the preparation of cases, their prosecution before aldermen, and before the Courts of Quarter Sessions, the Superior Court and the Supreme Court, when necessary, the preparation of paper books, the printing thereof, and the traveling expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of these duties.

CLERICAL AND STENOGRAPHERS. SALARIES

Here are included the salaries of the office assistants and stenographers required for the conduct of the work not specifically provided for in the departmental appropriation.

MISCELLANEOUS.

This group includes office expenses, such as postage and telegrams, emergency printing, janitor service, extra clerical service, the cost of newspapers and trade periodicals pertaining to the service, necessary traveling expenses of the Commissioner and office force when engaged upon official duty, the pay of agents, assistants, where required for the efficiency of the service, cost of special supplies, express bills, payment of former agents for services and expenses in connection with cases termiated after said agents had severed their connection with the Division, and other similar items not logically classfiable in either of the preceding groups.

The group totals of the expenditures under the Act of 1911, as set forth in the sub-joined, itemized statement, are:

Special Agents' salaries and expenses,	$81,930.75
Chemists' and Laboratory expenses,	33,324.88
Attorneys,	23,883.96
Clerical and Stenographers' salaries,	11,335.00
Miscellaneous,	9,523.51
Total,	$159,998.10

My reasons for believing that an appropriation of $198,000. will be required for the proper performance of the duties imposed upon the Dairy and Food Commissioner by the laws of the Commonwealth, are based upon two considerations:

First, that the Commission remains charged with the enforcement of the laws enacted prior to the session of the present Legislature, and will require for their enforcement no less sum than was appropriated two years ago for this same purpose.

Second, the Commissioner is further charged with the enforcement of the Cold Storage Act of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, which will require additions to his working force, office and field, and correspondingly increased expenses of operation.

With respect to the former of these considerations, the following information is peritnent:

(1). The business of the Division, expressed in condensed form, for the time during which it has been in the present Commissioner's charge, 1907-1912, was as follows, for the several calendar years:

Year,	Samples Analyzed,	Cases Terminated.	Expenditures.
1907,	7,400	664	$78,455.88
1908,	8,300	300	69,968.20
1909,	6,200	797	83,700.00
1910,	5,594	667	79,661.65
1911,	8,200	1,029	83,083.15
1912,	7,204	1,049	81,858.55
	42,898	3,506	$476,727.43

(2). A careful analysis of these figures and associated facts, shows that the work of the Division, in the enforcement of the food laws enacted prior to 1913, is steadily growing. While the forms of adulteration common a few years ago have abated in volume, new and more ingenious methods are constantly springing into use. The special food laws, supplementing the general food law, more specifically define the legal requirements, and have thereby rendered possible the prosecution and abatement of evils not easily repressed under the provisions of the general food act. As the special agents have gained in experience, they have been the better able to identify suspicious materials and increase their porportion in the sum total of samples purchased and submitted for analysis.

The consequence of these several conditions, has been to entail upon the chemists a large average volume of analytical work per sample examined, and largely to increase the number of cases prosecuted.

(3). Nevertheless, the cost of analysis and the legal service required in the prosecutions has been held down to low figures. The average analytical fee per sample, for the samples analyzed from June 1, 1911, to June 1, 1913, was $1.55—a low figure made possible because of the large number of milks and creams examined in the enforcement of the Milk Act.

The average result obtained by dividing the attorney's fees and expenses for the fiscal years, June 1, 1911 to June 1, 1913 by the number of cases terminated during that period, was $10.68.

Another view of the facts is obtained by a comparison of the several appropriations since 1907 with the corresponding expenditures. In 1907, there was appropriated for the work of this Division, $166,500; the corresponding expenditure for the period ending May 31, 1909, was $141,995.67; leaving an unexpended balance of $24,504.33, which reverted to the Treasury. The amount appropriated in 1909, was $180,000; the corresponding expenditure, $166,-52.35; leaving a balance of $13,947.65: which reverted to the Treasury on May 31st, 1911. The appropriation of 1911 was $160,000; the expenditure to June 1, 1913, $159.998.10; so that this year, only $1.90 remains un-expended, while vouchers are in hand for services performed and expenses incurred prior to June 1, 1913, that could not be paid from the appropriation of 1911. These items of liability are set forth in a schedule hereto attached.

Upon the basis of the facts first mentioned, I estimate that the work of the Division for the effective enforcement during the coming two fiscal years, of the laws already in force, will require the following sums, grouped in a manner somewhat more convenient for distribution and accounting, than the method of classification earlier used

Special Agents' salaries,	$53,000.00
Attorneys' salaries and fees, assistants and special work,	28,000.00
Clerical and Stenographers' services,	15,000.00
Chemists' and Laboratory expenses,	35,000.00
Traveling and other necessary expenses of the Commissioner and special agents, cost of food samples, express, telegraph, and other incidental expenses,	37,000.00
	$168,000.00

The fact should be borne in mind, that the functions of the several branches of this Division's work are interdependent, so that, for example, if the fund for chemists and laboratory expenses be prematurely exhausted, the efficiency of all branches is greatly impaired; consequently, it is important that the items in a sub-divided appropriation be balanced as perfectly as past experience may make possible.

In view of the facts that the work of the Dairy and Food Commissioner is essentially an exercise of the police power of the State, and that it has been policy of the Legislature to defray, as far as practicable, the expenses of the service from the funds collected by the Commissioner under the various penal and license provisions of the food laws, it is pertient to make, in this connection, a comparison between the amounts thus received and turned into the Treasury, and the amounts expended in the service. The figures are as follows for the calendar years, 1907-1912:

Year,	Turned Into The Treasury.	Expended By The Division.	Excess Or Deficit.
1907,	$55,702.63	$78,455.88	$22,753.25
1908,	54,580.62	69,968.20	15,387.58
1909,	86,594,15	83,700.00	2,894.15
1910,	110,802.95	79,661.65	31,141.30
1911,	120,993.48	83,083.15	37,910.33
1912.	136,125.49	81,858.55	54,266.94

Consequently, at the present time, none of the direct costs of this important service is defrayed from general taxation. On the contrary, the net excess over expenditures of the sums turned into the Treasury during the six calendar years here represented, was about $90,000; and, during the two years of the present administration alone, this excess of receipts over expenditures has been $92,000.

The chief reason for asking an increased appropriation at this time is, however, the fact that the Legislature has charged the Dairy and Food Commissioner with the enforcement of the Cold Storage Act of 1913, which requires the supervision of trade interests representing $50,000.00. This duty will necessarily involve the employment of several additional agents, and additional expert service, more clerical assistance to keep the special records required by the Act, additional examination of cold-storage foods and a very material addition to the traveling and other incidental expenses. Owing to the fact that the service cannot be instantly developed to its full extent, I have endeavored to make my estimates of added costs conservative. On the other hand, there are some elements of expense for which, because no experience, here or elsewhere, is accumulated to serve as a basis of judgment, the allowances have necessarily been made with a margin of safety. As a whole, it is my judgment that $30,000 is the last sum that should be appropriated to meet these new requirements.

In connection with this Act, it should be recalled, there are license fees imposed, the productiveness from which I am now unable closely to estimate. From the facts in my possession, I judge that the license fees and such fines as may be collected, will constitute a total somewhat in excess of the appropriation item recommended for this new branch of the service.

REPORT FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

June 9, 1913.

To the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I am in receipt of a Resolution of the House, as follows:

"That the Attorney General be requested to inform the House whether or not there are now costs and expenses rendered, incurred and remaining unpaid due such attorneys or special district attorneys, or any expense for the serving of processes, witness fees, or other expenses in suits in which the Commonwealth, through its Attorney General, deputy, special attorney, intervened, remaining still due and unpaid; and that the House be given not later than Monday, the ninth day of June, 1913, a detailed account of the names of attorneys and parties of the suits, together with all information as to all the amounts due."

In response to this Resolution I have to advise you that the only cases in which there are fees to be paid to counsel are the following:

The case of the State Highway Commissioner against the president and managers of the Chambersburg and Bedford Turnpike Company, which was a proceeding in the Quarter Sessions of Fulton County for the condemnation of a turnpike, constituting one of the routes in the State Highway system, was appealed to the Supreme Court and argued at the session of that court held at Harrisburg on the twenty-sixth of May, 1913, and has not yet been decided. This case involves the constitutionality of the Act of May 31, 1911, known as the Sproul Act. Hon. John W. Hoke was retained by this Department in this case and has not yet presented his bill for services.

Warren Brothers and Company brought four suits against C. P. Eastburne, F. E. Francis and Reed and Patton in the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania to restrain the defendants, who were contractors with the State Highway Department for the building of State highways, from building roads as contracted for, on the ground that the specifications prepared by the State Highway Department were an infringement of the patent of Warren Brothers and Company. James Nagley Cooke, a patent attorney of Pittsburgh, was specially retained to represent the Commonwealth. This case has been concluded, and, while his final bill has not yet been received, it will in all probability amount to $250.00.

The Commonwealth brought a bill in equity at the suit of the State Commissioner of Health against Mars Borough, in Butler County, alleging a pollution of the stream, for the purpose of restraining such pollution. T. C. Campbell has been specially retained to represent the Commonwealth in this proceeding, which has not been ended and no bill for his services has yet been received.

A number of violations of the automobile laws in Allegheny County were reported by the State Highway Department, and John T. Duff was specially retained to represent the Commonwealth in prosecuting these cases. They have not been concluded and no bill has been received.

Whether there will be any other expenses in these cases, and what the amounts will be, will depend upon the final determination thereof.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Frank A. Deagan for arson, brought at the instance of the Fire Marshal, the facts of the case and the conditions in McKean County were such that after conference between the Fire Marshal and the Attorney General's Department, it was concluded to retain John A. Fitzgibbon to represent the Commonwealth in that case.

The case has been concluded and the bill of John A. Fitzgibbon has been received and approved in the sum of $100.00 but not yet paid.

All other cases, of which there have been a large number during the two fiscal years ending May 31, 1913, have been concluded, and the expenses thereof paid out of the appropriation therefor.

There are some sheriffs' fees in cases recently brought by this Department in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County against corporations in other counties where the writs have been directed to the sheriffs of the counties in which the corporations are located, which have not yet been presented to the Department for payment, but there are not many of such cases and the amounts will be the usual ones for service of process.

There are a number of tax cases pending in the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County but whether costs in any will be chargeable to the Commonwealth depends on the determination of each case. There is also a number of pending criminal prosecutions, brought at the instance of the Banking Commissioner, in which bills for the fees of counsel have not yet been rendered to the Department. These bills will probably amount to $500, more or less.

JOHN C. BELL,
Attorney General.

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

June 9, 1913.

To the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania in regular biennial session met.

Gentlemen:—In compliance with your request expressed by Resolutions passed, dated June 4th and 5th, I enclose herewith information as to the expenditure of moneys appropriated during the Session of 1911 and the necessity of increase in cases where increase is proposed or provided for in the General Appropriation Bill now under consideration by your body.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Very truly yours,

N. B. CRITCHFIELD,
Secretary of Agriculture.

REPLY TO RESOLUTION, ITEM OF FEEDING STUFFS.

The old Feeding Stuff law approved May 28, 1907, carried an appropriation of thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars in addition to the one thousand ($1,000) dollars appropriated by the session of 1907, making the total appropriation of 1907 thirty-one thousand ($31,000) dollars instead of one thousand ($1,000) dollars as set forth in the resolution.

The session of 1909 approved the amount of thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars requested, which was subsequently reduced by the Governor to twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars owing to the necessity for retrenchment.

The following is a detailed statement of the expenditure of the thirty thousand ($30,000) dollars appropriated by the session of 1911, as per pay rolls and vouchers for each item submitted and now on file in the Auditor General's Department.

Salaries of four chemists, three agents, stenographer and laboratory assistants	$22,313 12
Supplies, including chemicals and apparatus	1,895 33
Expenses of John F. St. Clair, special agent, for collecting samples and as witness	1,898 60
Postage stamps for mailing reports and letters	1,425 00
Expenses of G. G. Hutchison, general agent, incident to making information in cases ordered for prosecution, as witness and investigating violations of the law	1,276 18
Expenses of J. W. Kellogg, chief chemist. including minor office expenses, as witness and attendance at conferences	199 40
Expenses of John W. Stiteler, special agent, for collecting samples and as witness	179 01
Frances L. Hess, clerical work	136 67
Express and freight	75 62
Subscription to trade journals,	57 62
Expenses of John S. Spicer, first assistant chemist, as witness in court cases	19 44
Dues to U. S. Association of Feed Control Officials	10 00
Total expended		$29,485 99
Unexpended balance		514 01
Total		$30,000 00

The necessity for increasing the appropriation to thirty-five thousand ($35,000) dollars, as set forth in the appropriation bill of 1913, is that an insufficient amount of money has made it impossible to properly enforce the provisions of the act for the reason that all sections of the State could not be thoroughly covered, as certain isolated districts involved expensive trips; a number of violations of the law could not be properly investigated and certain suits could not be properly prosecuated for want of necessary data. The increase is needed to do this additional work if the law is to be properly enforced so as to enable the department to be in a position to pay expenses of witnesses and attorney fees in contested cases and also to obtain much needed data in regard to the value of certain by-product feeds.

REPLY TO RESOLUTION, ITEM OF PARIS GREEN.

The session of 1909 approved the sum of seven thousand ($7,000) dollars for carrying out the provisions of the paris green law which was later reduced by the Governor to five thousand ($5,000) dollars instead of three thousand ($3,000) dollars as set forth in the Resolution.

The amount of money included in the appropriation bill of 1913 of seven thousand ($7,000) dollars is requested to enable the Department to properly enforce the provisions of the paris green law. No names of persons to be paid salaries have been considered. Inasmuch as this work has not been carried on for two years, chemists and agents will only be decided upon after an appropriation has been made.

The estimated expenditures, not including expenses of possible court cases, are as follows:

Salaries of chemists and agents	$4,400 00
Expenses of agents for collecting samples and witnese	2,000 00
Supplies, chemicals and apparatus	250 00
Cost of samples	200 00
Preparation and mailing of reports and correspondence	150 00
Total		$7,000 00

REPLY TO RESOLUTION, ITEM OF LINSEED OIL.

The amount of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars as set forth in the general appropriation bill of 1913 requested to enforce the law regulating the sale of Linseed Oil, which is an increase over the amount appropriated by the session of 1909, is necessary for the following reasons:

The act cited in the Resolution has been repealed by the new law, Act No. 82, approved April 29, 1913, which provides for the analysis of special samples sent to the Department in addition to those obtained by special agents in the regular inspection work necessary in enforcing the law. This work will require additional expenses for labor and supplies.

The adulteration of linseed oil has increased 14 per cent. during part of the period of two years when no money was available for this work. The violations of the law are increasing rapidly, and the State is being flooded with impure oil which will require a great deal of additional work at an increased expense to gain lost ground and to prevent the sale of impure oil in Pennsylvania.

Many requests are continually being made to investigate cases of alleged adulterations. Some cases have arisen where the death of live stock has resulted from the use of impure oil as a medicine, and requests have been made to appear as witness in suits where damage was claimed as a result of the sale of adulaterated oil.

If the sale of adulaterated oil in the State is to be stopped and consumers protected, it is imperative that the amount of money requested be appropriated to enable the Department to do the work at hand and properly enforce the provisions of the law. The sum of forty-three hundred ($4,300) dollars appropriated by the session of 1909 was entirely too small to carry on this work, however, an attempt was made to enforce the law and the sale of impure oil was checked to some extent. It is believed that the sum requested is not an excessive amount to regulate the sale of oil in the Commonwealth.

The estimated expenditures for two years, not including possible court cases of prosecutions requiring extra expense, are as follows:

Salaries of chemists and agents	$5,500 00
Expenses of agents for collecting samples and as witness	2,400 00
Supplies, chemicals and apparatus	1,000 00
Preparation and mailing of reports and correspondence	800 00
Cost of samples	300 00
Total		$9,000 00

Note.—Outstanding bills for work done during the two years ending May 31, 1913, for which receipted vouchers have not yet been received, will consume the above stated balance.

Referring to the increase provided in the General Appropriations Bill of 1913 for carrying out the provisions of what is commonly known as the "Fertilizer Law," over the amount appropriated for the same work in 1911, I beg leave to state that in the enactment of said law the purpose was to provide the necessary revenue for its enforcement by requiring a certain fee to be paid to the Secretary of Agriculture, by manufacturers of the same, for each brand of fertilizer sold in the State, and the payment of the same by the Secretary into the State Treasury, and the policy of the Department has been to increase the work as the revenue from licenses increases until we shall be able practically to cover the entire State with this work and secur and have analyzed a sample of every specific fertilizer on sale in this State. This is the only way in which the protection intended to be given to the farmers of the State can be secured, and as the license fees for the two years immediately preceding the passage of the Act of 1911 amounted to $53,650.00 that amount was asked for, but the Legislature cut from this amount the sum of $8,000.00, thereby badly crippling the work, notwithstanding that the most rigid economy was enforced to secure the best results possible with the means at hand.

The license fees for the two years immediately preceding the submission of the budget to the Apppropriations Committee for 1913 being in round numbers $57,000.00, this sum was asked for.

Up to the present time we have not been able to cover the entire State in securing samples which farmers are anxious to have done, and as no protest has come from manufacturers we think it only just to all parties concerned that the policy governing in the past shall continue to govern in the future, and that the amount paid by manufacturers shall be devoted to the enforcement of the law until such time as we shall be able to secure samples from every section of the State where fertilizers are sold.

Other appropriations made in 1911 relating to the Department of Agriculture, for which an increase is made in the General Appropriation Bill of 1913, follow with reasons for the increase made.

In line 818, File Folio 3355, is the item "For the payment of Contingent Expenses," etc.

The amount appropriated for Contingent Expenses in 1911 was eleven thousand five hundred dollars ($11,500). It should be stated, however, that before the Bill was reported a conference was had with the Appropriations Committee at which time the Department was urged to name some places in its budget where reductions could be made with least probability of crippling the service of the Department, and this was one of the items from which a deduction of two thousand dollars ($2,000) was made. Subsequent developments have shown that this reduction was unfortunate, for the reason that the largest item of expenditure coming from this fund is postage and transportation paid on Reports, Bulletins of information, etc., distributed to the farmers and other citizens of the State which had to be reduced, rendering the service of the Department to the public less valuable than would have been the case if the deduction had not been made, and as the greatest efficiency possible is desired the additional amount was asked for.

In line 839, File Folio 3355, is the item "For the payment of special examinations or investigations" etc.

The appropriation made for this branch of the department's work in 1911 was six thousand dollars ($6,000). Up to 1909 the biennial appropriation for this work was ten thousand dolllars ($10,000), the amount specified for the work by the Act creating the department. In 1909 it was reduced to eight thousand dollars ($8,000) and in 1911 an additional cut of two thousand dollars ($2,000) was made by the Appropriations Committee on account (as stated) of deficient revenue.

This work which is among the most important of the department, has suffered accordingly. Instead of the importance of such investigations as are contemplated by the Act naming five thousand dollars ($5,000) a year, or ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for two years, as the amount that may be expended, being decreased, it is constantly increasing and the expectations as well as the necessities of the public cannot be met unless it is done. The importance of returning to the original amount of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for two years seems so evident as to require no comment.

In line 834, File Folio 3355, "For the payment of the expenses of the State Board of Agriculture ad expenses of the members of said Board including Specialists of the Board and expenses and compensation of lecturers," etc. $2,500.

The appropriation made for this item in each of the years 1907 and 1909 was three thousand five hundred dollars (3,500) and the last named appropriation was approved by the Governor for two thousand dollars ($2,000) only.

To meet this reduction it was necessary to reduce expenses by dispensing with the assistance formerly given at the meetings of the Board by prominent Agricultural Specialists from other States, as well as some from our own State, thus making the meeting and the agricultural literature derived from it of much less value, and it was in the hope of restoring the better conditions that prevailed before the reduction, that the request was made for the restoration of the fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) that had been taken from the fund.

The new items for which appropriations are provided in the General Appropriation Bill for the year 1913 are as follows:

Line 824, "For the establishing and maintenance of a Bureau of Statistics in the Department for two years the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000)."

A bureau of statistics is one of the imperative needs of the department. Without it we have no adequate means of measuring the progress that is being made or comparing results in our own State with those of other sections of the country. Such a bureau will prove helpful in promoting trade between the several sections of our own State and between Pennsylvania and other States. In addition to being able to stimulate trade among our own people, so that everything produced here shall find a home market before our local dealers in farm products shall look elsewhere for supplies, we want to be able to attract the attention of the people of other States who in times of crop failures in their own sections may inquire concerning supply conditions in Pennsylvania. Without a Bureau of Statistics, all these and many more advantages are lost.

Lines 871 and 868, "For aid to the Pennsylvania Bee Keepers Association."

For the encouragement and protection of the bee-keeping industry in Pennsylvania, the General Assembly of 1911 enacted a law providing for regular inspection of the apiaries in the State, but no appropriation was made for carrying out the provisions of the Act. There being great danger of the loss of the entire industry to the State on account of the prevalence of the disease known as Foul Brood, competent apiarists who were largely interested volunteered to do inspection work in sections of the State where most needed without pay, the Department paying their expenses only out of the Contingent Fund.

A careful estimate of the amount needed to carry out the provisions of the Act places the amount at three thousand dollars ($3,000). I am informed that some States have appropriated from five to eight thousand dollars a year for the same work. The Bee industry in Pennnsylvania in estimated to be worth over a million dollars annually and is certainly worth caring for and unless this work is carried out, bee-keepers aver that the industry will be entirely destroyed.

Line 868 contains an item of two thousand dollars ($2,000) for the aid of the Bee Keepers Association of the State, through which organization it is sought to promote this important industry in our State.

Line 888, For the payment of expenses of Special Instruction and demonstrations in Agriculture as provided in House Bill No. 285.

This Bill carries an appropriation of forty thousand dollars ($40,000), and if this item remains in the General Appropriation Bill, as finally passed, it will be regarded simply as setting apart the amount already appropriated by House Bill No. 285 which has received Executive approval.

Line 829, For the establishment and maintenance of a Bureau of Poultry in the Department of Agriculture.

This item was inserted in the Department budget at the request of the State Agricultural Federation, a body composed of the various agricultural organizations of the State, and has the unanimous approval of the Federation.

Line 895, For deficit resulting from holding the Keystone State Fair, Pittsburgh, January 15th to 20th, 1912, eight thousand five hundred dollars ($8,500).

As a result of the failure of the General Assembly to pass a State Fair Bill at its last session, the three leading agricultural associations of the State, viz: The State Horticultural Association, the State Livestock Breeders' Association and the State Dairy Union formed an Association known as the Keystone State Fair Association, for the purpose of holding an indoor Fair at which exhibits were made of live-stock, dairy products, fruit, vegetables, grains and every variety of farm products. The large building known as Duquesene Garden, Pittsburgh, was rented, as was also other buildings used for housing live-stock, and an exhibit that did honor to the State was made. Everything was all that could be hoped for, except the weather. The temperature was around zero point during the entire week and, as the buildings could not be heated, the attendance was far below what was expected.

In order to insure the success of the enterprise, a number of stockmen, farmers and others put up pledges for amounts ranging from fifty to several hundred dollars. The Fair was a great success, so far as showing agricultural conditions in Pennsylvania is concerned, and I believe was of great value to the agriculture of the State, and the apppropriation by the General Assembly of the amount asked, to relieve the public spirited men who did the work without pay, is but just and if made will be money well expended.

There remains up to this date but one more item that should be cared for in the General Appropriation Bill, viz: an appropriation to pay for selection of farm seeds and the examination and analysis of the same, as provided by House Bill No. 841 passed at the present session and approved April 29, 1913.

I have had a careful estimate made of the amount needed to carry out the provisions of this billl and I am advised that the securing of the apparatus, together with the salaries and expenses to be paid to the agents, chemists and other experts that will be needed, will require for the first two years the sum of eight thousand dollars or four thousand dollars ($4,000) a year, the amount that may be expended for the work as provided by the Act.

Replying to the inquiries concerning appropriation made to the State Livestock Sanitary Board in 1911, and the appropriations asked for by said Board for the same service in 1913, I beg to say that the State Livestock Sanitary Board is not a bureau of this department and the inquiries have been referred to the office of the Secretary of said Board.

The statements that follow, relating to the expenditure of forty-five thousand dollars ($45,000) apppropriated in 1911 for the conduct of Farmers Institutes, and the expenditure of the eighty thousand dollars ($80,000) appropriated at same session "for the payment of the costs of carrying out the provisions of the Act of 21st March, 1905," relating to preservation of fruit trees, etc., were prepared, the former by Hon. A. L. Martin, Director of Farmers Institutes and the latter by Prof. H. A. Surface, Economic Zoologist, who have had in their hands the disbursement of these respective funds.

Note:—The balance of Appropriation $196.07 will be expended as soon as Vouchers are received account of Farmers Annual Normal Institute May 20-23 covering this amount. Vouchers for each item set forth in the foregoing statement can be found on file in the Auditor Generals Department.

Further in response to resolution beg to say from the date of the Organization of the Division of Farmers Institute in the year 1895 the institutes have experienced a strong and steady growth. At that date any appropriation of $15,000 was granted allowing us to hold 166 days of institute with an attendance of 30,0000 as compared with an appropriation of $45,000 in 1911 allowing us to hold 980 days of institute with an attendance of 450,000 people. These institutes were held in every county in the State at which was presented lessons on Soil Iimprovement, Crop Rotation, Animal Breeding, Dairying, Horticulture and Poultry.

It is difficult to eaumerate the advancement of agriculture as a result of the teachings of this great Agricultural School for Pennsylvania. May I cite you one case illustrating the results of such meetings "Three years ago an institute was held in Wellsboro Tioga County continuing for three days and dealing exclusively with Dairy subjects, as a result of that meeting there was constructed within a radius of a few miles some 50 silos and the farmers there received an impetus in dairying that has been on the increase year by year."

Our reasons for appplying for a small increase from $45,000 to $55,000 is that our field of work is year by year enlarging. The needs of the farmers for better equipment in order to carry on their work successfully is so patent to the minds of all right thinking people and indeed their requests for increased number of meetings and thorough demonstration of the work is so pressing as to leave beyond doubt the question of this moderate increase in our appropriation. In verification of this statement if any and all the Members of the House will call at our office, we shall be pleased to exhibit letters of requests referred to and also resolutions and petitions from farmers in every county of the State asking for this apppropriation.

Trusting you may see your way clear to grant us this increase asked for, I am,

Very respectfully,

A. L. MARTIN,
Director of Institutes

Replying to your request for information why the appropriation for this work should be increased, I beg to say that

(1) The orchard inspection in Pennsylvania has been continued as faithfully and energetically as possible during the past eight years in the effort to extend this service to all our citizens, yet there remains over one-tenth of the State still to be inspected, which under past limitations cannot be completed this year; but from those portions of the State which the expert inspectors have visited calls are made for their service annually, and there is much greater demand for this work in the inspected districts than in those that are uninspected.

(2) While public demonstrations in spraying and pruning have been made in each county of the Commonwealth, and have resulted in increasing both the quality and quantity of fruits produced the demand for these demonstrations is increasing, and it will be beneficial to growers when there is money enough to make it possible to give them at points less remotely separated from one another.

(3) Owing to limitations of funds, and the great need of showing how to suppress fruit pests, we have not been able to do much at inspecting and demonstrating for pests of truck crops and farm crops, and there is now an increased demand for the extension of this service to help prevent the serious loss by pests of these crops amounting to millions of dollars annually in this State. This we can do if funds are supplied.

(4) Vastly increased importations of nursery stock, shrubbery and other plants, and increased dangers of serious pests on such imported stock, has demanded considerable increase in the expense of inspecting importations.

(5) The appreciation of our agricultural citizens for the service and literature of this office is greatly increasing, and the calls for bulletins, special services, special demonstrations, lectures, etc., has increased greatly. This work is economical and productive of values, and should be extended.

(6) Recent increases in ravages by destructive insects and plant diseases has demanded an increase in our force to help save the property of our citizens. While pests are increasing in their menace to agricultural products, growers are saving their property by the results of their increased demands upon us.

(7) We desire to place specimens of beneficial and injurious insects, their enemies, etc., charts, and special literature, in the schools of this Commonwealth, and a small portion of the requested increase can well be used for this valuable purpose.

(8) By a new ruling of the United States Postal Department all greenhouse stock and plants sent by mail must have been previously inspected. For the sake of our growers of such products it is the duty of this office to render the service of inspection. This is an added duty for this office which will prove of great importance.

(9) We have commenced to build up a New Horticulture in Pennsylvania, producing both better and cheaper fruits by saving what the pests would take. This can be completed only by an increased appropriation .

REPORT FROM THE WATER SUPPLY COMMISSION.

Harrisburg, Penn'a., June 9th, 1913.

To the Members of the House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—In response to the resolutions, dated June 5th, 1913, to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania, I have the honor to submit an accounting of the appropriation to the Commission by the Legislature, in the General Appropriation Act of 1911, together with information relative to the expenditure of the appropriations made to the Water Supply Commission by previous Legislatures, and of the necessity for increased appropriation for the work of this Commission for the two ensuing years.

The Water Supply Commission was created as a result of the passage of the Act of May 4th, 1905, which act appropriated the sum of $40,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary to carry into effect its provisions. This appropriation was expended for the payment of the salaries of the Commissioners, Engineers, Stenographers, clerical assistance, office rent, the purchase of furniture and supplies, the payment of traveling expenses, telegraph, telephone, express and postage charges. These expenses were incurred in carrying out the provisions of the Act organizing the Commission, i. e., examining applications for the incorporation of proposed water and water power companies, and in making a preliminary study of the condition of the water supply of the Commonwealth. It was manfestly necessary that much of the work of the Commission, in the early years of its existence, should be of a preliminary and investigatory nature, as the organization of this Commission was the first step taken by the State in acquainting itself with the condition of the water supply thereof. It was the first step taken toward the conservation of this important and valuable natural resource, and the Commission necessarily had to proceed cautiously before committing the Commonwealth to any definite policy.

As a result of the Commission's investigations and recommendations, the Legislature of 1907 passed the act of May 28th, Pamphlet Laws 299, providing for the supervision by the Commission over encroachments upon streams;—and, on June 7th, 1907, an act requiring the approval of the Commission of mergers and consolidation of water and water power companies, and appropriated in the General Appropriation Act of that year, $50,000 for the work of the Commission.

The General Assembly of 1909 appropriated $50,000 for the purpose of carrying on the work of the Commission; the then Governor of the Commonwealth approved this appropriation in the sum of $40,000, and withheld his approval from the remainder of the said appropriation because of "insufficient State revenue."

The appropriations made by the General Assembly of 1907-1909 were devoted to carrying into effect the laws relating to the Commission, including the physical examiation and recording of the facts regarding all the operating water supply systems of the State,—755 in number, and the preparation of reports and maps relative to the utilization of the water supply of each county; furthermore, a census was made of the developed water powers of the Commonwealth, as well as an investigation of the outstanding water power charters. A system of stream gagings was inaugurated by which the daily flow of the larger streams was determined. All of this work necessitated the employment of additional engineering assistants, clerks and gage readers.

It was evident to the Commission that to properly enforce the laws imposing duties upon it, additional increased appropriations were necessary, and the Legislature of 1911 appropriated to the Commission, for the two fiscal years beginning June 1st, 1911, the sum of $50,400, of which sum $25,400 was necessary to pay the salaries of the Commissioners, Engineer and stenographer, the remaining $25,000 being expended as set forth in the accompanying statement, for the payment of the salaries and expenses of employees and other necessary expenses. Furthermore, the Legislature of 1911 imposed additional duties upon the Commission, by the Act of June 15th, necessitating the investigation of the legal status of all the water and water power company charters granted by the Commonwealth, for the purpose of determining what charters had reverted to the State by non-user.

During the year 1911, a large concrete dam at Austin, Potter county, Pennsylvania failed, partially destroying that borough, and causing the loss of seventy-eight lives, as a result of which, Governor Tener directed this Commmission to investigate the condition of existing dams in the Commonwealth and to have repairs and alterations made to strengthen those which were unstable, but owing to lack of funds only a beginning on this work could be made.

It was necessary to actively enforce the provisions of the encroachment act of May 28th, 1907, for the reason that corporations, municipalities, counties and individuals, unfamiliar with its provisions have continued to make encroachments upon streams if not discovered by the Commission, without its permission, and it will also be necessary to place inspectors on some of these works to insure the orders of the Commission being complied with.

In his message to the Legislature on January 7th, 1913, Governor Tener said:

"I recommend that the State Water Supply Commission be given authority at its own discretion, or on petition or complaint of citizens, to pass upon the design and construction and to control the operation of any dam, wall, wing-wall, wharf, pier, embankment, abutment, projection or other obstruction, to be built in or along any river or stream, and that the Commission be empowered to examine all existing dams and structures that appear to require repairs to insecure structures, or to direct their removal............An enlarged application of the water policy already begun by the State through the co-operation relationship of the Department of Health and the Water Supply Commission, is one of Pennsylvania's greatest needs.........There is but one course to pursue in the interests of all of the people and that is for the State to make an inventory of its water resources."

In accordance therewith, four proposed laws, copies of which are attached hereto, have been presented to the present Legislature, providing in effect as follows:

1. Senate Bill No. 1279, which is supplementary to the Act of June 4th, 1905, organizing the Commission, and provides for public hearings on all matters coming before the Commission, gives authority to the Commission to require witesses to testify under oath or affirmation, and gives employees the right to enter upon property for the collection of data. This bill is now on final passage in the Senate.

2. Senate Bill No. 1280, which extends the jurisdiction of the Commission over all dams and other encroachments upon streams. This bill has passed the Senate and is now before the House of Representatives.

3. Senate Bill No. 1296, which requires the Commission to pass upon applications for all new or additional sources of water supply, including practically any use of the water within the Commonwealth, and extends the powers and increases the duties of the Commission in equitably distributing the water supplies of the Commonwealth. This bill has passed the Senate and is now before the House of Representatives.

4. Senate Bill No. 1281, which directs the Water Supply Commission to make an inventory of the present utilization and best possible future use of the water supply of the State and to formulate a public policy with regard to the development and utilization thereof for water supply, water power, navigation, flood control and increase of low water flow. This bill has passed the Senate and is on second reading in the House of Representatives, and carries an appropriation.

The three first described bills do not carry appropriations and add greatly to the work which the Commission will be required to do within the next two years.

As a result of the additional duties which will be imposed upon the Commission if these bills become laws, its expenditures will be vastly increased and the Commission is asking the present Legislature to increase its appropriation as set forth below. The estimate of these expenses has been carefully made, based on the cost of doing the work now carried on, and is the smallest amount with which the aforesaid powers and duties can be properly enforced.

The following is a statement of the amounts necessary to carry into effect the laws and bills above referred to for the two years ending June 1st, 1915:

For the payment of the salaries of the Commissioners, two years, the sum of eighteen thousand dollars ($18,000).

For the payment of the salary of the engineer, two years, the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

For the payment of the salary of the stenographer, two years, the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars ($2,400).

For the payment of the necessary salaries and expenses in connection with applications for the incorporation of proposed water and water power companies, mergers and consolidations of the same, new or additional supplies of water and water power, investigations of the status of water and water power company charters, stream gaging and special investigations, two years, the sum of fifty-five thousand dollars ($55,000).

For the payment of the salaries and expenses in connection with the investigation of dams and other encroachments in or along streams, two years, the sum of forty-five thousand dollars ($45,000).

Respectfully submitted,
J. T. LYNCH,
Secretary Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania.

Expenditures paid from the appropriation made by the Legislature of 1911 for the payment of the necessary expenses to carry out the provisions of the Act of May 4th, 1905, creating the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania—two years, the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00).

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

To the Members of the House of Representatives—

Gentlemen:—In response to your resolution of June 5th, 1913, I beg to submit the following statement:—

1. The Act of May 8, 1911, known as the School Code, doubled the number of high school inspectors and the general appropriation act raised the item of salaries and expenses to twice the amount of 1909. In the act of 1911, the item for salaries is $16,000, and the item for expenses is $6,000. The increase in the number of high schools is augmenting the traveling and other expenses from year to year, but no increase has been asked over the amount that was appropriated in 1911.

2. The Act of May 8, 1911, also added to the working force of the School Department three expert assistants, one in drawing, one in agricultural education, and one in industrial education. For their salaries the general appropriation act of 1911 provided $12,000, and for expenses the sum of $6,000. The same appropriation is asked in the general appropriation bill for 1913.

3. The State Board of Education asks for an increase of its appropriation from $25,000 to $40,000 because it has not had sufficient funds to furnish the plans for school buildings, and to do other work prescribed in the School Code. An itemized estimate of expenses by the secretary, J. G. Becht, is as follows:—

ESTIMATED EXPENSES OF THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION FOR THE ENSUING TWO YEARS.

Salaries:—Secretary, clerks and stenographers, ...	$19 000
Salaries examining and supervising architects, ...	8 000
Traveling expenses of secretary, architects and inspectors,	2 500
Traveling expenses of members of State board, ...	2 500
Solicitor's service, ...	1 000
Postage,	2 000
Preparation of plans, specifications, etc., ...	1 500
Blue prints, ...	500
News Bulletins, ...	500
Additions to Teachers', supts.' and directors' library, ...	1 000
Committee on Course of Study, ...	500
Miscellaneous expenses, freight telegrams, messenger service, etc., ...	1 000
Total	$40 000

4. The act of June 19, 1911, P. L. 1045-7, creating the Bureau of Professional Education, appropriates in section 6 the sum of $15,000 for the expenditures of said Bureau. It took several months to organize the Bureau, and the expenses to date do not represent the necessary expenditures for two years. The same appropriation is asked in the general appropriation act of 1913 as was made in the original act.

5. The act of June 13, 1911, P. L. 639-649, creating the Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure, appropriates in section 11 $30,000 for the necessary expenses of said Bureau, and not $17,000 as stated in the preamble of the House resolution of June 5, 1913. The act went into effect January 1st, 1912, and the expenditures up to date to do not represent the expenses for two years. The examination fees that were turned under this act into the State Treasury during the year 1912 amounted to $13,665, whilst the expenditures for 1913 will be held in the last week in June and in December, and it is impossible at this time to tell the amount of the fees and the expenses. The Legislature has passed amendments greatly increasing the duties and the scope of the Bureau's work, but the general appropriation act of 1913 asks the same amount as was appropriated in 1911, namely $30,000; and this sum at the very lowest calculation will be needed to pay the necessary expenses for the next two years.

A statement of the vouchers filed in the Auditor General's Department herewith also submitted.

The itemized accounts and receipts have been filed in the Auditor General's Department, and are no longer in the possession of the Department of Public Instruction.

Very respectfully,

NATHAN C. SHAEFFER,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FORESTRY.

Pennsylvania Department of Forestry,
Harrisburg, June 9, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—

In response to a resolution of the House dated June 5th, 1913, introduced at the instance of Mr. Scott and requesting certain information respecting the estimates contained in the general appropriation bill now having passed second reading in the House of Representatives, which estimates are intended to show the financial needs of the Department of Forestry in order that it may carry on its work for two years beginning June 1st, 1913, the information contained in the following pages is respectfully submitted.

Heretofore the appropriations made by the Legislature for the annual fixed charge for school purposes, for the annual fixed charge for road purposes, for the purchase of lands, for the extinguishment of forest fires, and for the expenses of the Forestry Academy, have been carried by separate appropriation bills; but the estimates for these purposes were this year included in the budget of the Department of Forestry on the advice of the Attorney General, in order that the appropriations for the use of the Department might be included therein as are the appropriations made for the other departments of the State Government:

AS TO SURVEYS.

Surveys and maps of the State forest reserves are necessary in order to determine the exact location and boundary of lands belonging to the State. Such boundary must be carefully delimited and marked so as to determine the rights both of the State and of adjoining private owners. Appropriations have never been sufficient to enable such work to be satisfactorily done. The work of surveying and marking boundaries is far behind what it should be now. In the past it has not been possible to keep the surveys up with the land purchases. All the basic work of the Department is founded upon the survey and the resulting forest map. The appropriation for this work in 1907 was $10,000; in 1909, $30,000; in 1911, $10,000, although $20,000 were asked for and granted by the Legislature, which was decreased by $10,000 because of insufficiency of revenue. The present estimate of the needs of the Department for the next two years, to wit, $20,000, is insufficient to enable it to do the work which ought to be done at this time under this item. The exterior boundaries alone of the present State forests aggregate many thousands of miles.

AS TO LABOR.

The work of the Department of Forestry is growing at a rapid rate. The purchase of additional lands requires the employment of more men. The lands already purchased must be developed and protected. The people of Pennsylvania expect the State forest reserves to be brought up to a productive state in the shortest possible time, in order that they may yield to the Commonwealth the revenue which such lands are capable of yielding; but before such yield can be reached or sustained, development and protection must both be brought forward to a point greatly in advance of where they now are. The appropriation for labor in 1907 was $30,000; in 1909, the amount asked for was $80,000, of which amount $10,000 was deducted because of insufficiency of revenue, leaving $70,000 appropriated; in 1911 the sum of $100,000 was asked for and appropriated. The estimate for the current two years, to wit, $250,000, was requested for a number of reasons. Among these reasons are the increase in the cost of labor. Labor to-day costs at least 20 per cent. more than it cost two years ago. The regular increase in the number of forests means greater protective effort, and consequently greater expense for labor. The regular and steady development of the forest reserves calls for additional labor. Every acre owned by the State for forestry purposes is entitled to its just share of protection. Unless protection can be afforded it it is useless to try to bring it to a productive state. Protection requires labor and costs money. As the work increases so ought the appropriations increase. The estimate for the present year is not in excess of the needs of the Department and of what ought to be expended in the development and protection of the State land.

AS TO EXAMINATION OF TITLES.

Every acre of land purchased for the use of the Commonwealth as a State forest reserve is not only carefully examined physically as to its fitness for the purpose, but is purchased finally only after a rigid and searching title examination. All titles purchased by the Department of Forestry are examined back to the granting of the original warrant by the Commonwealth for the land in question. The small sums of money expended in careful and accurate title examinations have undoubtedly saved the Commonwealth a very much larger amount, which otherwise would have been expended in defending law suits. In all the experience of the Department in purchasing lands since the year 1898, only two real questions have ever arisen as to the validity of the State's title, and in both of these cases the courts finally determined in favor of the Department.

In 1907 the amount appropriated for this purpose was $25,000; in 1909, the same amount, $25,000, was asked for, but a reduction of $10,000 was made because of insufficiency of revenue; in 1911 the amount appropriated for this purpose was $5,000, although the sum of $15,000 was necessary and was asked for; but inasmuch as it was necessary to make a reduction because of insufficiency of revenue, it was agreed with the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that the amount of this estimate be reduced from $15,000 to $5,000, because it was determined by the Chairman of said Committee in the Senate that the bill appropriating money for the purchase of additional lands should be held in committee. Such being the case, it was believed that the $5,000 appropriated would be sufficient to clear up the titles to incomplete contracts to purchase. However, the Governor refused to consent to the elimination of the item for the purchase of forest lands, and approved it, in the sum of $50,000, which sum was used in making additional purchases. The examination of the titles to the land acquired under prior contracts and to those acquired under the new appropriation required a greater amount for title examination, thereby causing a deficiency in that item, which deficiency is asked to be covered in the present bill; and the present estimate of $15,000 for this purpose is believed to be what the Department will need to do this work in the next two years.

The purchase of additional land in different and widely separated parts of the State should go forward without delay because such purchase will mean the proper regulation and augmentation of stream flow, which has now become a serious question to the Commonwealth . The purchase of such land should not be delayed for want of sufficient funds to examine titles.

AS TO OTHER EXPENSES NECESSARY AND INCIDENTAL TO THE CONDUCT OF THE BUSINESS OF THE DEPARTMENT.

In addition to the work technically classed as labor on the State forest reserves, other expenditures must be made in the protection, development and maintenance of these lands, and such items of expenditure are classed hereunder. If this development is to be continued large appropriatioins for the purpose must also be continued. As the area of the reserves is increased, as greater development work is undertaken, so also is there a greater demand for expenditures not technically classed as labor. Frequently it is necessary to erect houses in which employes of the Department must live in order to be near their work and afford the needed protection to the State land. The purchase of tools and equipment for doing the work on the reserve is necessary if any work is to be done. This item also includes the purchase of horses, wagons, implements, feed, seedling trees, tree seeds, insurance on buildings and equipment, repairs to buildings and material for the same, and other structural material wherever demanded. The Commonwealth now owns nearly a million acres of land as State Forests, located in twenty-six different counties, and a large and capable force must be in the employ of the Department to handle it successfully. The building of roads is a prime necessity for the development of any forest tract, for without them it is not possible to enter the woods, develop the land, or remove the product after development. The proper exploitation and dvelopment of State forests will mean an increasing expenditure of money. With the stand of merchantable timber in the State now not equal to the demand for timber within her border, and with such likely to be exausted within a few years, a timber famine is sure to result which will disastrously affect the prosperity of the Commonwealth. Only active and heroic exertions and the expenditure of money can avert the coming of such a day, and the work cannot and ought not to be delayed longer. Instead of planting form three millions to four millions of young trees each year, the number planted should be twenty millions. Little Switzerland plants twenty-two millions each year and is only one-third the size of Pennsylvania.

The work of the Department has been seriously crippled in the past, especially during the immediately preceding years, because of lack of ample appropriation for the proper administration of the State forests.

As to the expenditure of $55,000 appropriated in 1911 for the payment of other expenses necessary and incidental to the conduct of the business of the Department, it is respectfully shown that all such items of expenditure are set out at length in vouchers presented to the Auditor General, upon settlement of same and in the voucher copy books of the Department which are on file in the Department and open for inspection. The items are contained from page 140 of Incidental Expense Voucher Copy Book No. 3 and continuing throughout Incidental Expense Voucher Copy Books Nos. 4 and 5, and to and including page 51 in similar book No. 6, showing a total of 1,339 items of expenditure aggregating $52,894.55, and being all the expenditures made from this fund to date, there still being outstanding a number of items to be paid, the amount of which is not accurately known at this time, and after the payment of which, whatever balance remains, if any, will be returned to and lapse into the State Treasury.

AS TO THE ANNUAL FIXED CHARGES FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

By Act of Assembly approved the 5th day of April, 1905, and later modified by the Act of May 13th, 1909, a charge of two cents per acre is now laid upon every acre of State land held for State forest purposes for the benefit of the schools of the districts wherein the lands lie. The appropriation for this purpose in 1909 was $40,000, covering a period of two years, or $20,000 per year. The same amount was appropriated in 1911, and in each instance nearly the whole amount was needed to pay the charge. The increase of $2,000 is requested for the current two years because of the increase in the holdings of the State, upon which an additional charge will have to be paid. We believe that the amount of increase asked for is not in excess of the needs of the Department.

AS TO ANNUAL FIXED CHARGES FOR ROAD PURPOSES.

The explanation given with respect to the fixed charge for school purposes applies directly to the charge for road purposes, the fixed charge being the same in both cases, to wit, two cents per acre. This amount is paid to the supervisors of the road districts where the State forests lie and as the State's compensation to said districts as it is to the school districts for loss of taxes occasioned by the purchase of State forests, which lands are not taxable in the hands of the local taxing authorities. The same reason for the increase in this item exists as for that in the increase of the school charges.

AS TO THE PURCHASE OF LANDS TO BE SET ASIDE AND HELD AS STATE FOREST RESERVES.

By Act of Assembly approved the 15th day of April, 1903, the expenditures of the Department for the purchase of lands for any two-year period were limited to $600,000, or $300,000 per year. There exists, therefore, Legislative authority for the expenditure of money for the purchase of additional lands up to this amount annually. The amount appropriated for this purpose in 1909 was $100,000; the amount appropriated in 1911 was $50,000. The increase asked for in the present estimate, is because of the necessity to continue the purchases of land suitable to be set aside as State forests, and this necessity is ruled by the fact that only the State can manage and control large areas of land sufficient in size to regulate stream flow, to prevent serious erison and the silting up of the beds of streams, and hold them for long periods of time wherein they may be developed to a productive capacity.

The purchase of many valuable tracts recently had to be declined because of the insufficiency of appropriation with which to make payment, and the purchase of other tracts already under contract has had to be suspended because of lack of means to make settlement. Many tracts which have been offered at exceedingly low rates and which would have been advantageous for the State to own, had to be declined for the same reason. When next they are offered it is more than probable that the offer will be made at an increased price only.

Because of the insufficiency of appropriation it has heretofore been practically impossible to purchase any State forests on the Ohio watershed, where of all parts of the State said reserves may be made most useful and are probably to-day most needed. The high cost of land in this region of the Commonwealth and the meagreness of appropriations has made all such purchases practically prohibitory.

It is not possible to give the location of future purchases, as these purchases are made only after the owners make formal tenders to the Department. Neither is it possible to state the probable amount of land which will thus be purchased. It is the experience of the Department, however, that the larger the tract purchased the more advantageous it is to the Commonwealth. The probable price of lands can be guaged only be the past experience in purchasing. With nearly a million acres now held as State forests, the average purchase price has been about $2.25 per acre, although if purchases are to be made on the Ohio watershed necessarily the price will be much higher than in the central portion of the State, and the average price will necessarily rise. As shown by the report of the Department to January 1, 1912, pages 92 to 96 inclusive, by charging all appropriations which have been made from the beginning of forestry work in this State, running back for a period of twenty years against the lands purchased, it shows the average cost of the present State forests to be but $3.50 per acre. In other words, the State has expended upon each acre bought, for all purposes, over a period of twenty years, and for the first six years of which period no lands were purchased, but $1.25 per acre; and the average value of the land now held is at least $6.00 per acre. As a pure and simple business proposition, therefore, aside from all the collateral and incidental benefits which arise from the vigorous and comprehensive forest administration, the work of the Department of Forestry has been most profitable to the Commonwealth. At the present time and for some years past, revenues have been returned from these lands, and these revenues are now constantly increasing from year to year. All such revenues are turned directly into the State Treasury as gain, and are not used by the Department in the furtherance of its work.

As the work of administering and developing the lands goes forward, these revenues will necessarily be swelled to large amounts and the Commonwealth will be receiving in return something on her investment, which from the character of the lands purchased, generally cut-over, burned, and denuded lands, it is scarcely possible to expect a return except at the end of a much longer period. As an evidence of the value to be derived from the proper administration of these holdings, it may be instanced that one outstanding mineral lease, which has run for ten years and has ten years yet to run, has at this time totally paid for the purchase price of the 1,100 acres involved and all interest and expenses attendant thereon, and has yielded in excess of all charges to date nearly $2,500, showing to this time a return on the investment amounting to 162.7 per cent.

AS TO THE PREVENTION AND EXTINCTION OF FOREST FIRES.

The need to prevent and extinguish forest fires is not a debatable question. Appropriations heretofore made for this purpose have been lamentably and absurdly too small. Unless forest fires can be suppressed there is no need to attempt forest restoration is this State. Under the Act of 1909 creating a new system of fire wardens and providing for extinguishment of forest fires, the sum of $50,000 was appropriated. This did not warrant placing men upon daily patrol during the spring and fall fire seasons. It is always cheaper to prevent a fire than to extinguish it after it has once started, and besides we save the timber which is otherwise burned. The $50,000 appropriation had to be held to pay the expenses of extinguishing fires, and the eighteenth section of the act permitting the employment of men for daily patrol thus becoming inoperative. The appropriation this year was carried by the act creating the system of fire wardens. In 1911 the appropriation was the same amount, $50,000, although $60,000 were requested. The same reason exists, therefore, for not being able to put men upon daily patrol, and the funds had to be saved for the purpose of paying expenses incurred in extisting fires until within the last six weeks it was found feasible to put a few men on daily patrol in accordance with the provisions of Section 18. For the present or current period the same amount of appropriation is asked, with the thought in mind that it would not be possible to obtain a greater sum, although the needs of the service actually require more funds. Heretofore the correspondence necessarily incident to administering the forest fire law was conducted by the Department, and this correspondence forms a very considerable portion of its business, inasmuch as there are at least 3,000 district fire wardens and assistant fire wardens in the Commonwealth with whom it is necessary to conduct correspondence. At the suggestion of the Auditor General the item of "postage" was inserted in the present estimate so that out of the fund appropriated for forest fires it would be possible to set aside a small sum to cover the cost of postage needed in carrying on the above corespondence. This, of course, is a trifling sum compared with the amount required for the actual payment of labor in extinguishing fires.

AS TO THE STATE FOREST ACADEMY.

The State Forest Academy was established to train young men to become foresters and to take care of, manage, develop and control the State forest reserves. This school since its creation has been run in an economical manner and the funds heretofore allowed it have been scarcely sufficient to meet its needs. The State cannot afford to cripple its own school which is engaged in the production of capable young men to take care of its own property. The additional money asked for in the present appropriation is necessary for the proper maintenance of the Academy and is demanded by the increased cost of living, cost of labor and other items of expense necessary to be met owing to the general increase of prices throughout the country relating to almost all subjects for which money must be spent in behalf of this institution. The Commonwealth to-day owns nearly a million acres of land which it must develop, protect and bring to a productive state as soon as possible. To do this it needs trained men, and such men are being furnished by the Forest Academy. No forester can well administer more than 10,000 acres of land, or an area approximating sixteen square miles. With fifty foresters in the field to-day the administrative force is far below what it should be and the need for continuing and supporting the Academy is most apparent for this reason only.

AS TO SHADE TREE WORK.

From all over the State requests come to the Department for assistance and advice with respect to the selection, planting, care, treatment and development of shade trees and systems of shade trees. Heretofore this work has been done by the Department as it best was able, using such of its appropriated funds as were available for work of this character. The demand for shade trees and for greater knowledge about shade trees is showing a healthy and steady increase, and the people of the State expect the Forestry Department to be in a position to render them the necessary help and give them the necessary advice which they have a right to expect to receive from the State. The appropriation of $5,000 asked for this purpose is not large, but it will suffice to put the shade tree work upon a practical basis and enable the Department to serve the people of the State in a way better than they have heretofore been able to do. The beautifying of our roads, streets and private grounds ought not to be neglected but form a very proper part of the effort which the Commonwealth should make to keep the land as attractive as possible.

AS TO FARM FORESTRY AND FARM WOODLOTS.

It goes without saying that the Commonwealth cannot own and administer all the forested land in the State. The individual and the private owner must help, each doing his little part. The farm woodlot is the medium through which enormous areas of land now suitable for little else than growing trees, and connected with farms, may be brought to a productive state, yielding to the owner for general farm purposes the necessary wood material required to be used upon the farm, and which if not produced thereon must be bought in the market at constantly increased rates. The effort of the Department is to organize a system of examinations, advice and treatment for farm woodlots and assisting the owners thereof in selecting trees, planting, developing and maintaining present and future woodlots. To this end also it is necessary to furnish the owners with such literature and other instruction as will enable them to do much of the work themselves. The development of farm forestry and farm woodlot work is scarcely begun in this State, but that it is a prime necessity is evidenced by the activity of the Forestry Department of the State of New York, where thousands of lectures, examinations, letters of advice and other forms of assistance have been rendered to farmers of that State, and for which they are accordingly appreciative and grateful

To maintain a Department of Forestry simply for the maintenance and control of State forests and doing nothing for the private owner, is to neglect one of the opportunities which the State should eagerly grasp to assist in developing private forestry. The Department should have sufficient funds to issue bulletins at regular intervals bearing upon all the forestry problems of the Commonwealth, and three should be widely distributed for the information of the people.

AS TO THE DEFICIENCY IN THE APPROPRIATION FOR THE EXAMINATION OF TITES TO LANDS.

The appropriation of 1911, to wit, $5,000 for the examination of titles to land, arose because of the fact that the new purchases made under the appropriation of 1911 and which has been hereinbefore explained, were not contemplated at the time the amount of the appropriation was fixed. In order that the lands might be purchased and paid for and added to the forest reserve, the title examiner courteously agreed to conduct the work without pay and trust to the fairness of the succeeding Legislature to compensate him for the charge thus incurred. The amount of deficiency appropriation asked for is approximately the amount necessary to pay the charges now due and owing by the Commonwealth to the title examiner. Had the title examinations not proceeded, many valuable tracts which the State was able to acquire at most satisfactory prices, could not have been purchased. Because of the need of covering such expense, there con be no reason alleged why such deficiency should not be met.

AS TO DEFICIENCY IN THE 1911 APPROPRIATION FOR THE PREVENTION AND EXTINGUISHMENT OF FOREST FIRES.

This deficiency arose simply because of the fact that at the end of the fiscal period June 1, 1909, to June 1, 1911, a very large number of destructive fires occurred and of which the Department had and could have had no knowledge when the item for forest fire appropriation was decided upon. The bills for which the deficiency is now requested came in subsequent to a time when it was possible to have provided for them. The bills are on hand, the men have rendered the work, they have waited over two years for their money, the charges were regularly and legally incurred, and there is no reason why the Commonwealth should not pay its just debts.

AS TO THE PURCHASE AND PLANTING OF GINSENG SEEDS.

This item of appropriation was not placed into the bill at the instance of the Department of Forestry, but was put there by others who have an interest in the planting and growing of ginseng, and who believe and rightly so that the State forests are entirely suitable places upon which this valuable plant may be cultivated for the benefit of those engaged in its marketing. Large profits is attached to the cultivation of the ginseng plant; the forest is its natural home, it grows nowhere else except under extremely artificial conditions and to plant it widely throughout the State forests is to make these areas more profitable to the people of the Commonwealth.

In conclusion, it is the desire of the Department to convey to the House the thought that the State forests ought to be increased in size because of the great general good they do to the Commonwealth as a whole; that the lands so purchased are a valuable asset to the Commonwealth, and in the future if they are developed and protected, will become increasingly more valuable. An asset of this character needs to be fostered and carefully administered. While the expense at the beginning of the work may seen to be a large outlay without compensative return, it is nevertheless true that the returns in the near future as a result of this outlay will become surprisingly large and will constitute one of the sources of substantial revenue to which the State may regularly look from year to year.

The Department believe that its estimates for appropriations are conservative and not in excess of the demands of the work. The work will progress rapidly or slowly, just as the Legislature sees fit to permit it to progress. The activities of the Department are singularly dependent upon the money given through biennial appropriations, as it is not permitted to use any of the returns, these being deposited with the State Treasurer.

The Department further feels that its administration of the trust which is imposed upon it has been economical and business-like, and that in all directions of its activity the Commonwealth is receiving and will continue to receive an adequate return not only from the money derived as revenue, but from the other numerous beneficial results which are not capable of being measured in money.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ROBERT S. CONKLIN,
Commisioner of Forestry.

REPORT FROM THE SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS

June 9, 1913.

To the House of Representative of the State of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—In response to a resolution pased June 5, 1913, offered by Hon. J. F. K. Scott, as copy of which was duly served upon the Department of Internal Affairs on the sixth day of June, 1913, I respectfully submit in answer to the several items thereof, the following data and information, to wit:

1st. As to item No. 1 of said resolution, which reads as follows:

Whereas, There has been set forth in the general appropriation bill now passed second reading in the House, an item of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) for the payment of skilled draftsmen, surveyors and other assistants necesasry for the proper continuation of the warranty map work authorized by Act of Assembly, etc.; and

Whereas, In 1911 a similar sum of five thousand dollars was appropriated;

Therefore be it resolved. That the Secretary of Internal Affairs inform the House of Representatives not later than Monday, the 9th day of June, 1913, the names of the draftsmen, surveyors and assistants, and a statement of the work accomplished by the same and paid for out of this item of appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) of the session of 1911; and also a statement as to the necessity of future employment and the amount of future work to be paid for out of the item set forth in the present general appropriation bill;

Be it further resolved, That the House of Representatives request the Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to give to this House, not later than Monday, the 9th day of June, 1913, a detailed account of the names of all employes under this item of appropriation, together with a statement of the work accomplished.''

Both of the above quoted paragraphs appear to cover the same data and information. The work performed under this item is authorized by an Act dated June 13, A. D., 1907 (P. L. 621) and amendment thereto passed the 11th day of May, A. D., 1911 (P. L. 277). The work contemplated from the beginning is the construction of connected maps of the original warrants and surveys of the land in each of the several counties of the State, and they are therefore known as warrantee maps. Under prior appropriations, the map of Lawrence county was completed and published, and preparatory work done on other counties. The work for the years 1911 and 1912 covered by the item of $5,000, has been done mostly in Allegheny, Fayette, Greene and Mercer counties. The maps for Allegehney and Greene counties are now being prepared for publication. It will be apparent that if this work is to be continued so as to embrace all of the counties of the State, it will necessarily take a number of years to complete the undertaking.

The names of the draftsmen, surveyors and assistants who have been engaged in this work, together with the amounts paid to each for service and expenses, follow, to wit:

For Services.

C. T. Chidsey, 9 months at	$116.66	$1,049.94

W. F. Rhoades, 3 month at	116.66	349.98
M. H. Matthes, 8 months at	166.66	933.28
T. L. Hobert, 4 month at	116.66	466.64

M. H. Matthes,	267.98

Total	$1,328.89

2nd. As to item No. 2, which reads as follows:

"Whereas, There is set forth in the general appropriation bill now passed second reading in the House, an item of forty thousand dollars($40,000.00), to the Department of Internal Affairs, for the temporary employment of draftsmen in copying surveys and other ancient papers important to be preserved in the Land Office Bureau, etc., and

Whereas, Like amounts have been appropriated in the sessions of 1911, 1909 and 1907;

Be it further resolved, That the said House of Representatives request the Secretary of Internal Affairs to inform them not later than Monday, the 9th day of June, 1913, of the amount of copying of surveys and other ancient papers important to be preserved in the Land Office Bureau yet to be done in the said Department; and

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of Internal Affairs be requested to inform the House of Representatives, by a detailed statement, of the expenditures of the four thousand dollars ($4,000.00) appropriated in the session of 1911, and the names and salaries if any exist, payable out of this item ;and

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of Internal Affairs in form the House of Representatives as to the likely future of employment and all necessary services and expenses to be paid under this appropriation; and

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of Internal Affairs inform the House of Representatives not later than Monday, the 9th day of June, 1913, as to the work necessary to be done, the employes that will be required, and any expenditure of money necessary."

In the copy of resolution of the House furnished me, the amount stated here is $4,000.00, but I assume that $40,000.00 is intended by reason of the connection in which it occurs.

This work has progressed for a number of years past and has been a very important service to the Commonwealth. The design was and is to copy all of the ancient applications, warrants, surveys and other documents relating to land titles in the state, which are on file in this Department. There are many hundreds of thousands of these papers, most of which are more than a century old and in a delapidated and precarious condition. They are invaluable records, the oldest of which are frequently referred to by attorneys and others interested in the searches of land titles, and if they should be lost or become destroyed by age, they could never be replaced. The legislature has in the past recognized this work to be indispensable, and I certainly so view it.

By actual count there are 126,377 warrants to survey land on file in this Department.Many of these are in a bad condition owing to their age and frequent handling during the regular course of the business of the Department, and are now in process of being copied in books, which work was commenced in April, 1912. Up to date over 5,000 have been copied.

There are as many applications in the files as there are warrants, namely 126,377, which should also be copied.

Prior to the commencement of this work of copying the warrants, during the year 1911 and part of 1912 the draftsmen copied, in round numbers, 10,000 single surveys, and since they have been employed on this work they have copied over 200,000 surveys, which have been found in book form. Many of the old maps of the District Surveyors have also been copied, said maps being of great value and, because of their age and frequent use, rapidly becoming destroyed.

The Warrant Registers of the sixty-seven counties of the State, containing the record of the 126,377 warrants mentioned above, are so constantly being searched that they wear out rapidly, necessitating their renewal at intervals, and at this time new ones are being made. New Warrant Registers for 12 of the counties have been completed and it is the desire and purpose to have new Registers made for all the counties of the state. In making these 12 copies more than 24,217 warrants have been entered.

The Patent Indices, covering all the patents granted since 1683, consisting of seven large volumes, are to be recopied and a more modern method of indexing adopted, the present method being antiquated.

The magnitude of the work of copying these records can only be fully grasped by those who are familiar with it and it is respectfully suggested that if the members of the Legislature would call at the Department of Internal Affairs and have this work explained to them, they would soon recognize its necessity and importance.

It will certainly require a number of years of work in the future, with a corps of the present number of employes, to complete this undertaking.

While in the appropriation bill this is styled "temporary employment of draftsmen," this is simply to distinguish them from the employes on the regular roll. These employes devote all their time to this work and are employed every working day throughout the year. They are temporary only in the sense that if this appropriation were discontinued, their employment would ceaase.

The following is a brief summary of the work performed under the appropriation of 1911, and of that remaining to be performed:

3rd. As to item No. 3, which reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, There is set forth in the general appropriation bill, now passed second reading in the House, an item of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00), for the payment of necessary services and expenses incurred through the Bureau of Railways, of the Department of Internal Affairs, in the investigation of complaints made against corporations, the investigation of accidents, the securing of special reports, as authorized under the Constitution; and

WHEREAS, There is now established by law the State Railroad Commission, whose duties seem to be of like nature; and

WHEREAS, There have been appropriated in the 1909 and 1911 sessions similar amounts."

It is not stated clearly what information is desired in connection with this item, but the infearence arises that the House desires to know whether the work provided to be done by the money so appropriated is a duplication of the services performed by the State Railroad Commission. It is in no respect a duplication. Ever since the formation of the State Railroad Commission, the Bureau of Railways in this Department has continued its work of gathering the reports of the railroad, telegraph, telephone and canal companies of the state and compiling the annual report containing such information for the benefit of the public. There reports are similar to those filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and such reports are required by the Constitution and the laws to be filed within certain dates of each and every year, under penalty. The State Railroad Commission does not gather or compile any such statistics.

When companies fail to file these reports at the time designated by law, the Department frequently sends out persons to investigate the reasons for such failure and to compel the filing of said reports. It is for this service that the sum of $4,000.00 is used.

This Department has not conducted any investigations of accidents or complaints since the establishment by law of the State Railroad Commission.

4th. As to the 4th item, which reads as follows:

"WHEREAS, There has been set forth in the general appropriation bill, now passed second reading in the House, an item of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00) for the inspection and repair of state boundary line monuments, under authority of the Act of General Assembly; and

"WHEREAS, No amount was appropriated in 1911."

I can find no request for specific information in relation to this question, but proffer the following explanation:

The Act of May 4, A. D. 1889 (P. L. 81) and supplements provide that "an annual appropriation of $1,500 shall be paid for the purpose of defraying the expenses of surveying and locating said boundary lines, and for the repairing, resetting and renewing of the monuments that mark the same, which appropriation shall be disbursed, or so much thereof as may be necessary to make effectual the provisions of this section, under the supervision of the Secretary of Internal Affairs," etc.

The last inspection by this Department of boundary lines and boundary line monuments of the state was made in 1908, when men were sent along the entire boundary of the state and inspected and reported upon the condition of each monument. The inspectors in their report at that time estimated the cost of repairs needed at $1,500, including the cost of the purchase and setting of new monuments in places where old ones had been removed and destroyed.

Nothing has been done to correct these defects since that time, and the conditions must necessarily now be considerably aggravated. The Assembly of 1911 appropriated $3,000 for this purpose, but the same was vetoed by the Governor. The state of New York has made an appropriation for concurrence with this state in the repair of monuments and adjustment of lines between the two states, and has been waiting for several years for action on the part of this state.

5th. In answer to the resolution of the House of Representatives dated June 5, 1913, offered by Mr. Rockwell, I may say that this Department has not asked for any changes or increases in any of its appropriation items.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) Henry Houck,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

RESOLUTION NO. 4—$250,000

The sum of $250,000 is required to meet and properly care for such contingencies as the Austin flood in Potter county, where bridges and roads built by the State Highway Department were washed away and destroyed; and where bridges and roads were washed away in the Mercer-Sharon district by storm and cloud-burst. If no such catastrophe occurs none of the fund will be used.

RESOLUTION NO. 5—$1,000,000.

Under the Act of May 31, 1911, P. L. 468, creating the State Highway Department, said Department is required to enter into agreement with counties, townships and boroughs, jointly or severally, for the reconstruction of township, borough or county roads designated in said act as "State-aid Highways," whereby the State pays one-half the cost of said construction and the township, county or borough (as the case may be), 25 per cent. each. The Department has now on file from the several counties, townships and boroughs 345 applications asking for State aid in the reconstruction of 745 miles of road. On a present estimated average cost of $12,000 per mile it will require the sum of $8,940,000 to reconstruct the roads for which State aid is asked, of which amount the State would be required to pay 50 per cent. of the cost, or $4,470,000.

RESOLUTION NO. 6—$4,000,000.

Under the Act of May 31, 1911, P. L. 468, 8,806 miles of roads designated as "State Highways" were taken over by the State Highway Department for marking, rebuilding, construction, repair and maintenance by and at the sole expense of the Commonwealth. Of the total mileage of "State Highways," about 1,035 miles have been reconstructed either by State, counties, boroughs or townships and are in fair condition and do not need reconstructing. At the present time 85 miles are under contract, 523 miles are turnpike roads not as yet taken over by the State, leaving 7,161 miles to be reconstructed.

The above appropriation is requested for the purpose of carrying on construction work on State Highway routes, for plotting of county maps and carrying into effect the various provisions of the Sproul Road Act.

RESOLUTION NO. 7—$2,000,000.

Out of the 8,806 miles of "State Highways" there are 7,161 miles of earth roads that must be so maintained by the State Highway Department until such time as they shall be reconstructed as stone roads. The proper maintenance of these roads (which were in a deplorable condition when taken over by the State Highway Department), including the cost of proper drainage and the replacing of many worn-out township bridges with reinforced concrete or stone arch bridges or culverts; also the grading off of hills, will cost—on a present estimate of about $300 per mile—for two years, a total of $2,148,300. After drainage has been completed, bridges repaired and replaced, the average yearly cost of maintenance will be materially decreased. Work of a permanent nature, such as drainage, concrete bridges and the grading of hills, will substantially lessen the cost of reconstructing these roads as stone roads.

RESOLUTION NO. 8—$520,000.

Under the provisions of the Act of May 31, 1911, P. L. 468, the State Highway Department is required to take over certain turnpike roads that form a part of the system of "State Highways." Of the 717 miles of turnpike roads in the State, 525 miles form parts of "State Highway" routes, none of which has been taken over by the Department. Steps have been taken to secure by purchase, in the near future, 100.1 miles of turnpike roads, and this fund is asked in accordance with the provisions of section 9 of said act, as amended by act of Assembly approved April 11th, 1913, which requires the State Highway Commissioner to file a declaration containing a certificate that sufficient funds to pay all possible damages, etc., have been appropriated by the Legislature and are available for this specific purpose, and the money specifically appropriated shall be pledged and deemed as security for all damages done or suffered.

REPORT FROM THE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

To the House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 9, 1913.

Gentlemen:—I am in receipt of your several preambles and resolutions, under date of 5th instant, requesting specific information as to certain items set forth in the General Appropriation bill, now passed second reading in the House, intended for the use of the Banking Department for the period beginning June 1, 1913 and expiring May 31, 1915, and herewith submit my reply.

Resolution No. 1. Which pertains to an item of three thousand dollars ($3,000) for the payment of necessary expenses occasioned for instituting proceedings for the violation of the Act approved the 23d day of April, 1909.

First. Information is desired as to whether or not this is for prosecutions already instituted.

The answer is No.

Second. Information is desired as to whether this appropriation is for proceedings to be instituted in the future.

The answer to this inquiry depends upon what the future may bring forth. If there is no criminality or violation of law, as defined in the statute, which makes it obligatory upon the Commission of Banking to institute proceedings, when the same shall have come within his knowledge, there will be no necessity for instituting prosecutions.

Third. Information is desired as to whether or not this money is for the payment of counsel, and, is so, the names of such counsel.

In reply thereto I have to say the Attorney General of the Commonwealth is the legal adviser of this Department, consequently there are no names of counsel to be furnished by me in answer to your inquiry.

Fourth. A detailed account of all expenses already incurred, if they are to be paid from this item.

The answer is, no expenses already incurred are to be paid from this item. This Department has no outstanding debts.

Resolution No. 2. Information is desired in detail of the expenditure of the four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,500.—) apropriated to this Department for the payment of contingent expenses for the years of 1911 and 1912.

The list in detail herewith follows and its correctness can be verified by an examination of the vouchers in the Department of the Auditor General.

Postage and rent of Post Office box, ...	$1,215 58
Expressage, ...	1,046 49
Extra stenography and typewriting, ...	1,259 00
Janitress for two years, ...	600 00

Rent of Safe deposit box, ...	8 00
	$4,499 36
*Less witness fees recovered, ...	36 65
Amount actually expended, ...	$4,462 71

Resolution No. 3. Information is desired as to the reasons for any change, or increase, if there be any, in the amount asked for or in any particular item in such bill, wherein a bulk amount is asked for.

In 1909 the biennial appropriation to this Department contained an item of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars ($170,000.—) for compensation of Examiners and expenses of examinations, and, at my request, in 1911 this item was reduced to one hundred and fifty-eight thousand dollars ($158,000.—), the deduction of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000.—) being transferred to a new item for the enforcement of the Act of June 19, 1911, known as the Private Bankers' Act.

In the present bill a further reduction, in the item of expense of examinations, has been made, from one hundred and fifty-eight thousand dollars ($158,000.—) to one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars ($155,000.—) the three thousand dollars ($3,000.—) being transferred to the new item, to which your inquiry pertains and which I have herein explained.

The only increases to the appropriation is the addition of one clerk, two thousand eight hundred dollars ($2,800.—) for two years, and one stenographer, two thousand dollars ($2,000.) for two years. This increase was authorized by the recent Act of Assembly approved by the Governor.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

WM. H. SMITH,
Commissioner of Banking.

REPORT FROM THE BOARD OF GAME COMMISSIONERS.

Office of the Game Commission.
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, June 7th, 1913.

To the Honorable Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—In compliance with your resolution for information regarding the request of the Game Commission for an increased appropriation as per our budget presented to you for the two years beginning June 1st, 1913 and ending May 31st, 1915, I desire to say, I have received two copies of this resolution, one directed to me as Secretary of the Game Commission, and the other to the Board of Game Commissioners. As Secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners, I represent that Board, and will join a reply to the two papers filed in a single report, attempting to make it as clear and explicit as I can.

The Board of Game Commissioners, from the date of its creation in 1895, up to the 15th of June, 1911, had the right and power to appoint but ten officers, who are termed "Game Protectors," and who under the law were entitled to receive pay from the State for services rendered. The Board of Game Commissioners is empowered by the act creating it and the supplements thereto to fix the amount of pay these said Game Protestors shall receive, and up to the time of the request for $8,400, as made in 1911, the salaries of these said officers doing field work had been fixed at $50.00 per month, of $600.00 per year, or $1200.00 to each of the seven men thus employed for the term of two years, making that amount as set forth in our request $8,400.

The Board of Game Commissioners, since the 11th of June, 1903 had had the power to appoint officers known as "Deputy Game Protectors' one of these in each county of the Commonwealth, and they have had the power and authority, since the 18th of April, 1905, to appoint officers known as "Special Deputy Game Protectors" in unlimited numbers throughout the Commonwealth; neither the Deputy Game Protector, of the Special Deputy Game Protector being entitled to receive either pay from the Commonwealth, or a return of the money expended in the performance of their duty, except under the written order of the Secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners, throughout which said Deputy Game Protector or Special Game Protector was directed to perform a specific duty limited in extent. By virtue of the Acts authorizing the appointment of Deputy Game Protectors and Special Deputy Game Protectors, these officers receive no compensation for either services rendered, or a return of money actually expended; they were entitled to one-half of the penalties they might recover from violators of the Game Laws. By reason of requests from various sportsmen's organizations, as well as from many individuals, the Game Commission appointed a Deputy Game Protector, in almost every county in the State, and in addition, appointed numbers of Special Deputy Game Protectors in almost every county of the State. We tried to be careful in these appointments, requiring the indorsement of good men from the several sections in which these applicants might reside, but soon found that while many of the men thus appointed were acting entirely from the desire to protect and preserve our game and wild birds other than game-birds, there were also many of these men who had secured these positions solely for the purpose of personal profit, many of them in their efforts verging so closely on the line between the spirit of the law and the letter of the law as to make their action appear more in the light of a persecution because of the profit they might derive, rather than prosecution for the protection of game and for the benefit of the Commonwealth. Complaints came to us from many directions, and we were very frequently in serious trouble because of the actions of these men whom we might direct to do a certain thing, but could not order them to do it, and it was decided to as quickly as possible and as far as possible do away with both the Deputy Game Protector and the Special Deputy Game Protector.

We have more than 28,800,000 acres in this State, upon the majority of which is found either game or wild birds other than game-birds whose life work is useful to all the people and for the purpose of guarding to a reasonable extent the wild birds of the State, and limiting the possibilities of prosecution, the Game Commission asked the Legslature of 1911 for the power to increase its force of Protectors from ten men to thirty men; this request was granted through an Act signed by the Governor upon the 16th day of June, 1911, Pamphlet Laws 960; this authority coming too late in the Session for us to alter or amend our request for appropration, so that we had but ten men as during the previous years—three in the office and seven in the field.

Investigation shows that the Game Protectors of the State, outside of myself and the stenographer, who are confined to the office to a more or less degree, are, outside of the benefit derived through the prosence of game and wild bird increase, making a return to the State of more than one-half of all the moneys appropriated to our use; some of the men making a return of more than all they receive as salaries and expenses; our books and the reports of the Board of Game Commissioners to the Governor show that during the years beginning June 1st, 1909, and ending May 21st, 1911, we returned to the State Treasurer, through collections of fines, penalties, etc., $23,874.87; our appropriation for the same period was $40,200. and because of the discharge of our paid officers, with no appropriation to fill his place during the month of his discharge, and the fact that a special appropriation had been made for the payment monthly of these men, we received during these two years but $40,150.00, the remaining $50.00 reverting to the Commonwealth. Game and wild bird protection, therefore, including law suits and every other expense connected with our work cost the Commonwealth but $16,325.13 for these two years. During the next two years, beginning June 1st, 1911 and ending May 21st, 1913, we returned from the same sources to the Commonwealth $23,752.25; our appropriation was $40,200.00, so that game and wild bird protection cost the Commonwealth but $17,447.75 for the two years immediately proceeding this year. While we believe that every Game Protector in the field is competent and efficient, just as good as can be secured for any amount of money, we have found it extremely hard to get such men to accept these positions, to face armed men, to go and come through all kinds of weather, and to do the work generally expected of them for $50.00 per month, and it was resolved by the Game Commission at its annual meeting in January, 1913, to increase the pay of these men from $50.00 to $75.00 each per month, and to ask that an appropriation at this rate be given us, so that we might put the entire force of thirty men, as now authorized by law, instead of ten, at work. I believe this will give you a thorough understanding of why we have asked for this amount of $48,600.00, and why we have asked to put the entire force of officers now authorized by law in the field.

The Game Commission, at the same time, considered the appropriation that might be needed by these thirty men to cover the ground and to the work expected of them. You will notice in the appropriation made to our use two years ago, that we were given $20,400 "for the payment of traveling and other necessary expenses of these ten game protectors, for the payment for services rendered or expenses incurred by either deputy game protectors or special deputy game protectors, under the specific and written order of the chief game protector, for the payment of incidental office expenses, attorney fees, and such other expenditures as may be deemed necessary by the Board of Game Commissioners for the better carrying out of the provisions of the act creating the Game Commission" and are to-day asking for $50,000.00 for this purpose. While we hope to multiply our force of protections by three, we have not asked you to increase this expense fund three-fold, which would make it $60,000 instead of $50,000, because we contemplate locating these new officers in such positions as to make it possible for them to cover the territory under their supervision at the least possible expense, lengthy trips with all the expenses incidental thereto being eliminated.

We find it absolutely impossible to attempt a division of the amount asked for in this item; we cannot say what attorneys we may be compelled to pay, what the expenses of this officer or that officer may be, but in every instance require the officer making a claim for expenses to state exactly where he was, what he did at that place, the number of miles he traveled to get there, the road over which he traveled, to present receipts for any amount exceeding fifty cents, excepting railroad fare, bearing the date, and to finally make affidavit that the moneys claimed were actually expended, that they were expended in the performance of his official duty and have not been returned to him in any manner.

Before any quarterly allowance is made to us by the State Treasurer, we are required to file with the Auditor General a statement of expenditures, itemizing each one, and filing therewith a sworn statement made by the officer is on strictly detective duty and where an attempt to secure a receipt would expose his identity and thwart the purposes of his work. In such cases, as Secretary of the Game Commission, I made a statement covering such item; these items of expenditures thus covered are but few in number and are limited in extent. Every expenditure made by or through our office must, therefore, pass inspection in, and measure up to the requirements in the office of the Auditor General. A false return regarding any of these expenditures is very likely to be discovered, and such discovery would surely place the one making it in a most serious position, so serious that we believe, no matter what the disposition of the man might be, no sane man would care to assume this responsibility for the slight profit he might secure.

In the matter of the request for $15,000 for the maintenance and protection of game preserves already created and the creation and maintenance of additional game preserves I would say it has been found by experience extending through years of trial by our National Government, as well as by individuals, that the creation of game preserves or sanctuaries, places in which game cannot be harrassed or annoyed, cities of refuge, in which game and wild creatures can find peace and rest continuously, is the best method through which an increase of such creatures can be secured. Our National Government, at Washington, is creating preserves of this character in various sections of the Nation; individuals are doing the same thing for the same reason, and the Game Commission of Pennsylvania, some years ago, had passed an act authorizing them through and with the consent of the Department of Forestry, to locate such sanctuaries upon State lands. There was passed by the Legislature of this Commonwealth an act forbidding anybody under any condition at any time to hunt within the limits of these preserves or sanctuaries thus created in this Commonwealth, and we find that these preserves are rendering to us the same return that like preserves are rendering elsewhere.

The Game Commission of this Commonwealth has already created five preserves, one, the sixth, is in course of creation, and we desire to continue this method as rapidly as our finances will permit until every county of this Commonwealth has been supplied with certain territory of this character.

For your further information I desire to say these preserves are simply tracts of wild land, located upon lands owned by the State; they are surrounded by a fireline, from which the underbrush has been cleared, and upon which fires may be successfully met and extinguished; a single wire is stretched around these preserves, so that the fireline is on the outside of the wire, and is placed about waist-high to a man, so that any one traveling through the woods will find the fireline and the wire, along this fireline is posted upon trees, notices printed on cloth calling the attention of people who may pass that way, to the fact that the land inside the wire is a State game preserve, upon which no one may hunt at any time; asking the reader to keep out and asking him to help us to keep others out. Prior to June 1st, 1911, we had but three preserves in the State, one near the Sanitorium at Mont Alto, in Franklin county; one near Renovo, in Clinton county; and one near the town of Clearfield, in Clearfield county. With the money given us by the last Legislature—$15,000—we have protected these three preserves; we have kept the firelines cleared around them, we have met and extinguished severe forest fires in the neighborhood or upon the land within our enclosures; we have saved the State in this way many thousands of dollars that otherwise would have gone up in smoke; we have saved the nesting birds and the game within these preserves from destruction through these fires; we have created two additional preserves—one in Westmoreland county near the town of Ligonier, and the other in Perry county, near the town of New Germantown. We have cut the firelines around these preserves. We have purchased and brought from Michigan two carloads of deer to stock these two preserves. We have brought wild turkeys from Maryland. We have built houses upon each of these places; these houses while perhaps not elaborate, still are comfortable and necessary to the work. We have roofed the house upon the Clearfield county preserve. We have brought fifty elk from the Yellowstone Park, releasing twenty-five of them in Clearfield county and twenty-five of them in Clinton county. We have purchased twenty-two elk in Monroe county, and released twelve of them in that section near the corner of Lackawanna, Carbon and Monroe counties, and ten were brought into Centre county and released there. We have in course of creation a sixth game preserve in Centre county. We have purchased the wire, many of the firelines are cut; we have purchased the lumber and are pushing this preserve to completion as rapidly as possible. This item then of $15,000 is absolutely essential to our work, and while we cannot itimize the purposes to which this amount will be applied, we make return to the Auditor General in the same way for every cent expended, carefully setting forth that for which it was expended, that it was necessary to the advancement of the work of the Game Commission.

What we have done in the past two years has been enitrely within the amount appropriated to our use; we have no deficiency claim because we were able to apply this money as necessity required, instead of being limited to a specific purpose.

This proposed increase of our force, the increase in their pay, the amount asked for to defray expenses generally, the maintenance of preserves already created and the creation of new preserves has been carefully considered during the past two years, not only by the Game Commission, but by sportsmen all over the State, both organized and as individuals. The Pennsylvania State Sportsmen, at their annual meetings in 1911, 1912 and 1913, indorsed these propositions and this proposed increase. The United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, numbering several thousand, by resolution, indorsed the same thing, these men occupying various positions in the citizenship of this Commonwealth, each one a conservator and not a destroyer, consider the granting of the appropriation asked for by the Board of Game Commissioners as absolutely necessary to the successful carrying into effect of the duties imposed upon that Board, and,

That there might be no failure for any reason in this matter, the Sportsmen of the State, not the Game Commission, had drafted and presented to the present Legislature a bill requiring resident hunters of this State to secure a license at a cost of $1.00 before hunting, the purpose being to relieve the State of responsibility in this matter. These Sportsmen estimated that through or because of the provisions of this act a fund largely in excess of the amount asked for by the Game Commission for all purposes combined will be raised. While this fund may not at this time, be in the hands of the State Treasurer, this money will be coming in almost as rapidly as needed from the very beginning, and after the end of the first year, will be in excess of the demands. We estimate that at least $150,000 per year will come from this source, making $300,000 for the two years, or more than twice the amount we ask for. It will surely be there, before the next Legislature meets, and that, therefore, the State cannot lose in any way through the passing of this appropriation as asked for at this time. The benefit that will come to the Commonwealth through the life-work of birds; through recreation enjoyed by sportsmen, through a food-supply taken in the shape of game; through the training secured by our young men in outdoor life in the shape of camping and in many other ways; can not be estimated and is entirely outside of the fundamental return made to the Commonwealth.

Because of the insufficient help in this office, it is absolutely impossible for me to supply you, before the 9th of this month, with an itimized statement of the several ways, through which, and the many things to which, the moneys heretofore appropriated to our use have been applied. I desire to say that our statements made quarterly to the Auditor General are on file in his office with the vouchers and the receipts received by us. I have copies of our report to the Auditor General on file in this office, and would be glad to present them to you for inspection, if you so desire it. I would be glad to have any committee that you may appoint to inspect our work and will be pleased to answer any questions that you may consider necessary regarding this matter that are not covered by this statement.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH KALBFUS,
Secretary Board of Game Commissioners.

REPORT FROM THE STATE LIBRARIAN.

June 6, 1913.

Honorable George E. Alter, Speaker of the House of Representatives,
State of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg.

My dear sir:—I have received through the Honorable Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the resolution presented in the House of Representatives on June 5th, by Mr. Rockwell, concerning the increases in the amounts asked for in the General Appropriation Bill for this session as compared with the session of 1911.

I have in another communication dealt with the subject of the law Catalogue appropriation and the general catalogue item. The only other matters coming under this resolution are the increase of $2,400 in the Museum appropriation to be applied to the salary of a taxidermist to assist Mr. Rothrock, the Curatro in charge of the Museum. Mr. Rothrock is the officer responsible for all the details of management of the Museum and has to give a great deal of time to verifying the accounts of the two divisions of the Museum, and the lantern slide collection. He is a first class taxidermist himself, but finds himself handicapped in the work by the multiplicity of his duties. The only other increase asked for is in the appropriation for night assistants. It is absolutely necessary to have two intelligent men to accomplish this work satisfactorily. In the old days the library was closed at 3 o'clock. Now it is open from 9 A. M. until 10 P. M., and the number using the library during the evening hours has increased very materially. It is impossible to get the class of men needed for this work at a salary less than $900. per annum. The sum of $3,600 is therefore asked for to cover these items.

Yours respectfully,
THOMAS L. MONTGOMERY,
State Librarian.

June 6, 1913.

Honorable George E. Alter, Speaker of the House of Representatives,
State of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg.

My dear Sir:—I have received through the Honorable Thomas H. Garvin, the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the resolution of the House concerning certain expenditures for the State Library enumerated in the several appropriation bills of recent years.

First, as regards the expenditures upon the Law Catalogue for the State Library:

In 1907 there was appropriated $4,800 for this work. This was divided between

J. Burns White,	$1500
J. W. Kline,	900

per annum.

The same condition preailed in 1909.

In the year 1911 at the request of a number of members of the Legislature the salary of Mr. Kline was made $1,400 per annum; and the disposition of the fund of $5,800 became

J. Burns White,	$1500
J. W. Kline,	1400

per annum.

In connection with this appropriations I beg to inform you that these two gentlemen have not only the cataloguing of the additions to the State Library under the card system but they are also the care takers of the Law Library. They arrange the publications of the National Government and are responsible for them. I know of no Library of its size which renders efficient service with so small a number of employes and at so small an expenditure. It is necessary to have men to do this work because their duties extend far into the evening. I should remark incidentally, that the law library is one of the best of its class on this continent.

Second, with regard to the appropriation for the general catalogue of the State Library:

There was appropriated in 1907, $5,280. The salaries under this item were

Miss A. R. Brady,	$780
Miss A. S. Roe,	600
Miss Edith D. Black,	600
Miss Irma A. Watts,	600
		$2580

In 1909 when the same amount was appropriated the salaries were

Miss A. R. Brady,	$780
Miss A. S. Roe,	600
Miss Edith D. Black,	600
Miss Irma A. Watts,	600
And in the month of May, 1909, an extra assistant, Miss Ethel Torrington, was employed, for that month only at a monthly wage of	32 50
		$2612 50

In the session of 1911, $7,000 was appropriated for this work. This sum was divided as follows:

Miss A. R. Brady,	$1000
Miss A. S. Roe,	700
Miss Edith D. Black,	600
Mrs. Gertrude J. Lantz,	600
Miss Margaret C. Rose,	600
		$3500

Miss Margaret C. Rose was succeded by her sister in January 1913. Two of the above named cataloguers were not appointed immediately upon the passage of the appropriation; Mrs. Lantz coming on July 1st, and Miss Rose on September 1, 1911, and this part of the appropriation was, therefore, unused. The force of five cataloguers is a very modest one for the work inhand.

The catalogue must be contained as long as books are added to the Library. When I came to the State Library in 1903 there was no adequate catalogue of the collection and there was no stock list, and the classification of the books was unsatisfactory. During the years that ensued we have accessioned, classified and catalogued all the current additions, amounting to three or four thousand volumes a year, and have also reclassified, accessioned, and recatalogued all but six alcoves of a collection of 150,000 volumes. The salaries above quoted are smaller than in other institutions of the first class. In addition to their cataloguing work these assistants are called upon from time to time to help the general assistants whenever there happens to be an unusually large number of readers to be accommodated.

I shall be more than glad to answer any questions in detail concerning this or any other department of our work.

Yours respectfully,

THOMAS L. MONTGOMERY,
State Librarian.

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 9, 1913.

To the Honorable Members of the House of Representatives:

Complying with the resolution requesting information regarding the appropriations made to the Department of Mines, the following details are given:

Item 1. "As to the necessity of the increase in the appropriation for the payment of the salaries of the Inspectors of Coal Mines from $275,000 in 1911 to $306,000, as set forth in the present general appropriation bill."

Answer. In 1911 there were 25 Inspectors in the bitumianous region and an additional one was appointed June 1, 1912. In the anthracite region there were 20 Inspectors and an additional one was appointed July 1, 1911. There are now 26 Inspectors in the bituminous region 21 in the anthracite region, and four more Inspectors will be added to the force within the next month or two. In the bituminous region two will be added about June 15, and two in the anthracite region probably in July. This will make the number 51, and as the salary is $3,000 per year the amount needed for the two years is $306,000. See Statement A.

Item 2. "As to the necessity of the increase in the appropriation for the payment of the salaries of substitute Inspectors from $5,000 in 1911 to $10,000."

Answer. Only one temporary Inspector was needed during the two years 1911 to 1913, and he was paid $250, leaving a balance unexpended of $4,750. This was a period of exceptional freedom from sickness and accident to the Inspectors. In the period 1907 to 1909, when there were only 40 Inspectors, the amount paid on account of sickness and accident was $5,750, and in 1909 to 1911 over $2,000 was paid out of the temporary fund. To provide against the possibility of the inspection service being crippled by the sickness or injury of Inspectors during the next two years, during which time there will be probably 51 Inspectors, the sum of $10,000 is asked for. See Statement B.

Item 3. "As to the necessity of the increase in the item of appropriation for the payment of actual traveling expenses of Inspectors, from $56,350 in 1911 to $78,000."

Answer. This item in the last estimate sent to the Appropriation Committee is reduced to $75,000. The actual expenses of the Inspectors during 1911 to 1913 amounted to about $62,381.77. (The quarter ending May 31 is estimated.) As the appropriation was $56,350, there is a deficiency of about $6,500. This was caused by the appointment of additional inspectors as stated in Item 1, for whom office furniture and instruments had to be purchased. Office furniture and instruments were also purchased for some of the other inspectors. The services of an expert electrician were also paid out of this appropriation. See Statement C.

Item 4. "As to the necessity for the increase in the item of appropriation for the payment of the compensation and expenses attending the examination of candidates for inspector, mine foremen, et cetera, from $36,000 in 1911 to $55,000."

Answer. This item in the last estimate sent to the Appropriation Committee is reduced to $32,000. The reduction was made on account of the failure of the Anthracite Mine Code to pass the Legislature. Under this Code, the Department would have had to pay the expenses of the Miners' Examining Boards in the anthracite region. There would have been 24 Boards, with a biennial expense of about $1,000 each. The amount asked for, $32,000, is necessary for the payment of the expenses of the four Mine Inspectors' Examining Boards in the anthracite region and the Mine Foremen's and Fire Bosses' Examining Boards in the anthracite and bituminous regions. There will be 28 Mine Foremen's Boards in the bituminous region and 23 in the anthracite region. See statement D.

Item 5. "As to the necessity of the increase in the item of appropriations for the payment of counsel fees from $7,500 in 1911 to $10,000."

Answer. The counsel fees paid for the prosecution of violators of the Mine Laws during 1911 to 1913 will amount to about $7,500. The increase to $10,000 is on account of the increase in the number of Inspectors, and to provide for any special cases that may arise. Most of the appropriation is paid in very small amounts for the prosecution of persons who carry smokers' articles into the mines or pass danger signals, or commit some other minor offense. The larger amounts are paid in cases involving the mine officials. See Statement E.

Item 6. "As to the necessity of the item of appropriation of $6,000 for the installation of expert electrical service in connection with the installation of electrical equipment in the mines."

Answer. To guard against danger from electricity, the electrical equipment in the mines must be very carefully installed and carefully looked after. The service of an expert electrician can be obtained when necessary and at a much less expense than would be the case if the position of permanent electrician were created.

Respectfully submitted,
JAMES E. RODERICK,
Chief of Department of Mines.

REPORT FROM THE DEPARTMENT OF FISHERIES.

Mr. Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk, House of Representatives.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 9, 1913.

Dear Sir:—In accordance with a resolution asking for detailed information in regard to the appropriation for this Department, I have the honor herewith to enclose you the information wanted.

Respectfully,
N. R. BULLER,
Commissioner.

APPROPRIATIONS

Department of Fisheries.

For the payment of the salary of the Commissioner of Fisheries ,two years, the sum of nine thousand dolllars ($9,000.00.

For the payment of the salary of the clerk, two years, the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00).

For the payment of the salaries of two stenographers, two years, the sum of four thousand eight hundred dollars ($4,800.00).

For the purpose of hatching, propagating and distributing food and game fish and stocking and supplying the waters of the Commonwealth with the same, and distributing fish and employing the necessary labor and implements therefor, and paying for the repairs, improvements and necessary expenses to the said hatcheries, two years, the sum of ninety-six thousand dollars ($96,000.00).

This is an increase of $3,000.00 over the appropriation made two years ago. This slight increase is asked for from the fact that the demand for fish increases every year and applications for fish come to the Department by the thousand where they formerly come by the hundred, showing the popular interest that the people of the Commonwealth are taking in restocking the streams. To meet this growing demand the Department asks this small increase. On account of the reconstruction of the hatcheries, which is absolutely necessary from the dilapidated condition, the work of propagating fish is more expensive than it would be if the hatcheries were in thorough working order. The increased demand for fish means more shipments, and more shipments mean more railroad fare. Some years ago when the railroad furnished free transportation to the messengers, the Department expenses were, of course, very much lower than they now are when the railroad travel of the messengers is taken into account. In addition the Department has to face the problem of higher wages, as the cost of labor is much higher than it was even two years ago.

For the payment of counsel fees and court expenses, two years, the sum of Ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00).

One of the greatest problems that the Department faces is the purification of the waters of the Commonwealth so that they will once more support fish life. There are in Pennsylvania nearly 50,000 manufacturing establishments, and wherever possible, the majority of these establishments run their refuse into the streams. Persuasion accomplishes some results, but this must be backed up with the power to bring suits against those manufacturers who refuse to obey the law. There is not a day passes that there does not come some complaints to the Department of the pollution of streams by manufactories, and the public demand that the Department take immediate steps to bring about the stoppage of this pollution. To do this the Department must have the sinews of war so that it can enforce its demands by appeals to the courts. A few stern lessons to the manufacturers that the Department is in earnest will bring about the desired results, and then the Department will be able to come before the Legislature and say that it can reduce its court expenses, because the work has been done. It is idle to threaten suits against violators of the law when those violators know that the Department has no money to prosecute offenders. The large corporations of the State have at their command the ablest lawyers, and it is useless for the Department to attempt to cope with them with any one except a lawyer of equal skill, and such lawyers demand fees commensurate to their ability.

For the payment of necessary and reasonable expenses of the Commissioner of Fisheries and other members of the Fishery Commission and the office employes, two years, the sum of six thousand dollars ($6,000.00).

This increase is absolutely necessary for the best work of the Department. To secure the highest efficiency in the hatcheries it is requisite that the Commissioner visit them personally at least twice a month, and the others of the office force must visit the hatcheries in the interest of the office work. There are four members in the Fishery Commission who devote their time to their duty without compensation. They are required by law to hold meetings for various purposes during the year, yet owing to the insufficient appropriation it has been impossible to hold these meetings. There are now in the Department a number of petitions for declaring which streams are trout streams, and the law requires that the Board shall investigate these requests and pass their judgment. It will be seen that the money is necessary to carry out the law.

For the erection of fishways, two years, the sum of seven thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars ($7,950.00).

This is not an increase over the amount asked two years ago. There remained unexpended $2,950.00, because that amount was not sufficient to build a proposed fishway. The Department therefore asks that this money, which is lapsed, be added to its usual appropriation.

For repairs of State fishways, two years, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00).

This is the same amount that was asked two years ago.

For the payment of salaries and reasonable expenses of fish wardens, two years, the sum of eighty thousand dollars ($80,000.00).

Under the law the number of fish wardens is fixed at thirty, and to employ this number of men and to pay them the salaries fixed by law and their reasonable expenses, there must be $80,000.00 appropriated. With a State so large as Pennsylvania it is impossible to thoroughly patrol it with a less number of wardens than that fixed by the law. The salary of the warden is fixed by law at $75.00 a month, and their expenses run from $25 to $40 a month ,according to the size of the territory they have to cover. It requires but a simple calculation to show that if the Department must employ the thirty wardens named in the law, it must have $80,000. The appropriation for 1911 only allowed the employment of nine wardens during most of the time, and each man had entirely too much territory to do his work thoroughly.

For the payment of contingent expenses, two years, the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000.00).

This increase is asked for on account of the growing work of the Department. The correspondence has largely increased, the number of applications sent out has more than doubled, and in addition, the Department proposes to furnish the schools of the Commonwealth with an educational exhibit of fish life, showing the various stages from the agg to the young fish.

For the purpose of maintaining and operating the launch Commodore Perry on Lake Erie, two years, the sum of nine thousand dollars ($9,000.00).

For the purpose of repairing and placing the launch Commodore Perry in Lake Erie in a thorough and seaworthy condition, two years, the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000.00).

Since the building of the Perry none but the ordinary repairs have been placed upon it and it is now necessary that she be thoroughly placed in seaworthy condition. The work of the Commodore Perry has been most valuable and the greater part of it is done at the season of the year which is the roughest and hardest on a boat. Indeed, it it the season of the year when every other boat on the lake engaged in commercial busines is laid up. The work of the Perry is not only valuable to the fishing interests, but it has done some magnificent work in life saving and rescuing disabled boats, which has won for her and her crew the highest encomium. It is necessary for the safety of the crew when facing these storm-tossed ice-laden waters of Lake Erie that the boat be placed in the most seaworthy condition.

For field work and gathering spawn and incidental expenses thereto the sum of sixteen thousand dollars ($16,000.00).

No part of the duties of the Department is so important as the field work. It is from this work that millions of eggs are taken from the field that would otherwise be lost entirely and in addition, millions of fish are also taken. By the field work the spawn is taken from the fish in the lakes by the hundred millions, and all this spawn would be lost for this work. There are 234 lakes in northeastern Pennsylvania alone in which this work is done, and in addition to gathering the eggs and fish, it is also a means of infusing new blood into the other waters in which the fish are planted. The field work in Lake Erie is what makes possible the tremendous fishing interests of Erie, because without this gathering of the eggs and the artificial propagation, the fishing would decline so as to be unprofitable.

The field work makes possible the gathering of the shad spawn in the lower Delaware. The results of this field work is very many times more valuable than its cost, but it is impossible to do it well with less than the amount asked for.

For buildings, ponds, extensions, and other work incidental towards completing hatcheries, two years, the sum of Sixty-Five Thousand Dollars ($65,000.00).

At the present time every hatchery in the State is a disgrace to the Commonwealth. They are wooden shacks in the last stages of dissolution, ready to fall down so that they are no longer fit for any one to work in. Comprehensive plans have been drawn up for each hatchery to replace these structures with permanent structures, built of brick, concrete and steel, with no wood to rot, and with the latest improvements for successfully propagating fish. These buildings when completed will be a credit to this great Commonwealth and will no longer moke a heavy yearly draft for repairs. This $65,000 contemplates the erection at each hatchery a building that will be a credit to the Commonwealth and a matter of economy in its working and its demand for future repairs. The estimates of costs have been carefully made and any less amount would not erect buildings of a character that are necessary.

For the purchase of a boat for use at the Torresdale hatchery on the Delaware river for the purpose of gathering eggs and fish the sum of One Thousand Five Hundred dollars ($1,500.00).

At the Torresdale hatchery is done the shad work of the Deparment, and every year the number of shad hatched and planted at that hatchery runs from 10 to 20 millions. Without this work, all the fishermen agree, that the river would soon be barren of shad and the fishing rendered unprofitable. During the year other fish are gathered, and the boat asked for is necessary to perform the work in an adequate manner. During the shad fishing season it is necessary for the Supedintendent of the hatchery to visit each fishery and gather up the eggs and bring them back to the hatchery. What is needed, therefore, is a roomy boat that will carry the necessary equipment for the gathering of those eggs.

For building a new and permanent hatchery house and equipment at Erie the sum of Fifteen Thousand Dollars ($15,000.00).

In the appropriation bill of the session of 1911 here was an item of $70000.00 for erecting a new hatchery house at the Erie hatchery. After the passage of the bill the Water Commissioners of the City of Erie tendered the Department of Fisheries a piece of ground on the lake for a site for the hatching house. Under the wording of the appropriation bill the money could only be expended for a building upon the hatching house property, and therefore it was decided not to spend the money. The site offered by the Water Commissioners is for more suitable one than the present hatchery property, being on the lake where the launch Commodore Perry can tie up immediately alongside, avoiding all bills for drayage, while at the same time the hatchery will be supplied with untreated water from the lake, the water that is now furnished through the city pipes being unsuitable for fish culture. It will therefore be seen that the increase asked for is really only $8000.00, and the Water Commissioners ask that the building be one appropriate to the site.

For dredging out of the channels and ponds on Presque Isle Pennisula, Erie County, in order to restore the original spawning grounds for the fish, two years, the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00).

In the appropriation bill of 1911 the sum of $20,000 was appropriated for making plans, purchasing machinery, boats, and other expenses incidental towards the construction of a State Fish Hatchery on Presque Isle Penninsula. A thorough examination of the locality convinced the Department that it was undersirable to spend the money under the terms of the appropriation made in 1911, so none of it was spent. The amount now asked for is for the purpose of dredging out the channels and ponds on the Peninsula in order to restore the original spawning grounds for the fish. This is a very important work and if it is done it will add enormously to the value of the fisheries at Erie. It will thus be seen that the money asked for is not in addition to the money appropriated in 1911, but merely re-appropriating that $20,000.00.

It is to be regretted that the delay in the printing office in getting out the report of the Department for 1912 has prevented copies of that report being in the hands of the Members. This report sets out fully all the needs of the Department, and the reasons for each appropriation. It shows that it is the desire of the Department to work out in a comprehensive way the rehabilitation of the hatcheries and the placing them on a basis that will make them a credit in the Commonwealth and enable them to do their work in the most economical and efficient manner. This report was placed in the hands of the printer in January, and the Department feels sure that if this report was before the members of the Legislature every question in the legislation would be fully and satisfactorily answered. The report of the Department of 1911 was brief because the present Commissioner has only been in office three months before it was issued, while the report for 1912 covered in detail all the workings of the Department, its needs and its aims.

Permanency in the structure of the hatcheries means economy in repairs and the elimination of wood by the substitution of concrete is essential.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

The SPEAKER. The hour of nine o'clock having arrived the Chair lays before the House as a special order bill No. 1 on page one of to-day's calendar, House Bill No. 896, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of the University of Pittsburgh for the general maintenance of the University the purchase of equipment and the construction of buildings

When this bill was last before the House, the first section had been read and an amendment thereto was presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott. The question was on agreeing to the amendment. For the information of the House, the amendment will again be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section one, line 13, by striking out the words "seven hundred thousand" and inserting instead "five hundred thousand."

The SPEAKER. The question is will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the time which has been given by the postponement of these bills is useful for several reasons. In the first place, by the postponment of the several bills under consideration, we now have them together in one group upon the calendar and that makes more clear that point of view which I have adopted and am urging upon the House, and it is not an attempt to discriminate against any particular institution nor a desire to attack the usefulness or the worthiness of any institution but simply represents a general principle which I believe that this House ought to adopt and which, if adopted, will affect equally, the several institutions which are now grouped together upon our calendar. This respite of a few days has also given us the opportunity to hear from various parts of the State both personally and through the newspapers and I am glad to say that I have received many communications to the effect that people, generally, in this State are alive to the importance of the situation and feel that the general principle which I am laying down is correct. Now, I have heard from the various friends of the various institutions involved as you may well expect and in almost everyone of the cases the plea which they have made for consideration has been based upon the need of their institution and the good use to which they feel they can put the money. Now, I freely admit everything they said in that line. Take every one of those universities and colleges and they all can make admirable use of the money which they ask for. They could make admirable use of very much more than they ask and very much more than the State intends to give them but the point I want to force home to your consciences is that the need of the institutions is not sufficient justification for unlimited appropriations by the State, but more than that, above that and in addition to that, they ought to be able to urge, in defense of their claim, that they come under a definite policy of the State; that they come within the purview of the State's settled determination as to how it will treat its institutions of higher learning. In the absence of any such policy we are entirely at sea. We have no more right to give to A. institution and and withhold from B., which we are doing, just because A. institution may have used more effrontery or more pull or more energy in begging than B. institution. But so it is. There are scattered throughout the length and breadth of this State many institutions of learning which stand upon an equality of those which are asking for State-aid and which have had bills introduced and recommended and simply because the bills are here and because the institutions need the money we are asked to make the appropriations. I say the time has come to call a halt upon new appropriations and upon increased appropriations until the State's policy has been fully developed. Now, in some of the other criticisms upon this subject which I have read, I think perhaps I have noticed a disposition, especially in the headlines, to suggest that I am attacking the cause of higher education in the State. No more erroneous proposition could possibly be propounded. I am trying to develop higher education throughout the State and to do that I feel that it is necessary to check the present totally indiscriminate method of making appropriations. I think the State's funds are being dissipated and I think they are being spread thin and as time goes on, when other institutions come in and demand money as these do from the present Legislature, and will on future Legislatures, the money will be spread thinner and thinner and will be dissipated more and more and the category then will grow worse. Now, I am not attacking the interest of higher education any more than the surgeon is attacking the interests of his patient when he advises his patient that the time has come to cut out certain portions of his anatomy. I am doing it, I thoroughly and firmly believe, for the good of the State of Pennsylvania and for the good of higher education in Pennsylvania and when the State has developed its policy and has determined whether it shall have one or three State controlled institutions, and when the State shall have decided what it wants in the matter, then, if I am here again, you will find my voice raised in the interest of larger and increased appropriations along these lines. Mr. Speaker, I hope this amendment will be adopted.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker.

This is a bill making an appropriation to the University of Pittsburgh. This University was incorporated in 1819; the Legislature of the State at that time saw the necessity of having a university at that growing industrial center so they made an appropriation from the State of two thousand four hundred dollars, for five years beginning with 1826. This university has a splendid history. It is ideally situated, being in the center of a great industrial county of a million people. It is to-day training nearly two thousand five hundred students in the responsibilities of citizenship. It is also engaged in a great work or expansion; it is a part of a splendid movement for public improvement which is moving Pittsburgh at the present time. If anything should happen adversely to this institution, all its real estate would revert back to the State. At the present time it amounts to $1.600,000.

We in Pittsbuagh are proud of this splendid institution, but our admiration is not confined alone to it. We have a just pride in the University of Pennsylvania, State, Temple, Lehigh and all the rest of the grand institutions of learning which are an ornament to our State. And I shall take much pleasure in supporting the several amounts recommended by the Appropriations Committee. I believe it is the solemn duty of the State to encourage higher education. I believe in economy in governmental affairs, but every dollar that an individual spends and every dollar that a State spends for education brings back a large return.

A high state of inteligence cannot long remain independent of and distinct from the political institutions of government, for it will either itself be crushed by the arm of despotism, or it will transform the government into a protecting power. At all time the status of education has been measured by the political condition of a nation. State education is found among the most ancient institutions of history. The great universities of ancient and modern times have received very liberal support from the governments and from the beneficence of princes. This is true of the Academy at Athens, and the Universities at Alexandra, Oxford, Wittenberg, Leyden and Berlin.

Pennsylvania has the honor of being the first State in the Union to declare by Constitutional provision for the maintenance of a university, although through legislative enactment other States were far in advance in the support of their higher education. Article 44 of the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania of 1776, declares as follows:

> "A school or schools shall be established in each county by the Legislature, for the convenient instruction of youth ....and all useful learning shall be duly encouraged and promoted in one or more universities.'

Section 2, Article 7, of the Constitution of 1790, reads as follows: "The arts and sciences shall be promoted in one or more seminaries of learning."

The same provision is found in the Constitution of 1838.

The establishment of seminaries was the direct result of the thoughts entertained by William Penn in his Frame of Government for the Colonies. He saw the necessity of encouraging education as it opened the door of opportunity to all. without taking from any man the fruit of his energy and endurance.

Appropriations for schools and universities are not given in the name and spirit of charity. The wealth of education is just as important for a nation's well-being as a wealth of material greatness. Education acts upon the State. It is a duty of society and the state to raise the common level of intelligence and enlarge the opportunity of the boy or girl, the man or the woman in the crowd. It is not something good which government is to encourage only, but it is something vital which government must provide. Free universities have become the finest expression of the aims of powerful States and they in return are rendering a service to the State of manifold blessing. Colleges and universities will have to be encouraged by liberal State support. It should be the inalienable and universal right of every American boy to have an opportunity to pursue the branches of higher learning if his inclination so leads, and it is the duty of the State to see that he has this opportunity. The American workman are not willing to depend upon charity or philanthropy. They do not like to accept the training schools set up by the manufacturing corporations. This State should see that the doors of opportunity are open to any boy who is anxious to enter its universities, and the best way to bring this about is to make the cost to the boy as low as possible. We live in exacting times, and many a man has been handicapped through life on account of lack of preparation. He has not only suffered on account of this, but society has suffered as well.

Our colleges and universities are not organized for the purpose of making money. I have never heard of a single university being self-sustaining. I have never heard of the officers or the officials of a university becoming wealthy through the funds of the university. They are usually kept up by the generosity of the State or the benefaction of individuals. Most of our schools of higher learning give to the student services much below cost.

A new type of university has arisen in this country in the last 50 years. The older universities stood for some manner of exclusiveness. It may have been for a king and what he stood for; it may have been for a constitutional state; it may have been for a particular aim; it may have stood for a particular idea; never before has it stood for all learning and for all the people. It is interesting to observe that the university expansion has been the greatest where our democracy has been the freest.

Our future destiny lies in an intelligent people and an enlightened public conscience and it is the mission of the State to help bring this about.

In the United States, in the year 1911, was expended $94,672.441 for education of a higher character. Of this vast sum, they received from students in the way of tuition, room rent and board only $26,496,697. In the great University of Pennsylvania the total receipts in 1911 were $1,592,620. They received from tuition from students $620,363. The several amounts which the State and individuals contributed to this amount was $972,257. In the University of Pittsburgh, for the year 1911, the total receipts were $500,760. The students contributed $115,546, showing that $385,214 came from other sources. The actual cost of maintaining a student in a university in the United States is about $303. About the average tuition of a student in the United States is $70. I quote these figures to show you that Pennsylvania has been a little bit too backward in contributing to our schools of higher learning. The figures of the University of Michigan for 1911 were $1,637.623, and the total amount received from the students was only $339.542. a difference of $1,288,081. A great many of our Western States are expending considerable more money for institutions of higher learning than the State of Pennsylvania and I state that I am in favor of this bill and am in favor of every bill for educational purposes which the Appropriation Committee has recommended.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, some of us members from the rural districts find ourselves in a very unpleasant situation. This is one of the reasons. During the sessions of 1909 and 1911 this Legislature saw fit to pass certain laws taking away from the rural districts the township supervisors and the people living in those districts the right to work out their poll tax instead of compelling them to pay it in cash. On this same basis, the State entered into a contract to pay the people back fifty per cent. of the amount of money so raised Now, under this contract, the State owes to the rural districts two and a half million dollars. A bill was introduced during this session to appropriate that much money to meet the absolute contract and obligation of the State. What did the Appropriation Committee do? They cut that bill from two and one-half million dollars to one million dollars and said that we have not money enough to pay what the State owes Now, where are we? They come back at us with several big appropriation bills, one of them to one educational institution over which the State has not one iota of control, one and a half million dollars; another one of nearly the same amount, another one about $200,000, and to these very same institutions which are now under consideration under this proposition to amend, the Appropriation Committee has recommended enough money to pay what the State owes under its absolute legislative contract. How can we members go back home and satisfy our people that we have done what we ought to do. when we have increased certain appropriations to institutions over which the State has no control and won't pay the State's absolute contract. It seems to me that the position taken by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S B Scott, is absolutely correct; that until this State puts itself in a proper position to carry out a stated purpose toward higher education, which every member of this House stands for, and I for myself state that I do, I would like to see the State give every dollar that it possibly can, but until we do get into that position and until the State can take care of its absolute contracts and the charitable institutions which are cut here in appropriation, bill after bill, and reducing them away below what many of them ought to have, it seems to me that it is time to call a halt. Why should ge appropriate to those institutions, to the Pennsylvania University and some others and not to some of the State colleges? Why should they get a benefit, andl Dickinson College, which does as good work, which does as much good, gets nothing? I am informed and I have a personal knowledge of the institution there that in the past years the institution has furnished schooling to many deserving students at less than cost, and that the institution is greatly in debt, far beyond its means at present or any means in sight to get out. Why should we give aid to those institutions and raise them away above the others? Why do we not do this for Dickinson. Lafayette, Lehigh, Franklin and Marshrall, Gettysburg and several others that I could name? Why should we not do as much for several of those others? And I want to say just one other word in relation to the first point that I made about this proposition that the State owes for these road purposes. If the administration of this State and the people interested in trying to put the $50,000,000 bond issue through for good roads do not see that the State keeps its part of the contract in relating to paying the townships what the legislative Act of Assembly says they should pay, you will find that practically every rural vote in the State will go against the bond issue. This is the sentiment I get from my people every day when I am home, and I believe many of you members will find the same situation in your home. As I said, I do not care to oppose any particular appropriation or increase in amount that any institution shall get, but it is time that we should call a halt here, and I am in favor of keeping the appropriations down to where they have been until the State takes care of its contracts and obligations and takes care of its charitable institutions and gives them what they ought to have. And I for one shall support this amendment.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott, applied to all these bills under consideration, I think it is only fitting that at this time I, a graduate of State College, should say something in behalf of that institution. The gentleman from Tioga has just said something about contractural obligations to the citizens of the State. I say to you gentlemen the State has no less a solemn obligation and contractural obligation in a contract with the United States Government by which State College became a State institution. Under a provision of the Morrill Act of 1862, the United States Government allotted certain lands to State institutions "for the purpose of founding and maintaining colleges, the leading object of which should be (without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics) to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts. in such manner as the Legislatures of the States should prescribe, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life. Pennsylvania accepted the offer, designated the college as the instrument for the performance of the work, and, with more or less liberality, has contributed to the creation of that institution ever since." How great has been the State's liberality can only be judged by a comparison with the action of Pennsylvania towards its State College and the action of other States. The gentleman from Allegheny has compared it to the University of Michigan. The appropriation which is granted to Michigan University by its State far surpasses anything that this State has done for its institutions. The State of Ohio appropriates annually $3.000.000 for the care of its State colleges and here we are met on the floor of this House by opposition to an appropriation of $1,400.000 for the benefit of Pennsylvania's State College. State College has in the past received certain amounts, the largest of which was in last session of this Legislature. At that time approximately $800,000 was appropriated for State College, which amounted to about $192 per capita of the students there. In this last year, 1912. $400,000, or one-half of that amount appropriated in the last session of the Legislature, amounting to about $159 per capita. The State College has reached the most crucial time of its career. At the present time it is absolutely impossible for the College to care for the applicants from this State. I have heard again and again, and only a short time ag,o of an instance of a student who made application for enrollment and was unable to be admitted because there was not room for him. In 1901 the State College had a little less than 500 students. To-day it has 2,500 students and they are carrying those 2,500 with practically the equipment they had in 1901. Some of you perhaps are familiar with the object for which this appropriation is made. I can only say in passing that a large proportion of it is for new buildings and equipment. Now, gentlemen, think what that means. An institution attempting to labor with five times as many students as it had twelve years ago with practically the same equipment that it had at that time. I, like the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott, am a firm believer in higher education. I do not take quite the same way of showing it. I propose to support every bill that is introduced into this body to appropriate money for higher education and I think this State cannot in any way use its money to better advantage. For a State with a revenue of $32,000,000 to refuse to appropriate the paltry sums that have been offered in comparison with what other States are doing and in comparison with the amount of revenue that is being received. to refuse to appropriate these sums to its institutions, is inconsistent.

It is the only institution of higher learning in the State which was organized in the rooms of and under the patronage of a State agency (Board of Agriculture, 1855); of whose Board of Trustees from three to five State officials have always been ex-officio members; and at whose first Trustee meeting the Governor of the State (Pollock) presided.

It is the only institution of higher learning in the State which was given the privilege of a permanent appropriation to be made annually from the funds of a State agency (State Agricultural Society—Pamphlet Laws, 1857, p. 392).

It is the only institution of higher learning in the State which was established by and is now maintained by the co-operative action of the Federal and State Governments (U. S. Stats. at Large, Vol. 12, p. 503; Pamphlet Laws, 1863, p. 214).

It is the only representative in the State of the Federal "land grant" act of 1862 and as such is classified with similar State institutions in other States in the Annual Report of the United States Commissioner of Education (e. g., Report of 1910, Vol. II. p. 979).

It is the only institution in the State for which the good faith of the State has been pledged to the Federal Government by the Legislature to carry out the Act of 1862, "with all its provisions and conditions" (Pamphlet Laws. 1863, p. 214).

It is the only institution of higher learning in the State which had for the care of its formative endowment an official board created by law (the Governor of the State. the Auditor General and the Surveyor General; Pamphlet Laws, 1863, p. 214).

It is the only institution in the State which has received by legislative action the later appropriations made by the Federal Government for the support of a State college (U. S. Stats. at Large, Vol. 24, p. 440; Vol. 26, p. 417. Laws of Pa., 1889, p. 50; 1891, p. 94).

The composition of its Board of Trustees is that of a State institution, the appointment of a majority of the members proceeding from the people without denominational, residential, or other test. (Four ex-officio members, including the Governor; six appointed by the Governor; nine chosen by the Alumni of the College; and twelve elected by delegates representing the agricultural and industrial organizations of the State—Laws of Pa., 1905, p. 50.)

It is the only institution in the State which is classified by the Carnegie Foundation as a State College or University (Third Annual Report, p. 79) and as such was barred from early admission to the benefits of the pension fund.

It is the only institution in the State which has received an official certification from the Senate, House and Governor that it is a State institution; this was done in connection with the later application to the Carnegie Foundation under the new rules (Laws of Pa., 199, p. 924).

Now, gentlemen, this is pre-eminently a State Institution. It is an extension of the Public School System of Pennsylvania. Of the 2,500 who have now matriculated at Pennsylvania State College, less than 200 are from other States. As you all probably know, every boy in Pennsylvania, satisfying the requirements for entrance, goes there absolutely free. There is no tuition fund. It is duty of the State to take care of that institution. Most of you, no matter what is your pursuit in life, whether you are farmers, engineers, coming from the mining districts or from the city, know something about the work that State College is doing. To-day about 1,000 students are there studying agriculture. Gentlemen who belong to the State Grange, I call on you to support this, your institution. To-day we have the finest mining engineering school in this State and one of the finest in the United States. The work that is being done by that school is well known in all the mining communities of this State. State College is represented in every great industrial center in this Commonwealth. It is represented in every great industrial concern. It is represented in every part of this United States—I might say in this world,—from Panama to Nova Scotia, from New York to San Francisco, to Alaska, and the foreign ports of Europe, Asia and Africa. Now, gentlemen, are you going to treat this institution, this institution that is doing and will do the work that it will do, as you would treat some little picayune thing that is not worthy of your consideration. Now, gentlemen, I call on you to defeat any amendment which will be offered to reduce this appropriation. I call on you as citizens of this Great State to care for your young men and young women who are seeking to have an opportunity for an amount which they cannot receive at any other place, and, gentlemen, I call on you by all means to support this institution, no matter what may be your opinion of other institutions, or what may be your opinion of higher education.

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, during the past year or so, there has been a great deal of talk throughout the State about the extravagant way in which appropriations have been made to various institutions in the State. Now, Mr. Speaker, I think that I will be born out by every member in this House when I say that that extravagance was talked of only in relation to hospitals and similar institutions. The great hue and cry was against such institutions.

Now in regard to educational institutions, the large universities and State College, I do not think there was ever a word heard as to extravagant expenditures of money in those institutions. Mr. Speaker, I believe that they are in the public eye. The public eye is on those institutions and it would be impossible for extravagant expenditures of money to take place in such institutions without great indignation on the part of the public. That is one of the arguments brought forward by the people who wish to reduce this appropriation as a reason why it should be reduced.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the ideal situation described by the gentleman from Philadelphia in his argument last Thursday afternoon is truly enchanting, I might say, but we do not have such a situation in this Legislature will have to try to work out the details for such an ideal distribution of State money. As it is at present, we have these institutions and we must appropriate money for them.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Tioga has complained that the rural members cannot go back to their districts if they vote for increases in appropriations such as this. Now, Mr. Speaker, the State College is doing a great work in the agricultural section and I believe that if the gentleman from Tioga and other rural members would ever vote to reduce the appropriation to State College, that their constituents would have greater cause to complain about such an action than the rural members now have in regard to the matter spoken of by the gentleman from Tioga.

The University of Pittsburgh has a Board of Trustees who are very energetic. This Board of Trustees, in the building up of the University, have been working day and night. Their efforts have produced contributions of large sums of money, thousands and thousands of dollars, but still, gentlemen, the needs—I was going to say of the University, but I will not say of the University—the needs of the people of our section are so great that they must have a larger appropriation. The gentleman from Philadelphia hearkened very strongly on the fact that we claimed that it was the need of the institution that we should have a larger appropriation. The institution is merely the instrument by which the people get what is coming to them. Now it is the needs of the people in our county and in the western section of Pennsylvania. They demand this increase in the appropriation.

In the University of Pittsburgh we have departments for the training of superintendents and principals of schools; departments for training high school teachers; departments for training elementary supervisors, departments for training teachers of public schools; for training teachers in public school music, for training teachers in public school household economy, training teachers in nature study and gardening; training candidates for State and county examinations; departments for training teachers in playground supervision; training for sociological teaching; departments for training teachers of defectives and backward children and other courses offered at various schools throughout the State; a department of school visitation and inspection in operation. These are outside of the lines of the general university work, the lines along which great development will take place in the near future in the western part of Pennsylvania. We have many other branches which we need. We need them badly in the western part of Pennsylvania. Our million of population in Allegheny County needs them very badly. There are such departments as training of teachers, moral training, departments for training teachers in industrial education, training teachers in physical education, training school nurses and social workers, a department for training teachers in rural duties and supervisors, experimental school in all grades and observation and practice of teaching for special and defective children.

Now, gentlemen, our institution at Pittsburgh trains the teachers for our public schools, for high schools, our normal schools, our private schools. They train the men for the professions. It gives advanced courses to college graduates, and it has great work that it is now just entering upon, such as solving the problems of the people of our section, social and economical and industrial problems and educational problems. Our needs are great and are growing rapidly, and I think we could not possibly get along without this appropriation. By "we" I mean the people of Western Pennsylvania and not the institution.

Gentlemen, I ask you to vote "No" on this amendment.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, as all the bills which have been made a special order of business for to-night involve the same question, any remarks which I have to made apply equally to all. I am in hearty sympathy with the results sought to be obtained by the gentleman from Philadelphia in his amendment, but in the absence of any well formulated plan to correct the so-called abuses of the appropriations, I feel that the adoption of that amendment and similar amendments which he will offer will work infinitely more harm than the good that he seeks to accomplish. If higher education is a good thing, and surely that cannot be controverted, then it is the duty of this Commonwealth to take its institutions of learning under its fostering care and help them in every way possible. Without liberal State aid how can it be possible for these institutions to carry on the great work in which they have been engaged in the past, that of original research, that of developing the mind, that of teaching the young men and young women of this Commonwealth to conduct public business and engage in professional pursuits. It has been well said that "The hand that rocks the cradle shapes the destinies of the world;" but I say, Mr. Speaker, that the hand of liberal education, as evidenced by our school system and fortified and advanced by institutions of higher learning, mould the kind and character that that destiny will be. Is it fair for us to say, because some practical or theoretical mind has not yet developed the plan whereby the basis of the abuses can be corrected and guarded against in the future, that we shall take this method of cutting down appropriations, appropriations which mean that higher education can be brought home to the children of men in all walks of life, which without liberal State aid could not be obtained except by the children of the rich?

I for one, Mr. Speaker, shall vote against this amendment and every similar amendment offered to bills of like character.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, as has been pointed out, this discussion has not confined itself to the particular bill which is now before the House. It appears that all four bills have been under discussion. I have already heard certain gentlemen advocate both the needs and the propriety of the appropriation to the bill now before the House. I believe that the discussion is not one that opposes in any way the principle that the State should assist certain institutions of higher education. The amendment offered does not propose, in fact the sponsor of the bill directly disclaims any intention or desire whatever to hamper the efforts of these institutions in carrying on their work of higher education. Its sole purpose is to serve notice so that in the future this State may seize upon some system that will assure us in the future that only certain institutions will receive State aid, and he comes with the statement that we should have some plan by which all our institutions of education should receive the aid to which they are equally entitled. We should arrive at some conclusion as to the institutions that should receive State aid for the purpose of higher education. Now it strikes we that a very simple proposition would have enabled him to advise a plan. It is very easy to suggest that a plan might be formed but it is frequently very difficult to advocate and advance a plan that will receive general support. It would seem to me that there is no logical way of distributing State money for higher education. It is to select what we might consider the proper institutions to receive that money and in doing this I think it is proper for the State not to attempt to build up new institutions but to accept the institutions already in existence. I feel, too, that the State should consider the geographical location of those institutions and should in selecting the institutions select the largest, oldest and best institutions that are so geographically arranged as to make their location proper. I, therefore, would advocate a plan of this sort: In the eastern part of the State of Pennsylvania we should select the University of Pennsylvania. It has for years been the recipient of State aid and has been closely connected with the State Government. Its original charter provided that the Trustees should consist of the Speaker of this House, the Chairman of the Executive Council and certain judges of the courts. Its final charter in 1791 provided that the Governor of this Commonwealth should be the Chairman of the Board of Trustees. It further provided that the institution should lay before this Legislature annually a statement of the funds and their expenditures. There is a direct connection between the University of Pennsylvania, and this State and there always has been since the original organization of that institution. Furthermore, the University of of Pennsylvania is the oldest institution of higher education in the Commonwealth. It is an institution that I believe every man in this Commonwealth should be proud to claim as a Pennsylvania institution. I feel, gentlemen, that in selecting institutions, if we admit that we cannot appropriate money for them all and take care of them all, no matter how worthy their purposes, no matter how worthy their work that we should arbitrarily select three institutions of this Commonwealth and select those three based upon their geographical location, based upon the character of the work done in the past, and upon the character of the institution. I therefore feel, gentlemen, that we can properly advocate as a plan on the assumption of the State's responsibility for higher education, that we could properly adopt a plan, and I would therefore suggest for the consideration of this House a plan which the gentleman from Philadelphia, who offered this amendment, appears to think is absolutely necessary before we appropriate any money, and this plan should be to confine our appropriations to the three institutions, the University of Pennsylvania in the east, State College in the center, and the University of Pittsburgh in the western part of the State.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, in justice to those vitally interested in this question, and for the information of the members of the House, I believe you, Mr. Speaker, ought to inform the members of the House that they are now about to vote upon the amendment offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia and not on the amount of money recommended by the Appropriations Committee to be appropriated to this particular university.

The SPEAKER. The question will be clearly stated before the vote is taken.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I think that each and every man in this House is willing to consider that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, is a man of splendid intellect. He is a man you have all watched on the floor of this House this session, and those of us who were here last session watched him, and we have always listened with rapt attention to all of his suggestions, and I want to call the attention of the Chair to the fact that although the gentleman from Philadelphia has been a member of this House for some four or five sessions, and although those appropriation bills for universities and institutions for higher learning have been coming up for State aid, he has never formulated any plan whereby the State might establish some well settled policy in regard to selecting these institutions, and I think, Mr. Speaker, it would be a calamity at this time to say that the only way that we can bring this to the attention of the people of Pennsylvania is to cut ruthlessly down some appropriation to some college. We cannot afford to hold any institution of higher learning in this State back for two years. If you are going at some time to establish some settled policy in regard to the disbursing of State aid to institutions, you first establish that policy before you make any university suffer, because I would regard it as a pity if any institution of higher learning in this State would have to wait for two years with a reduced appropriation before some well settled policy were determined upon. Moreover, Mr. Speaker, I do not consider there are any geographical lines in the empire of the brain, and I do not care whether this Legislature helps an institution on the northern tier or whether you help a university in the western part of this State. Every boy you educate within our borders brings that much more renown to the glory of Pennsylvania. And, Mr. Speaker, I do not consider this purely a sentimental question. I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that during this session we have passed the taxation bills which will increase the revenues of this State between six and seven millions of dollars a year. I wish also to call the attention of the House to the fact that in the fiscal year of 1911 this State collected on capital stock tax about $11,519,000 and on corporate loans only $2,079,000.00, and instead of our collecting five times more on capital stock we should, with the legislation we have put through this session, collect almost three times more of a corporate loan tax. Mr. Speaker, this State can well afford to help these institutions and I consider it a duty as solemn as any duty we are called upon to discharge that we help these State institutions, and, Mr. Speaker, I desire further to call the attention of this House of 1913 to the fact that in 1791 the Legislature of Pensuylvania passed an act whereby the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania would report to the Legislature the status of the institution. I desire to say that between the University of Pennsylvania and the Commonwealth of Pensylvania there exists a tie that this Legislature cannot break and there exists an obligation we cannot reduce to the extent of one penny, and I consider that in this sublime connection of the University of Pennsylvania with the State there is also the collateral and equally important obligation of helping the university in the western part of the State, because in the building up of an institution of the character of this institution we are building up and perpetuating the highest ideals of our State. And, therefore, Mr. Speaker, at this time I ask this House, with the increased revenues that will come pouring into the Treasury of the Commonwealth, not to hold any institution of higher learning, big or little, from receiving this State aid upon which it so much depends at this time. But let us, and let the brilliant gentleman from Philadelphia, conceive some well settled policy to enable us to give this aid and not to hold back any aid from any institution of learning to which we and every one of us are solemnly bound to help.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I only rise to answer that particular phase of the argument made against this appropriation, or in other words, not in favor of this amendment as proposed by the gentleman from Tioga. He calls especial attention to the fact that the Appropriation Committee in his judgment has not granted to the road branch of the proposition presented to this legislation annually that appropriation as fairly as it should have done. It is true that back I believe in 1909 there was a statute passed which provided that the State should assist in maintaining the public roads in this State to the extent of one-half the amount required in each district for the support of what is known as the dirt roads. But at the same time that act stated that in no instance should the amount be over twenty dollars per mile. Now, the gentleman from Tioga seems to think that this amendment should prevail, in the absence of the Appropriation Committee whose report will probably be followed by the House or at least it has a great deal of force, that we should break away from the suggestion of the Appropriation Committee in so far as these institutions of higher learning are concerned and cut down the amount provided by the Appropriations Committee. If that be true that the Appropriations Committee had not considered well and provided for the road side of this proposition, I would agree with the gentleman from Tioga, but I think it is only fair that we should state to the House that the Appropriations Committee in this very bill has provided for road purposes over or about eight millions and a half of dollars; $8.500.000 are provided in this General Appropriation Bill for road purposes as will appear from the report of the Appropriations Committee for the support of public highways. Now, if the House followed the Appropriations Committee's recommendation in so far as the public roads question is concerned, we will provide more liberally for the public road proposition than we ever have in the history of the State, and we will not only have carried out the thought of the gentleman from Tioga but we will have exceeded it by three or four millions, so I hope that the rural members of this House will not be influenced by that argument, because if the Appropriations Committee has provided eight millions and a half of dollars, it would be fifty per cent. more than any other committee has ever provided for public roads, and then can the rural members of this House go back to their constituencies and say that they not only have stood by that and by the committee in the appropriations for public highways, but that they also stood for what they believed was right.

And in speaking I want to add just one other point in regard to a proposition as to this appropriation for the Pittsburgh institution. The University of Pennsylvania is a State college, and I want to impress upon the members of this House that if there as any institution of learning that has asked for assistance and receives it that you also give the Temple College every dollar that it asks for, for it is one of the institutions of higher learning that helps those who help themselves; it is one of those institutions where the boy goes in and is admitted and receives an education who makes his living in day time and gets his education in the night. I hope the House will agree with me in the assertion that if there is any one of these institutions that should receive State help, the Temple College is one to which anything that may be said of the others applies with equal force, and I hope you will oppose all amendments that have been offered to these appropriations to these four institutions, knowing that we have provided for the highway proposition more liberally than any Legislature that has preceded this one and that we are in need of higher educational institutions and I hope and will repeat that all the amendments will be defeated and that the House will support these bills as they are recommended by the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, just a word in reply to some of the remarks made by two of the gentlemen from Philadelphia. They are both of them members of the legal profession and we gentlemen of that profession and some of you who have listened to their arguments know how they do: They try to befog the jury. They have tried to befog this issue and they have tried to make you believe that we are trying to cut down the appropriations of these institutions. We are not doing that; we are perfectly willing to allow the appropriation to stand as they have been before and we are willing to vote for an appropriation of the same amount to these institutions as they have been getting in past years but the proposition now before the House is to increase them; one of them, the Pennsylvania University, involves an increase of an amount of over a half a million dollars and this one, the amendment which is now absolutely before us, as I understand it, the increase is two hundred thousand dollars and there are several others which would, in these several bills, run upwards of several million dollars. We are not trying to cut down but we are trying to keep them where they have been and we are opposed to this unreasonable increase. In reply to the gentleman from Delaware it is true that the request of the Highway Department for all of its demands is somewhere in the neighborhood of eight million of dollars, but I don't understand that this has been approved by the Appropriation Committee. On the other hand we are given to understand that these amounts will be cut considerably and even if they are not, it does not provide for an absolute bona fide contract on the part of this General Assembly to pay back to the rural district township road proposition the amount that they should have. The act passed by the Session of 1909 and again approved by the Session of 1911 we understand the State owes the township districts two and a half million dollars and the Appropriation Committee would not approve but one million of it. Just one other item which has been called to my attention: If the amount given or recommended to the University of Pennsylvania which is one and a half million dollars goes through you are giving that one institution alone one-fortieth of all the estimated revenue of the State for two years and you are giving to that institution one-tenth of the whole amount appropriated to the public school system of this great Commonwealth. It seems to me that the appropriation over which the State has absolutely no control in any shape or form should be considered together with the fact that in the University of Pennsylvania it costs the student more than in several other institutions and colleges like those I have already mentioned. Such as Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall, Gettysburg, and some of the others. It seems to me that it is right that this amendment should be supported and admitted into this bill.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. Speaker, I did not intend saying anything until such time as the institution in which, as a Philadelphian first and as a Pennsylvanian second, I was interested in. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, probably there is no man on the floor of this House who recognizes the loss of a college education the same as myself. The lines of my life were so marked that in order that I might gain that education it was necessary for me to work during the day and study at night and I realize that loss of preparatory education, and when an institution is attacked that is doing so much good as the University of the State of Pennsylvania, I feel that the words coming from one who recognizes the loss or the benefit of that education will carry perhaps more weight than the words that fall from the lips of a man whose lines have been cast along easier lines. The University of the State of Pennsylvania is a Pennsylvania institution. It is so by an Act of Assembly in 1779. After the Revolutionary period the original charter granted allied the institution too closely with the mother country and consequently they made efforts to sever her ties. It was then called the University of the State. In 1791, an Act of Assembly amalgamating the university and the academy was passed making it the University of the State of Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania has adopted this institution. It is the institution of the State and I submit that it don't come with a ring of patriotism when an institution of this kind is attacked because it is a well known fact that the sun never sets upon the sons of Pennsylvania. They are in all parts of the world; wherever they carry the banner of a diploma granted by the University of Pennsylvania, they pay tribute to the educational power of our State and I ask the members of this Assembly to vote down any amendments that will interfere with the granting of an appropriation sufficient to enable poor boys of this State to get the education that they are deserving of.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I merely want to call attention to one fact. The gentleman from Tioga has referred to the appropriation of the University of Pennsylvania as amounting to only five hundred thousand dollars. I would like to bring the attention of the House to the fact that five hundred thousand dollars of this sum is not questioned by the gentleman who introduced the amendment because of the fact that this sum is appropriated exclusively for the use of the University Hospital. The University Hospital received a certain sum two years ago and undertook a certain work. More than that amount is now contributed by private contributions. The State makes a further contribution for the same purpose and also a further contribution for the maintenance of the hospital. There is no one in this House who has raised any objection whatever to that portion of the contribution and the actual amount contributed for educational purposes, under the maintenance of the institution, the amount at this time is seven hundred thousand dollars. But two years ago the amount appropriated was five hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars. The increase asked for is something over a hundred thousand dollars. Its expenses have exceeded its income to that extent. It has been necessary to make it up by private contributions. The University of Pennsylvania occupies a position second to no other educational institution. It ranks with the biggest and oldest educational centers of the United States. It ranks with educational institutions that have a tremendous endowment fund, and unless the State of Pennsylvania assists the University of Pennsylvania in securing funds, they must rely upon private contributions. Unless help is secured from the State for its expenses the only relief will be from private contributions, I believe that the State has a responsibility and that the citizens of this community should assist its higher educational institutions. It has a rightful claim upon the State and has the right to look for support from the State, when not able to secure sufficient to maintain the expenses through private assistance.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this debate has proved conclusively what I said in opening, that the whole question of appropriation for higher education is based upon the separate needs of separate institutions. We have had very little here about the broad principle of what the State ought to do for higher education. We have had an enormous amount of talk about the specific needs of each institution. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney, were to a certain extent personal to me. I feel that I should say one or two words in regard to that portion of his remarks. He threw out the suggestion why in my former service in this body, I didn't take the same position I have taken to-night. The truth is, Mr. Speaker, I have watched this abuse grow session after session until finally I have reached the point when I feel that it is necessary to call attention to what I believe is an abuse. When I first came here in 1907, the annual appropriation to the University of Pennsylvania was comparatively small outside of the hospital, almost nothing, and gradually it has grown until now it jumps, for maintenance alone, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. When I first came here Temple University made no request for an appropriation at all but lately session after session these new institutions have crept in until the abuse has gotten so large that I felt it my duty to call the attention of the House and through the House the attention of the State to the growing nature of this abuse. It is not a grateful thing for me to do at all and in my early career I was checked not only by the natural diffidence of a new member but by the same arguments that have been used to dull the sensibilities of the members of this House to-night. I suppose a new member who comes here for the first time and listens to these arguments has a different impression from those that have been here session after session and have seen this abuse growing. It has been suggested that I ought to lay down as specific policy for you. I have pointed out to you various points of view as represented first by the gentlemen from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney and Mr. Walnut. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney, says: "I will offer you a specific policy," and says let us take three institutions in various points of the State. In other words these two gentlemen are at odds, as to what that policy ought to be. Mr. Walnut has another proposition which totally excludes Temple University and brings the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin, to protest against that and if the policy were adopted for those three would probably cut out the rest of them. We are not prepared here to-night to lay down any definite policy. No definite policy can be laid down until the responsible educators in this State may get together and discuss this question from every point; not until the responsible leaders of the State get together and settle the whole proposition and even then it would be an extremely difficult thing, too, because of the special interests of the various institutions that will be interested in the decisions.

They all must be supported by the State definitely. From some of the speeches made to-night, I think that one listening here would be led to believe that I was trying to defeat all the appropriations for all the institutions. Now, of course, the gentlemen who have listened to-night realize what has been said thoroughly and understand that I am not trying to cut down appropriations. I am only trying to hold them down. Now, somehow or other, some of these institutions have struggled along in the past with the amounts which were given to them two years ago, and the amounts which they got two years ago were in almost every instance more than they received two years before that, sometimes greatly more. Now, I think and I admit that there will be some lack of expansion and same hardship in making amendments to the bill. I think that that awakening which will follow will be sufficient to set in motion the force which will bring us to our longed-for policy, and that from that time on the State funds will flow in increasing amounts but will flow in properly directed channels so that in the end they will vastly improve the higher course of higher education in the State. Let me venture a single prophecy. If these amendments are defeated and the bills are passed in the form in which they are now before you, the various institutions will relapse in their present complacency, will expect to come here all of them and get inincreased appropriations, and all of the other colleges in the State which now get not appropriations will be encouraged to come here and ask for appropriations, and it will be almost impossible logically to turn them down. The result will be that next session the State will appropriate $500,000 to $1,000,000 more in the name of heterogeneous and chaotic way and the same defects will simply be amplified and nothing will be done.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, while this debate has drawn out to same considerable length and all of the institutions have been brought into play in the matter, I desire to say just a word and only a word at this time, having covered the matter thoroughly as I saw it on last Thursday. I believe that the time has come when Pennsylvania appreciates what higher education means. I believe that that sentiment is growing and the needs and demands for higher education are increasing every day. It is no line of action for this House to suggest that a year ago the appropriations to institutions of learning were a certain figure and consequently they ought to be no more to-day. It is no argument in favor of these amendments and against the bills to say that ten years ago the amounts were small. At the same time that those amounts were small, Mr. Speaker, the demands for higher education were comparatively small as compared to what they are now. By these appropriations I believe Pennsylvania is seeking to keep pace with the demands that she appreciates, the fact that in educational work she does not occupy the proud place that she should in the galaxy of States in the educational line. It is not all the boys who demand and need and require a higher education, nor it is not within the reach of all the girls who need and require higher education that they shall be able to attend schools where the fees are so high as that their students are of a class which stands high in the financial world. By assisting, as this State is called to do in these appropriations, they are thereby increasing the opportunity to a vast army to enter these institutions which would otherwise be closed to them. If I, Mr. Speaker, were to answer the things suggested by the gentleman from Philadelphia who last spoke, Mr. S. B. Scott, as to what the policy of the State should be in matters of this kind, I should say and I now give him a suggestion which he may work out in future, to do all that we can and contribute just as many millions as can possibly be contributed for this particular line of work, and thereby the standard of Pennsylvania will be increased accordingly.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Burnett, C. A. Shaffer, W. F. Blair, Klepper, Sassaman, E. G. M. Kuhns, H. L. Perry, Rothenberger, Cochran, Moses, Keeport, Richards, Trach, Brownlee, Currier, Moulthrop, Carter, O'Neill, E. E. Jones, Wildman, Lenker, Martin and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. S. B. SCOTT and Mr. ROCKWSLL, and were as follows:

Speaker.

So the question was determined in the negative, and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 2 That the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of the University of Pittsburgh for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen for the construction of such buildings as the trustees may deem best for the interests of the University

On the question,

Will the Honse agree to the section?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 2 Amend by striking out the entire section

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was not agreed to.

The section was then agreed to.

The title of the bill was then read and agreed to as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of the University of Pittsburgh for the general maintenance of the University the purchase of equipment and the construction of buildings

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read, as follows:

Senate Bill No. 1461:

An Act to provide for deficiencies in appropriations made by the General Appropriation Act approved the fourteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven for salaries of the officers and other expenses of the Senate and House of Representatives for the Legislative session of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen also for the Department of Public Printing and Binding

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 676, entitled:

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of three hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars ($355,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of Temple University for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen the said amount to be applied as follows

For the general maintenance of the university and the purchase of apparatus and equipment as the trustees may deem best for the interests of Temple University the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000)

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

House Bill 676 File Folio 10173

Amend Section 1 in lines 4 and 5 by striking out the words "three hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars ($355,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "two hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars ($265,000)" and in lines 12 and 13 by striking out the words "one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, of course I do not desire to prolong the debate, but each of these amendments needs its own explanation. The affect of these amendments will be to reduce the general maintenance appropriation of the University to exactly what it was last year, namely, $100,000.00, and the building appropriation to what it was, namely, $110,000.00. and in no way to affect the appropriation to the hospitals which are associated with the Temple University.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, to my mind this is one of the most worthy institutions in our State. It is commonly known as the poor man's college. The President of this college, Russell H. Conwell, has given his entire earnings to this institution and to-day, if he should pass away, would be a penniless man. I ask the members of this House to vote down these amendments and pass the bill as it stands on the calendar.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the reason that I opposed this appropriation at this time and all other State and educational institutions when the appropriations for such institutions in Philadelphia come up for consideration before this House is that the money appropriated by this Commonwealth for such institutions is not being properly expended to increase the efficiency of such institutions so that they can compete with the world. Administration of that city does not place much confidence in the ability of those who graduate from such institutions, and therefore fail to appreciate the assistance the State gives to the Pennsylvania boy.

I was always of the opinion that the educational institutions in Pennsylvania could compete with the world, and the Pennsylvania boy after graduating from those institutions was the best in the world, and could fill with credit to himself and the State any position which he was called upon to fill and I have always saw him make good when the opportunity was offered. If the present administration in appointing the various heads of the departments men who are not residents of the State of Pennsylvania for the reason that these institutions do not turn out men who are capable of filling the various positions then the institutions should receive no State assistance because they are not up to date. If, on the other hand, if these institutions can produce such men then the administration in the City of Philadelphia is insulting the intelligence of the State and her boys without a protest from the officials of these institutions in selection of these various department heads from other States.

The folly of appropriating millions of State funds for the support of universities, technical schools and colleges becomes apparent when you reflect upon the fact that the authorities of the City of Philadelphia find it necessary to go abroad for technical experts for the several departments of the city in spite of the fact that Philadelphia is the home of at least one of the great engineering schools of the country; for instance, Ford, Bacon and Davis, of New York, are employed at a cost of something like sixty thousand dollars ($60,000.00) yearly for a certain line of work.

Mr. Mitchell, Chief Clerk of the Civil Service Board, comes from New Jersey.

A. M. Swanson, the Chief Examiner of the Civil Service Board, comes from Kansas City, Missouri.

Hollis Godfrey, of the Bureau of Gas, from Medford, Massachusetts.

William D. Uhler, of the Bureau of Highways, Baltimore, Md.

James B. McCord, of the Bureau of Highways, New York.

S. Edmond Trout, Special Inspector, Department of Public Works, I am advised, lives in Atlantic City.

James Reed, Jr., Assistant Director, Department of Public Works, hails from Ohio.

While Captain Ray, who appears to have a roving commission, hails from nowhere.

I am informed that this is only a partial list of foreigners who have been brought to this city, but they occupy the best paying positions which have been filled within the recent past.

Mr. Cook, Director of Public Works, buys additional help from other cities outside of the State of Pennsylvania. There was a financial rumor a short time ago in the city that the United Gas Improvement Campany had made certain tenders to the Philadelphia Electric Company—

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of information.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if the gentleman is talking on this bill on the calendar or talking on some civil service bill?

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I am talking about the bill on the calendar, for the purpose of showing that the people of Philadelphia don't appreciate the money appropriated by the State for those institutions down there when they deliberately ignore the men who can fill those positions who graduate from those institutions, but go into other States and select men for the heads of bureaus there. That is my purpose.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is scarcely able to see the connection and would call the attention of the gentleman to the fact that the evening is rapidly passing.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I only suggest, in opposing the appropriation that something should be added to every one of these appropriations, where a city or county official ignores these institutions in appointing these various heads of the bureaus.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the gentleman have the privilege to have his communication printed.

The SPEAKER. That is not a question of personal privilege.

The gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. J. A. Dunn), will conclude.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I only want to state my purpose. I am not opposing any appropriation that will increase the efficiency of any institution of learning in our State. Far from it. But I think where millions of dollars go into a city or into a county to educate Pennsylvania boys the provisions should be in each appropriation bill that where it is possible that those graduated from these colleges can fill these positions and they should be given them. It would be false and unfaithful to those various cities and counties to take the State's money and spend it for heads of departments from out the State to learn us how to conduct the business. That is my purpose, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, any man who lives in Philadelphia—I will almost say in the State of Pennsylvania—that has got the brains of an ape knows what these institutions are and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I would call for the previous question.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

The second, third, fourth and fifth sections and title were then separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 That the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of Temple University for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen for the erection of a building for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Teachers' College

Section 3 That the sum of seventy thousand dollars ($70,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of Temple University for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen towards the maintenance of the Samaritan Hospital

That the sum of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to said trustees for the completion and extension of buildings of the Samaritan Hospital

Section 4 That the sum of twenty-three thousand dollars ($23,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the trustees of Temple University for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen towards the maintenance of the Garretson Hospital

That the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to said trustees for improvements of the Garretson Hospital

An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of Temple University.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

SPECIAL ORDER.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speakear, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1 in lines 23 and 24 by striking out the words "three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000)," and inserting in lieu thereof the words "two hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars (225,000;" also in lines 33 and 34 by striking out the words "six hundred and five thousand dollars, ($605,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "three hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($350,000);" also amend by striking out lines 35 to 39 inclusive.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendments?
They were not agreed to.
The section was then agreed to.
The title was then read and agreed to as follows:

A further supplement to an act entitled "An Act to accept the grant of public lands by the United States for the endowment of agricultural colleges" approved April first one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three and making appropriations for carrying the same into effect

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment to the section:

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment a sfollows:

Amend section 1, lines 18 and 19 on file folio 10325, by striking out the words "one million five hundred thousand dollars, ($1,500,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "one million and twenty-five thousand dollars, ($1,025,000);" also, in lines 27 and 28, by striking out the words "seven hundred thousand dollars, ($700,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars, ($525,000);" also, in lines 32 and 33 by striking out the words "twenty thousand dollars, ($20,000)" and inserting to lieu thereof the words "ten thonsand dollars, (10,000);" also, by striking out lines 34 to 40 inclusive.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the effect of this amendment is to leave entirely untouched the appropriations to the various medical hospitals. The appropriations to the latter, I believe, are largely increased. It also eliminated the appropriation of $250,000.00 for a State Hall or administration building, and reduces the appropriation for general maintenance to the same as that appropriated in the last session.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was not agreed to.

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer an amendment to this section.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1 by adding after line 57 the following: "Provided, That before any monies shall be paid under this act a complete scholarship in a complete course of study of not less than three years duration shall be awarded by said University to each member of the House of Representatives each year during which this appropriation is made to said University."

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, in defending the proposed amendment I shall summarize the political game played during this session. After a struggle of more than five months we are about to conclude our services to the people of this State as a party to the greatest political scheme ever conceived in this State. Ninety per cent. of the members of the House were elected upon party platforms pledged to enact specific legislation and so far as a majority of the members have fulfilled every party pledge and in return for their labor and sincerity the members have been humiliated by the most brazen "Administration Controlled State Senate ever entrusted with power in this Commonwealth.

The attitude of the House in behalf of legislation for the welfare of the State and humane rights has been in good faith, but this sincerity on the part of the members has been capitalized for politics aimed to inure to the benefit of the present administration and not for the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania.

When the progressive legislation was pending in the House the administration forces played the role of progressives and assisted to whip through the House legislation prepared by the Republican Legislative Committee and then immediately began a system of mutilation of such legislation in the Senate.

The whole scheme has been purely a political plot laid for the sole purpose of robbing the people "back home" and protect the present political combine which has so long misrepresented this great Commonwealth.

Every progressive measure passed by the House and sent over to the Senate was safely entrusted to committees controlled by the intimate friends of the administration which for many long weeks held them entombed in committee and when finally resurrected by the force of publicity came forth mutilated beyond recognition after the arrival of the Senior United States Senator of this State several days ago.

For the administration or the Senior U. S. Senator to assume the position as favoring progressive legislation is a "monumental farce" in the face of the prevailing facts of which every member is familiar. There has never been a moment during the present session of the Senate when it was impossible for the administration or the Senior U. S. Senator to crack the whip over in the Senate and bring forth any legislation desired and the farcical position of the Senior U. S. Senator of this State going about now and advocating progressive legislation under such circumstances is an insult upon our intelligent citizenship and should be resented by every patriotic citizen.

A representative who cannot see into this political plot is most dense or extremely partisan and the facts stated are notoriously a part of the legislative conversation indulged in by certain members on both sides of this Legislature and subscribed too with some satisfaction by the friends of the administration.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the remarks of the gentleman are entirely out of order.

The SPEAKER. It would appear to the Chair that there is no doubt whatever that the remarks of the gentleman have no bearing upon the amendment under discussion and the point of order is sustained.

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, the remarks I have just made are but a preface to my remarks in defense of this amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed in order.

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, the whole blame session of the Senate, so far as serving a constituency has been a huge joke which the members of this House and at the close of this session there is pending legislation involving millions of dollars for divers institutions which we are expected to pass by lending our voice to the tune of the "barbershop chord."

During the session numerous hearings were held before the several committees of this House involving legislation of minor concern to the State at large and if perchance some member should humbly protest against the reckless appropriation provided in some bill for an institution which the sponsor of the bill never visited, the administration frown is cast upon this House in a most peculiar and threatening manner.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman's remarks are out of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery is not proceeding in order. The remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery have no bearing upon his amendment that the Chair is able to perceive. The point of order as raised by the gentleman from Dauphin and the Chair cannot do otherwise than sustain it.

Mr. BERGEY. Mr. Speaker, if permitted, I will proceed in order.

Year after year this State has poured into the coffers of educational institutions of a partisan and sectarian character with clock-like regularity millions of dollars taken from the State Treasury with practicallly no accounting to the State for the huge sums appropriated and when it is proposed that the greatest beneficiary of the State Exchequer shall educate at least two hundred young men selected by the members of this House a protest is at once raised by the friends of such institution.

The appropriations passed and pending amount to more than twenty-five millions of dollars, the greater portion of which is given absolutely to semi-private institutions over which the State has no administrative voice, while the State's own charitable institutions suffer for want of sufficient funds and inmates are herded together like cattle.

Mr. Speaker, from the latter institutions the members of this House have been free from lobby influence, but sir, if we could read the burning thoughts of the State's unfortunate inmates and experience the toll they must pay as a result of their infirmities we would cry unto Heaven for mercy.

Mr. Speaker, from the beginning of the session the trustees of several semi-private institutions have maintained their legislative lobby in behalf of bills introduced by influential members to which the members are expected to subscribe with haronious chord during the closing hours of this session while seventy-five per cent. off the members are forced to abide in the Capital City at a financial loss to themselves, but, sir, poor as I am, my poverty will not blind me to support the present system of reckless expenditures without my humble protest.

This practice of delaying appropriation bills until the closing days of the session is a part of the shrewd political practice indulged in for ulterior purposes and it is evident to every member that bills covering appropriations are intentionally harbored in the committee until such time when it is safe to bring them out into the light—after every member has become weary of his legislative job and blind to the contents of bills on his calendar. It matters little to some of the members whether the State appropriates one cent to semi-private educational institutions and if the present appropriation system created by a former political leader were abolished the entire State would soon become free from the notorious log-rolling business and members elected to the legislature could serve the people as free agents when legislation is pnding for the welfare of men, women and children who are crying for relief.

Mr. Speaker, it is more honorable for the members to vote in favor of the amendments proposed than it is to vote in favor of the bill appropriating one million and a half to an institution and permit the present practice of "courticies" extended to the members of the Senate without a warrant of law.

The State is to-day appropriating more money to semi-private educational institutions than it gives to the public schools and if the State would abolish its appropriations to semi-private institutions and give a like amount for higher education to our public schools there would be little need for the millions now paid into the coffers off private colleges of a partisan and sectarian character which are in many cases conducted for profit.

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen, this humble protest may have no effect upon the proposed amendment, but some day it will be unnecessary for any member to demand direct recognition in behalf of the State for the money given to private institutions, when the people will rise en-mass and elect a governor brave and big enough to annihilate this practice of paying millions annually into private treasuries from the funds of the State into private treasuries over which it has no jurisdiction.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendemnt?

It was not agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the trustees of the University of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

APPROPRIATIONS BILLS MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the motion as follows:

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

The SPEAKER. House Bill No. 999, has been made a special order on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. Bill No. 999, entitled

An Act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm Chester county Pennsylvania

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was up on third reading a week or so ago, myself and other members of the House asked the sponsor of the bill for postponement so that we might get further information concerning it, inasmuch as the appropriation was forty thousand dollars for this year and the appropriation last session was but ten thousand dollars. This request was denied us. I don't think so much by the gentleman from Chester, who was the sponsor of the bill, as it was by some of the gentlemen who advised him. The bill was defeated and then we moved to reconsider and after it was reconsidered it was placed upon the postponed calendar. At that time, those of us who made that request, did so in good fatih that we might get information. At the present time we have that information. I have a letter from Mrs. Agnes P. R. Groome, who is one of the members of the Board; I have a letter from Mr. Montgomery, a member of the Philadelphia Bar, who is on the Board; and a letter, also, from Mr. Charles L. Lee, who is Vive-President and Chairman of the Building Committee of this institution and also a member of the Board and as all these letters seem to indicate this Hospital is asking for an increase of thirty thousand dollars—twenty-five thousand dollars of which they are asking is for the aid of putting up the building which was burned down, and five thousand dollars they are asking in the increase is for the maintenance. I don't know that I can do better than read briefly a letter that was written to me by Mr. Lee which is as follows:

Philadelphia, June 2, 1913.

Hon. John R. K. Scott,
Morris Building,
Philadelphia.

My dear Mr. Scott:

The enclosed printed statement very briefly sets forth the purpose and necessities of a very helpless class of our community—the epileptic poor—for whom the Pennsylvania Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm is seeking State assistance.

Through private channels we have secured somewhat over $25,000 toward the cost of new buildings and alterations. This will in part pay existing contracts for construction under way amounting to over $34,000. In addition experience has shown the necessity of providing a fire controlling service, which we are now installing at a cost of $5,000. The Children's Cottage was recently destroyed by fire. Upon this we collected insurance in the sum of $20,000. The increase in building costs and improvements demonstrated necessary by experience will require that we spend about $10,000 in excess of the insurance in order to take proper care of the children.

We urgently need an Infirmary Building to care for the very sick among our patients, to be provided with the apparatus now in use in all well equipped epileptic institutions. This our architects inform us will cost about $12,500.

The urgent building reqnorements therefore call for $81,500. Against this we have raised about $25,000 through private appeal and from the fire insurance $20,000, totaling $45,000, and leaving a deficit of $36,500.

Against this we ask that the State aid us in the sum of $25,000, and that we be granted help towards maintenance to the extent of $7,500 annually. Our patients come from the poor and helpless and this assistance is urgently required.

The institution is of Philadelphia origin—it is supported by and under the control of Philadelphians—but the scope of its charity is statewide.

I hope indeed that our appeal may receive the assistance and benefit of your support.

With sincere respect, believe me,

Very truly yours,

CHRLES M. LEA,
Vice-President and Chairman Building Committee.

These letters coming as they do from reputable people have convinced me, and so far as my vote is concerned. I will vote for this appropriation and take the privilege of placing these letters on record as my reasons for voting aye.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

THE FOLLOWING LETTERS EMBODIED AS MR. JOHN R. K. SCOTT'S REASONS FOR VOTE.

Hon. John R. K. Scott,
Morris Building,
Philadelphia.

My dear Mr. Scott.

The enclosed printed statement very briefly sets forth the purpose and necessities of a very helpless class of our community—the epileptic poor— for whom the Pennsylvania Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm is seeking State assistance.

Through private channels we have secured somewhat over $25,000 toward the cost of new buildings and alterations. This will in part pay existing contracts for construction under way amounting to over $34,000. In addition experience has shown the necessity of providing a fire controlling service, which we are now installing at a cost of $5,000. The Children's Cottage was recently destroyed by fire. Upon this we collected insurance in the sum of $20,000. The increase in building costs and improvements demonstrated necessary by experience will require that we spend about $10,000 in excess of the insurance on order to take proper care of the children.

We urgently need an Infirmary Building to care for the very sick among our patients, to be provided with the apparatus now in use in all well equipped epileptic institutions. This our architects inform us will cost about $12,500.

The urgent building requirement therefore call for $81,500. Against this we have raised about $25,000 through private appeal and from the fire insurance $20,000, totalling $45,000, and leaving a deficit of $36,500.

Against this we ask that the State aid us in the sum of $25,000 and that we be granted help towards maintenance to the extent of $7,500 annually. Our patients come from the poor and helpless and this assistance is urgently required.

The institution is of Philadelphia origin—it is supported by and under the control of Philadelphians—but the scope of its charity is state-wide.

I hope indeed that our appeal may recieve the assistance and benefit of your support.

With sincere respect, believe me,

Very truly yours,

CHARLES M. LEA,
Vice-President and Chairman Building Committee.

THE PENNSYLVANIA EPILEPTIC HOSPITAL AND COLONY FARM.

Oakbourne, Chester Co., Penna.

Dear Sir No class of sufferers command the general sympathy of the public more profoundly than the epileptic poor and for no portion of our helpless community have the charitably disposed done so little.

The chronic nature of epilepsy and its resistance to active medical treatment close to its victims the doors of general hospitals and there remains to them as a refuge only the asylum for the insane or the county poorhouse.

Of epileptics, a very large proportion come from the poorer classes, little able to support perpetually unproductive members, and the lives of these helpless defectives are the embodiment. of distress.

Much can be done through prolonged hygiene treatment to assist this class toward a more normal condition, and to this end nearly every State but our own has provided suitable institutions. In Pennsylvania the epileptics number more than ten thousand, and the pressure for entrance at the "Pennsylvania Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm" is increasingly imperative.

To meet these conditions the Trustees of that institution planned, and have under way, improvements and extensions calling for the expenditure of somewhat more than $50,000. Of this sum $30,000 have been contributed, and toward the balance we seek the practical expression of your assistance.

Checks should be drawn to the order of the Fidelity Trust Company, Treasurer, and mailed to Dr. Francis W. Sinkler, Secretary, No. 1606 Walnut Street, Philadelphia.

With the hope that the claim of this helpless class of defectives may appeal to you, we beg to remain,

Very truly yours,

SAMUEL W. MORTON, M. D., President,
CHARLES M. LEA, Vice-President.
FRANCIS W. SINKLER, M. D., Secretary.

Rosemont, Penna.

Phone, West Ches. 177X.

My dear Mr. Scott:

The Penna. Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm is greatly in need of an increased appropriation. The Children's Cottage burnt down last winter, it was only partly covered by insurance. An appeal was made for the balance of the amount but enough money was not collected to rebuild it.

A water tower is needed and the Hospital is entirely inadequate to accommodate those applying for admission. The constant demands upon the Hospital can be met with more money for maintenance. I do hope you will be able to help us secure the increased appropriation.

Very truly yours,

AGNES P. R. GROOME.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 5, 1913.

Hon. John R. K. Scott, care of House of Representatives.

Dear Mr. Scott:—I am told that you are seeking information in regard to the Pennsylvania Epileptic Hospital and Colony Farm, of whose Board of Managers I am a member I do not know just what information has already been given you, but at the risk of repeating what some one else has given you, I beg to call your attention to the following facts:

This is the only institution in the State solely for epileptics. Experience has shown that the proper segragation of this class of patients is of great importance to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It has been our practice to receive only residents of Pennsylvania as patients. It is not a church institution, and is absoluetely non-sectarian. It has been in existence for sixteen years, and has, I think, proved its value to the community.

Our property consists of 132 acres of land, and twelve buildings of various kinds and for various purposes. New buildings are now under construction and nearing copletion, to take the place of certain buildings destroyed by fire, as well as to provide for the growing demand for accommodations. With the completion of these buildings, something in the neighborhood of $50,000 will be added to the value of the property, and we will be able to care for a greater number of patients than heretofore.

As to the patients cared for, ninety-six patients were treated during the year of 1911 to 1912, of which 75 per cent, or seventy-one patients, were treated free of charge. The average cost per patient is $0.693 per day, or $252.95 per year, which, I am informed, is by far the lowest per capita cost of any institution receiving State aid. While I do not personally vouch for these figures, I understand that they are ascertainable from the tabulated statement of the Board of Charities.

The total maintenance expenses for the year ending May 31st, 1912, were $20,379 13
The total maintenance receipts for the same year were 18,553 78

Deficit on maintenance account after receeiving State allowance, ... $1,825 35

To do our work most efficiently, and to take care of a greater number of patients which the new buildings will permit, our maintenance will be increased during the next year by $6,890, or for the two years, until the next Session of the Legislature, $13,780.

Our deficit each year in maintenance account, exclusive of the State appropriation, is about $6,000, or after the application of the State's appropriation for this purpose, about $1,500, which has been met by private subscriptions. Adding the above annual deficit of $6,000 to the increased cost of maintenance next year, as shown above, there will be a deficit of about $12,890 per annum, or $25,780 in the two years.

Our request for $15,000 for maintenance for two years is based upon this very probable deficit of $25,780, as well as upon the fact that we will care for 75 free patients at a per capita cost of $253, (our last year's cost' or $18,975 for one year, or $37.950 for two years. Should the State give us $15,000 for two years, they will be giving us about $100 per capita per annum, leaving us the difference between $15,000 and $37,950. or $22,950, which is $153 per capita per annum, to be raised from other sources.

As against the total cost of buildings and construction of approximately $92,500, we have from private subscription, insurance, and sundry sources, about $50,000, and therefore need a balance of approximately $42,500.

I had hoped to see you in regard to this matter before you left for Harrisburg on Monday, but owing to the funeral of a near relative, was prevented from doing so.

If there is any further information which you desire, which can be supplied by the institution, I feel sure that they will be glad to furnish it.

Very truly yours,

W. W. MONTGOMERY, JR.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

The SPEAKER. House Bill No. 1422 is a special order on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 1422, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Charleroi Washington county Pennsylvania

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Schuck.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Schuck, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask what sort of an institution this?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, this is a hospital.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask how long has it been a hospital?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, four years.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman whether or not it is a private hospital?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, no, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker. I ask the gentleman whether it ever was a private hospital?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, it was organized four years ago; between four and five years ago. It was a private hospital and it has been going on and doing charity work to the extent of thirty-three per cent. since.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman when it changed from a private to a free hospital?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, it has been re-organized in the past six months. I have the full data here and all the information that any one in the House may want, who would care to ask for it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman when the court approved the new incorporation?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, within the last four months.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, has it not been within the last four weeks?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, no, sir. Not to my knowledge.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman in relation to the location of this place? It would please me more if the gentleman would make a statement and give us something about it. I desire to ask the gentleman now how this place is located?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, it is located midway between Monessen and Charleroi. They have built a large iron bridge which connects the towns which the hospital intends to serve; fifteen thousand population in one and ten thousand in the other. It has been adopted as the official hospital for the Miners' Association in Monongahela City.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the gentleman is not the ground on which it stands practically inaccessible?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, it is not. There are four and a half acres situated on a plateau that is as admirably located as any hospital can be. The approach is perhaps eight or ten per cent. of bad road but this hospital association is making preparation now to make this a better road but it is not the fault of this association that it is not better now. It is so from the fact that they have been very much in want of funds.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as a matter of fact, is not the road, practically, inaccessible at this time?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, it is not. If any men are injured in the mills they are taken over in such ambulances as we can get.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, is not the institution involved to the extent of fifteen thousand dollars at this time?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, perhaps the property and buildings are worth in the neighborhood of $15,000; it was sold to the private hospital association four years ago for twenty-four thousand dollars and it now may have against it, including interest accrued, fifteen to sixteen thousand dollars but there is a depreciation of eight thousand dollars not covered by that.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, is that interest on mortgage which is now upon these premises?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, has not that institution been closed out by forced sale?

Mr. SCHUCK. The institution was not, Mr. Speaker, it was through a bankruptcy of the original owner, Theodore J. Allen.

Mr. ALLEN. No relation of mine, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHUCK. No, he was more charitable.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am thankful to the gentleman from Westmoreland especially for the last suggestion. It frequently occurs that men are often more charitable with their own money than with somebody else's, while at other times it happens that men are more charitable with somebody's else's money than they are with their own. I desire to call the House's attention to this bill which is now before us on final passage, and I do so because I am serious in the matters which I desire to bring to the attention of this House. I have it and I have it on splendid authority and from the very home of this institution that the institution has been a hospital in name for some time past; that it has practically gone to a forced sale; is financially involved to at least the extent of $15,000; has been doing little if any work, charitable or paid; it stands on a prominence which as the gentleman suggests is an elevation reached by a grade of about 10 per cent. and which, I will further add, is practically inaccessible; that the purpose for which this appropriation is asked is to clean up the indebtedness of the institution and place it in new hands at the State's expense. I desire to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill asks for an appropriaion of $20,000 and has come out of the Appropriation Committee with its stamp of approval for $20,000. I desire to call attention further to the fact that the Board of Commissioners of Public Charities which is organized under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania for the purpose of studying the needs of institutions of this and like kind, which filed its report with the members of this House, recommends on page 44 of that journal, "Charleroi-Monessen Hospital, Charleroi, Washington county, formerly Monessen-Charleroi Hospital,"—it seems that it was inverted for the purpose of the creation of a new board,—"applications for 1913 and 1914 amount to $10,000, total for two years," $10,000, now mark you, Mr. Speaker, this was the application which was made to the Board of Charities representing, as the Board of Directors stated to the Board of Charities, the needs of the institution at that time, and they asked for the sum of $10,000 for maintenance for two years. Now I desire to call to your attention and I shall read verbatim from the report of the Board of Charities on this institution. "This was formerly a private hospital, Monessen-Charleroi Hospital. The demand for a hospital in this vicinity to take care of the indigent is great, as there are 40,000 people living in this vicinity, mostly employed in industrial pursuits, who will be benefited; in many cases die while being taken to the nearest hospital. A new charter has been requested by a number of reputable citizens who have organized and are prepared to assume control of this institution and put in on a working basis. From various statements of citizens in this community, we are inclined to believe that the demand for a hospital to treat the indigent is well founded. We therefore recommend $2,500 a year, $5,000 for two years for maintenance or so much thereof as may be necessary." Now, the thing I want to call your attention to, Mr. Speaker, in the recommendation of this Board, or rather the report of this Board, is the fact that a new board is organized and have agreed and suggested that they are going to put this hospital on a working basis. That to my mind clearly indicates that at the time this report was made the Board of Charities did not consider and did not say in their report that this hospital was at that time on a working basis. If it had been, why would it have been necessary for the Board of Charities to have indicated that it was not in their report. Now, $5,000 is covered in this bill for maintenance, and $15,000. the gentleman who stands sponsor for this bill states to you is an indebtedness in the bill. Fifteen thousand dollars is set aside for the purpose of building, "for the purpose of purchasing buildings completing and equipping hospital the sum of $15,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary." Now, can the State afford to do that? We talk about thousands of dollars here as though it amounted to nothing. If this institution is getting $15,000 more than it ought to according to the recommendation of the Board of Charities, then and in that event the $15,000 is being chopped off of something else which has been recommended on account of merit; has been recommended for that amount of money, because of this fact, and read from page 5, an introductory page of the Board of Charities. "Unusual care has been exercised in ascertaining the amounts to be recommended to the various institutions." Now, mark you, "unusual care." "Owing to to the increased cost of provisions and other supplies and the larger amount of free work done, it has been found necessary in many cases to make a larger allowance for maintenance than in previous years." Now, we all know the truth of the basic principle of that statement. "In all cases of private and semi-private institutions, the actual needs and the amount of free work done is carefully compared as the basis for the amount of aid recommended. It will be observed that outside the State and semi-State institutions, the Board makes no recommendations for appropriations for building purposes at this time." Now, why? They tell you why in the next line. "This is due to the fact that needs for maintenance have increased to such an extent as to consume all the estimated revenue of the State, which in the judgment of the Board can be set aside for charitable work." Now, then, if the Board in its wisdom and after unusual care recommended for this particular hospital $5,000, and it made a recommendation for your institution and your institution and your institution and my institution and said by those recommendations we will exhaust all of the revenues that this State can turn towards charitable work, then, I ask you how are you going to pay the $15,000 for building purposes in this particular bill without either taking it off of your institution or yours or yours or mine? Two and two make four, and two from four leaves two, and you cannot get away from it. It is a mathematical certainty, and if you only have so much to distribute and provision has already been made for so much, it is not right for you to rob Peter to pay Paul. However, and I read from the report, "However, as the State has dealt most liberally in the past in providing or assisting in providing buildings for both of these classes, we believe," and here again they excuse themselves for not recommending buildings, "we believe no fault could be found with the present policy of retrenchment and no hardship will result. Why, Mr. Speaker, let us look this thing squarely in the face. We have a certain amount of money to appropriate for this purpose. We can appropriate that and no more. Suppose, in order to bring this question down closely, suppose the State only had $20,000 to distribute, and suppose that hospital "A" was recomended for $5,000, and Hospital "B" was recommended for $5,000, and Hospital "C" was recommended for $5,000, and Hospital "D" was recommended for $5,000. That would be the recommendation of the Board of Charities. And suppose a committee comes in,—and notwithstanding the fact that that Board of Charities, has canvassed the State with unusual care, mark you, and made these recommendations,—a committee comes in and says, "Well, we will appropriate to Hospital "A" $20,000. How much is going to be left for "B," "C" and "D" collectively? Nothing. Absolutely not a cent. $15.000 out of the gross amount that this State will contribute to charitable work does not amount to a great deal. No; if you take it pro-rata of all these institutions perhaps they could all contribute this $15,000 to this institution which the Board says will be made a live issue; will be put into operation; will become a hospital; not that it is now; not that it ever was, but a new institution comes in and asks for this amount of money and gets it. I don't say, Mr. Speaker, that it is impossible for the Board of Charities to make mistakes, but I do say, Mr. Speaker, that it is much more likely that that board which labors from one year's end to another and then commences at the beginning of that year and works up practically to the time the next Legislature convenes, two years in all, is better equipped and better qualified to say what an institution deserves rather than that a member of the Committee on Appropriations which perhaps never sees the institution can say. Now, Mr. Speaker, there is no sentiment in this matter. My charitable interests or qualifications were sought to be made a play on a time ago, but I believe that while the gentleman may be perfectly right in that, I will put my judgment against his as shown upon the floor of this House, as to guarding and safeguarding the welfare, not only of the Treasury of Pennsylvania, but of the people back home whom I represent and also in relation to creating any jobs for my friends.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I cannot but feel that this is a most unusual attack by the member from Allegheny. No other small institution like this has been held up in this House and its appropriation delayed as this has been.

I do not feel like replying to the gentleman from Allegheny because I think you all undersand it as well as I do, but if there is any other member in this House who wants any information, I have it here regarding this little hospital which was established at the urgent request of the miners of the Upper Monongahela Valley and which has been carried along by charity in the best way it could. Although it has had its ups and downs, every effort is being made to bring it to the front. I would willingly answer any question from any member regarding this matter.

One question I wish to make plain: The pink bill as introduced March 17th, is exactly as the white bill you are asked to vote upon to-day. I do not wish you to understand that the Appropriation Committee has in any way increased this bill as introduced. This bill was introduced for $5,000.00 for maintenance and $15,000.00 for buildings, extensions, improvements and equipment. Four years ago, as a member of this House, I introduced a bill for the same hospital for $25,000.00, $10,000.00 for maintenance and $15,000.00 for buildings. The policy of the State at that time was not to lend aid to new institutions but the policy of this Appropriation Committee and of this Legislature is changed to the extent that I hold in my hands the names of thirteen institutions, absolutely new, which have been granted appropriations similar to this. I wish to make it plain that this is just as introduced in the House, the only change being that which the gentleman from Allegheny has reported to you, that the Board of Public Charities did not recommend anything for buildings because they were not in shape then to ask for buildings, not in shape to get buildings. But that report was made last year and handed in in February. This bill was introduced in March, with a hospital to add to, to build up, and the maintenance is just the same as the Charities Board recommends.

I would like to answer any other member of this House other than the gentleman from Allegheny.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follows, viz:

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 848, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to Grove City College Mercer county, Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the House has clearly demonstrated that it does not agree so far as to reduce appropriations to institutions which have already received them. It may be, however, that the House will be willing to adopt the policy of admitting no new institutions. If that be the case, the way to decide such a policy is to vote against this bill and others of the same nature. I expect to vote "no" and anybody else taking the same position, they will do likewise.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follows, viz:

SENATE.

TUESDAY, June 10, 1913.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. D. P. Gerberich) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

Thou hast said, Oh Lord, to him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me on my throne in glory. We come to Thee at this time invoking Thy presence. We come to Thee with grateful hearts thanking Thee for the blessing of health and strength which we now enjoy. We thank Thee for the world of beauty in which we live and may we always remember that

> "The harp at Nature's advent sprung,
> Has never ceased to play.
> The song the stars of morning sung
> Has never died away."

Help us, then, to feel that the same harmony which fills the world of Nature may fill our lives, if within our hearts we shall offer that prayer "nevertheless, not my will, but Thine, be done." Grant to us then Thy Providence to lead us throughout this another day. We ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. MILLS, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Warren, Mr. Knapp, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I would like to have the Senator from Warren, Mr. Knapp tell us what the merits are in this bill.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, It is a pretty long bill and it would be pretty hard to tell all the merits of it. The merits of the bill are that it is an absolute secret ballot, entirely so, and furthermore that when the ballot has been cast it saves a count. It is a reform measure, if ever there was one, and I think it would aid to give us a pure ballot. The State of New York is using it largely in a great many counties, right along side of Pennsylvania, and they get very good results from it. It is purely optional. The commissioners are empowered to purchase it if they wish; if not, they are not obliged to.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I do not believe it requires very much to be said to vote down this bill, but I have not any more interest in it than any other Senator here. There does not seem to be any sentiment in Pennsylvania that I ever heard of for voting machines. I do not to think it is any argument to say it is only optional with County Commissioners. If it were optional with the people, or with some other body in conjunction perhaps with the County Commissioners, I would not object to that, but it is a very expensive device. This bill is over forty pages long; I have had time to count the pages, that is all. It would conflict with the proposed legislation that we have pending here, primary legislation, if put through at this time. It certainly ought not to be put through until we have decided what the primary election bills will be. I trust the Senators will defeat this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, We passed a bill in the Senate, a House Bill, about two weeks ago which has gone to the Governor, which covers the same ground as this bill, but with a little different theory. The two bills would be actually inconsistent on the Statute books of Pennsylvania. As I understand, there were two theories on this desertion question, and the House and Senate have passed one bill, and this is a bill on the opposite theory, and the two theories are inconsistent.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelpia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I would be very much obliged to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, if he would explain what the effect of these amendments that he has offered is, as it is hard to follow them as they are read.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, the bills are to go back to the committee after the amendments are in for the purpose of all the members getting together to see whether or not the amendments can be agreed to, but the most important amendment seems to be the disposition of a sliding scale; in other words that on no particular day shall there be more than ten hours' work. That is the most important amendment. These bills are going back to committee for the purpose of all parties in interest seeing what amendments shall stand and which shall not stand. The idea is to get this bill printed so that it will be in the hands of the people at the time it is being considered.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, that is perfectly satisfactory to me. Of course, this bill is now being read the second time, and when it comes out of committee it will be on third reading, when it will be difficult to amend except with the consent of the Senate. PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the followed prayer:
O God, we come before Thee, this morning, with reverent gratefulness and thankful praise. Thou art good unto us—ceaselessly good and we give to Thee our thanks. This goodness is manifested to us in numberless ways but we are thinking now of Thy kindly guardianship and loving care over us both during the unconscious hours of sleep and during the conscious waking hours of work. We can truly say that in Thee we live and move and have our being and in view of this, Thy goodness, we would offer to Thee not merely the service of our lips but the service of our lives. Thy service is the only true service; it ennobles and dignifies; it enriches and brings profiting with it. For that scripture is true, "Godliness is profitable until all things having the promise of the life which now is and of that which is to come." All selfish service is inferior service and there is no permanent good in it. May we be true therefore, and faithful, sincere and honest in the work which we do. We ask it in His name who has taught us to say,
Our Father, who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 7, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 847, entitled "An Act providing for the humane destruction of any animal or animals which are injured disabled diseased past recovery or unfit for any useful purpose and authorizing any magistrate alderman or justice of the peace in a trial of a person charged with a violation of any act for the prevention of cruelty to animals to inquire into the condition of the animal or animals charged with being abused and directing policemen constables and agents of duly incorporated societies or associations for the prevention of cruelty to animals to carry out the provisions of the act."

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 7, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 695, entitled "An Act making an apppropriation to the State Highway Department to cover a deficiency in the Automobile Division."

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1424.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 6, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 1424, entitled "An Act to amend an act 'providing for the appointment of a Board of Visitation for Institutions Societies and Associations caring for dependent neglected or delinquent children' approved the twenty-sixth day of February Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three and making it the duty of the Board of Visitation to visit all institutions within the county which receive their inmates from more than one county and are in whole or in part supported and managed by the Commonwealth and all institutions which are wholly supported and managed by any county city borough or township of the poor district of the Commonwealth and providing for the making of nominations of appointment on the Boards of Visitation."

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1457.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 4, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1457, entitled:

"An Act to amend the fourteenth section of an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the incorporation of casualty insurance companies and for the regulation of home and foreign casualty insurance companies and providing penalties for the violation of any of the provisions of this act' approved the first day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven and providing for the incorporation of casualty companies for the insurance of glass against breakage upon the mutual plan."

This bill provides for the incorporation upon the mutual plan of casualty companies for the insurance of glass against breakage. It is an amendment to the Act of 1911, which was drawn so as not to permit the incorporation of such companies upon the mutual plan, because experience had shown that it was difficult for such companies to succeed.

I am not convinced that the incorporation of companies to engage in this hazardous class of business upon the mutual plan should be again permitted.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the communication will lie upon the table. The Chair hears none it is so ordered.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1507.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 6, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1507, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act creating an art jury for cities of the first class and prescribing its powers and duties' approved the twenty-fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven."

This act, if approved, requires the approval of the jury before councils can adopt a plan of plotting public grounds and parks, their approaches and development.

I have recently returned, without my approval, a similar bill relating to cities of the second class, for the reason that it was an undue encroachment upon the prerogatives of city councils.

Approval is therefore withheld from this bill for the same reason.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the communication will lie upon the table. The Chair hears none it is so ordered.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1616.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 4, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1616, entitled:

"An Act providing for the return of taxes on seated lands in counties poor districts boroughs incorporated towns and townships for county poor borough town or township taxes respectively and providing for the sale of such lands for taxes."

This bill is an exact duplicate of House Bill No. 305, which was approved May 21, 1913.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the communication will lie upon the table. The Chair hears none it is so ordered.

VETO OF HOUSE BILLL NO. 1732.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, June 6, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1732, entitled:

"An Act relating to applications for charters of corporations of the first class and regulating the change of location of the place of business of such corporations and providing a penalty for violating the provisions thereof."

This bill requires any corporation of the first class which desires to change its location of places of business, to file a petition in the office of the Prothonotary, signed by a majority of its board of directors, and then makes the president and secretary of such association, in office at the time information is made, liable for the failure of the board of directors to comply with the terms of the act, notwithstanding the fact that the president and secretary in office at the time the information is made may have been the president and secretary in office at the time of the violation of the act, nor may not then have been members of the corporation.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

(Signed,) JOHN K. TENER.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I was vitally interested in the passage of the act which the Governor has doubtless been advised to veto. The act as it seemed to me was putting into effect the suggestion of the Governor made in his message to this House in relation to the regulation of clubs. That suggestion as the members are doubtless aware referred more especially to such matters as would give the police authority to keep in closer touch and give them some information in relation to first class corporations which are clubs. It was introduced in accordance with the suggestion of His Excellency, the Governor, who on account of the fact that in our large cities clubs which are often organized for the very best purposes after a while disintegrate in a great measure on account of internal dissensions or something of that sort and the charter which has been issued by the courts to splendid people will eventually drift into the possession of some individual who thereupon hangs that charter upon the wall somewhere and starts a one-man-club, commonly known as a speak-easy or gambling house, instead of being permanent clubs, or clubs which were organized and intended for beneficial or social reasons and have a permanent residence as we all know, made this suggestion. There is no authority in law which would justify the police to enter the premises of clubs which are run under the provisions of their charter at this time and it has been a question of much study as to how to remedy and how to draft a law which would reach this condition. It appeared to me after considerable thought and after being in consultation with those in whom I had great confidence in this matter, that the proper method in which to make a start, at least, would be to follow up those clubs which became migratory on account of the conditions which I just suggested, so this bill was prepared, Mr. Speaker, and this bill reached all first class corporations where they sought to make a change of location, saying that they would file with the court and should advertise to the public just as they did when the corporation was originally formed, setting forth where they were going, and that application should be filed by a majority of their directors, signed by not only the board of directors but the entirety of the board. By doing this it simply brought it down to this fact, that if a charter had been so taken away by some individual, the people who would apply to the court for a change of residence would have to show who those people were, and where they wanted to go. By that means, Mr. Speaker, if you please, the record of the migratory transactions and dealings of the club could be followed up and the club which was in this ward to-day and applied for a charter for a new location in another ward next month, and two months hence would again run out of there into another ward would soon come under suspicion and would be watched, and carefully watched. The record of the club if you please would appear in the Court House, in the Prothonotary's office, in an office where it could be inspected at length, and the club which had organized with the best purpose in the world, but which had drifted down into the condition where it was matters, he has been very badly advised in relation to the provisions of the bill. I do not ask, Mr. Speaker, that any vote be taken on this matter at this time, because I feel the House would be justified in sustaining the position which has been recommended to it, but I do want you to understand the provisions of this bill and to appreciate the fact that the bill was introduced with the best purpose in the world. And I deem the advice which has been given to His Excellency the Governor to be very ordinary.

I move you, Mr. Speaker, that this veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORTS OF THE INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE. IN THE CASE OF JUDGE BRUMM.

The SPEAKER. The hour of 10:30 A. M. having arrived, the Chair lays before the House, for the consideration of the House the majority and minority reports filed by the Committee appointed to investigate the charges filed against the Hon. Charles N. Brumm, of Schuylkill County.

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the majority report in the impeachment case against the Honorable Charles N. Brumm.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend that motion by substituting the minority report for the majority report.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the substitute motion?

Mr. McALEER in the Chair.

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, so far as this case is concerned, and in what I shall have to say regarding the evidence, I shall undertake to state to the House in perfect fairness what to my mind should be considered by the House in voting upon this question. I do not appear before the House as a partisan, neither do I appear as an advocate, only so far as the evidence warrants, in picturing to you the truth. I might say in the outset that so far as my personal feelings are concerned, I hope they will not be injected into this case. I shall say only those things that shall appeal to your minds and your consciences as to what is the exact truth as gathered from the four corners of the history of this case, as found in the evidence. So far as the complainant is concerned, I have nothing against him but the kindest words. He is a man engaged in the ordinary vocations of life, following the business of a barber, a vocation honorable in itself, and so far as the man himself is concerned, I grant him that he is a man for all that. So far as the charges against Judge Brumm are concerned, the Committee found upon the taking of the testimony that there was not a living soul that lifted his voice or petitioned this House to file articles of impeachment against Judge Brumm except Cornelius Foley. So far as Judge Brumm is concerned, the Committee found him upright and honorable in his testimony, and dispassionate. We found, as detailed by the evidence, that Judge Brumm was born in Schuylkill County, and had passed all the years of his life in that county; that that was his home. He had been active in politics, active in religious matters and active in Judicial matters. He had served three years and three months for his country's cause in the Civil War. He had served fifteen years in Congress, and during the time he was serving his constituency in Congress, he was elected to the high office upon the bench in his own county. We found by the testimony of witnesses that the name of the Hon. Charles N. Brumm was a household word among the good people of Schuylkill County. To say that there is no criticism against him would be a mistake. There never has been a man that has lived that was perfect except that man who lived twenty centuries ago, and there never will be another man so long as time shall last. You make your mistakes, and I make mine, but the question that we are inquiring into in this proceeding is the question as to the impeachment of Judge Brumm, and to say whether or not he should be ousted from the high office that he now occupies in the judiciary of Schuylkill County. Now, as I stated to you before, it is upon the evidence that we shall rely, and I might say, in the outset, before I call your particular attention to the evidence that there is not a single witness of the seventy witnesses which were called that opened his lips to an accusation against Judge Brumm as to his honesty and as to his integrity,—not one. Now that matter, we felt, when we were considering the evidence, was something worthy of consideration, and we thought that a man who occupies the high office of Judge, who sits as an arbitrator in the destinies of man or his civil rights, who is a man that the community considers to be a man of honour and a man of integrity, that it goes a long ways towards establishing the fact that he is the man, all other things being equal, that he is the man above all other men that we desire to preside over our Courts of Justice. So I say to you that so far as his real purposes are concerned there is no criticism against him, not a scintilla of criticsm against him in the evidence. Now he has been known for these many years as being a man of energy, of over-whelming energy and zeal; he has fought his hard battles, he has struck out square from the shoulder and has been a man opposed to crime. He has witnessed the crimes of Schuylkill County for the past half century with a feeling in his heart that something should be done by which the crimes of Schuylkill County should be wiped out, by which the good name of Schuylkill County should stand on a par with the rest of the counties of the Commonwealth in which we live. Feeling that, advocating that cause, and knowing full well the trouble they had had for many years past by which the jurors were selected for a purpose, by which nine-tenths of the jurors in the past many years had been men interested in the liquor cause, finding that it was impossible to secure an indictment for the violation of the liquor law, and finding also in regard to all the crimes that came before the courts of Schuylkill County that it was almost impossible to find a set of men to be drawn upon that Grand Jury who would find an indictment to punish the crime of Ballot Box Stuffing and of all the many crimes with which that county has been infested, this Judge Brumm was elected for that purpose, because the men knew his heart, and knew his purposes to put down these various crimes with which those who know the history of Schuylkill County are conversant. Now I say to you in advance that Judge Brumm is a very zealous man. I say to you that he has made mistakes like every other man, but those mistakes which I shall point out to you are not such mistakes as would impeach any man in office. Of the testimony which has been recited in the Minority Report, I have no words of harshness, I have no words of criticism, but in the line of the simple statements which I have made, I desire to ask the members of the House to turn to their books on page twenty-three and review with me for a short time the testimony of the witnesses in this case. It is not a speech that I am to deliver to you. It is a plain statement of the facts, and where the Minority Report has failed to point out the material evidence of this case, I now call your attetnion to the fact, so that you may read with me, so that the light may shine for you and for me in regard to this testimony. On page twenty-three the Minority Report states as follows: "The following testimony as to the charges is that of twelve members of the Bar who were called by the Committee themselves, whose names were taken from Martendale's list of attorneys, and no notice was given to either side of the Committee's intention to call them as witnesses. We therefore believed their testimony is of the highest character and absolutely worthy of belief and further, that the said testimony is of great weight." That is the statement of the Minority Report. The Committee who are members of the minority report also voiced that sentiment most heartily agree with that proposition. The unfortunate matter for our consideration is this that either through an oversight or misconception of the Minority Committee Report they have not given the evidence of the twelve men who were called by the Committee as independent men.

Of the first twelve that they have named, seven of them are the avowed enimies of Judge Brumm, who were subpoened on the part of the complainant and were not called by the Committee. Out of thirty-seven witnesses that I shall call your attention to, as to their evidence, we find that, unfortunately, the minority report in giving their brief of the evidence have only given a part of it. They have only called your attention to that portion of the evidence which would tend to incriminate or, rather, would tend to impeach the character of Judge Brumm. In many cases this is apparent, and that I shall point out to you, that they have taken simply excerpts, and in many cases they have only quoted part of the answer, so that I will leave this to your judgment when I am through as to the statements I have made whether it is true or not. Therefore, on page twenty-three I will call your attention to the testimony of G. M. Rhoads, and I would ask you to turn to page 260 of Mr. Rhoad's testimony. Now, you will notice that the minority committee has quoted only this evidence. "What is Judge Brumm's attitude in proceedings in which you were counsel?"

"A. Well, Judge Brumm's attitude on the bench at times is somewhat hasty, at times somewhat impatient, at times somewhat restive under the application of the rules of evidence, in my judgment."

Now, Mr. Speaker, I ask you to look at page 260, at the following questions and answers and tell you why they didn't quote this evidence also:

"Q. On the whole is his attitude one that goes to the proper administration of justice?"

"A. As a whole, yes. His motive is good and his desire in my judgment is to administer the law properly."

"Q. Does he maintain a strictly impartial position?"

"A. I think so as he sees the law."

"Q. Is his attitude one that would gain a wholesome respect for the Court?"

"A. Yes, I think so. I think Judge Brumm means to do exactly what a Judge should be in the administration of the law."

Now, Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most flagrant omissions brought about by the carelessness or haste of the party who dictated this minority report, and I believe it will appeal to you as proper for your consideration, when the grave charges brought against Judge Brumm are to be considered.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we come to another witness, Mr. Carl W. Wagner, on page 262. This is the only quotation made by the minority report.

"Q. Well what treatment does he accord to the members of the bar, juror and witnesses?"

"A. Judge Brumm is a very agressive man and he shows that on the bench. In my opinion he appears to come to conclusions before the case has been finished and his action, not so much what he says as the way he says it, the way in which he questions witnesses and so on, the way he charges juries would appear to show that he has already made up his mind."

Note here this fact: Everyone of you members of the House when you talk about the necessity of fairness in a report, and honestly, and I am not accusing anybody of dishonestly, but must have the proper consideration when in trying this man, one of the reports leave out a part of an answer and this is what they leave out: "I believe that he is honest." That is in the answer, but you don't find that in the minority report although it is part of the same answer; it is cut out absolutely: wiped out: taken out of his answer. They didn't want you to consider that fact. I cannot help but be very plain in that statement to this House. While I charge nobody with anything wrong or any unfairness whatever, I must speak plainly when I find that part of the answers have been cut out which should be read in your hearing, and which you could see with your own eyes, and which you should see in order to have a just understanding of the attitude of the minority report, and of the majority report of this case. Now, Mr. Speaker, why didn't they give this:

"Q. Has there been any complaint that he takes sides?"

"A. That is the principal complaint. He is more of an advocate than a man sitting passive listening to both sides of the case and permitting the jury to decide on the facts."

This is what they leave out:

"Q. Has his attitude been such that would cause a verdict different than would have been rendered had he remained passive?"

"A. No. I wouldn't say that."

It is of considerable importance for you to understand why they didn't give that question and the answer of this witness. They quoted the testimony but why didn't they give this answer. "No, I wouldn't say that."

Again, at the bottom of page 262, is the question:

"Q. Is it not a fact that Judge Brumm is and has the reputation in this county of being an honest, conscientious, upright man?"

"A. I wouldn't want to say anything against Judge Brumm's honesty; don't pretend to"

Again, on page 263: Mr. John F. Whalen testified in answer to the question:

"Q. What from your observation can you inform this committee has Judge Brumm's attitude been?"

"A. In the case in which I was concerned before him, all I can say is that those cases were tried fairly well."

Mr. Speaker, I think this is material for your consideration. Now, the testimony of Mr. John F. Whalen in the minority report they quoted only this:

"Q. Do you know of any case in which he did obtrude?"

"A. Why, yes, I have seen Judge Brumm in cases, particularly criminal cases, that Judge Brumm repeatedly examines witnesses, that is the intrusion if it can be called such, I think that Judge Brumm in criminal cases especially gets into his head that defendant of witness is not telling the truth and his examination is very severe."

Quoting further, is this question:

"Q. What do yau know about Judge Brumm's attitude towards members of the bar?"

"A. I have known Judge Brumm to be irritable towards lawyers. I think that is one trouble he has, that he is irritable and I have mentioned that to him myself."

"Q. Do you think that Judge Brumm's attitude in these cases in any way prejudiced the decision of the jury in this case?

"A. To what case do you refer?

"Q. Why, those cases in which he sat?

"A. Why when Judge Brumm cross-examines witnesses of the defendant the jury might get the impression that the Judge is holding him guilty."

"Q. Do you believe that Judge Brumm possesses sufficient judicial temperament to carry on proceedings in an orderly fashion?

"A. Well, judging from the civil cases particularly which I tried and in which I was concerned, I think that perhaps the best answer I could give to that would be to say yes. I was concerned in a very important case very soon after Judge Brumm got on the Bench, the Farraday feigned issue directed to the Orphans' Court. The case lasted a week. It was pretty hotly contested and I thought that Judge Brumm tried that case all right. I was in the Newcomber case, the trespass case for cutting timber, involving the title to certain lands: I thought that case was disposed of fairly well by the Judge. I tried the Kennedy-Coleman case, which was protracted and important, too, and in that caes I think the Judge's trial was also fair. I don't know of any case in which I have been concerned in which Judge Brumm's ability could be questioned. I think that in every instance where I represented the defendant in criminal cases that I preferred to have those cases before some other Judge, and that was due principally to the fact that the Judge in criminal cases sometimes gets it into his head that a defendant isn't telling the truth. He rather assumes that a defendant should prove his innocence, and it is sometimes embarrassing to a defendant and to counsel, after the Judge takes up his client and gives him a severe examination. That occurred in a couple of cases, and I would have to have the cases to be able to say just why that was done."

Now, again turn to the evidence quoted, of Mr. Moyer, page 24 of the minority report and page 266 of the evidence. This is what is quoted by the minority report, down near the middle of the page, commencing in the middle of that witness' answer: "The Judge examined him rather severely for the purpose of ascertaining whether he was telling the truth. I think myself the witness was rather over-awed by his attitude and became confused."

That is all the minority report quotes. If you will take the whole answer from that simple question it will read as follows:

"As far as I have been able to determine it has been fair. The cases where he cross-examined them justify his belief that they were not telling the truth, for the purpose of bringing out whether they were or not or for a better understanding of the case."

That is as far as his attitude towards attorneys in criminal cases is concerned. Now, Mr. Speaker, if they want to deal fairly before you and this House sitting here as his peers, tell me, pray, why in the name of sense should not the first part of that answer have been written into the minority report. Tell me, further, why they should not have quoted the last part of the answer—the last two lines, these words, "but there was nothing wrong about the examination, except perhaps the manner in which it was done, that was in the Newcomber case spoken of here."

Now, to proceed further: Here is a question:

"Q. Have you at other times witnessed any over-zeal on the part of the court to reach verdict in a case that he thought warranted it?

"A. I don't think so, sitting here as a witness on that subject. Of course, a lawyer always takes sides on his case, but sitting here as a witness, as I have suggested in our court, I believe he means right, and I don't tink he has done anything to justify any criticism than would apply to other judges and lawyers. He is a man of combative disposition and a man of that kind makes a better advocate than judge. I think an aggressive man in our county is needed and not out of place."

Why should that not have been put in for your consideration? Why, I want to tell you gentlemen of the House if this evidence had not been printed for your consideration, we would have nothing but the errors of this minority report. You should have all of a man's story if you want to convict him. You must have the whole story if you want the proper one. The question put by Mr. Claycomb as to temperament: "Do you believe that temperamentally and from his knowledge of the law, that Judge Brumm proceeds with the dignity becoming to the bench?" Well, isn't that proper? Should you not consider that? Then, why don't they quote it. This is his answer: "I think so. He behaves himself well. He is hard of hearing, and of course he labors under that disability, but from what I have seen in Court of my own knowledge, I can't say that his conduct has been such as to prejudice any case or justify any adverse criticism." Then we will pass along to the next witness, Mr. Lineaweaver, page 269, and this is the question and answer recorded on page 270. "Have you ever seen him make up his mind which side was right and maintain that attitude? A. Well the Judge is very determined and very aggressive and he may sometimes indicate on which side he would decide a case." Now, then, why didn't they give this part of the testimony: "Q. So that nothing was said against Mr. Shalk by the Judge in charging the jury or in the statement of the case? A. I was present sitting at the plaintiff's counsel table, and if such a remark had been made, I would have challenged that statement and have made a record of it." I read that at this time because of the great multitude of witnesses that were produced, and the great amount of testimony, we cannot refute every single part. I would call your attention to the fact that if you will refer to the testimony, you will find that this was one of the counsel themselves and is one of the charges that was brought against Judge Brumm in relation to Mr. Shalk, and the altercation which occurred between the court and the judge. This is one of the counsel sitting in the case. When it was alleged he called Mr. Shalk a liar, and this witness testified that he was in the case, a party in the case, and that if any such language had been used, "Q. Taken an exception? A. I certainly would. I would have fought for my rights before the Court." Contradicting that allegation that the judge called this man a liar during the trial of the cause. Now here is another matter that is wrong. If they are quoting the testimony for the purpose of advising you, why should they not give the testimony of Mr. Haughawaugh, found on page 269. "Q. You are a member of this bar? A. Yes, sir. Q. And have been for how long? A. Since '69. Q. How long have you known Judge Brumm? A. Ever since I have been in the County. Q. What have been your personal relations? A. Oh,very pleasant. Q. Have you had opportunity to observe him in the conduct of both civil and criminal cases? A. Yes, sir. Q. And in your opinion, has he conducted himself as a judge should conduct himself? A. In my judgment he has." One of the oldest members of the bar of Schuylkill County; one of the best lawyers in the county, who is always active in practice, comes here to give his testimony and you should have that for your consideration, certainly. "Q. Have you ever seen him show irritability at counsel or witnesses?" Now here is the truth: "A. I have seen him under very trying circumstances and I thought he did very well and acquitted himself well. Q. Have you ever been present when he threatened to imprison or to commit any attorney? A. Not that I recall." Now, all you gentlemen of the House are men of wide experience, and while I do not arrogate any superior knowledge to myself, in my experience in the trying of cases—, I desire to put before you at this time for your consideration, the fact that I have been engaged in the trial of causes for the last forty years; I have been actively engaged in the trial of causes in Tioga County, first before Judge Williams of that county, who was afterwards upon our Supreme Bench, and who was an honored citizen of that county and of Pennsylvania, and whose decisions and the honor of the man and his integrity were the pride of every man who admires a lawyer for the good qualities that make a man, for his honesty and integrity. Following after him, Judge Mitchell, who died many years ago. I had the same happy experience with that judge in Bradford County. During the years that Judge Mercer was on the bench. I knew his judicial attitude, his judicial temperament. I knew his attitude towards counsel and towards witnesses in the trial of cases, both criminal and civil; likewise with other judges and with the present judge of Bradford County. For many years I was permitted to practise law in Lycoming County. And this is what I desire to state to you gentlemen for your consideration, and then you tell me in your hearts, not by your voice, whether my statement is not true, that I am surprised, that of the 1,200 criminal cases tried in Schuylkill County, there were not more witnesses to come to testify as to their feelings of criticism against Judge Brumm. All of the judges that I have tried cases before in the last forty years have been men who have died with honor; who have lived with honor; who have practiced before the courts where they lived and died. You could find more criticisms, more witnesses, that would testify against them in their own respective counties than you could find in Schuylkill County against Judge Brumm. I want to tell you about a lawyer. When a lawyer gets beat on a case, the first thing he does is to go into the lobby or into the library and tell some brother lawyer or some other person that the Judge was not fair. Isn't that right, gentlemen? Don't you know it? Now, before you get through with the testimony, you will find that these are the witnesses and all the witnesses that were brought against Judge Brumm; that they are the parties who defended the criminals or are the parties themselves who are dissatisfied, and who are against him. Now, another thing, on page 24, M. P. McLaughlin, they quote these remarks: "Will you explain just what the concensus of opinion of the members of the bar is? A. He makes up his mind which side is right; sometimes on one side, sometimes on another. When he examines a witness, he proceeds to prove along the line that he thinks is right. This is sometimes indicated to counsel and sometimes, while he don't intend it to be so, it is very annoying to witness and you might say intimidating." Now, why don't they give the balance of the witness' answer. He says, "I would like to explain it in this way. I regard Judge Brumm as entirely honest and entirely conscientious with a view towards doing what is right with ability sufficient." Besides what has been said by the minority report, he says, "Outside of that he is thoroughly conscientious and means for the best. He makes up his mind what is the proper thing to do and pursues that course in the trial. Q. If you believe that his charge to the jury or his attitude to the jury is such as might cause them to bring in a verdict different from that which he would bring in if he would be less forceful perhaps in his trial? A. I don't think so and for this reason, that during the time the last term of court he charged a jury very strongly and the verdict was entirely on the other side." Passing along to page 272, in regard to Mr. Moyer's testimony, he says, "Well, when I go to try a case before Judge Brumm I consider first that he is hard of hearing, second, that he is inclined to be quick tempered and hasty, and in that way I manage to get along I should say well with him."

"Q. Would you say that his attitude would prejudice a jury for or against the matter in hand, in which they were engaged. A. Well, I shouldn't like to swear how a jury would like be inclined to interpret his attitude."

Then they quoted this:

"Q. Well, does he seem to force his opinion upon a jury? A. I say that he takes a position in his own mind, and whether or not a jury would be influenced by that I do not know.

"Q. Is open to conviction in cases? A. Why he has been open to conviction in cases that I have had before him. It seemed that he had taken one view of the matter, but when I expained it fully he seemed always fair.

"Q. Would you or would you not say that he possesses calm, deliberate manner on the bench? A. Well, he shows an attitude which is his natural position to take anywhere, off or on the bench, and I don't think if he had done anything else he would have been natural. I will say again that I consider him quick and impulsive, but I believe he is inclined to be honest in his ideas. I remember some cases that I have in mind where he appeared to be very much so and took special pains to explain the matter fully and he was very open to conviction and accorded me a full hearing."

Now on page 274 I find that the minority report skips over entirely the evidence of Mr. Wilson:

"Q. What is your position, Mr. Wilson. A. I am one of the official stenographers of the Court."

I call your particular attention to this testimony.

"Q. In the course of your duties do you take notes of cases before Judge Brumm? A. Yes, sir, both in civil and criminal cases."

On page 275:

"Q. You spoke of controversies. How frequent were those controversies between judges and lawyers? A. Why, I cannot say they were frequent. I do not know that they were controversies. They were more in the nature of arguments.

"Q. (By Mr. Mitchell.) You are frequently in the Court as a reporter. A. Yes, sir, I have served since 1902 as official reporter.

"Q. What would you say as to the Judge's demeanor. In your opinion is he perfectly fair and just in all his dealings and in his general attitude towards counsel, client and witnesses? A. So far as I can judge from a reporter's standpoint, I think he is as a rule. Occasionally he may question witnesses in a harsh and berrating tone which may have a tendency to frighten a timid witness.

"Q. Well, that is perfectly proper, of course. What I meant was whether he attempts to overshadow the jury. A. No, I would not say anything of that kind."

Now I no not want to weary the gentlemen of this House in a repetition of what is in the notes of evidence and I discover that very many of you are getting a bit restive in paying particular attention as to the items of evidence which I am quoting. Therefore, if that is your feeling, then it would be useless for me, in an attempt to set before you fairly and honestly the testimony, to repeat further the evidence which has been omitted from the minority report; so I will content myself for the present with calling your attention to the fact that the same thing is true in detail with the testimony of other witnesses which the minority report has quoted as with the witnesses which I have already stated. I say to you further that the material witnesses which the minority report has left out, all who spoke in the highest terms of the honor and integrity of Judge Brumm, if you care to make a note of it and read for yourself during the argument, you will find the evidence of George M. Paxon on page 283; J. L. Stauffer, page 285; R. J. Pilgrim, page 288; Abner Smith, Pagt 289; L. C. Scott, 291; S. B. Edwards, page 292; A. O. Reiter, page 295; Hiram S. Davis, page 296; Norman Farquhar, page 11; J. J. Brown, page 315; D. J. Ferguson, page 216; C. C. Breisch, page 18; T. H. B. Lyons, page 337; W. B. Durkin, page 338; Elisha Freyler, page 340; J. F. Patterson, page 278; H. E. Greager, page 280.

Now, gentlemen of the House, if you take the pains or care to read over the testimony of these witnesses that the minority report has seen fit to ignore you will find words of praise and enconium in favor of Judge Brumm, which they do not give to this House. But for the printing of this testimony, so that you can have the full record before you, it would never have been known by a single member of this House, the truth of the story, the testimony of these witnesses, who have come there and sworn to their knowledge of the high character of Judge Brumm. In closing, I desire to say some other things for a proper understanding. The argument was held in the caucus room of the House on April 29th, I believe. At that time there was a large number of letters as well as petitions that were handed to the committee; petitions from the P. O. S. of A., from the various patriotic orders in Schuylkill County and from the ministers of Schuylkill County; some thirty or forty letters and some ten or fifteen petitions. There were also some charges presented by Mr. Foley, in which new affidavits were presented. All of these, gentlemen of the House, we refused to consider, because we considered that the case was closed, and refused to give them consideration as the case had been closed when we closed the testimony at Pottsville.

Now, gentlemen, I have in a very plain, matter of fact way given you somewhat in detail the testimony in its true light for your consideration. Furthermore, I am glad to give way to those who can answer further from the testimony.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, as one of the members of the committee who signed the majority report, I wish to say a few words in defense of that report and against the adoption of the minority report. The committee was fully conscious of its duty when it went into the examination of this testimony. It performed that duty to the best of its ability and conscience. It makes its report. We are willing to stand by that report. In the development of the testimony of course we found that here was one man in Schuylkill County, like many of us, who made errors—Judge Brumm. The minority report in recommending impeachment proceedings saw fit to quote voluminously the tsetimony that was favorable to that report and against that of His Honor, Judge Brumm. I want to deal briefly with a few facts in reference to charges one, two three and four. I want to quote some of the testimony that was given by the twelve men who were subpoenaed by the committee and whose testimony has been quoted in the minority report. It sets forth in substance that these men being of the highest integrity and high standing at the bar, their testimony should receive great weight. That could just as well have been put in the majority report. I want to quote from these witnesses that are quoted in the minority report, to substantiate the majority report.

If you will turn to page 258, there the question was asked:—This was in N. H. Spicker's testimony.

Q. Was his conduct of the case fair and impartial and judicial in those instances that you have given us?"

In the minority report this was the answer:

"He would assume an attitude that to my mind would show impression one side or the other."

Now, that is not all of the answer. The answer is this:

"A. So far as his belief, I think he thought he was absolutely right. He was sincere in what he did—"

Now comes the portion quoted in the minority report—"but he would assume an attitude that to my mind would show impression one side or the other."

It reminds one of the charge made by the Atheist against the Bible, when he says: "The Bible says, 'There is no God,'" and truly speaking it does, but he did not quote it all—"The fool has said in his heart there is no God," and it seems to me that the same principle applies in this report of the minority. They quote half an answer in supporting their charge.

In Mr. Whalen's testimony who was a member of the bar for over thirty years, is the following:

"Q. You have had an opportunity of observing Judge Brumm in his conduct of other cases besides your own. A. Well, not so much in other cases.

"Q. What, from your observation, can you inform this committee has Judge Brumm's attitude been. A. In the case in which I was concerned before him, all I can say is that those cases were tried fairly well.

"Q. Was his proper judicial dignity maintained during the proceedings? A. Well, it was very little in those cases that I recall that would be the object of complaint.

"Q. Did he obtrude in the conduct of the case? A. Not in those cases.

"Q. Do you believe that Judge Brumm possesses sufficient judicial temperament to carry on proceedings in an orderly fashion?

Now this is a lengthy answer. It is on page 264. He sums up by saying in substance that he believes that Judge Brumm is temperamentally equipped for the performance of the duties that devolve upon him.

That was one witness that was subpoenaed and whose testimony is quoted as being against the dignity, intelligence and the ability of Judge Brumm to perform the duties of a judge.

In Mr. J. M. Moyer's testimony:

"Q. What is your observation as to his attitude towards attorneys in the criminal court. A. As far as I have observed it it has been fair.

"Q. Towards witnesses in criminal cases from your knowledge? A. As far as I have been able to determine it has been fair. The cases where he cross-examined them, justify his belief that they were not telling the truth for the purpose of bringing out whether they were or not, or for a better understanding of the case.

Judge Brumm is charged with interrogating the witnesses, leaving the bench and coming down and sitting in front of the witnesses and terrifying them and intimidating them. The men who were called by the committee to testify, irrespective of whether subpoenaed by the complainant or the committee, testified to the integrity of this man and testified to his fairness. I desire to call your attention to another question:

"Q. Do you believe that temperamentally and from his knowledge of the law that Judge Brumm proceeds with the dignity becoming to the bench?

"A. I think so. He behaves himself well. He is hard of hearing, and, of course, labors under that disability, but from what I have seen in court of my own knowledge, I can't say that his conduct has been such as to prejudice any case or justify any adverse criticism."

That is the testimony of this man who was subpoenaed by the committee, but his testimony has been so construed as to make it contradictory in regard to Judge Brumm's ability and fairness on the bench. Now then I want to proceed briefly to charge No. 5, found on page 63 of the report. This charge is: "Illegally Refusing to Permit the Entry of Names of Certain Citizens in the Jury Wheel on Account of Their Nationality." I say to you, and I defy contradiction, that that has not been proved and no testimony has shown that he did refuse the right of men to sit in the jury box by reason of their nationality. That is not possible under the law. In our manner of selecting jurors in Pennsylvania as most of you well know, the Judge is one of the three to select the jurors and he can only so far as he is concerned, perhaps by moral suasion, advise against the selection of some one that one of the other two commissioners may select, so consequently it would be an absolute impossibility to refuse to permit the entry of the names because of nationality or for any other reason. Now passing to Charge No. 6, which you will find on page 64, you will find that he is charged with "Tyranny and Severity of Sentences." Let us look at that and see what light we can throw upon the testimony in this case in regard to the findings of the minority report which you will find on pages 37 to 39 of this report. Now in the case of Jennie Kane, you will find Judge Brumm's testimony on page 353. This girl, it seems, was abandoned by her parents, and she was almost inherently a criminal. She was arrested three or four,—I am not certain, but may be five,—different times and found guilty. She was arrested on about five different charges of larceny and entering a house. This girl was brought before Judge Brumm and she was found guilty and Judge Brumm sentenced her as the report and the testimony shows to four years in the gaol, but in that sentence Judge Brumm said, in effect, that he sympathized with her to the effect that she was an outcast and that he would keep her there until he could provide a way through the parole officer to arrange for her to be transported to some institution where she could be properly kept. So as to the severity of sentences by Judge Brumm, you can see what there is to that. The Judge in his testimony, and he was not disputed, said that it was his intention to remove her to some school or institution. Now, as to that charge, understand, the police officer testified that she had been arrested three times for highway robbery, this same girl, that there were three charges for breaking and entering a dwelling house, and one carge of larceny at another house. These were the charges against this girl, and now the Judge is tried for severity of sentence. If you will turn to page 352 you will find what Mr. Barlow, attorney for the complainant, himself says about this. He practically admits that there is nothing to it. Listen to what he says:

"By MR. BARLOW:

"Mr. Lenahan, I do not think that is a subject that any Judge should be held responsible for. Even if Judge Brumm made a mistake in sentencing this girl to a term beyond that which humane reason would dictate, that is within his discretion, it surely isn't a subject of impeachment."

And yet the minority report brings this in as one of the grounds why Judge Brumm should be brought before this body, and undergo trial for impeachment. Now go to the next case, the case of Commonwealth vs. Haynes, who was sentenced to nine years. The testimony in this case is that he hired a horse and buggy, that he became intoxicated, that he tried to sell the horse, that he visited a number of disreputable places and that he was finally apprehended. The testimony is that he said that if he could have gotten his gun before he was caught, he would have defended himself against arrest. This man when he was brought up for sentence, Judge Brumm, according to his own testimony, said, where have you been for the last few years, who are your antecedents and what has been your conduct? He said, I have lived in Philadelpia for the last five years. The Judge says, where in Philadelphia? He gave the address of the Eastern Penitentiary, and then Judge Brumm said to him, when were you discharged from the Eastern Penitentiary, and he said, about a month ago. Then Judge Brumm proceeded to sentence him for nine years, not the maximum, but within the full discretion and power that was lodged in his hands in disposing of that case.

Now then, take the case of the Commonwealth vs. Yarsavage and Shankus. In the report, the testimony, according to the minority report, reads as follows:

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Yarsavage and Shankus. The defendant Yarsavage was a man sixty years of age with no criminal record, who was convicted on three different indictments. Indictment No. 486 for taking crackers, cheese and ham from the station. On the second indictment, of taking beer from a freight car, and on the third indictment, for breaking into a public school building and stealing therefrom knives, watches, etc."

The Chief of Police was notified that these depredations had been committed. He was authorized to go down and find these criminals. Finally they were arrested and when they stood before Judge Brumm and when he asked them again as he usually did inquire into their antecendents and who they were and where they come from, they said, "None of your business." Now then, they were sentenced heavily, probably a little severely, but within the next ten day Judge Brumm, thinking perhaps that he had sentenced them and dealt with them harshly, reduced the sentence on one indictment from ten to five years, on the other from ten to three years and on the other from ten to three years. Does that show a man who tries to vindicative, and who tries to persecute rather than to carry the law into effect. Now I say that in that testimony, in those facts, there is nothing to justify the criticism against Judge Brumm. Now go with me to Charge No. 7, on page 65, "Illegally Sentencing Defendants." Turn to page 129 of the report, that is, the case of the Commonwealth against Brannan. There were three separate offences charged in the indictment, one for assault with intent to kill, one for aggravated assault and one for assault and battery. He evidently sentenced him on the three charges. The Monority Report tries to show that by reason of the defendant being convicted on all three charges that the lesser charges were merged in the greater, and that he could only be sentenced for the higher offense. Now, gentlemen, I want to say that there is not one word in the testimony that these were in separable offenses, not a scintilla of evidence to show that they were any thing else but three separate and distinct charges, upon all of which Judge Brumm could rightfully sentence this defendant.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I refuse to be interrogated. I wish to proceed with my argument and I am at present referring to the testimony.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, we must correct the statement and I disagreee with him.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia is entirely out of order. His remarks will not be in order, unless the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, will yield the floor.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, I repeat, I refuse to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, will proceed.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to rise to a point of correction.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Mr. Speaker, in the second charge, under charge seven in the second division, page 65, the case of the Commonwealth versus Williams, Kelly and Robinson, you will find that on page 47 of the report, and I want to say however that the report does not contain the whole report of the record as it was sent to the Committee. In this charge against these defendants, the charges were disorderly conduct, vagrancy, drunkenness and resisting an officer. Now, then this is the order that was made by the Court, "September 5, 1910, the court sentenced the defendants, Harry Williams, George Kelly and George Robertson to pay a fine of ten dollars each to the Commonwealth that they all pay the costs of prosecution and that they undergo imprisonment in the Schuylkill County Prison, for and during a term of, George Kelly and George Robertson, for niusance two years each, and for resisting an officer, one year each, to commence after expiration of sentence of two years for niusance, and Harry Williams for and during a term of thirty days, to commence and be computed (all) from this date and shall therein be kept, fed clothed, treated and governed as provided by law. The minority report would say that there was no nuisance. The testimony before Judge Brumm is to the effect that the word "nuisance" was put in the record by the clerk, from a remark by Judge Brumm, who said, and could be only interjected in the statement, "you are a nuisance" and consequently proceeded to the sentence, not that they were charged with a nuisance as you would charge a criminal with a crime. For resisting an officer one year was the sentence, and Harry Williams for a term of thirty days to be computed all from this date and shall therein be kept, fed, clothed, treated and governed as provided by law.

Let me say further, as the charge is vagrancy, and under the act of 1879 a vagrant or tramp who enters a building for the purpose of the commission of a crime can be sentenced to three years; and he can be sentenced to one year for resisting an officer, and that was the sentence imposed in this case, for a nuisance and for disorderly conduct, thirty days, and for drunkenness twenty-four hours. Under this charge, with regard to this particular evidence there was no unusual sentence imposed. That is the thought I want to leave with the members of the House, because he is charged with illegally sentencing the defendants. Coming further to the case of the Commonwealth versus Matsaw, page 211 of the record, you will find that there was some testimony by Judge Shay, one of the colleagues of Judge Brumm, who testified that Judge Brumm had talked with him with reference to the charge of assault and battery. They were speaking together about this particular offense and Judge Shay testified, that Judge Brumm came in to him and said that he had sentenced a party on a surety case out there for thirty days. Judge Brumm denies that. He says what he did say to Judge Shay was "here is a defendant charged with assault and battery but somehow the District Attorney twisted it around and made a surety case of it but he ought to be sentenced on an assault and battery charge. Mr. Speaker, that ought to dismiss from the minds of the members of this House the charge that Judge Brumm was unusually severe in sentencing in a surety case, but instead, there was an assault and battery charge. The charge was brought into court, and the record, shows that the charge was assault and battery so that with this testimony, and with all the facts concerned, and especially in reference to the fact that Judge Brumm (and the minority report cites cases) had lectured jurors, but there is no testimony that he ever lectured a jury before the rendering of the verdict, so as to prejudice the jurors in rendering the verdict. They say that Judge Brumm ought to be impeached because of making errors which all judges can make. If those gentlemen who were agrieved and whose rights were prejudiced by errors made by Judge Brumm had taken objections and made them the ground for reversal of verdict they could have reversed their cases. Consequently now, instead of coming into court and assigning for error the misdirection of the court, instead of asking that he be reversed, they say impeach him. I submit to this body of men that it is unwarranted; that it would be unfair and unjust to the judiciary of this State to attempt to carry these proceedings further into this body and I say that this minority report which is so glaring in its inaccuracies and its errors, ought to be voted down.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I realize that a great deal of time has been consumed in speaking upon this resolution. It is my desire to take up no more of the time of the House than is necessary. I have not now or did never have at any time any feeling whatever on the matter. My only object has been to comply with the instructions which we were requested to carry out. I think that I have fairly heard the matter. This commission has been at Pottsville and they have seen all of the witnesses and they have had the benefit of their demeanor upon the stand and perhaps are in a better position than the members of the House to pass upon these witnesses, their qualifications, their prejudices, if any, and their standing at their bar. At my suggestion, I believe it was, a list of the most prominent members of the Schuylkill County Bar was prepared and they were to be summoned by the Sergeant-at-Arms without previous notice to them. Our idea was to take those that were longest in practice in that community and who appeared to be the leading members of that bar; such men as at home at your own bars you, as fellow attorneys, would recognize as the prominent men in your profession. We got the Sergeant-at-Arms then to get this list and have the men subpoenaed without knowledge or previous notice so that they might appear unprejudiced and unbaised and could give a full fair and frank statement to our committee. The committee sat there a number of days and listened most patiently to all that was said. At the conclusion of the hearing both sides testified to the fairness with which the matter had been heard and handled. I did not appear as a prosecutor; I had absolutely no interest in the matter. I never knew Judge Brumm. In fact I may say I never heard of Judge Brumm until this matter came up nor have I been in Pottsville until we went there to conduct this hearing. Mr. Stone, in his address, has without intention I am sure, made statements relative to the minority report. The report is fair and it speaks for itself. I think the minority report gives a fair statement of the preponderance of the evidence in which these witnesses testified. You must recall that in a matter of this kind, it is a serious matter; it is a very serious matter and we ought to consider it in that spirit. We considered all this evidence and some of that evidence before that committee was reluctantly given and this I will point out later that those that gave the most damaging testimony against Judge Brumm were the most reluctant witnesses. They naturally didn't wish to come there and say anything against Judge Brumm. They were unwilling witnesses, practically, every one of them, and I ask you to consider that in acting on the minority report. Where we had found that certain witnesses were prejudiced, were tainted, were prompted by spite and animosity, and there were a few I will admit, we didn't consider their testimony. We didn't even put it in our report or mention their names. We took the entire testimony and went over it carefully and those who were prejudiced and whose testimony showed venom or personal animosity that was colored in that way, we did not cite their testimony. Mr. Stone has made some reference to the fact that Judge Brumm was born and brought up in Schuylkill County and lived there all his life and cites his military record and his political career. That has absolutely nothing to do with the consideration of this case. Sentiment and sympathy should have nothing whatever to do with it. Mr. Stone suggests that they need an iron judge in Schuylkill County. I think the reading of the testimony will convince you that they have one. But gentlemen, I submit that the standards, ethics and qualifications of the bench are or should be the last place in the world for sentiment or sympathy. There is no such thing or there should be no such thing as one judge, one kind of judge, for Schuylkill County and another sort of judge for New York City, or another kind of judge for Tennessee and another for Pennsylvania. The judge is a judge and it is his duty to sit as a fair impartial umpire showing absolutely no prejudice. I don't believe that this has anything to do with the case at all. The standards and traditions of the bench are the same. I think a reading of the testimony will convince you that they have one. But, gentlemen, I submit that the standards, ethics and qualifications of the bench are or should be, at least, the same the world over. There is no such thing as one sort of judge for Schuylkill County and another sort of judge for New York City; one kind for Tennessee and another for Pennsylvania. A judge is a judge. It is his duty to sit as a fair, impartial umpire, showing no prejudice absolutely. I do not tbelieve that that has anything to do with the case at all. The standards and traditions of the bench are the same and the constituted qualifications are the same the world over. I can imagine no legal condition, no state of facts, no matter how severe or outrageous they may be, no matter what the local conditions are or the general conditions which will justify any judge from departing from the ethics and from the high standards which are sought and demanded by those who sit upon the bench. Prime conditions have nothing absolutely to do with it. A judge should be a judge no matter what court he sits in. Mr. Stone also made considerable reference as to Judge Brumm's honesty and integrity. Why the minority report does not question that gentleman. The charges do not state that he is corrupt. Absolutely no reference is made to that whatever, and we brought that all out very clearly. Every witness stated that he was not corrupt; that he was honest. Judge Brumm would not take a bribe. No one hints at anything of that sort. But there are a great many other things in which Judge Brumm fails. The mere fact that he is honest does not necessarily say that he is not unjudicial. We do not say that he is dishonest. No one charges it. A man may be kind to his family; he may be charitable; he may possess all the qualities; but at the same time he may be a cutthroat or a thief or a robber. It is not his honesty or his integrity; they are not in question. Mr. Stone in referring to the evidence pointed out a number of witnesses. He referred to Mr. Haughawaugh, a member of the bar for 45 years. He testified to the fact that Judge Brumm was not unfit. He made no mention of the fact that James J. Moran, who was subpoenaed by Judge Brumm, called by Judge Brumm himself; he made not reference to that testimony. I would like to read you something from that on page 219. He has been at the bar for thirty-five years and mind you he was called by Judge Brumm as a friendly witness. "Why he seemed to show favor, in my opinion, to the plaintiff, by his exceptions and by his sustaining objections for the defendant, for instance." "I do not think he tries cases fairly and properly and I don't think he tries them as a judge should try them." "His mannerisms display what he thinks, and it appears to me that in the early stages of a trial he gets an idea himself whether the defendant is guilty or innocent, and he seems to try to drive the case in that way. He gets down and talks to the witness in a loud voice and glares at them, and the witness seems to know how he feels about it and how he wants that case to go." "Do you, as a member of the bar, believe from your observation of Judge Brumm's public actions, and the Judge's manner in trying cases, that his manner is hurtful to the dignity and reputation of the Court to the proper administration of justice in this county? A. I do. Q. Do you believe Judge Brumm to be lacking in judicial temperament? A. I do. Q. Do you believe him to be lacking in legal ability. A. I do. Q. Do you believe him to be lacking in impartiality and fairness both to the witness for the plaintiff and the defendant in the Courts? A. I do. Q. Mr. Moran, are you a volunteer witness here? A. I am not, I would much rather not be here? Q. Of course, your testimony isn't based on any unsatisfactory results before Judge Brumm? A. The testimony I am giving now I am giving reluctantly. I would rather not give it.'' I call your attention also to the testimony of Mr. G. M. Rhodes, who was called by Judge Brumm, on page 260. He has been at the bar for thirty years. He says his "attitude on the bench at times is somewhat hasty, at times somewhat impatient, at times somewhat restive under the application of the rules of evidence, in my judgment." "Q. Do you believe that he is lacking somewhat in judicial temperament? A. Yes, as I said before in answer to that inquiry, he has been at times on the bench somewhat hasty and somewhat impatient, and it depends upon the natural drift of his mind. he would make a better executive, a better advocate. Thoroughout this county the name of Judge Brumm is a household name with the electors. The electors of Schuylkill County know his characteristics and his natural tendencies, and they have elected him on this bench, and we should consider that when we criticise his action in the determination of a case." I would also call your attention to the testimony of John F. Whalen on page 263. I think those who are acquainted with the bar of Schuylkill County would perhaps state that Mr. Whalen is the most prominent attorney at that bar, that he engages in the trial of more cases and represents greater interests than perhaps any other attorney at that bar. And I might also say that Mr. Whalen endeavored to evade testifying. We summoned him three times and could not get him, and finally we had to threaten to send the sergeant-at-arms after we had telephoned a number of times and could not get him. He appeared before us and on page 263 here is what he says. That he has been a member of the bar for over thirty years. "Q. Do you know of any cases in which he did obtrude? A. Why yes, I have seen Judge Brumm in cases, particularly criminal cases, that Judge Brumm repeatedly examines witnesses, that is the intrusion, if it can be called such, I think that Judge Brumm in criminal cases especially gets into his head that defendant or witness is not telling the truth and his examination is very severe. Q. What do you know about Judge Brumm's attitude towards members of the bar? A. I have known Judge Brumm to be irritable towards lawyers. I think that is one trouble he has, that he is irritable, and I have mentioned that to him myself." Further on, on page 264, he states: "He rather assumes that a defendant should prove his innocense." I, as a lawyer, always presumed that the defendant should be given the benefit of the doubt until proven guilty, but Mr. Whalen, a leading member of the bar, says he rather assumed the impression that Judge Brumm feels that a defendant should prove his innocence, and further says, "I have at times seen Judge Brumm when he seemed to be irritable with counsel and I think inclined to take sides in the case. I didn't think that was just the thing to do, but taking it all in all can hardly say whether I consider Judge Brumm a first class Judge." This witness did not want to be heard against Judge Brumm. They realized that he was an aged man and they all felt kindly toward him. They did not like to appear there and malign him or testify against him, and in every instance where they could make their testimony fair to him, where they could bring it to favor him, they did it without exception. Neither Mr. Stone, Mr. Glenn or Mr. Claycomb, so far as I can recall, mentioned the Bernitonis case. To my mind, gentlemen, this is one of the most serious matters in this report. A man by the name of Bernitonis, an Italian, and a co-defendant were indicted and tried. Mr. Rynkiewicz, a Polish attorney of Schuylkill County, defended them. During the course of the trial, Judge Brumm characterizes Bernitenis as a perjurer, scored him mercilessly and declared he was a perjurer right during the trial of this case which appears in the testimony. The man was found guilty. He was sentenced to one year, and his co-defendants got nine months. Shortly after the case had been disposed of Mr. Rynkiewicz engaged Frank Brumm, Judge Brumm's son and a member of that bar, to assist him in endeavoring to clear Bernitonis. Two hundred dollars was raised and a check for two hundred dollars, which appears in the testimony, was given to Frank Brumm for his services in that case. After he got his two hundred dollar check he prepared a petition. A petition was prepared and handed to Judge Brumm in an endeavor to parole this defendant, Bernitonis. The petition was handed over to the parole officer who went down to the vicinity of the crime or misdemeanor and saw some witnesses, a number of them who testified in chief; he saw a few new witnesses as to the character of Bernitonis, who was scored by Judge Brumm as a perjurer. He got some more witnesses, not under the sanctity of an oath and without any notice to the District Attorneys office. The District Attorney's office had no knowledge of this move, and the parole officer brings back the petition, takes it to Judge Brumm, finding Judge Brumm in the office of his son, hands the petition to Judge Brumm, and Judge Brumm paroled his man whom he had designated as a perjurer and unworthy of belief. In an ex-parte manner the parole officer, on the petition of Judge Brumm's son, makes a so-called investigation and the man is paroled. It strikes me that that is something that is rather serious. I do not see why the gentlemen on the other side have not mentioned that fact. There are a number of others that are not contradicted. In the Wilson equity case, there is another, and there is no contradiction. I defy either of the gentlemen who have preceded me to find anything on the record to the contrary in the Wilson equity case.

In the Wilson equity case and injunction, Judge Brumm's son and Mr. Whalen were attorneys. His son also appeared in this case. This is under the head that he favors counsel in whom he is interested, his son among them. In this case the preliminary injunction affidavit, the two affidavits which are required by the equity rule have not been furnished. The judges in chambers in banc, the president judge and his associate—there are three common pleas judges on that bench, I might say for those of you who do not know it. They found that the preliminary affidavit had not been furnished, were not among the papers in the case. Those two judges were to write an opinion, had come to the conclusion that the bill should be dismissed on that account. Judge Brumm was sitting there and heard of their action. A short time later Judge Brumm left and the next day, I believe, he appeared personally with two preliminary affidavits to bolster up the case in which Mr. Wilhelm and his son were attorneys. When asked by the other members of the Court how he had secured that information, how the attorneys knew of it, Judge Brumm said, ''Why I told them.'' Don't you think that a situation of that sort is entitled to some consideration. It is not controverted. Judge Brumm in his testimony does not controvert it in any spot or place.

The same situation exists in the Norwegian Township cases, at pages 137 and 138. His associate on the bench, Judge Bechtel says:

"A. Well, I cannot say that he informed counsel: I would not say that because I do not know it. I know the case was decided; it was a contested election, and there were a number of votes rejected by Judge Koch and myself on the proposition that the tax receipts did not show that they had paid a county or state tax within two years; they would simply read "John Jones, 18 cents," and we could not tell what they had paid, and Judge Brumm did not agree with that ruling. We concluded our labors on Wednesday or Thursday of that week, and the following day Mr. Frank Brumm presented me a petition, asking me to open the case and to permit them to amend the record in that particular. Now I asked Judge Koch if he had told Mr. Wilhelm or Mr. Brumm concerning it, and he said he had not."

Now referring to Judge Koch's testimony, the associate of Judge Bechtel. Now I asked Judge Koch if he had told Mr. Wilhelm or Mr. Brumm concerning it and he said he did not, and Judge Bechtel testifies that he did not. There are a number of other cases of similar nature, but I do not wish to impose upon the good nature of the House. In fact it would have been my desire to have submitted these reports without comment. All that is necessary in my opinion is a fair reading of the testimony and I do believe that the preponderance of the evidence in this case unquestionably points that Judge Brumm has not conducted himself in a judicial manner. It is not necessary that Judge Brumm be corrupt or anything of the sort. It is not necessary that he commit a statutory misdemeanor in order to be impeached. Demeanor merely means behavior, and misdemeanor means misbehavior, judicial misdemeanor. He does not have to be corrupt. It is not necessary at all.

Taking you to the testimony of James J. Bell, at page 206 and the testimony of E. D. Smith, page 216: Mr. Smith is one of the leading members of the bar of Schuylkill County and has been a member of the bar for thirty-five years. I think any one who is acquainted in Schuylkill county will recognize that fact. He is perhaps engaged in as many cases as any other member of that bar and has been a member of that bar since 1871. He says:

"A. His treatment of counsel on repeated occasions has been humiliating, calculated by his conduct to injure a lawyer in the eyes of his client who was present in court to injure him in the eyes of the public and to prejudice the case in the eyes of the jury. Judge Brumm has three words that are very "pat" that he repeatedly uses towards counsel, that offers or objections are silly, or that they are nonsence and one other of similar importance, "trifling."

''Q. Does he seem to have personal preference over one attorney. A. I cannot answer that question accurately. I can give you my impressions from what the bar says. The bar says that he has a preference and prefers certain members of the bar or members of the bar, favors them, I mean, not prefers, favors them in adopting their views of matters that come before him judicially

"Q. Does he make that preference to the prejudice to the rights of the respected litigants. A. I cannot recall any instance that I could give as an illustration of that it is to the prejudice of opposing counsel as far as I can say.

"Q. To your own knowledge does the judge leave the bench and participate in the examination and cross examination of witnesses to the prejudice of the rights of the respective witnesses."

This is in reply to a question by Mr. Glenn.

''A. I have seen him leave the bench and examine witnesses and in my judgment to the prejudice of the case."

Think of considering that. Judge Brumm is deaf, quite deaf, and on that account and on account of his age many excuse some of these indiscretions. Mr. Smith in his testimony says:

"I don't think there is a more regular attendant at the sessions of this court than I am. I believe the other members of the bar recognize that I am here as often or oftener than any other members of the bar."

Mr. Smith is one of the leading members at that bar.

Mr. Speaker, I think the House has full and thorough oportunity to read this testimony and I hope to weigh it, I will not stop to take up any further time. I might go into details and might recite a number of other instances in which the court has been indiscret and has abused his prerogative, has invaded the rights of jurors. There are six or seven jurors who have served before Judge Brumm who have testified and not one of the many jurors who have served upon cases testified in behalf of Judge Brumm. A number of jurors said that he stood them up and when they had a recommendation of mercy in the verdict and he said if he knew who it was he would send them across the road, meaning to the jail. That was unnecessary. The court was not obliged to observe the recommendation of mercy. He might have paid no attention to it. It is not binding upon the Court in any way. In another case in which Stewart Glover was a witness, the Court talked to him on the street after the verdict was rendered, when he was walking along the street, and asked him why he arrived at that verdict, and Mr. Glover told him that there were twelve members on the jury and there were several ballots taken and that was the opinion of the twelve men and that the Court had no right to question him about it.

It is born book law. Any member of this House will know it: That the province of the jury is just as sacred, that the rights, duties and powers of jurors are just as sacred, just as separate and distinct from those of the Court as day is from night. There are certaain points beyond which the court cannot go. The jury is the judge of the facts in the case. The facts are for their consideration. The Court has no right whatever to invade the province of the jury in that respect. They alone are the judges of the facts. In numerous instances the court almost--all of those who have testified for the complainant and several as I have read to you for the defendant, say that the judge takes a position early in the case and follows that. He gets an idea early in the case that the man is guilty and he sticks to that. In other words, that he bends the will of those jurors, imposing his will upon them and overshadows their judgment, so far in some instances as to induce many of the jurors to go the other way. So strongly does he try to impose his own will upon them that a number testified that if anything it had the opposite affect. That surely makes mockery of justice when cases are decided in that manner.

In conclusion, I merely wish to say, as when I started, I have absolutely no feeling in this matter. I wish that the Committee might have been unanimous, but a careful and I may say prayerful consideration of the facts in this case lead me to the unalterable conclusion that Judge Brumm has been guilty of irregularities and indiscretion which in my mind warrant the framing or articles of impeachment. I am not one of those who believe in the recall of judges. I am heartily and consistently opposed to it. If my position in the matter, my attitude came from one who feels lightly on the matter and believes that judges should be impeached, or recalled at will, you might give little weight to it, but I assure you that I believe in the integrity of our Courts, in their good intentions and in their probity. There are very few exceptions. Gentlemen it is not my desire to move you from your convictions in the matter. I do not think a jury address proper in such a case as this even were I able to make it. The matter is before you and after all you are merely a jury.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, the duty of this Committee, as you can readily see from the report before you, has not been either a delightful task or an easy one and I dare say that if the opportunity were afforded any one of us again to go through similar experiences I think we would rather hastily decline. I do not feel, gentlemen of the House, as though the minority of this committee should be on the defensive and answer any allegations or criticisms made by any member of the majority of the Committee and that feeling comes because of the fact that there has not been a word of criticism, so far as the teestimony quoted by the minority report is concerned, so far as its truthfulness and so far as its having been quoted properly. We believe that when we were appointed a committee to investigate these charges that we were analagous to a grand jury.

We were simply there to listen to the testimony which would either make out or not make out a prima facia case. It was not our duty to report a final judgment. We are not trying Judge Brumm. If Judge Brumm is to be tried he is to be tried by a higher body than this. He is to be tried under the Constitution of our State by the Senate. We were merely a grand jury and for that reason and for that reason solely do the Minority Committee report to you its findings so far as the prima facia case was concerned. We do not quote and our Chairman is correct when he says that we do not quote such matters of opinion which were favorable to Judge Brumm. We were there to get facts, not opinions. It made little difference to this committee, and it should make little difference to this House as to what the opinion of any citizen of Schuylkill County is so far as Judge Brumm's integrity and honesty is concerned. We were not after opinions, we were after facts. Those facts we have quoted to you from the testimony and they cannot be denied. Now the question is do these facts constitute sufficient upon which to base charges. That is the one question that is before you, and you are not to determine in this House whether or not Judge Brumm is a good man, and an honest man or whether he is seventy-five years of age or whether he is a Progressive or whether he is a Bull Mooser. But you are to determine from these faces whether sufficient charges have been made to bring him before the Bar of the Senate and plead to these charges. If you can for a moment drop any social persuasion or political of sentimental persuasion, and if you will stop thinking of Judge Brumm and if you will stop to think of the principle bound up in this report, and the findings and recommendations of the minority, you will be able to do more justice even to the man himself of whom complaint is made. We boast about our judicial system, and our institutions and our judges. It is the boast of every man in this State and of every citizen in this community that whatever may be said of our public officials and whatever may be said of our political parties, and whatever corruption may exist in our political spheres, our bench has always been. with few exceptions, I think only two in the State of Pennsylvania, clear of any charges. That is a worthy record, and a noble record, and on account of that record do you men have those liberties which you enjoy. You could not enjoy that in our Commonwealth and in our institutions and we could not expect to enjoy that liberty if we permit to creep into our judicial system, not corruption, but a nonrigid adherence to the lines laid down for the action of the judges, and the duties of the judges and the jury, and the rights of the witnesses and parties litigant as we lawyers have been taught by the common law and as you members of the laity have experienced whenever you walk into courts of justice. No there is no conditions of affairs that can exist in any State that would justify any judge, no matter how honest, no matter how high-minded, or how great his integrity to take the entire proceedings in his own hands and become at one and the same time the judge, lawyer and jury. That sort of conduct is reprehensible not only to a lawyer, but to every member of the laity, and it was well stated by one of the jurors who testified before this committee, a miner. a man without any education,—I do not mean illiterate but with no higher education, who worked every day for his living, and served as a petit juror, when he was asked what his objections were to Judge Brumm's conduct, said: "We jurors thought he was the judge, lawyer and jury." That is what is the most important quarrel in this matter. I think you men have walked into court on cases either as parties litigant or as witnesses with a wholesome respect and the very highest respect for the court. I know that it is a solemn institution and I know that it should be given that respect which it commands, and we are asking that the courts be conducted in an orderly manner, so as to merit that respect. The judge should instruct in matters of law, give instructions to the jury, protect witnesses against inhuman treatment on the part of lawyers, and see that the lawyers conduct themselves properly and charge the jury so far as the law is concerned. That has been our custom. What do we see in Judge Brumm's court? Can it be denied that in four years' time Judge Brumm has publicly quarreled in an open court room when court was in session with two of his colleagues on the bench, and either committed for contempt or threatened to commit for contempt, fourteen different members of the bar. I say that to the members of this House, and the minority report has not one word to deny that allegation as to whether or not he did not either commit for contempt or threaten to commit for contempt fourteen different members of the bar all of whom had been at that bar not less than twenty years. Isn't it a fact that he quarreled with Judge Shay and with Judge Bechtel? Is that all? No, he didn't stop there. He was not content with quarreling with his colleagues on the bench or with the leading members of the bar, who had cases there. We have testimony in that report to show that he has called witnesses perjurers and that he has threatened jurors that where the verdicts were not satisfactory. or to his way of thinking, he has threatened to commit them. What spectacle do you see? A man trying to administer justice. We see a man administering justice with a mailed fist. That might be well and good if we were in Russia or in Persia or in some Zcardom where the man is absolutely beyond the scope of the law and the power of the people, but we cannot have exhibitions like that in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where we are supposed to have a free unbiased and unprejudiced judiciary. There has been some question raised about Judge Brumm's honesty and integrity. That has already been gone over but to my mind it matters little what his honesty and integrity are so far as his interference in concerned in the trial of cases. We have any amount of testimony to show that Judge Brumm in cases that come before him makes up his mind as to which side is right and proceeds to develop the case along these lines and intimidates all witnesses who testify against that side of the case. That has been shown in the report, the testimony of witnesses is there for you to read. What chance has a litigant that comes into court to get justice, what opportunity has that man to get justice if the Judge takes sides in the case nor corruptly or dishonestly, perhaps, but because in his judgment he thinks he is right. We have justice pictured as a woman blind, with a blindfold around her eyes so that she shall not be able to see the parties that come before her, but simply hear them. Unfortunately that is not true in Schuylkill County with Judge Brumm on the bench. There justice seems to be four-eyed and two-headed. Let us see how his conduct works out, and how bold these actions must appear to you as cited in the case of Bernitonis et al. The records of the case show that in that case he called the defendants in the case perjurers, and said to them, "If you had not perjured yourselves, I would possibly be a little easier with you." The attorney for the defendants insisted upon the innocence of his clients. The attorney for the defendants stated that it was the judge's attitude and conduct all through that case against the defendants that compelled the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty. Now we have the fact of a judge who has already convicted two men. Now what do we find. Within three weeks' time this very Judge paroles these prisoners. Why? One of two reasons. He realized possibly that he was wrong, that it was a mistake of judgment, that it was a mistake of law in an attempt to administer justice according to his beliefs. He made an error and could have wiped out that record of that court in reference to the conviction. Now what happens. A petition prepared by the junior counsel for the defense is handed by Frank Brumm to the Parole Officer, and the Parole Officer goes to Shenandoah and there interviews bank presidents as to the character of the defendants, and he finds that instead of the defendants having perjured themselves that the prosecutors had perjured themselves. Let us take Mr. Simon's word that this is the truth. Then he comes back to Pottsville and what does he do? He goes to the office of Frank Brumm and Judge Brumm is present. Mr. Simon said that Judge Brumm stood within four feet of them an de says to Frank Brumm: "You have not got half your case;" and within three weeks of the time that these men were convicted they were paroled by Judge Brumm. and the sum of two hundred dollars was handed to Frank Brumm, because he had handed this petition to the parole officer. You can take what conclusions you want from that. The majority committee did not refer to that in their argument and I am not surprised that they did not. Would not this in itself be a sufficient reason for the removal of any judge from the bench together with the interference of such judge in the trial of cases. But when a judge goes further and violates every law surely he is not the right man to sit as judge, and surely lacks every element that goes to make up the qualifications of a judge. Now in the case of Brannon, I think that is the name, the man was accused of a crime. He was tried by a jury of his peers, twelve men tried and true, and the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty and placed half of the costs upon the defendant and half upon the prosecutor. We are told this, it is oral testimony. Let us first tell you what the record shows. It says that when the jury came in and said "not guilty," the clerk of that court, by order of Judge Brumm, made and entered on the docket an order that the verdict shall not be entered, and if that statement of facts don't shock you men, as lawyers, why we have no judicial system and there is no such thing as common law or statutory law to protect our liberties. A man has been found not guilty by a jury and the clerk of the court is directed and it is not entered and it is ordered that this verdict be not entered and what is the result? That that man who had not been guilty was kept in jail for thirty days after he was acquitted. By what right did Judge Brumm keep that poor man in jail? What guarantee of liberty have the citizens of Schuylkill County to-day and by what right can Judge Brumm do that and by what right can he warrant such action. When do we know that Judge Brumm will not keep any defendant in jail, after a jury has acquitted him, or will make similar entries? What justification does he have? He said there was a motion made before me (and this is borne out by an affidavit), by the private counsel for the prosecutor who objected to the costs being placed upon his client and he ordered the clerk to refuse to enter the verdict on account of the motion and after the motion had been withdrawn thirty days afterward ordered the verdict to be entered for the execution. If it were not ludicrous I would dwell upon it. but it is worse than that; it is tragic, that a man who is learned in the law, and you cannot be a member of the judicial bench unless you are learned in the law, and there is not a man who has ever undertaken to study law who has ever read one chapter of Blackstone—there is not a man who is a layman. if he knows anything about constitutional government, that does not know that you cannot confine a man to prison on a verdict of not guilty and that you cannot question a verdict of not guilty. If Judge Brumm had to rest his entire care on that one point alone, it would bar him not only of being a judge but of being a member of the bar. You cannot find a precedent to justify this confinement after the verdict of not guilty; in spite of this. this man was kept in jail for thirty days. In three cases he has sentenced people that he had no right to. I quarreled with my friend from Blair, Mr. Claycomb, a little while ago I didn't mean to be malicious about it, in the case of Brannan, sentenced to two years more than the law allows, was the offense there. You cannot give a man a higher sentence on any one indictment, where a man is indicted on separate counts and is convicted on a higher count. You can only give him the sentence which the law provides in the indictment. In the Brannan case, it was seven years and he gave him nine years. He gave two prisoners two years each for being drunks and vagrants. He could have given them thirty days for one charge and at the end of thirty days he could have given them thirty days on the other charge. The Judge might have made a mistake, but there is no excuse for mistakes of this kind. The statute laws of Pennsylvania are printed and they appear on the desk and bench of every court in the State of Pennsylvania and every judge has them at hand and he has the right to refer to them. Mistakes like that are costly to the liberties of the people. You cannot recall mistakes of that kind, even if we justify the action of Judge Brumm as being a mistake on account of the aggravation that may have been caused by some remark by the prisoner at the bar. possibly some insulting remark, but no judge has the right to take the law in his own hands in sentencing a prisoner because of some such insulting remark. That is taking the law in his own hands. He is no more justified than the mere citizen that walks on the streets. We condemn men who after an unspeakable crime has been committed, take the unhappy victim and lynch him and our voices are raised in protest. We are inflamed and we have a right to be because actions of that kind are to be frowned down, but we have similar actions in the conduct of Judge Brumm when he does these things. I don't care whether you commit it without the law or within the right of law or whether you do it under the cloak of the law, it is more heinous for a judge who is sworn to do his duty to commit an act of that kind than when an act of a similar character is committed by an inflamed populace. He should be seated on the bench. not inflamed, not biased, not prejudiced. I could stand here possibly all day and present arguments along this line but it is not my right to detain you long. What we want is to see our duty; what we have done is to perform our duty. I hope we have accomplished it and while if nothing else results from this case, except that we reiterate our right of trial by jury and enforce that right, we shall have accomplished sufficient. The right of trial by jury was brought to us by our forefathers. It was given to us by the magna charta; it was brought to us from away back and you know how much blood was spilled. I wonder whether we on this beautiful June morning, sitting here quietly without a worry on our heads, whether we are the proper tribunal; whether we realize that we are the proper tribunal to judge whether or not we shall uphold the right of trial by jury. If that principle sinks down in your minds, you will stop to consider your position. A great deal has been said here by various members of the committee of the honesty and integrity of Judge Brumm. If there were no more in this case—if there was not anything more except the testimony which goes to show that Judge Brumm interfered with the jury; that he took sides on cases and insisted that that side only be considered; he quarreled with his brother judges and he quarreled with fourteen different lawyers in the course of four years; he confined men without crime when tried and found not guilty, illegally sentenced people without law when he had no right to sentence them, and if there was nothing else in this case but that, and these statements are borne out by the testimony, surely this would be sufficient to act upon the charges preferred. In spite of the fact that if every man who came to the stand, if it were so, if they had said Judge Brumm was an honest man, it could not offset all these charges because they would be opinions of these people expressed as individuals. What we quote are facts. One lawyer going on the stand said that Judge Brumm intimidated a witness and shook his fist at him. There are other statements of fact and they are not colored. They were seen by the witnesses and they were explained to the committee by the witnesses who saw them. To say he is honest is not testimony; it is a matter of opinion. We are not interested in that and if there were no more in this case than I have already said, I think there is enough to make Judge Brumm come before the bar of the Senate and at least explain his conduct. but there is more: There can be no question in my mind or in your mind that every judge that has ever presided in the courts of Pennsylvania or in any other State has not been angel-faced or white-robed. They are all human, they will make their errors and mistakes, for which we are willing to forgive them if they don't deprive citizens of their liberty, as was done in numerous cases by Judge Brumm.

In the case previously referred to, he did not restore this man's liberty as a citizen, he merely paroled him. On the records of Schuylkill County he stands guilty of assault and battery and that record will stand as long as that man lives. That will follow him. He will never be able to take the stand as a witness in any court that he will be able to deny that he has been found guilty of crime although he is an innocent man. In spite of the fact that Judge Brumm has admitted that they were not perjurors, he did not restore to them their innocent characters but simply paroled them. Here is testimony that going towards whether he is honest or not.

Judge Brumm in court represents Sweeney and gets a license. The license is allowed to lapse and after a number of years, Judge Brumm goes on the bench and Sweeney reapplies for his license. These facts are uncontradictory. Judge Brumm goes on the bench and a reapplication is made for Sweeney's license by Frank Brumm, son of the Judge, and it is testified to by the President Judge of that Court, Bechtel, that Judge Brumm made the proposition that if Judge Bechtel would vote for the Sweeney license he would vote for any two or three that Judge Bechtel might want. Judge Bechtel refused to enter into that sort of a trade in liquor licenses. If it were Judge Bechtel's word against Judge Brumm's word, I am afraid that even I, biased as I am accused of being, might say: "Let us give the man accused the benefit of the doubt." Judge Brumm has denied this statement. We have men in addition to the President Judge in that court testifying, and among them Judge Shap testifies in regard to this statement made to Judge Bechtel and says: "I was present when the proposition was made by Judge Brumm to Bechtel, but Judge Bechtel turned it down." There can be no denial of that statement. But no member of the majority committee has referred to that incident. Judge Brumm says he didn't say anything of the kind. I believe that your patience has been ample reward to me, and I feel that I have burdened you already too much, but a word as to the charges of bias or unfairness.

I would not draw it to this House's attention, because I feel impervious to newspaper criticism. Any man that accepts a duty of this kind where so much feeling has been shown is bound to be criticised. As I said before I would not draw misallegation to the attention of the House the fact that at the conclusion of the hearing, as shown to the House, by the testimony Mr. Lenehan, of counsel for Judge Brumm, said, in a spirit of fairness, the committee had given an absolutely fair and impartial hearing, and I as one of the members of that committee, together with Mr. Mitchell, believe that applies to us as well as to a majority of members of this committee. In conclusion, let me say this to you. The question propounded by the committee to the Honorable Mr. Lenehan, counsel for Judge Brumm, if the evidence that has been adduced before this committee is true, in your opinion is there sufficient upon which to base charges for impeachment? He said, "Yes, if it is true there is enough upon which to base impeachment charges." Now, I ask you men of the House have we a right to say that the testimony which was given by four judges of the court of Schuylkill County, by forty members of the bar of Schuylkill county, so far as Judge Brumm's conduct is concerned, and eight petit jurors of Schuylkill County, by a jury commissioner of Schuylkill County, and by two of the commissioners is absolutely false; that these are simply partisan and are trying to lie about Judge Brumm's conduct for the purpose of having him impeached? Can we accept a responsibility of that kind and shall we dare? No, we have not that right. Our duty is wholly to uphold the free and untrammeled justice to the great State of Pennsylvania and its citizens; to take Mr. Lenehans word; to say that if we find this testimony has been given by men of high repute, by men of high honor, and by men who are officers of the court, we will simply say that there is sufficient upon which to base an impeachment case, and we will let the upper tribunal or court, the Senate of Pennsylvania, try this question as to whether these charges are true or not. That is the attitude for this House. That is the attitude which my colleague, Mr. Mitchell and myself took. Our judgment in this matter is not a finality. We do not condemn. We do not have the right to condemn. What we say here today is not in condemnation of Judge Brumm. It is condemnation of a certain spirit, of a certain attitude which we believe has a right to be determined as to its rightfulness by the Senate of Pennsylvania. That is our duty.

Mr. GLENN. Mr. Speaker, the House has listened very patiently to the several arguments for and against the adopting of this report and I shall not take up very much more time. As a member of the Committee I simply want to call the House's attention to two or three of the eleven charges made against Judge Brumm by the report of the minority. On page 73 of the report we find these eleven charges set forth. I will agree with the minority that almost any one of these items, if true, would be sufficient to authorize impeachment charges against Judge Brumm. I want to take up only for one moment Article 8 referred to by Mr. Speiser, in which it is alleged that Judge Brumm illegally detained defendants after a verdict was rendered favorable to such defendants. Turning back to the minority report in this matter on page 67, we find but one case is cited, the case of Commonwealth versus Bowers. The defendant in this case is charged with assault and battery and acquitted on the tenth day of November, 1912. I hold in my hand, Mr. Speaker, the affidavits of the attorneys for Mr. Bowers and the certified record from the Clerk all admitted in evidence showing just what happened in that case. Bowers was not acquitted absolutely. He was acquitted of the charge of assault and battery, but it was a part of the verdict of the jury that he should pay half the costs. For this reason he was detained in jail. He was already in jail at the time the verdict was given and he simply remained there until he was discharged by the automatic action of the county commissioners. It certainly was not Judge Brumm's obligation to go and see that he was released. He could not be released, as a matter of fact, until he had paid these costs. It is also true, that in connection with that case a certain motion was made that the verdict be not entered. This motion was made by the attorney for the Commonwealth, Mr. Haughawaught, and was made for the following reasons: "First, because the Commonwealth was deprived of the right to challenge; there were but twelve jurors in the court room at the time the case was taken up. A verdict should not has been rendered for that reason for the second reason, that the evidence for the Commonwealth was unchallenged or denied to the effect that the defendant had been a maliganant tresspasser in the prosecutor's house. The defendant did not deny it, and the conflict was provoked by the defendant, with a view to finally break up the family of the prosecutor; and further the Court's record of defendant's crimes exhibit such a state of facts of the defendant's previous convictions and sentences, as to stamp his testimony as incredible and unworthy of belief, and his acquittal was not justified under the evidence." Judge Brumm certainly had nothing to do with that. The defendant was not held in jail on account of this motion and the corresponding order made thereon. He was held in jail automatically on account of the non-payment of costs. The second of the most important charges of the minority report is that numbered nine on page seventy-four, "Illegally making public decisions about to be rendered by the court, for the purpose of privately assisting counsel." Turn back to page sixty-nine and read this report. The report says that in the Wilson Equity case, "Frank Brumm was of counsel for one of the parties litigant; that the decision in the cases had been prepared by Judge Bechtel, denying the injunction prayed for my Frank Brumm of counsel, for want of injunction affidavits, that Judge Bechtel informed his colleagues on the bench, Judge Shay and Judge Brumm, of his decision; that on the day following Judge Brumm personally, brought to court the injunction affidavits, that Judge Brumm stated to Judge Shay and Judge Bechtel that he had obtained them from Mr. Wilhelm (Frank Brumm's associate in the case." Now, Mr. Speaker, in no less than four different instances in this minority report, Frank Brumm is said to have been counsel in this case called the Wilson equity case. There is absolutely no evidence in this report or found on the records of Schuylkill County in any way associating Frank Brumm with that case. I have here, Mr. Speaker, the paper books in the same case, which was appealed to the Superior Court, and on neither side of the case does Frank Brumm's name appear. The statement that Frank Brumm is counsel on that case, Mr. Speaker, I can only stigmatize as being absolutely false. One more instance, and that number 10, "Illegally offering to traffic in liquor licenses." On page 70 the report of the minority reads as follows: "The evidence in this charge, quoted on pages 43-45 of this report, consisting of the testimony of Judges Bechtel and Shay, shows that Judge Brumm offered to vote for any license that Judge Brumm desired if he, Judge Bechtel, would vote in favor of the Sweeney License." In the report of the minority it is alleged that Judge Brumm's son, Frank Brumm, was the attorney for the applicant in that case.

In looking over the testimony, Mr. Speaker, turning to page 133, I read as follows from the evidence of one of the other judges: "Q. Was it by reason of the fact that Judge Bechtel would not enter into such an arrangement? A. He would not vote for that license and I would not vote for it I did vote one or two; I voted, with Judge Brumm in the reinstatement of a license to a man by the name of Campbell." Mr. Speaker, the records of Schuylkill County show that the "Campbell license" was granted in 1909, and the records of Schuylkill County also show absolutely that in 1909 Frank Brumm did not represent Sweeney. He did represent this applicant in later years, but not at the time Judge Brumm is accused of illegally trafficing in this license. Mr. Speaker, in conclusion, it seems to me very unfortunate that in this House a controversy has arisen over this matter. The Committee you appointed in this matter can be likened to the group of justices comprising our Supreme Court or our Superior Court, where the decision of the majority of the bench is final; or better yet, to our Grand Jury system, where the action of twelve of the twenty-three members is absolutely binding in deciding upon the guilt of a defendant. Your Committee, Mr. Speaker, acted in exactly the same capacity as a grand jury. They were charged to investigate the charges preferred by Cornelius F. Foley, against the Honorable Charles N. Brumm, one of the judges of the twenty-first Judicial District and report its findings as to the truth of the allegations named in the complaint, together with testimony taken; and if the evidence warrants, to formulate articles of impeachment and present the same to the House." In fairness to the committee the House should adopt the majority report.

And in conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, I shall not take up much of the time of the House, but I ask your indulgence for but a few moments. I realize that this case has taken much of your time and that it has been very tedious. I want to say to you gentlemen that in passing upon this question that you are passing upon that which affects a man most seriously, which is dearer to him than his life, and that is his honor. And in my judgment these proceedings are the most serious thing which has been before this House for its action this session and I simply want to take up two or three points in this case with respect to the charges against the Judge on excessive sentencing and the question of licenses, and I think I can convince you from the law and from the Court records which I have here that I am correct in my position.

The case of Commonwealth vs. Brennan was a case wherein a man was found guilty generally, pleaded to the indictment which contained the following counts: assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery with intent to kill. That is all the evidence that there is upon the question, except the fact that he sentenced him to a period of nine years and the Minority Committee in its report raises this question that all the convictions of a lesser grade are merged in the higher and therefore he could not have been sentenced to a longer period than seven years. I agree with the principle of law as indicated by the gentleman from Philadelphia, that where there is a single offense the highest count is the one on which the sentence is given. But there is nothing in the evidence except the three counts in the indictment and he was sentenced for nine years. I read from the case on Commonwealth vs. Birdsall, 69th Penna. p. 485, where there were two counts in the indictment, one for feloniously breaking and entering etc. and the second for larceny and the point was raised that the Judge sentenced him upon two counts which sentence was alleged to be illegal. Here is what the Supreme Court says:

"It has been contended for the plaintiff in error that the larceny and the breaking and entering charge in the separate counts of this indictment were done at one and the same time, and therefore cannot be punished as separate offenses. If this had appeared in the record the point would be well taken. But no presumption of identity exists. When, says, Mr. Wharton, an indictment charges in one count a breaking and entering a building with intent to steal, and in another count a stealing in the same building on the same day, and the defendant is found guilty generally; the sentence, whether that which is proper for the burglary only, or for the burglary and larceny also, cannot be reversed on error because the record does not show whether one offence only or two were proved at the trial; and as this must be known by the judge who tried the case, the sentence will be presumed to have been according to the law that was applicable to the facts proved; Am. C. L. ed. 1868, 417. For this he cites two cases from 11 Metcalf 575 and 581. There can be no doubt the Court of Quarter Sessions had good reasons for passing the sentence on each count of this indictment; and so the defendant or his counsel must have thought he would not have suffered three years to run, and when the facts were likely to be forgotten, before taking out a writ of error.

If he saw fit he might have sentenced him on up to ten years.

Let me take the case of the liquor license spoken of here, wherein the charge is made that Judge Brumm illegally offered to traffic in liquor licenses referring particularly to the Sweeney license, his son, Frank, being the counsel for the Sweeney license. If you turn to the testimony of Judge Bechtel on page 136 you will find that there he does not speak positively. He speaks from his recollection and fixes it presumably at 1910 but he says that his recollection is as that of Judge Shay and if you turn to page 133 and see what Judge Shay says in effect "I am not positive, but I remember distinctly that I voted upon the Campbell License." Now get that. Judge Bechtel fixes the time as that of Shay and Shay fixes the time with the granting of the Campbell license. Now the Campbell License, and I have it here, was a license that was granted in 1909. Here is the record and in 1909 counsel for the Sweeney License was M. M. Burke, and Frank Brumm was not counsel for that license in 1909. Now I think that sufficiently answers that count. Then there is the Matsick case. Now it is alleged there was a case wherein he sentenced a women to jail upon a surety proposition. The Judge says himself that he knows that you cannot sentence to jail on a surety. But what do the records show. They show that this woman had been found guilty on the charge of indecent exposure and upon payment of costs sentence was suspended. Here is a petition setting forth that this woman is a dangerous woman and shortly after that she mortally stabbed her husband. She was brought in on that charge of indecent exposure and sentenced to one year. In the case of Kelly, Robertson and Williams, these men pleaded guilty. What is the charge? Excessive sentence. Let us see as to this. You will find that these men were vagrants, tramps, and in the report when they discussed the proposition they overlooked the Act of Assembly of 1879, upon the subject of tramps. Now let us see how that fits in. These men were guilty of entering a house and when ordered out they refused to go and had to be put out and fought with the officer and are charged with disorderly conduct, vagrancy, drunkenness, resisting an officer and also entering a house. Now let me show you what the Act of 1879 says on that proposition. I read from the laws of Pennsylvania on page 33 of the Act of 1879 and the first section says this—the title is, An Act to Define and Punish Tramps

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any person going about from place to place begging asking or subsisting upon charity and for the purpose of acquiring money or a living and who shall have no fixed place of residence or lawful occupation in the county or city in which he shall be arrested shall be taken and deemed to be a tramp and guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction shall be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment by separate and solitary confinement at labor in the county jail or workhouse for not more than twelve months in the discretion of the court Provided That if any person so arrested can prove by satisfactory evidence that he does not make a practice of going about begging or subsisting upon alms for the purpose aforesaid in the manner above set forth he shall not be deemed guilty of the offense hereinbefore described and upon such proof shall be discharged from arrest either by the magistrate before whom he is committed or by the court upon hearing of the case upon writ of habeas corpus."

"Section 2. Any tramp who shall enter a dwelling house against the will or without the permission of the owner or occupant thereof or shall kindle any fire in the highway or on the land of another without the owners consent or shall be found carrying any firearms or other dangerous weapon with intent unlawfully to do injury to or intimidate any other person, which intent may be inferred by the jury trying the case from the facts that the defendant is a tramp and so armed or shall do or threaten to do any injury not amounting to a felony to any person or to the real or personal estate of another shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment by separate or solitary confinement at labor for a period not exceeding three years."

That is the law on vagrancy in Pennsylvania. Let me say to the members of the House that when the hearing in this impeachment case closed in Pottsville it was understood that the Respondent might complete his defense by filing affidavits with the Committee and the affidavits were forwarded to the Committee and I have no doubt were considered, but they were not printed in this report for your perusal. Upon the Justice's Return in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Williams, Kelly and Robertson it appears that the sentence of two years was imposed for nuisance. That the statement as to nuisance is a mistake is made apparant by the affidavit of Jos. J. Kenney who states that it was apparently a misunderstanding on his part when he made such notation on the Return.

Now what does the Justice's Return show?

INFORMATION.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, County of Schuylkill, ss:

Before me, the subscriber, one of the justices of the peace in and for the county aforesaid, personally came Frank C. Leymeister, constable of the Borough of Orwigsburg, County of Schuylkill, who being duly sworn according to law, saith: That within the said county on the........... day of...........Anno Domini, 19...., a certain........... says that he is a regularly elected constable of Orwigsburg, Pa., that on the twenty-sixth day of July, A. D. 1910, he found on view one Harry Williams, George Kelly and George Robertson, persons who had no fixed place of residence in the borough or elsewhere, engaged in going from house to house begging, and when requested to leave, one tried twice to force his way into house; that they were intoxicated and engaged in disorderly conduct on the public highway; when requested to leave refused to go, and when arrested resisted arrest; that it was only by the assistance of M. R. Campbell, Joseph Raube and Benjamin Sterner, whom the constable called, that they were arrested and placed in Duress in lockup; that they were locked up the night previous, and when released in the morning failed to do so. Hence this complaint.

Sworn and subscribed before me, this twenty-sixth day of July, A. D., 1910.

H. H. BROWNMILLER,
Justice of the Peace.

Now let us look at the second section of the Act of 1879, which reads as follows:

Section 2 Any tramp who shall enter a dwelling house against the will or without the permission of the owner or occupant thereof or shall kindle any fire in the highway or on the land of another without the owner's consent or shall be found carrying any firearms or other dangerous weapon, with intent unlawfully to do injury to or intimidate any other person which intent may be inferred by the jury trying the case from the facts that the defendant is a tramp and so armed or shall do or threaten to do any injury not amounting to a felony to any person or to the real or personal estate of another shall upon conviction be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be sentenced to undergo an imprisonment by separate or solitary confinement at labor for a period not exceeding three years

Orwigsburg, Pa., July 27, 1910.

Mr. Lyons,

Dear Sir:—These three defendants during the hearing insulted the Justice constantly, calling me a pension sucker, and on seeing the pictures of Lincoln and McKinley, said they were sons sons of bitches. (Kelly and Robertson did that and Williams said he would fix me in the future).

H. H. BROWNMILLER,
Justice of the Peace.

That is the return that was made on those charges. Now here is an additional affidavit. I do not want to take your time to read, but it is as to their actions with reference to the pictures of Lincoln and McKinley which were spit on and sworn about. They pleaded guilty and sentence was imposed and I think it was clearly proven to be right. What is the total amount of sentence, two years or more. It is shown in the Act that they could get that. I am not going to take your time any longer to go into this case, but I do want you to stop and consider what a serious thing this is. I know Judge Brumm. I know him personally. I do not pretend to stand here as a member of the bar of Schuylkill County and say he is without fault. That is not the question. The question is whether he had the judicial temperament and ability and the voters of Schuylkill County had that to decide and they decided it in his favor. They decided after a long experience of his in public life, after fifteen years in Congress and there is not one can question his honesty and integrity. There is the question of judicial temperament. I take it that judicial temperament is that disposition of the conscience, the mind and the will of a judge. That moves him to hear patiently evidence in the case and the argument of counsel and leads him to decide the questions involved and determine the rights at issue in accordance with the principles of law:

Why, gentlemen, do you mean to say that because a man makes an error in law it is impeachable. Take the case of Com. vs. Brower. I don't want to go into that. I have the papers here. I do not want to take up your time on that, but that man was fund guilty—not guilty, but pay half the costs. Counsel for the prosecution raised a point, submits a rule and the sentence is suspended. The verdict is not entered. Now the question that arises there is this: Not a question as to the motive of the judge, because they don't question the honesty of his motives; not what I would have done if I had been engaged on that case, which would incline me to say that your motion is out of order because you represent the Commonwealth, and therefore waived the right. But the attorney for the Commonwealth said: "You did not give me the right number of jurors to challenge from," and the answer could be, "You waived your rights." But the Judge says: "I will hear you," but he did not remand him to prison. The man was in prison because of his inability to get bail and what does the attorney for the defendant say? The young man says: "I took no steps towards their release because I have been asked by the District Attorney to set in the case, and I was not paid to sit in the case, etc." It was not the fourteenth day of October, but on the fourth day of October that this senence was entered and the man discharged. Now then substantial injustice was not done to the man, because of the fact that he would have been sentenced for one-half the costs. I admit, as a legal proposition, in my judgment the court should not have entertained that rule; but you do not say that he did it corruptly. You do not say that he did it for the purpose of keeping that man in jail. What is it then? An error of judgment, a misunderstanding of the law. And when the time comes when Courts of Common Pleas do not make errors in the trial of cases the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and of Oyer and Terminer, you need no Appellate Courts. Do away with your Appellate Court if your lower judges are without error. What is the proposition? Are you going to impeach a judge because he makes a mistake or misunderstands the law in the construction he puts upon it? Harsh in sentencing! I know the man and I know that he is humane to children. Woodbury in his testimony says so. He is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Children's Home. I have seen him myself. He came down the street. The probation officer had a child that had wandered away from its home and the attitude of that judge as he stooped to speak to that child and the probation officer asking for the facts in the case was as that of the father of the child. Don't tell me he is hard and tyranical. Has he made mistakes in judgment? Yes, but not of the heart. And I am here to bear testimony before the House to the fact. An able man, kind hearted.

The court room is in this place (indicating). If the Judge sits on the bench here the witness is on his left. That ear is deaf. He cannot hear there. What does he do? He comes down to them. That is in equity cases, as judges do when it is necessary to examine exhibits, maps, etc. There is no jury there. I remember the Buck Run case. There were maps and drawings showing the workings of the mines. It was necessary to go down and examine the maps and drainings in order to ascertain the facts in the case and to reach a proper determination. He did that. What was wrong about it? Hard of hearing—is that an impeachable offense? The people of the twenty-first judicial district knew that twenty-five years ago when they elected him to office and made him what he is today. How did he get that? He got that in performing a service for this country when many of us where not alive. His own testimony shows that as a boy he was among the first to offer his services in the Civil War. He became one of our first defenders. All of the first companies could not be taken out on account of insufficient traffic facilities. The Pottsville company was then taken. Judge Brumm enlisted as a private and was afterwards made lieutenant. He was down there in the service of his country when a bolt of lightning struck him and his companions. One of them was killed, and his left side was paralyzed. Now you would impeach him because he cannot hear well. There has been brought up the question of criminal intent. Where is it? Every one there tells you that there is no question as to his honesty, or as to his integrity, and I have shown you conclusively by the law that these sentences could be warranted in law as is supported by the testimony in this book and by the affidavits therein printed in that book. Now, my friends, I will close. There is much more I could say upon this proposition and I want you to answer this question in such a way that you can say, "I did this man no wrong." Impeach this when on the last great day you stand before your God Judge and upon evidence such as this you destroy that which to him is more than life itself, his honor, and good name. You put a blight upon him and upon his family for all time. I beseech you to consider well before you vote to support this minority report.

Mr. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker, before this question is voted upon, I want to say a few words in defense of Judge Brumm. I have known the Judge for twenty years. I have known him to be a man of honesty and integrity and his name is a by-word in Luzerne and Schuylkill Counties. His gallantry on the battle-fields of the Rebellion have been exploited by his comrades from one end of the State to the other, also by his colleagues in Congress for the courage of his convictions, and his loyalty and devotion to his country. My friend, Mr. Speiser, from Philadelphia, has said that Judge Brumm has quarreled with Judge Bechtel and various other attorneys in the court, and I would ask, is that not in keeping with the profession? The gentleman from Erie, Mr. Mitchell, has stated that one judge should be of the same temperament in all sections of the country. I do not agree with the gentleman. I believe the temperament of a judge to be in the same channels as that of a Sheriff. A sheriff in Pennsylvania might not be able to handle the criminal class of people that border the western parts of the country. As the brilliancy of the orators who exploited their opinions on this impeachment trial have been exhausted, I now in conclusion call for the previous question.

The SPEAKER. As there appears to be no other gentleman who desires to discuss the matter, the previous question is unnecessary. The question now is upon the motion offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speiser, that the report of the Minority be substituted for the report of the Majority, the report of the Majority being favorable to Judge Brumm, and the report of the Minority being against him.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the Majority Report?

It was agreed to.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The hour of one o'clock having arrived, this House will now take a recess until three o'clock this afternoon.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 3.00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter), in the Chair.

YEAS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

House Bill No. 1949.

An Act to provide revenue for State and County purposes and in cities co-extensive with counties for city and county purposes imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property providing for the assessment and collection of the same providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, line 3, by striking out the word "and."

Line 7, after the word "purposes" strike ou the remainder of the title.

Section 1, line 77, after the word "unions" strike out "And provided further That corporations limited partnerships and joint-stock associations liable to tax on capital stock for State purposes shall not be required to make any report or pay any further tax under this section on the mortgages bonds and other securities owned by them in their own right but corporations limited partnerships joint-stock associations holding such securities as trustees executors administrators guardians or in any other manner shall return and pay the tax imposed by this section upon such securities so held by them as in the case of individuals

Line 99, before the word "securities" strike out "such" and insert "all."

Section 7, line 8, strike the first word "with" and insert "wit."

Section 18, strike out the entire section, and renumber Sections 19 and 20, Sections 18 and 19, respectively.

Section 20, line 109, after the word "enacted" insert "and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith or which are hereby substantially re-enacted."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, the amendment made in this bill by the Senate consists in striking out a section which was added to the bill by the sub-committee which considered it in the House. We decided that perhaps it made the bill unconstitutional. That section which was added to this bill has been embodied in a separate bill in the Senate. It has passed the Senate and it is now in the House, and it has been agreed upon by those particularly interested in the Senate and in the House and those representing the city that this companion bill should be passed along with the bill now under discussion. If that bill is passed here both subjects or thoughts we had in mind may be taken care of properly in the two separate bills and in view of that arrangement and agreement, I ask the House to agree to the amendments made to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

NAYS—3.

Varson,
Glenn,
Herman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 1604,

An Act to further amend an act entitled "An Act to establish a Department of Agriculture and to define its duties and provide for its proper administration approved March thirteen one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five as amended by the acts of April fourteen one thousand nine hundred and three and June seven one thousand nine hundred and seven and to amend an act approved the fourth day of May one thousand nine hundred and five entitled "An Act entitled a supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to establish a Department of Agriculture and to define its duties and to provide for its proper administration' approved the thirteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five providing for the appointment of an Asistant Economic Zoologist and a stenographer and messenger for the Economic Zoologist' by adjusting the salaries of the officers and other persons appointed to service in said Department said bill having been amended by the Senate and the amendments non-concurred in by the House of Representatives.

With information that the Senate has further amended said bill in which amendments the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 4, page 4, line 38, striking out the words "thirty-six hundred dollars" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "four thousand dollars."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be laid upon the table.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask what reasons are suggested by the gentleman that the bill be laid upon the table? There ought to be some reason given. It is an agricultural bill and the House is full of agriculturalists, and being a member of the Agricultural Committee, if there is any good reason for it, I think the reason ought to be stated.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in making this motion to have this bill laid upon the table is because I do not wish to do any injustice to the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Erie. It is a salary raising bill. It is a bill growing out of the Agricultural Department. In the investigation of the General Appropriation Bill, those of us who are taking an interest in that bill find so many items raising the appropriations of that Department, that we want to have further time for examination and further explanation. The action that came back from our resolution the other night was extremely comprehensive; for instance, we find one item of $48,000.00 for the purpose of investigating and prosecuting the adulteration of oat stuff. We find that $112.00 was paid for prosecution and $48,000.00 paid out for salaries and analysis. Now before voting to increase any salaries in this Department I think we ought to have a little more time. There will be no harm done to the gentleman from Erie and should we possibly find his bill is meritorious we would not want to vote for non-concurrence and place it in a conference committee, if in a few hours investigation we can probably join with him. I feel extremely kind toward the gentleman from Erie and I merely ask that this bill be laid over, for the purpose of allowing us to get further information.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen, this amendment is now before the House and is not a salary raiser. This House voted with a good large vote to raise the salary of the officers in the Agricultural Department. That bill passed the House and was sent to the Senate. The Senate amended it in one particular outside of the title. That particular was this. We have made a salary for the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture and Director of Institutes, of $4,500.00. It was sent to the Senate and it came back changed in that one particular, reducing the salary of the Director of Institutes and the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture to $3,600.00. We made the motion in this House that we non-concur. It was sent back to the Senate and it comes back today as a sort of compromise, placing the salary of the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture and the Director of Institutes at $4,000.00, and I can hardly believe that the eloquent gentleman, the man who so closely watched everything, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, will this day defend a motion like that. I believe rather that he will stand for agriculture. I believe rather when he looks at the thing squarely in the face and squarely in the eye, he will see that that Department of the State of Pennsylvania ought to be evened up with the other Departments. It is only square play. It is fair to the agricultural interests in our State, the City or Country life or any other kind of life. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House I trust that you will vote down this motion and that you will vote aye on the amendment, that you vote to clean up this piece of just business, everybody, the city men as well as everybody else.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Erie be interrogated by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Erie how many new positions we have created in this bill.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot answer that question, how many new positions are created by this bill. I only know this, that I asked the Department and I asked other departments and I found out, sir, that after this bill was made a law, then it did not even place the department any higher than any other departments of the State.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further, how many salaries have been raised in addition to those already created by this bill.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, we raised almost all the salaries in the Agricultural Department, because, before this bill was introduced they were away below par.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, while I appreciate the fact that a motion to table is not debatable I hope the House will indulge us a little. I take it that we should have a little more time for this bill. It is not fair to those of us who do not want to oppose legislation of this kind, bearing on the agricultural subjects, nor to antagonize the gentleman from Erie. It is not fair to those of use who are investigating and we merely want time to investigate. The other night the gentleman sitting alongside of the gentleman from Erie insisted upon getting a bill postponed. It was postponed and got the unanimous vote of this House. Surely we ought to have consideration. We are not here for the purpose of opposing bills, but for getting information and if what he says is so, that the Agricultural Department is not getting what it should have in the way of proper pay we would not want to oppose his legislation. We are merely asking that we put this bill back on the Speaker's desk and wait there until we can get the information, and I am sure the gentleman from Erie will not oppose such a motion.

I am informed by some of the general appropriation committee, that the general appropriation bill will likely be out tomorrow morning. That will give us some information, and provided the information we have already got from the Agricultural Department in reference to the appropriation, and if this Department is a Department that ought to have the support of all of us, it will get the support of all of us. If it is a Department that we ought to attack we are going to attack it in all parts. Now, the gentleman from Erie surely appreciates the fact that this request is not made to him other than that we do not desire to oppose his legislation.

Mr. BAYLE. Mr. Speaker, I certainly appreciate the kindness of my good friend, the gentleman from Philadelphia, but I would call his attention to this fact, that this bill originally was not passed in haste. It was passed after full discussion. I would call his attention to another fact, that through all of these years, the various reports of expenditures and costs of salaries of these officials have been before the public, and therefore believing that today is the time to do a good act, that now is the right time, now Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen, I ask you to vote down this motion and vote aye on this amendment.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will not consent that this bill be laid upon the table for the time being, I insist upon my motion and call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. PEACHEY. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason whatever that this bill should be laid upon the table. The fact is that it has just one point in it and that is the salary of the Deputy Secretary of Agriculture. It left this House some time ago and that is where it is today, but for some reason or other over in the Senate they cut that down to $3600.00 and I cannot see any reason for that. There is another thing. Here is a man whose salary they put down to $3600.00, or $400.00 lower than others in the same line in other Departments, and yet to cut this one in the Agricultural Department down to $3600.00, I cannot see any reason for it; because if there is one man in that Department that comes near the farmer, it is the Deputy Secretary of Agricultural and Director of Farmers Institutes, and I do not think there is any need whatever to wait on the general appropriation bill, the fact being that it don't affect that in any way whatever, and I do not think that this ought to be laid on the table. The fact is that it ought to go through.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Mifflin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Mifflin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PEACHY. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman don't make it too hard.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Mifflin if he can tell us how many new positions are made by this bill?

Mr. PEACHEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe I can answer that.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman how many salaries have been raised besides the deputy secretary.

Mr. PEACHEY. Mr. Speaker, they have all raised, and I say it, and say it without reservation, that they should have been higher than they are here. I do not see why they should work for less money than they do in the other departments. Perhaps the gentleman from Philadelphia can explain why they should work for less money.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he knows the extent of the raise in bulk should this amendment carry.

Mr. PEACHEY. Mr. Speaker, I could not tell in the aggregate. Previously this officer was getting three thousand dollars, and the secretary of agriculture was getting thirty-five hundred dollars. They were all raised, and it is proper they should be. There was some argument with reference to the clerk to the deputy secretary, whose salary was raised to eighteen hundred dollars. That man occupies in a sense two positions. The deputy, under the law, is entitled to a clerk and a stenographer, but rather than be troubled with the two men, he has combined the two positions and that man who is his clerk is also his stenographer. He receives eighteen hundred dollars. He is one of the best men in that Department and one of the hardest worked men on the Hill. In reference to the deputy secretary, if the secretary is away, the work of the Department goes on just the same and if the Deputy and the Secretary were both called away hurriedly the work in that Department would not suffer because that Clerk and stenographer knows what is going on.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to be the sense of the House that my motion do not prevail and I therefore withdraw it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE MESSAGES.

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1517, entitled:

A Supplement to an act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred eighty-seven entitled "An Act to restrain and regulate the sale of vinous and spirituous malt or brewed liquors or any admixtures thereof

And has appointed Messrs. Snyder, Magee and Morgan a committee of conference with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee) on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. KAUFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House reconsider the vote by which the Senate amendments to House Bill No. 1517 were non-concurred in.

Mr. REX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know how the gentlemen voted.

The SPEAKER. It was a viva voce vote and there is no record. Was the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Kaufman, present when the amendments were non-concurred in and did he vote for non-concurrence?

Mr. KAUFMAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I think that insofar as this bill has been non-concurred in by this House and that the Senate has already appointed its conference committee, that the members of this House should not reconsider their action of today. and should insist upon its non-concurrence and appoint a committee of conference. I feel that we will have the better results by having a conference committee upon this bill than we will be reconsidering our action of today. I also feel that the House acted wisely in non-concurring in the amendments of the Senate and I trust the House will not reconsider this vote but will insist upon a conference committee's being appointed.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, a considerable change was made in this bill in the Senate, and I feel that the gentleman from Delaware has spoken very wisely in giving to the House the idea that we should not reconsider this vote. I think it would be best to have a conference committee appointed to confer with the Senate committee which has already been appointed. I believe that we will get better results through a conference than we will by reconsideration of our vote.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its non-concurrence and that a committee of conference be appointed.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agred to.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the conference report?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this is what is known as the enabling bill, giving the City of Philadelphia the right to purchase, lease, operate et cetera transit facilities. This bill passed finally on May 6th with a number of amendments that were suggested by Mr. Wilson and myself, giving the city councils certain rights and was also in the interests of real rapid transit for Philadelphia. That work should begin at a period not later than one year from the date of the contract. The Senate non-concurred in the amendments made by the House and a meeting of the conference committee subsequently took place. The members of the conference committee from this House insisted upon its amendments, except that they agreed that the time limit set by the Senate of two years should be made eighteen months, so that all the limits which this House made to this bill have been retained in this conference report with the exception that we have extended the time to six months for the beginning of work. And this simply because eminent engineers have advised us that the plans and designs could not be made up in a shorter time. I ask the House to unanimously support the report.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the conference report

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, This bill provides for placing county officials on salary in counties containing a population of less than one hundred and fifty thousand and more than one hundred thousand and providing that all fees collected by said officers under existing laws shall be paid into the State or County Treasury. There has been considerable opposition on this bill from the time that it appeared in the House. It comes mainly from county officials drawing large fees who are opposed to losing the fees to be replaced by salaries and thereby reducing their compensation. When an effort was made to place the county officials in counties of over one hundred and fifty thousand population on salary, it took years to overcome that opposition to a salary system. The tax payers get the benefit of the difference between the salaries and large fees that used to be paid to office holders. That same opposition has appeared now. This bill includes all the counties of the Commonwealth under one hundred and fifty thousand and over one hundred thousand. After several weeks talk with the members of this House I discovered that it was impossible to arrange for a salary system for the smaller counties. The opposition still continues. Within the last half hour one of the Republican floor leaders has made a canvas of the House to defeat this bill. I feel that if you will look at the merits of it, as we have it in counties that have a population of over a hundred and fifty thousand and are satisfied that it works alright that you might expect the same in counties between one hundred and one hundred and fifty thousand population. There is no question why it would not be good in counties under a hundred and fifty thousand. We may as well make this step at this time.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Irwin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, our county is a county of over one hundred and fifty thousand. We pay our Recorder of Deed four thousand dollars a year. We have a population of 231,000 and we pay our Recorder four thousand dollars according to the act of assembly. Now then in this bill we have between one hundred and one hundred and fifty thusand and the salary is put at five thousand dollars. Why?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, Perhaps in this county the Recorder is underpaid.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I believe that these salaries are peculiar; in some places they are excessive and in some places inadequate and that is the objection I have to the bill.

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, the salaries have been arranged to suit the representation of the counties effected by the bill. Some are too high and some are too low but this is the best arrangement we could arrive at.

Mr. TRACH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. TRACH. Mr. Speaker, Is it not a fact that the office holder don't get the salary unless the fee is equal to that salary?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, they wouldn't get the salary unless the fees amounted to a stated amount.

Mr. TRACH. Mr. Speaker, does the board of commission appoint the clerk?

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, the head of the office makes the appointment. They set the number of clerks and the salary.

Mr. TRACH. Mr. Speaker, I can only enter a protest so far as our county is concerned and I can say that our officials certainly don't want it and I am satisfied because I know whereof I am speaking when I say that the salaries they get now would not amount to what the bill calls for. I hope the members will vote no on this bill.

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, I don't see where it would make any difference in the salary of an official if the fees don't amount to five thousand dollars now. It only catches the man who is over-paid by large fees.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I don't know anything about the tunnels throughout the State, but I do know about the Vosburg tunnel, which is 3,802 feet long, and that time after time we have had to take the engineers from the trains and resuscitate them after they had come through the tunnel. There is no snake in this bill and I ask every member to vote for it.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1135, entitled:

A Supplement to an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws twenty) enabling cities of the second class to raise additional revenue by subjecting to taxation all real estate owned or possessed by any corporation and not heretofore taxable as such

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be some misunderstanding on this bill. I believe some of the gentlemen here have said "No." I believe if they would know the benefits of the bill they would vote yes. This bill provides that all corporate property located in second class cities shall be subject to taxation. I want the gentleman to understand that it does not affect religious or charitable institutions or any land owned by religious or charitable institutions. We have in Pittsburgh the anamolous position of the Pennsylvania Railroad having two stations, one in the city proper, known as the Union Station, which pays a tax and one on the North side of the city which is almost as large as the principal station, which does not pay a tax. It is due to the fact that a grant was made under the act of 1851 and the Constitution framers in 1874 evidently forgot to repeal or modity the old law which gave that gratuity to the Railroad Company. The purposes of this act is simply to provide that all buildings owned by public service corporations in cities of the second class—Pittsburgh, for instance, because Scranton, I understand is not interested—to levy city taxes on all such buildings. Now I am satisfied that it is to the interest of the city and that you men will vote for the passage of the bill.

NAYS—3.

McAleer,

Walnut,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. B. bill No. 2085, entitled:

An Act providing for the payment of the costs incurred in the trial of convicts and prisoners escaping or attempting to escape from the several penitentiaries and reformatories of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by the respective counties from whose courts the said escaping convicts or prisoners have been committed and providing for the maintenance of such convicts under sentence for escape et cetera

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, just a few words in explanation. This bill provides for the payment of costs incurred in the trial of convicts who have escaped from the penal institutions of the State. To illustrate this point I want to say that a short time ago one of the convicts of the penitentiary escaped and was captured by the authorities of Centre County and was brought back and tried in the Courts of Centre County, and was acquitted simply because the attorneys in the case played upon the sympathies of the jury and told them that if they found this defendant guilty that a vast amount of expense would come upon the people of Centre County, and because of that fact the jury acquitted the prisoner. The object of this bill is in case a criminal escapes and is brought back and tried in Centre County that the expense connected with the trial must be paid by the county in which court he was convicted. We think the bill is a good one and I hope that the members of the House will see the justice of the bill and vote accordingly.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 2040, being Senate Bill No. 1209, entitled "An Act authorizing each city in the Commonwealth to prepare, adopt and amend its own charter; regulating the preparation, adoption and amendment thereof; providing penalties for violation of the act; and repealing certain laws relating to the government of cities," which was referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, and reported out by said Committee on June 3, 1913, with a negative recommendation, be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding such negative recommendation.

Mr. ULMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill that gives the city home rule. This bill has already passed the Senate and has been negatived by the Municipal Corporations Committee of this body. I believe that the vast majority of the members of the House believe that Home Rule so far as is possible within our constitutional limitation should be extended to cities. All parties are to a greater or less extent pledged to this principle and I think we ought to have the bill on the calendar in order that we may consider it intelligently and take action upon it in due course. I trust that the members will vote favorably upon this motion.

The SPEAKER. Seventy gentlemen having voted in the affirmative the motion is agreed to, and the bill is placed on the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

RECESS.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I move we take a recess until eight oclock.

Whereupon at 6:00 o'clock P. M. the House took a recess until eight o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that where an appeal has been taken from the original assessment, and the county commissioners sitting as a board of revision shall adjust any assessment, they shall transmit that information to the township supervisors, and the taxes shall be levied on that adjusted valuation rather than on the original assessment.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—3.

Heidinger,
Kern,
Newbaker,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk returned the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE ON RULES.

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following report from the Committee on Rules.

Which was read as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this House do adjourn sine die on Thursday, June 26, 1913, at 12 o'clock noon.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, the Constitution does not contemplate that House shall adjourn sine die.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to withdraw it for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the amended report from the Committee on Rules.

Which was read as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly do adjourn sine die on Thursday, June 26, 1913, at 12 o'clock noon.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Committee on Rules I desire to offer the following dissenting report.

The SPEAKER. The report will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the report as follows:

DISSENTING REPORT.

It is impossible for me to join in the report of the majority of the Committee on Rules, fixing the 26th day of June as the date of final adjournment. In my opinion the adoption of this resolution would be the most grevious kind of an eror.

The House has long and faithfully withstood the persistent efforts which have been made to induce it to join in fixing an irrevocable date of adjournment. Only a few days ago it absolutely refused to suggest a date. No adequate reason is now advanced why this well-established attitude of the House should be changed,—much less why the House should actually take the initiative in changnig it.

The House has consistently maintained the position that final action upon at least the more important of the measures originated and passed by it should be a condition precedent to final adjournment. To adopt this resolution at this time would be to surrender deliberately the position we have so consistently and successfully maintained. It would concede the principle that the adjournment should be independent of the completion of the work of the Assembly. It would render possible the submission of measures of vast importance to Committees of Conference at a time so near to the fixed date of adjournment that adequate consideration would be impossible. It would render possible the crush of business so often witnessed in the last few hours of a session, bringing the Speaker face to face with the alternative of permitting the passage of important measures in an improper and unconstitutional manner or having them lost for lack of time. All this can be avoided by adhering to the policy of leaving the date of adjournment open, as the House has insisted upon doing from the beginning. In no other way can the House escape the responsibility of being accessory to the ultimate failure of its own legislation.

For these reasons, with entire respect for the views of my colleagues upon the Committee, I most earnestly dissent from this report.

(Signed) GEORGE E. ALTER.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen will state his point of order.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I think that we had no report from the Committee on Rules. There has been a resolution introduced and resolutions are out of order at this time. There is no report from the Committee and a report from the Committee must bear the signatures or some evidence of its having been reported from the Committee the House has the right to know what members of the Committee are making this Report.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state for the information of the gentlemen from Crawford, that the report of the Committee on Rules is signed by Messrs. Ehrhart, Gans, Cochran, Sassaman and Baldwin.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the point of order, but the signatures were not read and I presumed that they were not there.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I move you the adoption by this House of the majority report of the Committee on Rules.

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, as was well said by the Speaker of this House, acting as a member of this body, and member of the Rules Committee, it would be a grievous error for us to adopt this report. This report form the Rules Committee is indeed a misleading report as far as this House is concerned. When this House convened in midwinter we gave to the people our very best effort in carrying out the legislation that the people had so forcefully expressed their desire for. Our efforts to have that legislation enacted into law was met by the persistent refusal of the Senate of this Commonwealth. That refusal, while it is of a different temperament, while it is of a different phase, is still the same refusal today and we are now as a legislature, restless under the long time that we have been here, anxious to go home, but still facing the fact that our duty has not yet been completed and it has not yet been completed because we are being stopped by the Senate. For us now, Mr. Speaker, to have such a report from our Rules Committee go through this House to the Senate for concurrance, merely means that we aid the Senate in its action of delay. It merely means that we are aiding the Senate in bottling legislation that we have spent all these months trying to get through. Why, Mr. Speaker, if we would now carry this resolution to a successful ending, it would merely mean that the good race that we have run now is to end in stretch and that we are to fall down to defeat. Let us continue this race until we have reached our goal. Let us continue until we carry out our pledges to the people. Why, Mr. Speaker, the Senate in their early adjournment week after week, were carrying out but a policy that we are now, if we carry this resolution,aiding them in. I know that many of you in this House are anxious to get to your homes. I know that a great many of you are anxious to get back to your business and to get back to your families and this has certainly been a great long, tiresome session to you; but Mr. Speaker, to give up the battle is, to my mind, giving ourselves over to those whom we have been opposing. Let us stand out a few more weeks. It is impossible for the Senate to persist in the position they are in now, and carry on their course successfully. Now, Mr. Speaker, when I say that we should be opposed to this serolution I do not mean that we should go beyond the 26th day of June with this session. I do not believe that this House will be in session as long as that, but the way for us to get an early adjournment is to stick here in this House and complete our work and the important bills that come before us when they come back from the Senate with amendments in, to either concur or non concur in and leave them to Conference Committees and clean up the work. It is an impossibility for the Senate to persist in holding the position that they are holding. They are weakening every hour. The change is much different in their attitude toward this House now than it was a few weeks ago. A couple of months ago it was absolute definance. A couple of weeks ago it was less definance in it, and now they are using mere subterfuge, of not defying us but using mere deceit to lure us away from striking a blow that will carry this legislation to a victorious ending. We have the child labor bills, we have the female labor bill, we have the workmen's compensation act, that is now before us in our hands to enact into law. The Senate, actuated by selfish interests, the Senate actuated by the unseen hands of corporate power, are today defying this House and they are doing it with a weakness that they did not have a few weeks ago. Let us persist in our fight. They have now reduced themselves to mere subterfuge. They are luring the Conference Committee, so far as the three members of this House are concerned, in reference to the workmen's compensation act, by mere deceit. They are attempting to lull them into silence so that they can work to the moment of adjournment. Do not let us aid them in their work by fixing a day of adjournment. Let us stand by our friend from Philadelphia, who has stood so valiantly by the working men in this House, representing them as he does, a young man from the mills himself, standing here for the protection of those who work alongside of him a young man from Philadelphia, my colleague, Mr. Piper, who stands on the Conference Committee for the workmen's compensation act. Let us stand by him a few more weeks, so that he can take home to his working people a compensation law that we know we will be proud of. Mr. Speaker, the Republican Governor of this great State has pledged himself for the reform legislation. Men high in power in the Senate have pledged themselves to the people for this reform legislation. Let us see whether there is real sincerity in that Governor. Let us see whether there is real truth in that Senate, that is controlled by the Republican party. Let us stand here on the firing line in this House for a few more days and aid that Conference Committee of the House to bring the members of that Conference Committee of the Senate to an absolute understanding and make them show their hands; show whether they are controlled by the corporations, show whether they are acting for this administration, show whether they are acting for their party, show whether they are the friends or the enemies of the working men. Mr. Speaker, don't allow us for a few days more from home, for a few more hours more from our business, don't allow us to go back to our homes in the face of the poor working children and say that for a few days delay (Cries of aye, aye).

Mr. Speaker, that is all a part of the setting of this House, that is not new. That is but the same voice that is prompted over in the Senate by the unseenhand that is putting the amendments in the bills from this House. It cannot stop me, Mr. Speaker, I am going to stand on the floor of this House and express what I believe to be the truth so far as this legislation is concerned and the howls of those who are but the voice of the power that controls this legislature cannot howl me from my feet or cannot take from my lips the voicing of what I believe to be the honest thoughts of a man on this floor.

And continuing, Mr. Speaker, I say, don't for a few hours more from our homes, a few days more from our business, compel us to go back and look in the faces of the working children and say to those children that we have allowed the law in its merciless condition of today to stand when with a little force here in this Legislature we could have enacted on the statute books the remedial laws that will protect the children and the female labor. Mr. Speaker, for us to carry out the report of this Rules Committee would be but lending ourselves to the heartless power, that unseen control of the Senate. Mr. Speaker, I hope that this House has the force of character, has the manhood, has the strength to put aside self-interest for a few more days and stand fighting in this House for the legislation that we have fought for this five months. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I hope the members of this House will vote down this recommendation from the Rules Committee.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I have listened with much interest to the very eloquent words of my colleague from Philadelphia, and I was almost moved to tears at the kindly and sympathetic words that fell from his lips of the gentleman from Philadelphia in defense of the poor child and the working boy and girl and all the sacred interests of the Commonwealth, and if I did not know, Mr. Speaker, in common with all the other gentlemen of the House the real motives that actuated those sympathetic and eloquent words we all might perhaps have fallen for the logic of the argument. But gentlemen there seems to be an opinion current in this State that these well worded and honied speeches are not made for the purpose which they seem to indicate, but the impression seems to be and I regret to say that I join in it that these speeches and this delay are made for future political campaigns in this State. Now I want to say to my friend from Philadelphia and all of the gentlemen in the House that we are just as much interested in the child welfare and in the women's labor laws in the workmen's compensation as any man in this House but I believe, Mr. Speaker, that we are best serving our interests if we were to have a definite date of adjournment, and then if it is our duty to starve into submission this rich and great and careless and hidebound Senate, if we cannot do it in three weeks you are never going to do it at all. And carrying the argument still further, if we must starve it into submission, I believe that we will starve ourselves to death before we succeed in the job and I believe in the old words of Patrick Henry "Rather than death by Starvation, give us Liberty!" Now gentlemen I have no desire to wasts your time in further argument and I believe I voice the sentiment of most of the members of this House. We have been sitting here now for more than five months. You know, gentlemen, and every right minded citizen in the State knows that very much of our time has been wasted playing politics and playing to the galleries and playing for future records. Now we have three weeks left, let's get down to business. I want to say for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia that the Workingmen's Compensation Bill is almost a matter of agreement. The conference committee have all but actually agreed on all of the essential details and the Child Labor Bill and the Women's Labor Laws and the Utilities Bill and all the important platform legislation are almost finally agreed upon, and if we will only get down to business and do a full days' work for a full day's pay, and do a full week's work, I am sure we will have no trouble in finishing up by the twenty-sixth of June. Therefore, gentlemen, I ask you in fairness to yourselves, and to the State and to your own conscience, let us set a day for adjournment and then we will know how much time we have to get down to business. I therefore ask you gentlemen to vote for the adoption of this motion and adopt June 26th as the day of adjournment.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, there is one thing that this House has stood consistently for from the beginning of the Session and that was to do its work and the work it had pledged to the parties was to do work and the work which it had pledged to the parties represented here and to the people whom these representatives represent. Replying to the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny who has just taken his seat, if the other members of the House had spent as little time on the floor of the House each week as he did, we would have been compelled to adjourn on Wednesday mornings on account of not having a quorum, and goodness knows how long we would have had to stay here to grind out the work we have already done. There were, however, enough members in this House who were interested in the Legislative work and who were also respectful to the duties which had been imposed on them in their official trusts to stay here until the week's end and attend to those duties as those duties came before them for their attention. There were words of wisdom offered to this House, Mr. Speaker, away back in the latter part or middle of March and fixing the day for adjournment finally on May 5th. It was well appreciated by the members that that day was too early and that date failed. A later date of May 12th was fixed. So on it has come down with Resolution after Resolution, the House all the time being busy with the work before it, and now we are met with the same thing, to fix the final date of adjournment. When this resolution was reported from the Rules Committee, Mr. Speaker, we found it was but a majority report, and that report speaks for itself, and the names are now recorded of the members who saw fit to fix that date. As a matter of fact in this House I for one would be much more ready to draw the curtains tomorrow than on the tweny-sixth day of this month, and I will tell you why. Because of the fact if a day two weeks hence be fixed, the Senate, which has held up bills ever since a way back in March, can sort out in their own way and prepare by amendments such bills as will meet with their approved. Those bills will come to this House in the amended form and they will not be satisfactory to the members of this House. The House will refuse to concur in the amendments, and will insist upon the bill in its original form. The bill will be returned to the Senate with that information. The Senate will hang that bill up an indefinite time just as long as they see fit and finally will refuse to recede from their amendments and will make that report back to the House. That will be done in the eleventh hours, and I care not whether you will fix the date tomorrow, next week, or the 25th or the 25th day of next September, or when, a body of men who have been able to hold in their possessession and throttle for three or four months legislation which has been promised to the people of this Commonwealth and which has passed one branch of this general Assembly, will throttle these same measures until they are ready to release their hold, unless, as the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott has suggested, the demands of the people be brought to bear and the weakening of that Senate evidence itself, which it has done. The time was a few months ago, and we can talk about this in months instead of weeks, when certain measures passed this House and were sent over there, they met with absolute ridicule on the part of that august body.

We were assured on every hand that those things were already dead and buried, but you have seen certain of those things brought out and practically in their original form, and why? Because the people of this Commonwealth have faced that body and made their demands. When those demands were made realizing the position in which it put that body politically and otherwise, they could but yield. Now, we have been, I feel, Mr. Speaker, sincere in attempting to keep those pledges which your party, which my party, and all of the great parties made and set out in their platforms as the principles of those parties—we have been sincere, I say, in advancing and passing through this House practically all of those matters. Many of them were not perhaps in just as an aggressive state as the most aggressive members on this House floor would demand, but it was a matter of compromise, a matter of bringing your judgment and my judgment into play to work out something that would harmonize in a great measure with those pledges. Now, what has been done? These matters have been referred to the other side of this legislative body and there they have met with what? With as cold and chilly a reception, with a threat of death on their presentation. Certain of those bills, on the demands of those same people that I speak of, within the last few weeks have been brought out. True they have been brought out in a mutilated form. The whole body which was sent over there has been partially dissected, but perhaps in a great many of these measures when they come back, we will recognize the original bill. If not, what? If not, Mr. Speaker, and you fix a date for the twenty-sixth of this month, next Thursday one week, if you fix a date at that time, your conference committees, I care not how ardently they may work, your conference committee of three men representing this House will be met on the other side by just the sort of stalling that has been done for months and months.

What will the result be? In the eleventh hour there will be no receding on the part of that legislative body. At the eleventh hour your committee must either recede from its stand and agree to the demands made by those who seem to recognize no pledge, and who seem unconscionable in this matter, they will either have to agree to their terms and report back to you a bill that will be a disgrace to this body, or else they will absolutely have to disagree in what that conference committee's report shall be. Now then, Mr. Speaker, is there any conference committee on the floor of this House that cannot refuse to agree to some sort of a proposition in relation to these great measures advanced and to which we are pledged. I say no. I say no. Why, Mr. Speaker, as has been openly stated on the floor of this House, certain of us have voted for measures that we felt meant little or nothing but it was the best that we could get, and until we shall have acted finally upon those matters which we have in this House hammered into shape and presented to the other side of the House, until they are reported back and acted upon finally by this body, we will not have done our duty. Mr. Speaker, I speak not in this for the applause of the galleries or anybody else that is attempting to adjourn this house. I speak here, Mr. Speaker, as a member of this House who from its organization has tried to uphold the pledges of the party I represent. It may be said and it has been said that certain members of this House are trying to bring those for which they stand here as their representatives into disgrace. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that when the curtain shall have finally rung down on this House, which I trust will be after its duties have been done and completed, when that record is closed, you will find that instead of trying to disorganize, instead of trying to cast a blot upon the administration and upon this great party, that we have tried to save the little remnants that are left which are being disintegrated by the actions of the other side of this legislative body. Mr. Speaker, I trust that this resolution which has been offered on the floor of this House will be overwhelmingly defeated by the voice and vote of the members.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, it strikes me that we have been elected to perform a public duty and not to consult our own convenience and our own comfort. If the people of this State has elected this General Assembly for the purpose of serving its own end, for the purpose of entertaining itself in Harrisburg until it grows tired of the entertainment or if we have been elected solely for the purpose of enabling us to gather either glory or a monument to the service, then it is well that we should adjourn now and it is to be regretted that this body has not adjourned weeks ago. But I believe that this Assembly was elected for the purpose of performing a duty to the people of the State and I don't believe that we have any right to consider any other matter in determining the question offered now to us. I was surprised to hear the gentleman from Allegheny proclaim on the floor of the House that the Workman's Compensation Bill, in conference, had been practically agreed upon; for from the information I have, it is that there is no foundation for such a declaration and that present indications show that an agreement is impossible. The Public Utilities Bill is in the hands of the Senate and by our action in the affirmative on this question to-night we are inviting that body to postpone action until it dies a legislative death in that body. We have passed a State Wide Primary Bill which is back for conference and by adjourning and fixing a date to adjourn we are saying to the Senate that by procrastination they can deny the people of the State the State Wide Primary. The same is true to the Non-Partisan Ballot Law and the Corrupt Practices Act. The same is true of the amendment to the assistance clause of the election laws, which probably are more desired and more sought after by the people of this State than most matters of legislative importance now pending in the Senate and are all lying dormant. The Child and Woman's Labor Bill which the people of this State have been led to expect this body to pass is among them. The Minimum Wage Bill I believe is quietly slumbering in the Senate and these matters are the matters which the people of this State have elected us to enact into laws and if we fix the date for adjournment before we have reached the point where we will know that these acts will be enacted into laws, we will be faithless to the people who have elected us. I want to make this prediction to-night: That if this resolution passes at this time, you are at the same time sounding the death knell of all of these important bills which the people are demanding and which we have all promised to enact, and if that should be the result of your deliberation here to-night, I want to warn you that the shame and the reflection of a large part of this responsibility for the defeating and the killing of this legislation will rest upon the head of each and every man that votes for the passage of this resolution, and if you want to assume that responsibility by your votes to-night you must vote in the affirmative, but I warn you that the people, when you go back home, will hold you responsible for that and upon you the responsibility will rest.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the choice make to-night is the choice between self and State. There is no reason whatever for adjourning except that of our own personal convenience, and I wish to add that we were not elected to serve our own personal convenience. when we offered ourselves as candidates for that purpose: But we have been sent here to do our work and until this work is done we should not leave our trenches. There comes an important time in almost every career—a time of test, and we have reached that time to-night. While the bands are playing and the weather is fair, it is easy enough to march under the banners amidst the applause of the multitude, but when the trenches are reached and the rains descend and the bullets fly, then is the time when we must stand the test. Such a time of consideration we have reached to-night and when this vote is taken the people will know those who took their places in good faith and those who took them for appearance only.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that at this time to fix a date for adjournment will be nothing but a serious mistake. My first belief and my first wish is that I would like very much to go home on the 26th day of June because on that day, with two of my boys, one on either side of me, we will pitch into a mountain of ice cream and cake and celebrate my birthday. Inasmuch as I would like to be with you, at my home, because you are all my good friends, and I, for one, should much prefer to be home on the 26th, but, Mr. Speaker, I consider our own duty here as not one of convenience. and there is no man in this Assembly when he went before the voters last November who said anything to them about going home and away from the job when it suited his pleasure, and if you had been fair with your constituents and if you had told them that you would go home when you got tired of your job, you would not have been here. Now, Mr. Spaeker, this is my second session. Last session, as I recall it, we adjourned on the 25th day of May. At that time it was considered a very long drawn-out session. I remember at that time also, for two weeks prior to the 25th of May, we had a disgruntled and angry Legislature because many of the bills in which men were deeply interested were bound to fall by the wayside. I remember during the last week of that session that the conference reports were coming over here and rushed with the bills, one after another, and the last night session, which lasted until half-past four in the morning, didn't in any way complete the very serious legislative work. It would be an absolute mistake to say that we can fix a day for adjournment and then get through with the conference reports. No man in this House can say that we can do that by fixing the 26th day of June for the final adjournment. You cannot make the Senate conference members on the committees do their work and what are you going to do to the Governor of this Commonwealth who has been insisting that he shall not be fooled in this session as he was at the last session in the Utilities Bill.

He has a heart interest in the compensation act and can you in fixing the 26th day of June make the Senate move. You cannot do it. No man with an ear to logic or a voice to conviction can tell you why. What will happen is this: Throw out this resolution to adjourn, throw out this proposition that simply concerns our own individual comforts and stay here on the job. Serve notice on the Senate that we are encamped here and we are going to stay here until every conference bill is given its proper and due consideration. Mr. Speaker, I don't understand how any Democratic member of this Legislature can vote for this resolution. But a few short weeks ago, that great orator the distinguished Secretary of State talked on the legislative duty and the obligation which we owe our constituents, every Democratic ear was wide open as he poured forth those declarations. I say, Mr. Speaker, that at this time we should go back to our work and stay at it and we should remember that we are representing the people. None of my constituents I am sure none of yours have told you that they are tired of this Legislature and that it has been continued too long. They are interested in every bill and they want them passed and it is your only sense of personal comfort that promised any support to this resolution. Mr. Speaker, I trust that each and every man in this House recognizes his obligation to the people whom he represents, knowing that they demand this legislation regardless of the promises made when this House was lobbyed regardless of what you said when they made up a roll call of how many men were going to support this resolution. This is not a proposition to be lightly barters away. It is your sworn duty your bond and obligation to your people to stay here and do your work regardless of any petty promise you may in a moment have made without proper consideration, of adjourning simply to suit your own personal comfort.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, regardless of how strong may be the sentiment in this House in favor of the adoption of this resolution, in order to be consistent with the policy which I have tried to advocate from the beginning of this session, I must earnestly oppose it. I can do naught else. But there is little, Mr. Speaker, which I can say in addition to that which I tried to express in the dissenting report filed by myself as a member of the Committee on Rules and in addition to that which has been so well said by the gentlemen who preceded particularly, by my young friend from Philadelphia, for whom I have so much admiration, who immediately preceded me. Mr. Speaker, from the beginning of this session, the one thing that I have most dreaded has been the possibility of the crush of business at the close of the session, which is almost the necessary consequence of the fixing of an arbitrary date of adjournment and particularly so, Mr. Speaker, under the circumstances which prevail in this session.

The importance of giving to the conference committees adequate time for the consideration of the measures submitted to them; the importance of giving, if need be, some opportunity for public sentiment to come into play in case of a deadlock in a conference committee may be a matter of the utmost importance to the welfare of those whom we represent. If a date of adjournment is arbitrarily fixed as proposed by this resolution, then if an important bill goes into conference but a few hours before the hour fixed for adjournment, we have the condition which I so earnestly hope to avoid in this session. It does not make a difference of many days, as has been suggested by one of the men from Philadelphia. This session may be able to adjourn, finish its work probably prior to the date fixed in this resolution without having arbitrarily fixed a date. As long as we keep the date open, then we know that any bill of great importance which goes into a conference committee will be given the time which it must have for its adequate consideration. I am in favor of having a definite understanding. I am in favor of aiming, and co-operating with our friends at the other end of the Capitol in aiming at concluding the business of this session on or before the date mentioned in the resolution, but if an important bill goes into conference very shortly before that date, how vitally important it will be, Mr. Speaker, that if need be a few more hours or another day or two may be given to the completion of that work and to the completion of the consideration of the matters before the Assembly. I have so hoped, Mr. Speaker, that the passage of legislation in the haste and turmoil which has so often characterized the last night of the session might be avoided by avoiding the fixing of an arbitrary hour of adjournment. There frequently arises a situation, Mr. Speaker, in which the Speaker of the House is face to face with this situation. He must either acquiesce in the passage of bills in the confusion when men hear not and answer not to their names; when there is less than a quorum; when possibly less than a quorum is actually in the House; or take the responsibility of refusing to acquiesce in the passing of bills in that manner and cause some bill of great public importance to fall. No man has any right to assume how much strength he has until he is in such a situation, but if an important measure in the last hours of the session is unable to be passed through this House in an orderly, deliberate, parliamentary way and is lost because the Speaker refuses to acquiesce in its passage in any other way, then Mr. Speaker, let no man say that he did not have fair warning that such might be the result. Mr. Speaker, I shall take no more of the time of this House. There have been references to arguments of convenience. I can't think that any considerable number, I can't think that any member of this House will decide upon this question from the standpoint of personal convenience. As I said before, Mr. Speaker, it can't in any event make a difference of more than a few hours or a few days one way or the other. It may be an affliction, but, Mr. Speaker, when we have finished our work properly and go home and meet our constituents, we will realize then and when we think the matter over in future years that the affliction which rested upon us by the few extra hours or few extra days we were required to remain here, will be one of those light afflictions which endure for a time but which work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, this matter of adjournment has been up several times before this House. In my infancy as a legislator I have been trained and groomed to respect the opinion of the Rules Committee. Time after time the argument has been advanced in questions of adjournment that when the Rules Committee saw fit to bring out upon the floor of this House a definite date, then and at that time we would be ready to fix a date of adjournment. Now, at the time when the Committee on Rules has proposed a date, we are still without that argument, but with others. I am as interested in getting the important bills out of committee and disposing of the conference reports, I presume, as any member upon the floor of this House, but it seems to me that if a definite date of adjournment were fixed at this time, that those bills would come across from the other side of the House. It appears to me, Mr. Speaker, that we are like the hunter out west a few days ago. He sat down at the mouth of a cave and tried to starve out a den of wolves. It was thrown out early on the floor of this House, Mr. Speaker, by none other gentlemen than some of those who have spoken this evening, that by following this policy in this Legislative Assembly we would whip the other body across the way into line and force them to bring out those desirable measures. Mr. Speaker, I contend and I contend with all honestness and with all fairness that that was the critical mistake that this House made in not fixing the time, and making a remark of that kind. The result has been, and I have gathered it from the four corners of the Senate; I have gathered it by talking with Senators time and again that they were going to refute a remark of that kind or an attempt to have the House to whip them or inveigle them into line in bringing out those bills. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that we are not the keeper of the Senate. We have performed our duty, and under the able leadership of Mr. Alter, our Speaker, we have worked here patiently and faithfully. We have done a great deal of work, but the summer is dragging gradually into Autumn. I was tempted the other day to get up and ask leave of absence to eat my Thanksgiving dinner. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that every time the question of adjournment has been up the argument has been, "We will prolong the agony a little longer; we will prolong the session a few days. It is not going to make a great deal of difference and soon we will be done." When the question of May 12th was proposed, it was said on the floor of this House that perhaps only a few days later than the 12th of May we would be ready to adjourn. When the gentleman from Newcastle, Mr. Walton, proposed a measure for adjournment, that same argument was used, in setting the 12th day of June. Then the 19th day of June was proposed, and now we come along with the 26th day of June. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, that if we prolong this House until after the 10th day of July, it will simply mean that the Governor will adjourn us and we will be called back again in the fall. I believe and firmly believe, with all the interest that I have in getting those bills out and getting them out and disposed of, that if a time had been set a month ago for adjournment, three or four weeks prior to the time when we intended to adjourn, that those bills would have come out. The argument has been advanced and it has been well advanced and well taken that in former sessions of this Assembly there has been a great jam and a crude mass of legislation that was stumbled and run over on the last night of this Assembly. That can hardly possibly be true with the condition in which this calendar is, Mr. Speaker, at the present time. There is very little important legislative work resting in the committees of the Senate. Every one of the committees of the House, Mr. Speaker, with hardly a possible exception, have reported their bills out until there is a mere handful now resting in the files, and this state of affairs has been true for the last three or four weeks. We have been called here, it is true, Mr. Speaker, with a duty to perform. It is true that we must go home and face our constituency, but I tell you, Mr. Speaker, we never were expected to come down here and sit down and be the keeper for the Senate or to starve them out until they passed the bills in which we were interested. We have performed our duties and I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that we have earned and well earned the paltry little sum of $1,500 which the rich Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has paid us for our services. And if you expect me, Mr. Speaker, to sit here and be led away by those people who play to the galleries and who play politics, sit here all summer long, you are mistaken. I sincerely dislike to get up here this evening and voice my sentiments, owing to the fact that the Speaker, Mr. Alter, is opposed to the adoption of this majority report; but as I said before we have been educated and groomed to live up to what the Rules Committee might do. But here we are, at the 11th day of June, Mr. Speaker, after weeks and weeks of passing this thing over to a committee, referring resolution after resolution back to the committee on Rules with no action. Then, when in their wisdom they file a majority report and come out upon the floor of this House with this resolution after the argument which has been thrown out to us in debate upon the floor of this House, we are asked this evening to tarry a little longer. I hope the House will vote in favor of the report of the majority recommendation of the Rules Committee.

Mr. WATSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this discussion, so far as I am concerned personally, but this is a very important subject and I hope that this House will take sufficient time to let the members gradually express their views on this subject. I will say frankly that I am as anxious to get home as any person, but when I came here I came here with a view to doing my duty, and I expect to stay on the firing line if it takes all summer. Now, gentlemen, if you want to get the sentiment that has controlled some of the members of the House, rip out the wall back of the railing and get the echo from the other chamber, the sentiment from the other chamber to adjourn on the 26th. I appeal to the members of this House not to be led by the Senate; to have independence of your own; to stay here all year if necessary. I am not going to prolong this speech, except I want to hear some of the other members of this House who have not talked very much this session. Now, gentlemen, I want to know if you are going to be fair and square about this; whether you are going to desert. Why, the Army of the Potomac might just as well have disbanded before the battle of Gettysburg. So, let us stand here until after the Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. Let us stand upon our patriotism.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I only rise at this time to explain to this House that it is not true that there has been any conclusive agreement reached between the Conference Committee on the Workmen's Compensation Bill. I am real anxious that the motion or that the resolution be acted on as soon as possible, as your Conference Committee from the House on the Workingmen's Compensation has been busy today and expect to have conference with the Senate Committee at 9:30 this evening. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. Before the motion on the previous question is put, the Chair will recognize the gentleman from Crawford.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, my motion was seconded before you recognized the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia to move the previous question.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw that motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Humes.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following substitute.

The substitute was read by the Clerk as follows:

Whereas, the business presented to the General Assembly has progressed to such a point that the day of adjournment will soon be reached, and

Whereas, it is important that during the remaining days of the session the business should be so systematized, arranged and conducted as to enable each member of the Senate and House of Representatives to give proper attention to pending legislation to the end that no important bills shall fail to receive consideration,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, (if the Senate concur), that it is the sense of the General Assembly that these proceedings have progressed sufficiently that by systematic effort it will be possible to secure final passage of all important bills pending, on or about June 26th, 1913.

Therefore, We believe that the remaining work should be as arranged to make an adjournment possible on or about that date.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the substitute.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the Resolution just read is out of order, there being other business before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, I renew and insist upon my motion for the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members, Aaron, Arthur, Brownlee, Conner, Ehrhart, Gans, Geary, Goss, Isler, Kauffman, Letzkus, North, O'Neil, Perry, Samuel J., Price, Rothenberger, Sassaman, Semmens, Stein, Ulerich, Wildman, Young, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the previous question now be put?

It was agreed to.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, on the main question I call for the yeas and nays.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, on the main question I call for the yeas and nays.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

The roll was verified as follows:

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to be recorded as voting "No" on the adjournment proposition. I have thus far not been absent a single session. From a financial standpoint, not one of us can afford to remain any longer without a great financial sacrifice, but nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, since the people's rights are at stake as embodied in stifled legislation, now pending in the Senate, I for one, if need be, will remain and fight it out to the finish if it takes all summer.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 2007 (Senate No. 986), as follows:

An Act authorizing corporations owning or operating distilleries producing only denatured alcohol for industrial purposes and not for use as a beverage or for medicinal purposes to operate such distillery without a license and regulating the taxation of such corporations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any person persons firm or corporation owning or operating a distillery in this Commonwealth which produces only denatured alcohol for industrial purposes and not to be used as a beverage or for medicinal purposes shall not be required to obtain a license to operate such distillery under the provisions of the law approved the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred ninety-seven entitled "An Act to provide revenue and regulate the sale of malt brewed vinous and spirituous liquors or any admixture thereof by requiring the authorizing licenses to be taken out by brewers distillers wholesalers bottlers rectifiers compounders storekeepers and agents having a store office or place of business within this Commonwealth prescribing the amount of license fees to be paid in such cases and by imposing an additional license fee on retail dealers in intoxicating liquors" or any other law regulating the manufacture and sale of vinous spirituous malt or brewed liquors Any such corporation shall for purposes of State taxation be deemed to be a corporation organized for manufacturing purposes Provided That any person persons firm or corporation who shall take advantage of or operate under the provisions of this act shall make and file with the Auditor General of this Commonwealth on or before the first day of February of each year a statement in such form as the Auditor General may prescribe setting forth in detail the nature and character of the business conducted the kind and amount of materials produced made or manufactured the location of the plant distillery or distilleries the number of gallons of denatured alcohol manufactured or produced during the previous calendar year up to the first of January before such report is made

Such report of statement shall be signed and sworn to by the person persons or one of the firm of a company or by the president of a corporation respectively taking advantage or operating under the provisions of this act

Section 2 Any person persons firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this act or who shall neglect to comply with any of the provisions of this act or any person who shall make a false statement or false oath to any matter fact or thing in any statement required to be filed, under the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be sentenced to pay a fine or penalty not to exceed three hundred dollars together with the costs of prosecution

Section 3 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment, because the title of this bill does not correspond with the body of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend Senate Bill 986, file folio 4601:
Amend the title by adding after the word "authorizing," in line 1, the words "any person, persons, firm or"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of this amendment? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from page 24 of today's calendar, House Bill No. 527, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 527, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs of all kinds and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words "drug" and "poison" and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, this is a bill to regulate the practice of pharmacy and the sale of poisons, providing for the appointment of a Board to enforce the provisions of the bill and to provide for the purchase of samples of drugs to determine whether or not those drugs have the strength recognized by the pharmacopeia. Now, Mr. Speaker, I realize as well as do all of the members of this House that it is almost a physical impossibility to draft or draw a bill that would meet with the unanimous approval of all of the people of the State or that would meet with the unanimous approval of the people interested or affected by the provisions of the bill. But, Mr. Speaker, I believe that the measure that is now before the members of this House will come nearer being satisfactory to all of the interests affected by the bill than any measure that has been before this House this session. The measure now up for your consideration is the result of more than three years work by the people of this State who are most interested in placing the business or the profession of pharmacy on a higher plane, and the people of the State who are most interested in prohibiting people that are incompetent to to compound the prescriptions of physicians thereby, Mr. Speaker, giving to the people of this State greater protection against impure or adulterated drugs. This measure is not merely a measure that was prepared by the people in the retail drug or apothecary business of this State, but I will read to you the names of a few of the gentlemen of this State who were responsible for this measure being presented to this House. We will take, for instance, Professor Joseph P. Remington, who is dean of the College of Pharmacy of the City of Philadelphia and whose works on pharmacy are recognized by every pharmacist and by every college of pharmacy in the United States. In addition to that we have Professor Cook who is dean of the College of Pharmacy of the City of Pittsburgh, and his reputation as a chemist is second to none in the State of Pennsylvania. In additiona to that we have Mr. Walton who is Secretary of the State Pharmaceutical Examining Board; we have Mr. Wallace, who is Chairman of the National Legislative Committee and a member of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association and the National Association of Retail Druggists; we have Mr. Cook of Philadelphia who is Secretary of the State Pharmaceutical Examining Board; we have representatives of the Wholesale Druggists Association of Philadelphia and of Pittsburgh. Now, Mr. Speaker, a pharmacy bill was introduced in the House two years ago but due to the fact that the druggists association of the different parts of the State were unable to agree at that time the bill was not called up for second reading but at this time, Mr. Speaker, every druggist association in the State have, with the possible exception of one county, approved this measure as it now appears before you. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that the gentlemen of this House will take into consideration those in the business who are now in favor of this measure. At the time this bill was introduced, it is true, that there were many protests received by members of this House as the bill was originally introduced, but this protest came from the grocers throughout the State. But I have in my posession now letters from the wholesale grocers associations and from the retail grocers association of the State of Pennsylvania saying that as the bill is now amended, it is perfectly satisfactory to them. I want the members of the House to know that the objections of this bill as originally presented have been withdrawn by the people who sent their protest to you. This is evidenced here and it is the best evidence I or anybody else can introduce at this time. With your permission I will read first a letter from the wholesale grocers associations of the State of Pennsylvania and then the letter from the retail grocers association.

Pittsubrgh, May 31, 1913.

Hon. Geo. W. Richards, Chairman Committe on Health and Sanitation, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—This is to inform you that the Wholesale Grocers of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania, respectfully withdraw their protest against the passage of House Bill No. 527, known as "An Act to regulate the practice of Pharmacy, etc."

We withdraw our protest as amendments offered and accepted by your committee are fully satisfactory to the grocery trade.

Since letters to the members of the House individually explaining our action would not likely reach Harrisburg, prior to final reading of the bill, we authorize you to read this letter when the bill again comes before your honorable body.

With much respect, we are

PITSBURGH WHOLESALE GROCERS ASS'N.
W. L. Danahey,
Secretary.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 26, 1913.

Hon. George W. Richards, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I am pleased to inform you that House Bill No. 527, as amended at a conference held Friday, May 23rd, between representatives of the Wholesale Grocers Association, Retail Grocers Protective Union, Retail Druggist's Association, and yourself, permitting retail stores to sell general household remedies, is entirely satisfactory to our organization and we approve of the enactment or pasage of the same as thus amended.

Thanking you for your interest in the matter, we beg to remain,

Very respectfully yours,

C. A. BELL,
Secretary.

May 26, 1913.

George W. Richards, Chairman Public Health and Sanitation Committee, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—When House Bill No. 527 has been amended to satisfy the objections of the Pittsburgh grocers as promised at the conference held May 23rd, I am very sure that the members of this organization will have no further objections to its passage.

Your courtesies in the matter are very much appreciated by the retailers of the State.

Yours very truly,

A. M. DOWES,
Secretary.

I have several telegrams from the Druggist Associations throughout the State and as the bill now appears if the members of the House will turn to page eighteen they will find there the amendments demanded by the Retail Grocers Association of the State. They will find there the very articles incorporated, asked for by the Wholesale and Retail grocers of the State. They will find, in addition to that, at the bottom of the amendment this line in which they are interested after exempting all of the articles named, consising of some seventy-five. It says further "the sale of any article or compound used either as a medicine or a drug." With these amendments, and with these objections withdrawn by the wholesale and retail grocers of the State, with practically every druggist association in the State heartily in favor of this measure, I ask the members of this House to give it their consideration and their favorable approbation.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker,I too am a druggist and I oppose the passage of this bill. This bill as now before you is but a skeleton, a shadow of the bill first proposed. The bill drafted by a great many of the druggists of the large cities as it was, and I wish to state that it is opposed by a large majority of the druggists all over the State in the country districts, while much has been taken out of this bill, it still retains the organization with a three thousand dollar secretary and a Pharmacy Board and an increase of salaries from less than five hundred to twelve hundred dollars. I am not going to make a long speech. I believe you all understand this bill notwithstanding the statements and the letters of my friend from Allegheny. I want to call your attention first to one of the unfair parts of the bill. The bill originally intended that the wholesalers and those who carry on the manufacture of drugs for sale should come under the license the same as the druggists of the State under this bill they have stricken that out, while the druggists all over the State must take out a license. That is unfair. I also want to call your attention to the drastic penalties of this bill. If a druggist offends twice, unlawfully, his license is taken away from him and this bill makes no provision for restoring this license and that puts him out of business. I regard that as equal to the Shylock Bond. There are laws on the statute books to-day that regulate the druggist. This law is not necessary. We can be fined and imprisoned for almost every violation of the pharmacy acts and they are all on our books. But this law imposes this penalty that we are not only fined but our license is taken away. We don't object to giving you "the pound of flesh" but we do object to giving you our life blood. As for the retailers and merchants I will read this letter and the only one written yesterday:

No. 2430 Union Avenue, Altoona, Pa.,
June 9th, 1913.

The Honorable Plymouth W. Snyder, Member of the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—Acting as secretary for a large number of merchants of this city I assume the liberty of mailing you a petition requesting your vote against House Bill No. 527 and your influence for its defeat.

Respectfully,
L. C. HOOVER,
Secretary.

Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to vote "No" on this bill; it is unsatisfactory to the druggist; it is unsatisfactory to the merchant. It is a bad bill. Vote it down; vote "no."

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be striken from the calendar.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I call for a yea and nay vote.

Mr. BROSIUS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, before this bill comes to a final vote, I want all you men to get the bill and look at line 28 on page 6 and if you can consistently vote for the bill, I am done. "No person or firm shall be granted a license," they tell us "within three miles and sell no household remedies;" I will ask you to read page 6, line 28. There are a good many other objections to be brought out against this bill but this one objection should decide any man to vote "no" on the bill. I warn all the members of the agricultural district to be careful about voting for this act, for in addition to these objections that I have stated there are numerous other objections.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, if the gentlemen will take the trouble to read page 18, line 7, I think that he will find that law thoroughly and fully explained and relieve any doubt as what the grocery stores are or will be permitted to sell under this bill which is absolutely enumerated.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

O God, truly the light is sweet and a pleasant thing it is for the eyes to behold the sun." We thank Thee for the sunlight of his summer morning, dissipating the darkness of night, illuminating the earth and the sky. We rejoice that we have eyes to see and hearts to appreciate the beauty and blessedness of the sunlight. God pity and comfort those who may be deprived of this great blessing. We rejoice that we have that greater light which the sun symbolizes, the Son of Righteousness, the Light of the World, dissipating the darkness of ignorance and narrowness, of prejudice and bigotry, of superstition and sin. May we have hearts to appreciate the beauty and the blessedness of this great light and wilt thou pity and bring to a better mind those who do not avail themselves of this great blessing. Having the light, may we walk in it as Thou art in it. May we really know Him, whom to know aright is to have the light of Life and to walk in the way everlasting, and Thy name shall have the praise of it, now and forever, Amen.
